3790 DEPARTMENT OF PARKS AND RECREATION

The Department of Parks and Recreation acquires, designs, develops, operates and maintains units of the State Park System. The Department also has the responsibility to administer both federal and State local assistance programs. These activities are directed toward the accomplishment of eight principal objectives:

1. To secure and preserve elements of the State's outstanding landscape, cultural and historical features.
2. To provide the facilities and resources which are required to fulfill the recreational demands of the people of California.
3. To provide a meaningful environment in which the people of California are given the opportunity to understand and appreciate the State's cultural, historical and natural heritage.
4. To maintain and improve the quality of California's environment.
5. To prepare and maintain a statewide recreational plan that includes an analysis of the continuing need for recreational areas and facilities and a determination of the levels of public and private responsibility required to meet those needs.
6. To encourage all levels of government and private enterprise throughout the State to participate in the planning, development and operation of recreational facilities.
7. To meet the recreational demands of a highly accelerated, urban-centered population growth, through the acquisition, development and operation of urban parks.
8. To encourage volunteer services in the State Park System through the establishment of a recognition program of such services.

An ever-increasing population in California has resulted in accelerated urbanization which necessitates the establishment of park units and recreation areas accessible to the major population centers of the State. Technological advances have created a more affluent society with additional leisure time increasingly spent in pursuit of various forms of recreation. It is necessary to provide for the wise and constructive use of the State's natural resources for recreational uses and to preserve the State's cultural, historical and natural heritage for future generations to enjoy.

In addition to the General Fund expenditures shown in the Department's budget for support, an additional $108.7 million in 1989-90, $133.5 million in 1990-91 and $169.5 million in 1991-92 General Fund expenditures will be incurred for the redemption of various general obligation bonds for grants, acquisition and development of the state and local park systems. Although the expenditures for bond redemption are shown in the Debt Service—Bond Interest and Redemption section of the Governor's Budget, they are directly related to this department's local assistance and capital outlay programs.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

Program Element Statement

This element provides for the restoration and management of the natural, cultural and historic resources of the State Park System. Management efforts are directed toward two major types of resources: (1) archeological and historical resources and (2) natural and environmental resources.

The cultural resources program is directly responsible for the Department's participation in the preservation of the State Park System resources. These include archeological and historical features over which the Department has jurisdiction. Responsibility for this program rests with the Cultural Heritage Section of the Resource Protection Division. Preservation responsibility for State Park System cultural resources includes providing professional expertise concerning cultural resources and monitoring the status of cultural resources. Park unit inventories of cultural resources provides the data required to complete the resource management element. These are the principal resource documents for all Department lands and are key components to the General Plan. This program includes the mitigation of archeological and historical resources.

The Natural Heritage Section, in addition to the collection of basic resource data for park unit inventories and the preparation of Resource elements, concentrates on management and restoration efforts in areas of environmental importance within the State Park System. Field reconnaissance, studies, and consultations related to identification, analysis and formulation of management and restoration programs for vegetative, wildlife and scenic resources are major activities included within this program. The maintenance of a hazard review program is included as a major part of this effort.

The purpose of the environmental review program is the identification of impacts to the State Park System and its resources as a result of the Department's and other agencies' projects and programs and the development of mitigation for those impacts. This environmental review program is carried out in conformance with the requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA).

3790 DEPARTMENT OF PARKS AND RECREATION—Continued

30 STATE PARK SYSTEM OPERATIONS

Program Objectives Statement

It is the responsibility of this program to provide services including protection, interpretation, and public information to the users of the State Park System. It is also the responsibility of this program to preserve and maintain all features of the State parks. Its primary goal is to insure a significant recreational experience at each park unit. The activities of this program are grouped into three major elements—park unit services, public information and concession services.

In response to the Loma Prieta earthquake of October 17, 1989, the department has expended $333,000 in the 1989-90 fiscal year to assist in the response and recovery. Of these expenditures, $231,000 were reimbursed by the Office of Emergency Services with funds received from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

35 OFF-HIGHWAY MOTOR VEHICLE RECREATION

Program Objectives Statement

The Off-Highway Vehicle (OHV) Program was established by Chapter 994, Statutes of 1982. That Act required the consolidation of all existing Off-Highway Recreation activities previously contained in other programs of the Department. This program consolidates all responsibilities of the Department relating to the planning, acquisition, development, management, operation, and conservation of the State Vehicular Recreation Area and Trail System. The goal of this program is to provide adequate facilities for the use of Off-Highway Vehicles while managing and providing resource protection and enhancing wildlife habitats, native wildlife, and native flora. Beginning in 1983-84, the Office of Off-Highway Vehicle Recreation was reorganized into the Off-Highway Motor Vehicle Recreation Division. All activities related to Off-Highway Vehicles are administered by this Division.

The OHV Program as established by Chapter 994, Statutes of 1982 was scheduled to sunset on December 31, 1987. Chapter 1027, Statutes of 1987 reestablished the program through December 31, 1993. The new program requires the Division to adopt soil loss standards and habitat protection plans as specified in the legislation. After development of the standards, the Division must monitor the continuing impact of OHV use against the standards and mitigate adverse impacts.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- 9.7 personnel year and $919,000 to permanently operate and maintain Prairie City State Vehicle Recreation Area.
- 1.0 personnel year and $96,000 limited term for one year to maintain the Resource Management program.
- $325,000 for one-time augmentation to fund three OHV planning efforts.
- $125,000 for one-time augmentation to fund a Public Awareness and Education Program study.
- 1.0 personnel year and $113,000 for implementation and administration of the California Statewide Motorized Trail System.

50 GRANTS ADMINISTRATION

Program Objectives Statement

This program is the responsibility of the Planning and Local Assistance Division. One of its objectives is to administer State and federal programs for financial assistance to local jurisdictions and State agencies for recreation. Another objective of this program is meeting statewide recreational needs by qualifying the State of California as a recipient of grants from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund. The costs of providing additional recreational facilities often exceed the financial capability of local government agencies. The federally sponsored Land and Water Conservation Fund, special appropriations and various bond funds provide assistance for local recreation.

56 PROGRAM FUND TRANSFER

Program Objective Statement

This program is an augmentation from the Public Resources Account of the Cigarette and Tobacco Surtax Fund to pay the balance of the Pooled Money Investment Account (PMIA) loan on the grants to local agencies pursuant to the Community Parkland Fund of 1986. This program is in full accord with Section 30122 (b) (B) of the Tobacco Tax and Health Protection Act of 1988 which states "Program to enhance State and local park and recreation resources." The Budget Act of 1990 provided half the amount needed to pay the interest loan from the Public Resources Account of the Cigarette and Tobacco Surtax Fund (Article 2, Chapter 2, Part 13 of Division 2, of the Revenue and Taxation Code) for payment of the accrued interest.

Budget Adjustment

In 1991-92, a $2,220,000 augmentation is proposed to pay anticipated interest owed to the Pooled Money Investment Account for loans pursuant to the Community Parklands Bond Act of 1986.

60 DEPARTMENT ADMINISTRATION

Program Objectives Statement

This program provides the necessary leadership, regulation, and policy determination to ensure the Department's goals and objectives are satisfactorily met. This program is also responsible for providing the necessary administrative services and guidance for the proper functioning of all departmental programs.

It is the purpose of this element to consider recommendations and guidance from the State Park and Recreation Commission, the California Recreational Trails Committee, the California Historical Landmarks Advisory Committee, and the Advisory Board on Underwater Parks and Reserves, and to formulate departmental policy, establish departmental organization, direct operating organizational units, review and draft legislation, and represent the Department in all operational functions.

To use Department resources efficiently toward the accomplishment of the Department's principal objectives, this element ensures that policy is constantly analyzed, formulated, and reviewed. Use of Department resources toward common goals is also monitored within this element to ensure the setting of project and program schedules and priorities to realistically reflect the Department's policies.

The administration element provides the necessary business and administrative functions for the proper operation of all departmental programs. Activities include those involving human resources—personnel, affirmative action, and training; fiscal support—auditing, budgeting and accounting; and business management including departmentwide clerical, distribution, reproduction, data processing and office management services.

Budget Adjustments

3810 SANTA MONICA MOUNTAINS CONSERVANCY

Program Objectives Statement

The Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy was created by Chapter 1087 (AB 1512), Statutes of 1979, to implement the Santa Monica Mountains Comprehensive Plan by developing programs for full fee or less than fee acquisition, and restoration or consolidation of lands in the Santa Monica Mountains Zone for park, recreation or conservation purposes. The specific powers of the Conservancy include authority to:

1. Acquire real property, including development rights and easements, and lease, rent, sell, transfer or exchange these lands for park purposes;
2. Award grants or interest free loans to State and local agencies for purchase or restoration of park, recreation, conservation or buffer-zone purposes to ensure that the character and intensity of development on these lands is generally compatible and does not adversely impact the Santa Monica National Recreation Area;
3. Award grants or interest free loans to State and local agencies for assembly of parcels to improve or correct resource management or for development of public facilities essential to park, recreation or conservation purposes;
4. Acquire and hold for subsequent conveyance, or award grants or interest free loans, to an appropriate public agency for acquisition of park, conservation or recreation sites, when that agency cannot expedite acquisition of critical sites under immediate development pressure;
5. Accept dedication or easements of tax delinquent parcels and have first right of refusal on property being sold as excess land by a public agency.
6. Improve real property within the Zone;
7. Award grants to qualified nonprofit organizations to carry out improvements, maintenance, acquisitions or educational interpretive programs;
8. Implement programs designed to provide enhanced recreational access from the inner city areas surrounding the Zone in order to provide recreational opportunities for all income and ethnic groups wishing to enjoy the Santa Monica Mountains; and
9. Carry out projects consistent with Division 23 of the Public Resources Code within the Rim of the Valley Trail Corridor to provide a recreational trail corridor.

The Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy, which was scheduled to sunset on July 1, 1990, has been extended five years to July 1, 1995 by Chapter 696, Statutes of 1989. The budget reflects the continuation of $40,000 from private sources for the Recreational Transit Program.

The California Wildlife Protection Act of 1990 appropriated, starting in 1990-91, $10 million annually for five years, to the Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy. These funds will be used for the purposes specified in Section 2786 of the Act, and for related open-space projects within the Santa Monica Mountains Zone, the Rim of the Valley Corridor, and the Santa Clarita Woodlands.

3820 SAN FRANCISCO BAY CONSERVATION AND DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, headquartered in San Francisco, was created by the Legislature in 1965 to provide a regional approach to protecting the public interest in the San Francisco Bay, to insure the beneficial use of the most valuable single natural resource of the entire region and to provide a democratic and politically responsive process through which the bay and its shoreline can be managed as a single unit.

10 BAY CONSERVATION AND DEVELOPMENT

Program Objectives Statement

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission is responsible for: maintaining the Bay Plan in an up-to-date manner based on current information and projections in order to serve as a guide for the conservation of the San Francisco Bay and the development of its shoreline; carrying out provisions of law by issuing or denying permits for all filling or dredging in the Bay; approving any change in the use of salt ponds or other "managed wetlands" adjacent to the Bay; approving any substantial change in the use of property within 100 feet of the Bay and implementing, in cooperation with local government, the Suisun Marsh Preservation Act of 1977.

Comprehensive regional planning studies are conducted by staff and consultants to provide the basic information and planning data for granting or denying permits and to strengthen or revise specific parts of the San Francisco Bay Plan. This requires continuing and extensive cooperation and coordination with federal, state, regional, local and private agencies.

The Bay Commission is also the designated state coastal management agency for the San Francisco Bay segment of the coastal zone for purposes of the federal Coastal Zone Management Act. Under this federal law, California has received financial assistance to develop and implement the federally-approved coastal management program for the San Francisco Bay, which is based on the policies of the McAtter-Petris Act and the Suisun Marsh Preservation Act. The federal coastal act gives the Commission authority over federal activities that would not otherwise be subject to State control under California law. Reimbursements for a portion of these coastal zone management activities are derived from federal grants received by the California Coastal Commission.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustment is reflected:

- 1.0 personnel year (temporary help) and $47,000 from the Federal Trust Fund for the San Francisco Estuary Program.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- $200,000 from the Outer Continental Shelf Land Act, Section 8(g) Revenue Fund to continue ongoing activities mandated by the McAtter-Petris Act.

10 CONTINUING FORMULATION OF THE CALIFORNIA WATER PLAN

Program Objectives Statement

This program provides a framework for sound management of California's water resources by local, State, and federal agencies. Regional water needs are combined into a statewide view; options are then explored to identify ways to meet these needs in an environmentally acceptable manner.

Demands on California's water resources continue to grow. More water is needed to meet growing urban demands and to sustain the State's rich agricultural production, while maintaining instream flows for fish, recreation, aesthetics, water quality, salinity repulsion, and navigation. Since new surface water projects are increasingly costly and difficult to develop, it is important that existing surface and ground water supplies be used effectively. This means that all nonstructural water management practices, such as water transfers and conjunctive use, as well as structural measures, be thoroughly investigated and developed to the extent practicable.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- $300,000 Federal Trust Funds for the San Joaquin Valley Drainage Program.
- $103,000 Reimbursements for the Rural Counties Assistance Program to study groundwater basins in San Luis Obispo County.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $605,000 Reimbursements from the Wildlife Conservation Board for the Trinity Restoration Program.
- $1,000,000 Reimbursements from the Wildlife Conservation Board for the Upper Sacramento River Fisheries and Riparian Habitat Plan.
- $300,000 California Environmental License Plate Fund for the administration of the Urban Streams Restoration Program.
- 2 positions (1.9 personnel years) and $7,000,000 Environmental Water Fund to implement the Environmental Water Program authorized by Chapter 715, Statutes of 1989.
- $8,499,000 for local assistance ($8,424,000 Water Conservation and Water Quality Bond Fund and $75,000 Water Conservation Bond Fund) to provide loans to local entities for water conservation and water quality activities.
- $134,000 to administer local assistance programs ($34,000 Clean Water Bond Fund; and $76,000 Water Conservation Bond Fund of 1988).
- 18.8 personnel years for the conversion of student assistants from contract employees to temporary help.

10.10 Water Management Planning

Program Element Statement

The California Water Plan is a general guide for water management activities throughout the State. The plan includes a water management element that evaluates available supply; estimates future water needs, surpluses and deficiencies by hydrologic areas; outlines water problems; and proposes solutions. It also consists of the Phase II water quality basin plans prepared by the State Water Resources Control Board and the Regional Water Quality Control Boards. The department also reviews plans for water development and water management proposed by other government agencies and develops the State's position on interstate and federal-State water resources issues. California's water issues are continually evaluated to reflect economic, agricultural, municipal, industrial, and environmental needs. Among the water management issues being considered are: water exchanges, surface water development, drainage, identification of ground water storage resources, conjunctive use of surface and ground water supplies, and the more efficient use of water through conservation.

Other activities under this element include local investigations that contribute to the California Water Plan; review of studies and reports of other agencies; and studies of specific water quality problems conducted in coordination with the State Water Resources Control Board and other local, State, and federal agencies.

10.20 New Sources of Water

Program Element Statement

Growth in California is projected to continue in the foreseeable future. At the same time, competition among water uses puts an additional strain on currently developed supplies. Additional surface water resources are increasingly costly to develop and environmentally sensitive while ground water use is subject to physical, legal, and economic constraints. This program involves cooperative efforts on the part of local, federal, and State agencies to develop technical, cost, and environmental impact information relative to potential water reuse through waste water reclamation and desalting.

10.25 Water Conservation

Program Element Statement

The objective of this element is to promote more efficient use of water and reduce the projected deficit between supply and demand. Water conservation activities include research and development, planning assistance, and direct implementation actions. Interagency activities are critical to this effort. These activities strike a balance between water saving programs using proven technology and conducting the necessary research on which to base future conservation programs.

10.29 Conservation Loans

Program Element Statement

This element entails the administration of loan programs authorized by general obligation bond law measures approved by the voters for local agency projects which promote the conservation of water, replenishment of ground water, and development of new local water supplies. All or part of three bond laws enacted through the November 1988 election provide DWR with a total of $145,500,000 for loans and State administration of the programs. As of June 30, 1990, over $28,000,000 had been obligated to local agencies found eligible. Additional applications will be placed on a priority list to be issued in June 1991.

10.30 Data Collection, Evaluation, and Use

Program Element Statement

Planning the management and development of water resources and providing for their protection requires accurate knowledge of the phenomena involved. Thus, it is important to define the resource by measuring it in terms of quantity, quality, movement, and its use. In addition, to be useful, the accumulated information must be assembled in a readily available form. In this program element, data on the quantity, quality, movement, and use of water resources is collected, analyzed, stored, and disseminated.

Under the water quantity and quality measurement activity, data on surface and ground water resources of the State, including climatological data, are collected, processed, and stored. A computer file of historic and current information has been developed and is in operation. The State Water Resources Control Board, the Department of Health Services and the Department of Fish and Game cooperate with the Department of Water Resources in data collection, computer storage and the retrieval of water resources data. The accumulated information is used by other agencies and the general public.

Cooperative snow surveys activities coordinate and standardize the collection of snow survey data from about 40 cooperators. These data provide forecasts of spring snowmelt runoff and general water conditions for project operators and water users throughout the State.

The land resources and use activities provide continuing surveillance of the nature, location, amount, and rate of change of land use and determines the suitability of land for water-using development. It produces the only complete land use data file of its type in the State. These data are required for water resources planning but are also extensively used by other agencies.

The agricultural and urban water use activity measures the current per acre rate of water use for agricultural crop production, and current urban water deliveries and population of each service area to determine urban gross per capita use rates. In addition, special surveys and studies are conducted to determine the portions of the urban gross per capita water use for residential, commercial, industrial, and governmental purposes and to determine the efficiency of various water agencies' water delivery systems.

20 IMPLEMENTATION OF THE STATE WATER RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT SYSTEM

Program Objectives Statement

This program has three objectives. The first is to provide necessary water supplies to agencies which have contracted for water from the State Water Project. The second is to plan, design, construct, operate, maintain, and manage facilities of the State Water Project in an efficient, economical, and timely manner. The third is to further the development of essential and economically justified local water projects through financial assistance to local public agencies under the Davis-Grunsky Act.

The State Water Project meets a portion of California's increasing water needs with a network of physical facilities located from Plumas County in the north to the Mexican border. By 1973, the initial conservation facilities and most of the transportation features of the State Water Project were completed. Additional features are planned, designed, and constructed, as needed.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustment is reflected:

- $225,000 reimbursements for operation and maintenance costs related to enhancing the fishery resources at Mill Creek.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $27,000,000 State Water Project Funds for increased power purchase costs to meet the pumping needs of the State Water Project.
- $8,391,000 State Water Project Funds for California Aqueduct East Branch enlargement activities.
- $7,503,000 State Water Project Funds for capitalized fisheries restoration activities, and for fish mitigation efforts in the Sacramento, San Joaquin Delta.
- $4,624,000 State Water Project Funds to meet Water and Power Revenue Bond repayments.
- $3,961,000 State Water Project Funds for increased pump impeller replacements and motor stator rewind work.
- $3,857,000 State Water Project Funds for the new design and construction of a communications systems.
- $1,945,000 State Water Project Funds for resolution of pond odor abatement problems by upgrade of components at the Reid Gardner Power Plant.
- Reduction of $15,455,000 State Water Project Funds related to the completion of design and construction projects of the State Water Project.
- 35.0 personnel years for the conversion of student assistants from contract employees to temporary help.

20.10 Planning and Investigations for the State Water Resources Development System

Program Element Statement

Although the construction of the initial stage of the State Water Project is complete, the demands on the project now exceed firm yield. Planning and management work must continue on additional water supply and conveyance features in order to meet later year contractual delivery levels of approximately twice the existing firm yield of the project. Under this program element, activities include geologic studies, cost estimates, economic analyses, project surface and groundwater yield studies, flood control studies, fish, wildlife, and recreation resources development studies, water quality studies, environmental studies, and determination of land acquisition requirements. Project power development studies, including power purchase and exchange agreements, must continue to ensure an adequate power supply for operation of the State Water Project and to protect the rights on power transmission arrangements.

Detailed planning studies are conducted to determine actions necessary to meet project contractual requirements and to select additional project features to satisfy both local and export water requirements. Protection and enhancement of fish and wildlife are planned and developed as part of the project. Specific plans for recreation development at State Water Project facilities are prepared to ensure that water project recreation resources are adequately developed.

Water rights considerations in connection with the State Water Project are investigated, and project effects on physical and environmental conditions are monitored and evaluated. This element provides funds to the Attorney General's Office for legal services in actions to protect the water rights of the State Water Project.

A cooperative study involving the California Departments of Water Resources and Fish and Game, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is proceeding to develop joint operating criteria and procedures for the State Water Project and Central Valley Project for the protection of the Delta, Suisun Marsh and San Francisco Bay fish and wildlife resources. This activity includes ecological studies of striped bass and other species, general water quality studies, marsh management studies, and studies concerned with evaluation and development of fish screening facilities.

The San Joaquin Valley drainage activity collects and provides data and information necessary for planning and implementing agricultural waste water management in the San Joaquin Valley.

20.30 Operation and Maintenance of the State Water Resources Development System

Program Element Statement

Operations and maintenance of completed facilities of the State Water Project are conducted through two levels of activities: utility operations and operation and maintenance of individual facilities.

Utility operations activities are concerned with maximizing water delivery capability of constructed facilities within the limits of contractual obligations and availability of water, while minimizing net pumping power costs. Operational objectives and schedules are developed and implemented in consultation and coordination with water contractors and federal agencies.

Operations and maintenance activities include the operation of individual facilities, and routine or extraordinary maintenance required for optimum State Water Project functioning. Other activities include specialized testing and technical inspections, consulting board investigations, surveillance of dams and structures through system instrumentation and precise topographical surveys, corrosion control, plant operating practices review, safety, real property management, and annual mitigation measures at certain State Water Project facilities.

20.40 State Financial Assistance for Local Projects

Program Element Statement

This program element provides loans for feasibility studies, reservoir site acquisitions, and construction costs of local projects. Grants are provided for certain recreation, fish and wildlife enhancement, and initial water supply and sanitary facilities costs. The State may also participate with an applicant as a partner under certain circumstances.

Projects approved for assistance must be found by the department to be in substantial conformance with the California Water Plan, be engineeringly feasible, economically justified, and, if a loan is proposed, there must be reasonable assurance that the public agency can repay it. Loans may be made only for that portion of the project cost beyond the reasonable ability of the public agency to obtain funds from other sources. The department must impose terms and conditions necessary to protect the State's investment and carry out the objectives of the program. Also included in this element is the program component for loans to local agencies for water distribution systems.

20.50 Financial and Contract Management of the State Water Resources Development System

Program Element Statement

The State Water Resources Development System is financed from a variety of sources: general obligation bonds authorized by the Burns-Porter Act, revenue bonds, authorized by the Central Valley Project Act, Federal funds appropriated for flood control, funds advanced from water contractors, appropriations from the California Water Fund, State-appropriated funds for recreation and fish and wildlife enhancement, and miscellaneous funds including funds earned from investments. Public agencies contracting for project water are required to repay the construction costs with interest, and the costs of operating and maintaining the water supply facilities.

3860 DEPARTMENT OF WATER RESOURCES—Continued

The people, through governmental appropriations, repay the costs of constructing, operating and maintaining recreation and fish and wildlife enhancement facilities.

Projections are made of future financial conditions. The water contractors are notified of future costs to allow adequate planning in the event adjustments in tax and/or water rates are necessary. Water contractors and utilities are billed for water delivered and power generated. Bond counsel, financial consultants, financial institutions, and the State Treasurer are retained to assist the department in marketing bonds and administering bond sales. The above activities devoted to maintaining the financial integrity of the State Water Resources Development System are contained within this program element.

30 PUBLIC SAFETY AND PREVENTION OF DAMAGE

Program Objectives Statement

This program strives to protect life and property from damage or destruction by floods or failures of dams; makes loans for construction improvement or rehabilitation of domestic water systems to bring them up to State standards for drinking water; and provides information, guidance, and assistance in water management during dry years.

Experience demonstrates that the people of California are vulnerable to the destructive effects of floods. The department issues flood warnings in cooperation with the National Weather Service to alert the public when flooding is probable. Based on these forecasts, flood control facilities are operated to prevent or minimize damage. The department also supervises and coordinates flood fighting activities when necessary, and performs annual levee and flood channel maintenance. Other activities include assisting local agencies in the identification and regulation of floodplains, as required by the national flood insurance program, to reduce or eliminate flood losses. This program also funds the cost of lands, easements, and rights-of-way for federal flood control projects; and design review of proposed new dams as well as periodic inspection and re-evaluation of all existing jurisdictional dams for proper construction and maintenance.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following adjustments are reflected:

- $1,100,000 reimbursements for flood control inspection services related to six major development projects along the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers.
- $900,000 reimbursements for conducting studies on possible alternatives for providing adequate flood protection along the lower portion of the American River.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $42,500,000 Special Account for Capital Outlay for flood control subventions to local agencies.
- 2 positions (1.9 personnel years) and $150,000 increased reimbursement expenditure authority for additional flood project inspectors.
- 3.0 personnel years for the conversion of student assistants from contract employees to temporary help.

30.10 Flood Management

Program Element Statement

This program element assists local agencies in the development of regulations for management of floodplain areas. Such regulations comply with the Cobey-Alquist Flood Plain Management Act and the national flood insurance program. This program also assists local agencies in the performance of flood hazard investigations. Storms and high water conditions are continually monitored during the flood season and flood forecasts are prepared as needed. The California Data Exchange Center (CDEC) is a year-round hydrologic and climatic exchange that permits more effective management of California's water resources through the collection, dissemination, and exchange of data with numerous State, federal, and local agencies. During potentially dangerous periods of high water, CDEC becomes the flood operations center to coordinate flood emergency operations and collect and disseminate flood data. Also included is the operation and maintenance of the Sacramento River flood control project and the periodic inspection of all flood control works in the Central Valley.

The Reclamation Board's function is to cooperate with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and local agencies in constructing and maintaining flood protection projects in the Central Valley; to evaluate the effectiveness of past flood control measures; to designate floodways and control encroachments in Central Valley streams to assure the free passage of floodwaters; and to identify alternative future policies, projects, and programs for flood damage prevention.

30.20 Flood Control Subventions

Program Element Statement

The primary purpose of this element is to reimburse local agencies for part of the nonfederal expenses relating to flood control projects constructed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and to provide financial assistance for nonproject levees in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta. This is accomplished through the review and processing of claims submitted by the local agencies. These claims are tested against the provisions set forth in authorized legislation and guidelines published by the department in order to identify the amounts eligible for State reimbursement. Other activities include the review of proposed federal flood control projects to determine potential State costs and continuous review and revision of program policies and procedures.

30.30 Safety of Dams

Program Element Statement

This program provides independent analyses of plans and specifications for new dams, and for enlargement, alteration, repair or removal of operational dams prior to approval for construction. The projects are supervised and inspected during construction. This program also provides for inspection and evaluation of operational dams and reservoirs, determination of need for the installation of instrumentation, independent analysis of instrumental surveillance, and the investigation and analysis of dams constructed illegally, together with the activity necessary to terminate these violations by removal, alteration or repair.

Performance Measures

Activities involve the independent analysis and evaluation of about 50-60 applications for new construction, enlargement, alteration, and repair or removal of dams, and supervision during the resulting construction. In-depth reviews and re-evaluations will be done on existing dams. Between 900-1,200 systematic examinations and evaluations of over 1,200 operational dams will be made and about 300-450 surveillance and instrumentation reports will be analyzed. Dams allegedly constructed in violation of the code will be investigated and the violations terminated.

30.40 Safe Drinking Water Projects

Program Element Statement

This element administers the California Safe Drinking Water Bond Laws of 1976, 1984, 1986, and 1988, and is a joint effort with the Department of Health Services. Pursuant to voter approval, these bond laws have authorized a total of $425 million in general obligation bond monies. Grants up to $400,000 and loans up to $5,000,000 are provided to local communities to enable them to meet minimum drinking water standards to protect the public health. As of June 30, 1990 loans and grants totalling $278 million for all Bond Laws had been committed. The Department of Health Services is responsible for establishing a priority list of applicants, determining the engineering feasibility of proposed projects, and addressing all questions of public health need. The Department of Water Resources adopts administrative regulations necessary to carry out the acts, performs financial analyses of eligibility, issues and administers loan and grant contracts, arranges bond sales, disburses funds, and administers loan repayments.

40 SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

This program provides technical support to the department's activities and makes services and other areas of expertise of the department available to other agencies.

The department has developed significant capabilities in the field of water resources planning, development and management. The department also maintains capabilities in various technical fields such as chemical laboratory analysis, electronic data processing, mapping and surveying. This expertise is routinely used by other agencies in the performance of their missions. The department's own operations must be supported by certain technical functions that are best provided on a centralized as-needed basis.

10 WATER QUALITY

Program Objectives Statement

California faces serious challenges in water management, pollution control and water quality enhancement. Residents, industry and agriculture demand abundant clean water; at the same time, they threaten its quality and availability. The primary objective of the Water Quality Program is to achieve and maintain the highest possible quality of the waters of the State consistent with their use. Specific objectives are:

1. To formulate, adopt and update water quality control plans and policies that set standards for the waters of the State and provide guidance in water management decisions.
2. To monitor the quality of the waters of the State in order to determine compliance with control plans, permit terms, conditions and receiving water standards; report such quality, its causes and effects; and assess the effectiveness of the State's water pollution control program.
3. To maintain effective control of toxic wastes through implementation of toxic standards.
4. To assure that waters of the State are not degraded by leaks of hazardous material from underground tanks or of hazardous wastes from leaking surface impoundments or landfills.
5. To require of waste dischargers those actions necessary to prevent and abate water pollution, inspect dischargers to determine compliance with requirements and carry out enforcement actions to obtain full compliance with waste discharge requirements.
6. To assist local entities in financing the construction of wastewater treatment facilities needed to comply with discharge requirements and achieve receiving water standards.
7. To ensure that State and Federal funds allocated for construction of wastewater treatment facilities are expended in a timely and proper manner.
8. To evaluate new problems and specialized techniques and concepts in water quality control; define and develop solutions to unique water quality problems in the State; and conduct a wastewater treatment plant operator training program to provide the skills necessary in operating today's complicated facilities.

Authority

Porter-Cologne Water Quality Control Act, California Water Code Sections 13000 et seq., provides general legislative authority for the State's Water Quality Control Program. The Act also authorizes the State Board to exercise those powers delegated to the State by Federal water pollution control legislation.

10.10 Regulation

Program Element Statement

The Regional Water Quality Control Boards regulate waste discharges with four closely related activities: adoption of waste discharge orders, surveillance, monitoring and enforcement.

The waste discharge orders are the cornerstone of regulation. They specify limits on the quality and quantity of an effluent and may include time schedules for achieving compliance. Regional Boards issue two types of orders depending upon the physical location of the discharge. For discharges from point sources to surface waters, discharge requirements are issued in the form of National Pollution Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permits. The State issues these permits, as authorized by the Clean Water Act with program approval from the Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). For all other discharges, requirements are issued under the Porter-Cologne Act. Regional Boards also periodically reevaluate and upgrade these requirements to conform to current technology, water quality conditions and treatment levels as specified by changes in State and Federal regulations.

Waste discharge orders are ineffective without surveillance, monitoring and enforcement to assure compliance. Surveillance and monitoring activities include collection, interpretation and storage of water quality and quantity data. Regional Boards use these data to measure compliance with discharge requirements and achievement of water quality standards, to identify sources of pollution and to identify waters requiring special studies. These data are also essential for establishing and reviewing water quality standards, an important activity of the planning element.

Whenever surveillance and monitoring activities uncover a violation of discharge requirements, the Regional Board attempts to gain compliance through voluntary action by the discharger. If this fails, administrative enforcement, clean-up and abatement orders, cease and desist orders, administrative civil liability assessments, and finally, judicial enforcement remedies are sought.

The State Board must consider all petitions from persons aggrieved by Regional Board actions. The appeals process provides a final opportunity for administrative review of a Regional Board action and is particularly important when actions may later be subject to judicial scrutiny.

The State Board administers a program for the control of toxic contamination originating at surface impoundments. It also establishes construction and monitoring standards for underground storage tanks containing hazardous materials. In addition, once tanks are found to be leaking, under a pilot program, the State Board provides clean-up oversight using Regional Board staff and local implementing agencies. The State Board has over 100 staff devoted to surface impoundments and tanks. Also, the State Board has operated a program since 1985-86 to follow-up on the sources of contamination at drinking water wells identified as contaminated by the Department of Health Services.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- An increase of $408,000 and 7.0 positions (6.7 personnel years) for the Underground Storage Tank Program.

- A technical adjustment in the Underground Storage Tank Clean-up Program and the Subchapter 15 Enforcement Program to establish 9.5 positions (8.9 personnel years), funding for which was established in the 1990 Budget Act as reimbursements.
- An increase of $997,000 for increased administrative workload costs distributed to Program 10.10-Regulation.
- An increase of $4,250,000 and 59.6 positions (57.5 personnel years) from the Waste Discharge Permit Fund to address the increased workload in the Core Regulatory Programs.

10.20 Planning

Program Element Statement

Planning for water quality control, including economic and environmental considerations, is essential for effective water quality control and wastewater management. The water quality control plans identify the beneficial uses of the waters of the State and set the levels of water quality necessary to protect those uses. The plans also establish control measures to achieve the needed water quality. The State and Regional Boards completed California's first major phase of water quality planning in 1975 when Water Quality Control Plans (Basin Plans) were adopted for the State's 16 hydrologic basins. In subsequent fiscal years, the State and Regional Boards updated Basin Plans, as necessary. A major effort to upgrade the Basin plans using contract resources began in Fiscal Year 1989-90. This effort provides much needed updates of these important plans. A major planning effort is presently underway to identify and control nonpoint sources of pollution. In addition, the State Board is preparing statewide plans for control of discharges of toxic pollutants.

The State Board currently conducts a coordinated statewide planning effort that involves public participation as well as input from governmental entities (local, regional, State and Federal). In addition, the Board administers the Federal 205(J) program which provides grant funding to water quality management projects on a priority basis and the Federal 314 Clean Lakes Program for the restoration and protection against degradation of publicly owned Fresh Water Lakes.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $110,000 from the Water Reclamation Bond Fund and 1.2 positions (1.1 personnel years on a one-year limited term basis) to conduct a survey of water and sewage reclamation plants, as authorized in Chapter 1646, Statutes of 1990.
- An increase of $2,450,000 from the Bay Protection and Toxic Cleanup Fund and 20.0 positions (18.5 personnel years) for the continuation of the Bay Protection and Toxic Cleanup Program, as authorized by Chapter 1294, Statutes of 1990.
- $669,000 in existing funding which will be freed up by additional waste discharge fee revenues and will be used for the development of a computerized modeling system (8 positions /7.6 personnel years).

10.30 Facility Development Assistance

Program Element Statement

Inadequate wastewater treatment facilities and improper facilities operation are two of the principal causes of water pollution in California. To solve these problems, the State Board administers State and Federal programs for awarding wastewater facilities construction grants and loans to public agencies. The State Board also provides for training and certification of treatment plant operators.

Administration of the financial assistance programs includes: developing an annual statewide project Priority List and establishing priorities for grant and loan requests; reviewing and evaluating facilities' plans, including environmental impact reports; reviewing revenue programs and cost effectiveness analyses; reviewing design plans and specifications, certifying projects to the EPA and executing grant and loan contracts with public agencies (local wastewater management agencies); monitoring construction and approving progress payments; monitoring final construction inspections and resolving issues raised by EPA auditors. The State Board staff works closely with local agencies and their consultants through all phases of development to ensure compliance with applicable Federal and State regulations.

Congress passed the Water Quality Act (Act) of 1987 which creates a State Revolving Fund (SRF) Loan Program. The Act provides authorization for a total of $18 billion nationally for grants and loans through 1994. A total of $8.4 billion was authorized for issuance to the states to capitalize SRF Loan Programs. The State Board made a decision to convert to the loan program on July 1, 1989. The loan monies can be used to provide assistance for wastewater treatment facilities and implementation of nonpoint source and estuary enhancement programs. Congress has determined that the effectiveness of the SRF Loan Program would be increased if the principal program responsibility rested with the states. The SRF Loan Program is a State program with minimal Federal oversight.

The most carefully planned and constructed wastewater treatment plants are ineffective unless operated properly by well trained personnel. Recognizing this, the State Board has established a program whereby municipal treatment plants are classified according to their complexity and the level of competency needed by their operators. Operators are tested and certified at these different levels according to their experience, education and examination results. Training is available to treatment plant operators through the Board's Water Quality Control Institute located in San Marcos. There is also a mobile classroom laboratory which is utilized to train operators at their own facilities.

10.40 Research and Technical Assistance

Program Element Statement

State Board technical specialists provide assistance to all water quality program activities of the Board in the areas of engineering geology, hydrogeology, and wastewater reclamation conservation. This expertise is required for studies in such areas as groundwater hydrology, control of nonpoint sources of pollution, marine water quality and alternative systems for small communities.

The State Board is mandated to develop and implement a statewide water quality information storage and retrieval program. The emphases of the data management program are on the Waste Discharger System which provides the data necessary to monitor dischargers throughout the State, and the Water Quality Data System which provides the data necessary to monitor the water quality in the State.

Also included in this element are those efforts necessary in planning, organizing, coordinating and directing activities of the Water Quality Program.

20 WATER RIGHTS

Program Objectives Statement

The primary objective of the Water Rights Program is to assure that California's water resources are put to beneficial use to the fullest extent while protecting vested rights, water quality and the environment. Specific objectives are:

1. To allocate the remaining unappropriated waters of the State in accordance with State laws.
2. To maintain a record of title and extent of rights initiated and maintained since 1914, involving almost 13,000 entitlements.
3. To maintain records of groundwater extractions in four southern counties, and records of diversions and uses, stockpond water rights and cessation of or reduction in extractions of groundwater by use of water from a contributory source, throughout the State.
4. To obtain the greatest beneficial use of the waters of the State by enforcement of permit and license terms and conditions, abatement of illegal diversions and prevention of waste or unreasonable use under all rights.
5. To determine existing rights throughout the State through court reference and statutory code of regulations.

20.10 Water Appropriation

Program Element Statement

In order to obtain the rights to take unappropriated water from surface streams, other surface bodies of water or defined subterranean streams, an application to appropriate such water must be filed with this Board for most projects. In considering the application, the Board must weigh the relative benefits to be derived from all beneficial uses of the water concerned. It may subject water appropriations to terms and conditions that will best develop, conserve and utilize the water sought for appropriation. However, water may be appropriated for some very small projects by a simplified registration process.

Environmental impact assessments are made for all projects not eligible for the registration process. These lead to the preparation or review of exempt status declarations, negative declarations or environmental impact reports. In the event an application is protested and the protests are not resolved, the Board must hold hearings to determine whether the application should be approved or denied. The Board retains continuing jurisdiction over the project. Petitions to change water right permits are also evaluated by the Board.

20.20 Water Management/Enforcement

Program Element Statement

The Board is responsible for the administration of laws which require the collection of water diversion data pertaining specifically to water rights. The law requires that reports be filed by anyone within Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Ventura counties extracting more than 25 acre-feet of water from the ground. Statewide, the law requires that notices be filed for any extractions from sources in lieu of groundwater. Also, any person who diverts water from a surface stream or body of water and does not need a permit or license issued by the Board, is required to file a statement of the diversion and use with the Board. This program element also includes the Board's ongoing activities to monitor and revise water right requirements related to the protection of the San Francisco Bay-Delta Estuary.

20.30 Determination of Existing Rights

Program Element Statement

The Board and its predecessor agencies have been assisting the courts in adjudication of water disputes since passage of the Water Commission Act in 1914. The Board assists the courts, either by court references under which the Board is appointed referee in actions before a court, or statutory adjudications, wherein a determination is initiated through petition to the Board by the affected users. Both procedures culminate in a court decree defining the water rights involved.

The Community Program Development Fund was established in 1977 with the objective of providing necessary resources to initiate new programs. In addition to parental contributions, this Fund may be augmented by Federal funds through the State Council. Welfare and Institutions Code Section 4677 provides that PL 95-602 funds received by the State Council may be allotted to the Program Development Fund. Requests for proposal and allocations from the Program Development Fund require approval of the State Council and must be consistent with the priorities in the State Plan.

The Program Development Fund is administered by the Community Development Branch of the Department of Developmental Services. Funds are used to expand community programs for persons with developmental disabilities.

30 ALLOCATION TO AREA BOARDS*Program Objective Statement

There are 13 Area Boards on Developmental Disabilities throughout California, each having the objective of monitoring and coordinating responsibilities within their regional boundaries. Funding for these Area Boards is provided by a reimbursement from the State Council on Developmental Disabilities pursuant to Welfare and Institutions Code Section 4611.

Annually, each Area Board presents a proposal requesting funding to the State Council for consideration. After review and approval, the amount of funding to be allocated is included in the State Plan. In July of each year, the Area Boards summarize their activities and accomplishments and submit this information to the State Council.

4110 AREA BOARDS ON DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES

The Area Boards on Developmental Disabilities protect and advocate the legal, civil and service rights of persons with developmental disabilities. There are thirteen Area Boards geographically dispersed throughout the State which are responsible for regional monitoring and coordination, and an Organization of Area Boards in Sacramento which resolves common problems, improves coordination and promotes exchange of information. Voting membership is composed of volunteers appointed by the governing body of each county in the area served and by the Governor.

In addition to protection and advocacy activities, the Area Boards also review the policies and practices of publicly funded agencies; conduct or cause to be conducted public information programs; encourage and assist in the establishment of citizen advocacy organizations; encourage the development of needed services of good quality; coordinate services to prevent duplication, fragmentation and unnecessary expenditures; and assist the State Council on Developmental Disabilities in preparation of the State Plan.

The Area Boards are funded through an allocation received from the State Council on Developmental Disabilities which is the cognizant State agency for federal grants provided under Public Law 98-527. A memorandum of understanding with the State Council requires each of the Area Boards to complete specific performance objectives.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $5,261 ($4,600 one-time and $661 ongoing) for the relocation of Area Board VI closer to the population that it serves.
- An increase of $75,000 to replace obsolete word processing equipment with office automation equipment.

4120 EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES AUTHORITY

The Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Authority is authorized by Division 2.5 of the Health and Safety Code. The EMS Authority coordinates EMS statewide, develops guidelines for EMS systems, regulates the education, training, and certification of EMS personnel/trauma care systems plus coordinating the State's medical response to any disaster.

The overall responsibilities and goals of the EMS Authority are as follows:

- a. Assessing statewide EMS needs, effectiveness and coordinating services;
- b. Providing technical assistance to existing agencies, cities and counties;
- c. Developing implementation and planning guidelines for EMS systems and disaster medical response;
- d. Reviewing and approving local EMS agency plans on an annual basis;
- e. Coordinating medical and hospital disaster preparedness and response and assisting the Office of Emergency Services in the preparation of the medical component of the State Emergency Plan;
- f. Establishing minimum standards for the education, training and certification of specified emergency medical care personnel;
- g. Establishing minimum standards for designating and monitoring Poison Control Centers;
- h. Staffing the Commission on EMS; and
- i. Receiving, awarding and monitoring implementation of Federal, State and Local EMS-related grants.

The local EMS agency is responsible for the implementation of emergency medical services systems.

Division 2.5 also authorizes a Commission on Emergency Medical Services, consisting of 15 members appointed as specified. The Commission serves in an advisory role to the Authority on specified issues and reviews and approves all regulations, standards and guidelines developed by the Authority.

In response to the Loma Prieta earthquake of October 17, 1989, the EMS Authority expended $14,000 on staff costs for the Earthquake Response Project. The Office of Emergency Services reimbursed these costs with funds received from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The EMS Authority will receive $1.7 million from the Federal Preventive Health Services Block Grant in 1991-92. The majority of these funds will be allocated to develop and enhance local EMS systems. A portion of the funds will be retained at the State level to conduct program activities and to fund the cost of statewide administration of these funds.

The EMS Authority also provides grants to seven regional poison control centers. These grants require matching funds from the centers and are intended to provide the public and health professionals with immediate advice on caring for and preventing poison exposures.

Chapter 1134, Statutes of 1989 (AB 1558) created the Emergency Medical Services Personnel Fund for the purpose of maintaining the EMSA's testing and personnel registry program. Fees collected pursuant to Section 1797.185 of the Health and Safety Code will be deposited in this Fund and used to pay for the performance of functions for which the fees are collected.

The EMS Authority received funding in 1990-91 to establish an operational state disaster medical response.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- An increase of 4.0 positions (2.6 personnel years) and $268,000 in reimbursements from an Office of Traffic Safety grant to initiate the development of a statewide emergency medical services data system.
- An increase of $46,000 in reimbursements from an Office of Traffic Safety grant to complete the statewide testing of paramedics and maintenance of a personnel registry.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of 4.0 positions (3.8 personnel years) and $335,000 in reimbursements from an Office of Traffic Safety grant to initiate the development of a statewide emergency medical services data system.
- An increase of 1.0 position (0.9 personnel years) and $60,000 to meet the workload for the Paramedic Testing and Registry Program.

4130 HEALTH AND WELFARE AGENCY DATA CENTER

Chapter 787, Statutes of 1972 established three consolidated data centers in State government, including one for Health and Welfare. The primary objectives of the Health and Welfare Agency Data Center are to:

- (1) Ensure the effective, efficient and economical use of agency electronic data processing (EDP) resources by providing EDP services at reduced cost, by eliminating unnecessary duplication and by ensuring optimum utilization.
- (2) Ensure that EDP resources are available to meet Agency needs by providing the necessary computer capability and capacity to meet those needs.
- (3) Promote the appropriate use of EDP resources to assist in the achievement of Agency goals and objectives by identifying potential EDP-related applications and by formulating and recommending policies on the appropriate use of EDP in the Agency.

To achieve these broad program objectives, the Data Center was established on January 1, 1978.

10 FACILITIES OPERATIONS

Program Objectives Statement

The principal objective of this program is to provide the necessary computer operation services and resources to the departments within the Health and Welfare Agency. The four major elements of the Facilities Operations program are:

- (1) Operations—The functions assigned to this element are related to the operation of the Data Center's central computer processors and attached peripheral equipment. The equipment is operated to meet user schedules. Normal operations are 24 hours-a-day, seven days-a-week.
- (2) Software Support—This element is responsible for maintaining the software operating systems for the computers, maintaining software for the on-line inquiry systems, installing and implementing proprietary software packages, monitoring and adjusting the computer systems configuration to achieve optimal performance and efficiency and ensuring that adequate hardware and software resources are available to meet the current and projected needs of the user departments. In addition, this element provides advice and consultation to user departments on requests regarding software systems, hardware service requests, workload and resource utilization.
- (3) Telecommunications—This element is responsible for the delivery of user information through the most efficient and cost-effective data communications network available. It is necessary for the telecommunication element to design and maintain the network to meet current and projected requirements of the user departments and to maintain software for the entire telecommunications system.
- (4) Information Systems—This element is responsible for investigating emerging technologies and determining if these technologies could be applied to solve some of the State's business problems and/or opportunities that cannot be addressed by today's technologies.

Budget Adjustments

In FY 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $527,000 for equipment and communications to meet user growth requirements of departments within the Health & Welfare Agency and CALSTARS.
- An increase of $796,000 and 20.0 positions (17.5 personnel years) for workload associated with the increased number of devices attached to the Data Center Network.

10 HEALTH POLICY AND ANALYSIS

Program Objectives Statement

The objective of this program is to provide the Administration and the Legislature with information and recommendations for future state health needs. Through this program, the staff carries out health planning activities and develops statewide health policy.

Specifically the staff develops an annual State Health Plan which includes an evaluation of the effects of regulation, deregulation and competition on special populations. Biennially in odd-numbered years, the Plan includes components on the distribution of health care services, the forecast of future needs for facilities, services, manpower and capital, the Health Manpower Plan and the Statewide Health Facilities and Services Plan. In even-numbered years, the Plan includes a component on the effects of regulation, deregulation and competition on health care services in California. Additionally, staff assistance is provided to the California Health Policy and Data Advisory Commission.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- An increase of $21,000 for this program's portion of increases for rent and Management Analysis budget change proposals for Program 80.

25 DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS

Program Objectives Statement

The objective of this program is to provide the Administration and the Legislature with information and recommendations on the safety, effectiveness and cost implications of new treatment strategies of health care.

When legislation authorizes a demonstration project to test a new treatment strategy, program staff develop project evaluation criteria, review site proposals, select demonstration sites and monitor site performance. Results of each demonstration project become the basis for recommendations for change in health facility licensure laws and regulations. Projects currently authorized are the Freestanding Cardiac Catheterization Project, the Alzheimer's Disease Institute Project, the Outpatient Postsurgical Care Project and Rural Health Care.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

30 HEALTH PROFESSIONS DEVELOPMENT

Program Objectives Statement

The objective of this program is to provide the Governor and the Legislature with information and recommendations for future health manpower and training needs in California.

Under this program, the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development produces a component of the State Health Plan, the Health Manpower Plan, which assesses the present and future supply of specific categories of health personnel; establishes standards for determining the adequacy of supply; assesses the projected impact of changes in the financing and delivery of health care on the demand for the services of health personnel; and contains recommendations on personnel policy and programs.

Health Professions Development staff administer the Health Manpower Pilot Projects program, which tests expanded duties and other innovations in health personnel utilization. Under this program, trainees in approved projects are exempted from other provisions of law, such as the healing arts practice acts. Results of the pilot projects become the basis for recommendations for change in the healing arts practice acts and regulations.

Staff in this program also administer the Family Physician Training Program through the California Health Manpower Policy Commission, a statutory body whose members are appointed by the Governor and the Legislature, and the Minority Health Professions Education Foundation. The Family Physician Training Program uses State funds to contract with medical schools, teaching hospitals and other training programs to increase the number and improve the distribution of family practice physicians, primary care nurse practitioners and primary care physicians' assistants. The Minority Health Professions Education Foundation was established for the purpose of soliciting private sector funds for scholarships and loans to minority students in health professions education programs.

Finally, the Health Professions Development staff administer the Health Professions Career Opportunity Program, which works at solving specific health care underservice problems by increasing the number of qualified minority students in health professions.

4140 OFFICE OF STATEWIDE HEALTH PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT—Continued

Staff in this program review health facility construction plans and specifications for conformity to State statutes and regulations to assure that facility construction or alterations meet applicable standards and administer the Hospital Seismic Safety Act of 1983 to assure the continued functioning of health facilities in case of a catastrophic event. Staff also monitor for actual construction to assure compliance with approved construction documents. Under this program, staff are also responsible for the financial analysis and review of health facility project applications for Health Facility Construction Loan Insurance, Fire Protection Loans, Clinic Renovation Grants and Loans and Administration of Eminent Domain Applications for health facilities. The program assures that available financial assistance is allocated only to eligible health facilities in California. ## 4170 DEPARTMENT OF AGING

The Department of Aging serves as both the principal unifying force for services to seniors and as the focal point for the federal, State and local agencies which serve the elderly in California. As the State Unit on Aging, the Department fulfills the goals outlined in the Older Americans Act in creating options for seniors. To serve over four million older Californians, the Department works with 33 Area Agencies on Aging throughout the State. Under the direction of the Department, the Area Agencies on Aging manage a wide array of services to seniors at the community level, including nutrition programs, social services and health insurance counseling. The Department further acts as an advocate for seniors to continue to develop an environment which respects and values California's older citizens.

The enactment of the Governor's Seniors' Initiative for Californians has placed the Department in the primary role of developing a community-based long-term care system in the State. The Multipurpose Senior Services Program, Adult Day Health Care Program and the Alzheimer's and Linkages Programs represent the foundation for such a system. The multiplicity of programs share one common goal: to improve the quality of life for California's seniors.

10 NUTRITION*Program Objectives Statement

The objective of the Nutrition Program is to provide older Americans, particularly those with low incomes, with low cost, nutritionally sound meals served at strategically located congregate centers or delivered to the homebound. Besides promoting better health among the older segment of the population through improved nutrition, the program focuses on reducing the isolation of old age and providing a link to other social and rehabilitative services. Meals are provided to persons 60 years of age or older.

The Federal Department of Agriculture (USDA), Food and Nutrition Service, provides reimbursements for meals served to seniors through the elderly nutrition programs. This reimbursement is provided either in cash or in commodities. California has elected to receive cash in lieu of commodities to supplement the Nutrition Program.

The Older Americans Act, as amended in 1978, requires a 15 percent match for federal funds and that one-third of that match be from State sources. General Fund augmentations have resulted in the state providing General Fund support above the Federal Fund match requirement of $9.8 million in 1990-91.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- A one-time increase in local assistance of $155,000 in federal Congregate Nutrition funds.
- A one-time increase in local assistance of $4,000 in federal Home-delivered Nutrition funds.
- An increase of $1.33 million in local assistance from additional federal funds authorized by the federal Older Americans Act for Congregate Nutrition ($736,000) and for Home-delivered Nutrition ($594,000). An additional 594,000 meals will be served in Congregate settings while 129,000 additional meals will be served to the homebound elderly.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- An increase of $1.765 million in local assistance from additional federal funds authorized by the federal Older Americans Act for Congregate Nutrition ($977,000) and for Home-delivered Nutrition ($788,000). An additional 226,000 meals will be served in Congregate settings while 171,000 additional meals will be served to the homebound elderly.

10.10 Congregate Nutrition

Program Element Statement

The Congregate Nutrition element provides nutritional meals to older Californians at 1,088 nutrition sites where other social or rehabilitative services can also be obtained. Congregate Nutrition services are available to persons 60 years of age or older, and their spouses, regardless of age.

During 1990-91, approximately 13.2 million congregate meals are contracted to be served. Program emphasis in 1991-92 will continue to be on increased productivity through service efficiencies in order to provide increased participation among the low-income, minority, elderly population.

10.20 Home Delivered Nutrition

Program Element Statement

The Home Delivered Nutrition element uses a separate category of federal funds to provide meals for homebound seniors who are unable to participate in the congregate meals program. This element is designed to enhance independence and to prevent premature institutionalization. Home-delivered services are available to persons 60 years of age or over who are homebound by reason of illness, incapacitation, disability or who are otherwise isolated.

Current contract data indicate that approximately 7.4 million home-delivered meals will be served in 1990-91 and 1991-92. The program will continue to focus on increasing the participation of low-income minority elderly. This program is an integral part of the in-home services system and community based long-term care programs.

The major objectives of the program are to meet three significant needs of individual participants: (1) to earn additional income; (2) to regain a sense of involvement with the community; and (3) to receive training to improve their employment prospects. Title V enrollees are placed throughout the state in a variety of employment assignments such as infant care jobs, legal and tax assistants, accountant trainees, outreach workers, nutrition site aides and various community services trainees.

Budget Adjustments

Program Element Statement

The Coordinated Senior Services element is required to strengthen or develop systems of comprehensive and coordinated supportive services for older persons, utilizing resources from all levels of the community and the economy, while avoiding duplication in some service areas at the expense of others. These services are designed to avoid unnecessary institutionalization by enabling older persons to live in their own homes or other places of residence for as long as possible. Emphasis is placed on multipurpose senior centers to serve as community focal points for development and delivery of an array of services.

40.40 Multipurpose Senior Services Program

Program Element Statement

The Multipurpose Senior Services Program (MSSP) element, initially a demonstration effort, has been operated as an ongoing program under the Home and Community-Based Waiver authority of Title XIX of the Social Security Act since July 1, 1983. The federal waiver has been extended beyond June 30, 1990, pending approval of a five year renewal to June 30, 1995. The fundamental purpose of the MSSP is to provide health/social case management in order to prevent unnecessary long-term care institutionalization of frail elderly persons. There are 22 sites statewide that serve Medi-Cal eligible persons, 65 years or older, who are certifiable for admission into skilled nursing or intermediate care facilities. The average per capita costs, including administration, for persons served by the program cannot exceed the costs of institutionalization under the terms of the waiver. Chapter 1318, Statutes of 1989 authorized the program to remain in effect so long as a federal waiver has been granted. The federal waiver is currently under review and the 1991-92 budget assumes continuation of the waiver.

40.50 Adult Day Health Care

Program Element Statement

The Adult Day Health Care Program (ADHC) provides a day program of health, therapeutic and social services in 65 licensed ADHC centers in order to restore or maintain optimal capacity for self-care to frail elderly and impaired adults and to prevent inappropriate or premature institutionalization in long-term care facilities. Although this element is functionally located in the Department of Aging, local assistance costs of approximately $21.6 million in 1990-91 are included in the Medical Assistance Program in the Department of Health Services as ADHC is a Medi-Cal benefit. The daily Medi-Cal reimbursement rate for adult day health services is currently set at $45.85. An interagency agreement between the Department of Aging and the Department of Health Services specifies the roles and responsibilities of each department for the operation of the ADHC Program.

40.60 Linkages/Alzheimer/Respite Coordination

Program Element Statement

The Linkages/Alzheimer's/Respite program provides case management services for both Medi-Cal and non Medi-Cal eligible clients and implements the Alzheimer's Day Care Resource Center Program in 36 sites. The Program tests various complements of services and staff to meet the needs of victims of Alzheimer's Disease. Chapter 121, Statutes of 1990, provides an extension of the program until July 1, 1995. The Linkages Program is designed to address the needs of the frail elderly and physically impaired adults who require specialized assistance in order to remain independent. Chapter 1013, Statutes of 1989 deleted the program's termination date, thereby authorizing its continuation as a permanent program. This Budget annualizes the Respite, Registries and purchase of services components.

Program Element Statement

This element implements Proposition 30 which authorized the issuance of $50 million in General Obligation bonds for the purpose of acquiring, renovating and constructing senior centers with preference to rural, low-income and racial or ethnic minority areas of the State. A community match equal to 15% of the Senior Center Bond Act funds awarded is required.

Chapter 1233, Statutes of 1985 and Chapter 50, Statutes of 1986, appropriated a total of $50 million to the Office of the State Controller for 345 projects. This element only consists of the administrative portion of the Senior Center Bond program. The local assistance portion of the program is included in the budget of the Office of the State Controller as provided for in Proposition 30. The Department's administrative responsibilities for these contracts include grant management activities such as processing program and fiscal changes, reports, requests for funds, providing technical assistance and conducting on-site monitoring. In July 1990, 59 of the original 345 projects were still active, but were scheduled to be completed by June 30, 1991.

4180 COMMISSION ON AGING

The Commission on Aging is charged with the responsibility of being the principal advocate for older persons in California. The objectives are to ensure that the interests of older persons in California are represented by advising the Governor, Legislature, Department of Aging and agencies at all levels of government regarding the problems and needs of older persons.

The Commission holds monthly meetings and special hearings throughout the State to identify the needs and solicit the recommendations of older persons. The Commission works closely with the State's 33 Area Agency on Aging Advisory Councils, and through its newsletter provides information to individuals and senior organizations regarding matters of public policy affecting older persons.

The Commission provides coordination and support to local and statewide senior groups relating to program, legislative and policy advocacy activities. The Commission also serves in an advisory capacity to several state programs for the elderly.

The Commission sponsors, coordinates and convenes the annual California Senior Legislature, and provides staff and other administrative support to the Senior Legislature throughout the year. The California Senior Legislature is supported by the California Seniors Fund.

4200 DEPARTMENT OF ALCOHOL AND DRUG PROGRAMS

The Department, in partnership with county governments and in cooperation with numerous private and public agencies, organizations, groups and individuals, provides leadership and coordination in the planning, development, implementation and evaluation of a comprehensive statewide alcohol and drug abuse prevention, intervention, detoxification, recovery and treatment services delivery system. The Department is responsible for the licensing of methadone programs, first offender and multiple offender drinking driver programs and alcohol programs, drug abuse and combined alcohol and drug abuse recovery or treatment facilities. In addition, the Department certifies alcohol and drug abuse programs meeting State standards for service quality.

The Department is organized into four major program areas: Alcohol Programs, Drug Programs, Pilot Project Combined Services Programs and Administration. These programs monitor the effectiveness and cost efficiency of the statewide network of services administered by county governments to approximately 310,000 Californians served each year by alcohol and drug abuse service providers. In addition, the Department implements extensive prevention strategies and carries out special projects and programs designed to reduce the incidence of alcohol and drug abuse in the general population with special emphasis directed toward youth, women, the disabled, ethnic minorities and the elderly. The intended outcome of these efforts is to reduce the socioeconomic cost to Californians, estimated at $17.6 billion annually, as a result of alcohol and drug abuse.

10.30 Treatment and Recovery

Program Element Statement

The objectives of the Department's treatment and recovery program are to provide a network of services for the general population and special target groups, and to assist individuals and their families impaired by alcohol and drug problems to attain adequate physical, social, psychological, and economic functioning. Treatment and recovery services include activities which are designed to promote treatment and maintain recovery from alcohol and drug problems such as individual and group sessions, educational sessions, and alcohol and drug use recovery or treatment planning in residential and nonresidential detoxification, treatment, and recovery settings.

Detoxification programs support and assist individuals during a period of planned withdrawal from alcohol and drug dependency and assist in making plans for continued recovery.

Nonresidential recovery services provide individual and group alcohol education and recovery services, utilizing a supportive approach for individuals not requiring a residential setting. These services include: self-help groups, community recovery centers, outpatient clinics, day treatment programs, and drinking driver programs.

Programs are designed to reduce the incidence of narcotic addiction and drug abuse among their clients and participants and to assist persons impaired by narcotic addiction and drug abuse to become drug-free and to attain adequate personal and social functioning. Priority emphasis will be given to women of childbearing age, particularly pregnant women. Three goals of the methadone program are to increase the compliance rates of methadone clinics, to investigate all complaints related to the operations of the program and to establish fees which will fully support this program.

25 PILOT PROJECT COMBINED SERVICES PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The objective of this program is to provide combined alcohol and drug funding allocations to specific counties for two pilot projects:

- One project, administered pursuant to Chapter 766, Statutes of 1988, (AB 2904, Speier) allows the Department to permit the counties of San Mateo, Fresno and San Francisco to submit a combined alcohol and drug program county plan for their respective counties. The budgeting of funds in this program, separate from Program 10 (Alcohol) and Program 20 (Drugs), will allow participating counties to receive a single allocation by funding source. At this time, only funds for San Mateo and San Francisco are budgeted, since only those two counties have indicated an interest in participating in this demonstration project.
- The other project is the multiagency "Services for Alcohol and Drug Abusing Pregnant and Parenting Women and Their Infants" pilot project, which began in FY 1989-90 by funding five pilot projects in four counties (Alameda, Los Angeles, Sacramento and San Diego). During FY 1990-91, a minimum of two more additional counties are to be selected, bringing the total number of pilot projects to seven. These projects are funded by a combination of drug and alcohol funds.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

● Expansion of alcohol and drug treatment services for pregnant, postpartum and parenting women and their infants; initiation of a study of the prevalence of alcohol and drug abuse within this population; and associated support costs, totaling $17,000,000 from the Alcohol Surtax Fund and $8,000,000 from Medi-Cal reimbursements. The funding is budgeted as local assistance with the expectation that a specific allocation for support costs, including the prevalence study, will be redirected through a Finance Letter request.

4220 CHILD DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMS ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Child Development Programs Advisory Committee was established to provide policy recommendations to the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Legislature and other relevant state agencies concerning child care and development. The Committee also reviews and evaluates the effectiveness of child development programs and the need for children's services.

Among the areas of review the Committee is currently:

- developing a profile of children in programs by assessing the needs and characteristics of California's children in both subsidized and non-subsidized programs;
- analyzing the effects of perinatal substance exposure on child care and child development programs;
- exploring methods to assist children with special needs by expanding utilization of existing resources;
- conducting an outreach effort to make employers aware of the benefits of assisting with their employees' child care needs;
- investigating the causes and impact of obstacles to the effective delivery of child care services;

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

4260 DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES

The Department of Health Services' goals are to:

1. Promote an environment that will contribute to human health and well-being.
2. Assure the availability of equal access to comprehensive health services using public and private resources.
3. Emphasize prevention-oriented health care programs.
4. Promote the development of knowledge concerning the causes and cures of illness and the means of delivering health services to the public.
5. Assure economic expenditure of public funds to serve those persons with the greatest health care needs.

These goals are carried out through four programs: Public and Environmental Health, Toxic Substances Control, Health Care Services, and Departmental Administration.

Beginning in State Fiscal Year 1991-92, the Department of Health Services will utilize the CALSTARS accounting system which will improve the accuracy and timeliness of the accounting data. This change has required the Department to revise the existing program structure from thirteen programs to four. However, there is not a significant loss in budget detail as a result of this restructuring. The presentation continues to show all previous programs at either the Element or Component level. The exceptions are Laboratory Services, Audits and Investigation Program, Undistributed direct funded Administration and Special Projects. These Programs have been incorporated into the respective Program areas for which the work is performed rather than being shown as separate support programs. The following matrix compares old and new program structures:

OLD		NEW

Since this is the first budget for the CALSTARS conversion, generally there was a direct realignment from the old program to the new Program, Element or Component. In some cases, this linkage will be modified in future years as more accurate information is available.

In addition, the Department has eliminated the Program 90 Special Projects display. Each of the special projects is now displayed under the appropriate program component. In one specific instance, the Women, Infants, and Children special project has now become a program component (20.40.60).

10.20.20 Food and Drug

Program Component Statement

Under this component, the Department performs, directs and coordinates activities which protect consumers against adulterated, misbranded or falsely advertised foods, drugs, medical devices, hazardous household products and cosmetics. Legal and administrative remedies are used to gain compliance. Violations are adjudicated by courts or according to administrative procedures. The Food and Drug Laboratory and the Southern California Public Health Laboratory provide support by analyzing samples.

Field Operations staff are responsible for enforcement of statutes and regulations pertaining to foods, drugs, medical devices, cosmetics, hazardous household products, botulism control in canned food and other health related laws.

10.20.30 Radiologic Health

Program Component Statement

Under this component, the Department provides protection from the dangers of ionizing radiation and reduces radiation exposure to workers and the public from the use of either radioactive materials or radiation producing machines.

The Radiation Materials Control Section develops standards and regulations for the training of personnel, design of facilities in conjunction with the Building Standards Commission and operations involving the use of radioactive materials. In addition, the section registers and licenses users of radiation sources. Inspections and surveys of facilities are conducted to assure that appropriate health and safety standards are followed.

The Radiation Machine Control Section conducts inspections and enforces standards to assure radiation-producing machines are safely used and maintained.

The Certification, Registration and Support Services Section registers x-ray equipment, certifies that the practice of radiologic and nuclear medicine technology is performed only by persons qualified and competent to deliver radiologic health care and certifies licentiates of the healing arts. The section also approves curricula for schools and on-the-job training programs for radiologic technologists and provides support for the administrative operations of this component.

10.30.40 Chronic Diseases

Program Component Statement

The objectives of the Chronic Diseases Component are to: 1) reduce and control mortality and morbidity from chronic diseases, and 2) determine the incidence and prevalence of chronic conditions in California for the purpose of developing and implementing effective intervention strategies to control these conditions. This component includes the following tasks:

- Through the Health Promotion task, the Department provides leadership in the development of services and programs to promote health and control disease and disability in the adult population of California. Special emphasis is placed on the epidemiology of chronic disease risk factors, promoting healthful lifestyles and controlling those diseases which are the major causes of death and disability.
- Within the Special Projects task are the National Cancer Institute funded project on Dietary Intervention for Cancer Control, and the coordination function for the federally-funded Preventive Health and Health Services Block Grant.
- The Adult Health task has responsibility for health programs primarily affecting older adults. These include the Alzheimer's Disease Program, the Preventive Health Care for the Aging Program and the federally-funded Diabetes Control Program.

20.10.10 Eligibility

Program Component Statement

The Eligibility Branch is responsible for assuring that Medi-Cal eligibility criteria, policies and procedures are in conformance with Federal and State statutes and regulations, implementing new Federal and State statutes, assuring that eligibles receive their monthly Medi-Cal identification cards and ensuring accuracy in eligibility determinations. The Branch also has the departmental responsibility to respond to inquiries from the public and the Legislature about the Medi-Cal program.

The eligibility process is controlled through the following activities: revising policy, regulations and procedures to reflect eligibility changes due to Federal and State law; performing corrective action reviews of county compliance to State and Federal statutes; and overseeing the maintenance of corrective action and quality control plans. The Branch also conducts federally-required quality control reviews to determine whether the accuracy of eligibility determinations is at a level sufficient to preclude Federal sanctions. The Branch also oversees the Medi-Cal Eligibility Data System Network (MEDS) which provides online eligibility information, Medi-Cal eligibility identification cards and system update capacity in conjunction with county welfare departments. In addition, the Branch developed, implemented and now maintains an automated Income and Eligibility Verification System (IEVS) which enables counties to verify income and assets of Medi-Cal applicants and recipients and thus perform more accurate eligibility determinations.

20.10.20 Fiscal Intermediary Management

Program Component Statement

After a beneficiary has been treated by a fee-for-service Medi-Cal provider, the provider bills the fiscal intermediary for payment. The Department contracts with a fiscal agent to process provider claims according to policies established by the Department. The Department then requests the State Controller's office to issue payments based on the processed claims. Dental services covered for Medi-Cal beneficiaries are paid for by an at-risk contractor on a negotiated capitation rate basis. That contractor pays dental providers directly.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- An increase of $2,000 from the State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant for local assistance activities related to the Immigration Reform and Control Act.
- A reduction in personal services and operating expenses and equipment of $70,000, General Fund, and $209,000, Federal Trust Fund, to implement Section 3.80 of the 1990 Budget Act.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- A reduction of 4.0 positions (3.7 personnel years), $70,000, General Fund, and $209,000, Federal Trust Fund, to implement Section 3.80 of the 1990 Budget Act.
- A reduction of $4,000 from the State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant for local assistance activities related to the Immigration Reform and Control Act.

20.30.10 Primary Health Care

Program Component Statement

This component was established to provide public health services to persons in both rural and urban areas who would otherwise have little or no access to such services, by providing financial and technical assistance and education to health facilities.

Rural and Urban Clinic Services staff provide technical and financial assistance as needed to rural health medical service providers and coordination among the appropriate state and federal agencies. Funds are awarded to underserved rural communities through contracts with non-profit agencies.

Under this component, Indian Health activities provide financial and technical assistance to California clinics serving Native American Indians in order to improve their health status through the provision of comprehensive primary medical and dental care services.

In addition, Seasonal and Agricultural Workers (SAWS) staff provide consultation and health and nutrition education to clinics serving farmworkers; study the health needs of farmworker families, and seek to increase the pool of bilingual/bicultural health care providers. Additional activities include contracting with clinics for the provision of primary health care.

Hospital and Medical Standards Program staff provide support in the area of research, comprehensive program evaluation, and systems development. This component includes activities for identifying causes and developing solutions to the problems which threaten the efficiency and survival of rural and county hospitals.

Program Component Statement

The County Health Services component was established to provide public health services to the general population and medical services to indigents. Through this element, the department also provides for the allocation of State funds through the Medically Indigent Services Program (MISP) to support county costs associated with the provision of care to medically indigent adults eliminated from the Medi-Cal Program in Fiscal Year 1982-83 and administers a contract-back claims payment program for those smaller counties that choose to have the State assist them in administering those services. The California Healthcare for Indigents Program (CHIP), which was established in 1989-90, provides additional funding to each MISP county to fund hospital services, physician services, and other related health services.

CHDP is administered and funded at the State level with local health departments responsible for carrying out direct activities, which include case management, outreach, health education, follow-up, provider recruitment and support services such as assistance with transportation and medical appointment scheduling. CHDP includes coverage of the federally-mandated Early Periodic Screening Diagnosis and Treatment (EPSDT) Program requirements for Medi-Cal eligible children and adolescents from birth to age 21, providing preventive health assessments for certain categories of non-Medi-Cal eligible children and monitoring the first grade entry program which requires that all children entering the first grade (or Kindergarten) have a certificate of health examination or a waiver on file at their school.

20.40.20 Maternal and Child Health (MCH)

Program Component Statement

Activities under this component are designed to reduce and prevent maternal, infant, childhood and adolescent morbidity and deaths.

Program operations staff are responsible for the improvement of pregnancy outcomes and the quality of infant care. A multidisciplinary professional perinatal staff is involved in defining perinatal needs, setting standards, providing consultation to perinatal care providers; regionalizing comprehensive perinatal care including the development of high risk perinatal centers and alternative birthing centers; administering two infant medical dispatch centers for aiding in the transport of high risk mothers and infants; developing and administering the adolescent family life program and the high risk infant follow-up program.

Administrative Management Section staff are responsible for distributing and monitoring allocations for perinatal services funded at the state level and by federal MCH Block Grant funds (except for those allocated to California Children's Services—CCS). The priorities for MCH Block Grant expenditures are perinatal care and integration and coordination of Maternal and Child Health Services. As part of the 1990 Budget Act $3 million General Fund reduction from Maternal and Child Health programs, the Department has been conducting an analysis and review of the various MCH programs. As such, the Department will be recommending in the Spring specifically where these reductions will occur and what impact, if any, these reductions will have on authorized positions for 1991-92.

20.40.30 California Children's Services (CCS)

Program Component Statement

In this component, the Department manages a joint state-county program that provides comprehensive medical diagnosis, treatment, therapy and related services to children under 21 years of age with severe physically handicapping conditions, whose families are not able to pay for all or part of their care. Financial eligibility is based on family income, and family repayments are based on state income tax liability. Children who are enrolled in the Medi-Cal Program and have a severe disability are served by the California Children's Services (CCS) program under a cooperative arrangement.

The Genetically Handicapped Persons Program (GHPP) is included in this component and provides medical care to California residents over 21 years of age with specified genetic conditions. GHPP services include preventive care as well as out-patient and in-patient treatment. Care is provided through approved centers that specialize in treating eligible conditions.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- An increase of $976,000, General Fund, due to an estimated increase in the number of users of therapy and treatment services and treatment costs in the California Children Services Program.
- A decrease of $72,000, General Fund, due to the reduced number of users of treatment and therapy services in the Genetically Handicapped Persons Program.
- A reduction of $38,000, General Fund, from personnel services and operating expenses to implement Section 3.80 of the 1990 Budget Act.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- A net increase of $500,000 and 1.5 positions (1.4 personnel years) to implement and administer a proposed copayment process that will collect $2,650,000 in copayments from clients and reduce the General Fund need by $2,150,000.
- A fund shift of $135,000 from the General Fund to the proposed copayments to be collected in the Genetically Handicapped Persons Program.
- An increase of $355,000 for continuation of activities under the Immigration Reform and Control Act for the CCS Program.
- A reduction of $38,000, General Fund, from personnel services and operating expenses to implement Section 3.80 of the 1990 Budget Act.

20.40.40 Genetic Disease Testing

Program Component Statement

Under this component, the Department works to reduce and control disorders having a hereditary or genetic basis by early detection, public and professional education, preventive interventions and counseling.

The newborn screening activity within the element is designed to screen all newborns for four preventable causes of physical handicap or mental retardation: sickle cell anemia, phenylketonuria, galactosemia and hypothyroidism. Contract laboratories and organized follow-up are used to ensure complete and accurate testing. Staff also monitor Rh hemolytic disease of the newborn.

The Prenatal Genetics Services component includes the Alpha Fetoprotein blood test, which is offered to pregnant women, to detect birth defects like spina bifida and anencephaly of the fetus. Prenatal detection of Down's Syndrome is also promoted.

This component also provides carrier screening and counseling for Tay Sachs and a program for prenatal detection of genetic disorders and general genetic counseling.

The Newborn Screening and Neural Tube Defects Laboratory from Old Program Requirement 25—Laboratory Services are contained in 20.40.40—Genetic Disease Testing.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- An increase of $360,000, Genetic Disease Testing Fund, and 4.0 positions (1.6 personnel years) effective February 1, 1991 to begin transition of the collection of genetic disease testing fees from an outside contractor to the department ($123,000) and to replenish the supply of special filter paper used by the program ($237,000).
- A reduction equivalent to 1.0 position (0.9 personnel year) and $39,000, General Fund, from the Genetic Disease Testing Component to implement Section 3.80 of the 1990 Budget Act.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

20.40.50 Family Planning Services

Program Component Statement

Under this component, contraception, sterilization and infertility information and education services are made available to citizens of childbearing age to provide a means by which people may determine the number, timing and spacing of their children. In addition, staff work to reduce the incidence of sexually transmitted diseases, and to improve future maternal and infant health by promoting the health and education of potential parents through information, counseling and preventive services. No family planning funds are spent for abortions.

Family planning services are provided to low income men and women by more than 160 public and private nonprofit agencies contracting with the Department of Health Services at approximately 500 clinic sites. Each of these contract agencies must provide services in accordance with standards of care which specify the minimum requirements for each service.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- A reduction of $311,000 from the State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant for activities related to the Immigration Reform and Control Act.
- A reduction of $46,000, General Fund, from operating expenses to implement Section 3.80 of the 1990 Budget Act.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- A reduction of $46,000, General Fund, from operating expenses to implement Section 3.80 of the 1990 Budget Act.
- An increase of $10,000,000, General Fund, to expand Family Planning services targeted toward unmarried teenagers and women who are substance abusers.

20.40.60 WOMEN, INFANTS, AND CHILDREN (WIC)

Program Component Statement

The Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) provides specific supplemental nutritious food and nutrition education to low-income pregnant and breastfeeding women, infants, and children under five years of age who are at nutritional risk. The purpose of the WIC program is to prevent health problems and to improve the health of program participants during critical times of growth and development. WIC is fully federally funded through a grant from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The WIC program provides services in all 58 California counties through 82 local WIC agencies, of which 37 are county, city, or local health jurisdictions and the remaining 45 are private nonprofit health agencies. The California WIC program serves approximately 450,000 participants per month. To be eligible, an individual must meet income eligibility guidelines which are based on 185 percent of the federal poverty income guidelines. In addition, the person must meet the local agency's geographic or service area criteria and must be determined to be at nutritional risk by a health professional.

WIC participants are provided nutrition education by the local WIC agencies. The goals of the nutrition education component are to emphasize the individual's nutrition needs, improve the health status and eating habits of participants, and encourage women to breastfeed their infants. Participants receive vouchers which they redeem in grocery stores for WIC food. Foods provided by the California WIC program are milk, eggs, cheese, iron-fortified cereal, vitamin C-rich fruit juice, dried legumes or peanut butter, and infant formula. The WIC program receives a rebate from the manufacturers of infant formula which allows the program to serve more clients. In the past, these rebate monies have not been displayed in the budget, but were treated as abatements against costs. Starting in 1991-92, the rebate monies will be shown in the budget as reimbursements to more accurately reflect the expenditures and budget of the WIC program.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- A technical adjustment of 129.3 positions (122.8 personnel years), 10.3 temporary help positions, and $335,933,000 ($232,101,000, Federal Trust Fund and $103,832, Reimbursements) to display the WIC program as a program component, rather than as a special project.

12 TOXIC SUBSTANCES CONTROL

Program Objectives Statement

The primary objective of the Toxic Substances Control Program (TSCP) is to protect and enhance public health and the environment by regulating the management of hazardous waste and promoting its reduction. This is accomplished through a variety of Program activities such as: regulation (inspection, enforcement, permitting) of generators and transporters of hazardous waste and facilities that treat, store, or dispose of hazardous waste; clean-up of hazardous waste sites and recovery of clean-up costs from responsible parties; research and planning for waste minimization/reduction; planning for hazardous waste facility siting; coordination of community involvement in the site mitigation and facility permit programs.

12.10 Site Mitigation

Program Element Statement

The Site Mitigation Element is responsible for implementing the State's site clean-up laws and participating in the Federal Superfund program. The program includes strong enforcement elements aimed at accomplishing clean-up through Department oversight of work performed by responsible parties (RPs). RPs include owners, operators, transporters and waste generators. Where no RPs can be found or where they are not taking proper and timely action, the Department may use State or Federal funds to undertake the clean-up. If necessary, emergency (or removal) actions may be taken. For the majority of clean-up actions, a systematic study of the contamination and its potential effects, called a remedial investigation, is carried out. Data are collected to define the extent of the contamination in soil, ground or surface water and air and to develop appropriate clean-up technologies. The various technologies are evaluated in a feasibility study and a recommended approach is laid out in a remedial action plan. After public and agency review, a final plan is adopted, detailed designs are prepared and the plan implemented. At any time, short term actions to stabilize the site or otherwise reduce the immediate threats may be taken. Long-term operation and maintenance are carried out when needed and cost recovery actions are taken against RPs to recover State or Federal expenditures.

A multi-disciplined site clean-up project team is normally involved in all but the simplest types of sites. Toxicologists, hydrogeologists, chemists, industrial hygienists and other technical specialists are available to support the project manager who is an engineer or scientist. Typically, a project manager is responsible for several sites. Additionally, non-technical support is provided by accountants, contract specialists, community relations personnel, clerical staff, attorneys and others. Day-to-day project management is the responsibility of the regions. Headquarters provides program guidance, coordinates statewide efforts, manages the Emergency Response Program, carries out evaluations of property development proposals at or near hazardous waste sites, offers specific technical assistance at a limited number of sites, performs program evaluations and conducts the Rural County Survey program.

The program is working with an advisory group to refine a new integrated site mitigation process which will result in expedited site mitigation. The approach will include promulgation of clean-up standards and will increase the number of sites to be cleaned up in future years. Currently 210 hazardous waste sites are in various stages of the mitigation process. Additionally, new sites are being identified through surveillance and enforcement efforts by State and local government and by examination of other already identified potential sites. The Program's Emergency Response Unit conducts approximately 350 emergency spill responses annually and provides training and equipment for local governments' emergency response programs.

Traditionally, funding for the Program came from four principal sources: RPs, in the form of trusts or settlements; EPA grants; the State's Hazardous Substance Account and the State's Hazardous Substance Cleanup Account ($100 million Bond). However, it became apparent that bond funds would not be sufficient to meet the long-term needs of the program. Chapter 269, Statutes of 1989 (SB 475) was enacted to provide a stable long-term funding source for the Site Mitigation Program and the various regulatory and Alternative Technology efforts administered by the Program. Chapter 1032, Statutes of 1989, amended Chapter 269, Statutes of 1989, to require that projects for which funding is provided in the annual Budget Act be identified. The following is the scheduled listing of projects which the Toxic Substances Control Program has proposed for inclusion in the 1991 Budget Bill for direct site clean-up.

12.20 Permitting

Program Element Statement

One of the primary mechanisms to achieve the objectives of the Program is through the issuance of operating permits to facilities that treat, store or dispose of hazardous wastes within the State. Each permit specifies the design, operation, closure, and in some cases, post-closure requirements with which the facility must comply. In addition, closure plan approvals are required to ensure long-term protection of public health and the environment when a facility closes. Headquarters permitting staff is responsible for providing to the regional offices the policy direction, guidance, technical assistance, training and program oversight necessary to implement the permitting program. Regional office permitting staff are responsible for reviewing permit applications and closure plans for hazardous waste facilities and for preparation of the specific hazardous waste facility permits and final closure plans. Both headquarters and regional office staff work with State Water Resources Control Board and Regional Water Quality Control Board staff who concurrently evaluate compliance with groundwater protection requirements for facilities undergoing permitting and closure.

In addition to implementing the permitting program, authorization must be obtained to manage the Federal hazardous waste management program on behalf of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Authorization to implement the Federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) is currently being sought by the Program. Until such time as authorization is obtained, the Program and EPA have taken measures to reduce duplication of regulatory permit activities. At the same time, the State's permitting program must be carried out in a manner that is at least as stringent as the RCRA program and with the goal of meeting permit deadlines established by the Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments of 1984. The remaining permit deadline requires the issuance of all hazardous waste treatment and storage facility permits by November 8, 1992. In addition to regulating RCRA facilities, State regulations define a number of substances as hazardous waste which are not regulated by RCRA. The Program is responsible for implementing State permit requirements at facilities which treat, store or dispose of these State-only hazardous wastes. Regulations adopted in FY 1990-91 will bring a significant number of these facilities into regulatory compliance.

12.30 Surveillance and Enforcement

Program Element Statement

The Surveillance and Enforcement Element is responsible for monitoring facilities which generate, transport, treat, store or dispose of hazardous wastes to protect public health and the environment by ensuring compliance with State and Federal regulations. The regulated universe under the State's program is composed of approximately 46,500 generators, 1,000 transporters and 450 treatment, storage and disposal facilities, regulated under Federal Law, plus an estimated 6,000 additional facilities regulated only under state law and subject to permit by rule.

Headquarters is responsible for functions such as coordination of program planning; budgeting through the annual workplan; development and distribution of policies and procedures; program review and evaluation; creation and presentation of training courses; and criminal investigations for program initiated enforcement actions. Support to local prosecutors also is provided. The regional offices are primarily responsible for conducting the field activities including preparing for and conducting inspections, evaluating findings, writing inspection reports, and if necessary, taking enforcement action. The Surveillance and Enforcement element is also responsible for providing the technical support (document review, response to interrogatories, expert testimony, etc.) during a formal enforcement proceeding and ensuring that the detected violations are remedied. Other major field activities include an enhanced surveillance program at a number of commercial disposal facilities and a complaint response program.

Budget Adjustments

- In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:
- An increase of 4 positions (3.7 personnel years) to perform the following: manage the Manifest Unit as well as processing manifest data; and activities related to the Disclosure Program. (Positions are funded through redirected contract dollars.)

12.40 Alternative Technology

Program Element Statement

Alternative technology efforts are conducted principally by the Alternative Technology Division with support from regional offices, the Legal Office and the Office of Public and Governmental Liaison. The efforts of the Alternative Technology Division, designed to reduce the generation of hazardous wastes and to assess and promote alternative technologies for hazardous waste treatment and site clean-up, include the following activities: permit assistance, engineering reviews and project oversight; site clean-up technology selection; assistance in waste classifications; preparation of the State hazardous waste management plan (pursuant to AB 650) and Capacity Assurance Plan (pursuant to CERCLA 104(k); technical assistance to local agencies; waste reduction grant programs; operation of the Technology Clearinghouse and California Waste Exchange information programs; adoption of necessary regulations; hazardous waste disposal restrictions variance review; and various activities required by the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA).

The Department of Health Services owns and operates laboratory facilities at four locations in California: Berkeley, Los Angeles, Fairfield, and Fresno. The Department's laboratory service program ensures quality biomedical laboratory services in public and private laboratories throughout the State and provides laboratory reference and testing services.

The Department has begun implementation of the recommendations presented in its 10-year Laboratory Facilities Plan through: (1) development of a schematic design package for an expansion/renovation project at the Berkeley laboratory facility; and (2) continuation of a renovation project for the Los Angeles facility.

4270 CALIFORNIA MEDICAL ASSISTANCE COMMISSION

Program Objectives Statement

The purpose of the Commission is to negotiate contracts with health care service providers to deliver health care services to Medi-Cal beneficiaries. The Commission's objective is to promote efficiency and cost-effectiveness in the Medi-Cal program through a system of negotiated contracts which fosters competition and maintains access to quality health care for beneficiaries.

The major activities of the Commission and its staff are: 1) the negotiation of contracts with hospitals for inpatient services statewide; 2) the development and negotiation of contracts with county health systems; and 3) the development and negotiation of contracts with health care plans in selected areas for the provision of all covered health services to Medi-Cal beneficiaries on a per capita basis.

In 1989-90, the Commission was involved in 337 negotiations and renegotiations of inpatient hospital contracts involving 270 hospitals. In addition, the Commission is responsible for continued negotiations with the San Mateo Health Plan and its prepaid, at-risk contract for health care services for Medi-Cal beneficiaries. The Commission anticipates the hospital inpatient contract activity to continue and increase in the 1990-91 and 1991-92 fiscal years.

Since 1989-90 the Commission has been engaged in the area of grant allocations for hospitals that are disproportionately affected by Medi-Cal caseload. Chapter 996, Statutes of 1989 (SB 1255), permitted the Commission, in concert with the Department of Health Services, to receive and allocate contributions for disproportionate share hospitals. Federal authority for this grant allocation activity will expire on December 31, 1991.

Budget Adjustments

- Section 3.80 of the Budget Act of 1990 required a 3 percent reduction in General Fund support appropriations. For 1990-91, $30,000 was reduced from operating expenses and equipment with a conforming reduction in reimbursement funding. This baseline reduction was not restored for 1991-92.

Authority

Chapter 329, Statutes of 1982, and Chapter 996, Statutes of 1989.

SUMMARY OF PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

4280 MAJOR RISK MEDICAL INSURANCE BOARD

Chapter 1168, Statutes of 1989, as amended by Chapter 1060, Statutes of 1990, established the California Major Risk Medical Insurance Program, currently within the Business, Transportation and Housing Agency and proposed for transfer to the Health and Welfare Agency. The program is administered by the Major Risk Medical Insurance Board. Commencing in 1990-91, the program will provide health insurance to residents of the State who are unable to secure adequate health coverage for themselves and their dependents.

Legislation is being proposed to use the Major Risk Medical Insurance Board as the mechanism to provide an insurance program for women seeking coverage for pregnancy and neonatal medical care. Premium costs are to be shared between the State and the enrollees based on a sliding scale indexed to income as a multiple of the Federal Poverty Level.

The Major Risk Medical Insurance Board consists of three members appointed by the Governor, one member appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules, and one member appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly. The term of board members is four years.

4300 DEPARTMENT OF DEVELOPMENTAL SERVICES

The Department of Developmental Services administers the Lanterman Developmental Disabilities Services Act. The intent of this Act is to ensure coordination of services to persons with developmental disabilities; to ensure that such services are planned and provided as part of a continuum of care which is sufficiently complete to meet the needs of those who are developmentally disabled at each stage of their lives, regardless of their ages or the degree of their handicaps; and, to the extent possible, accomplish these goals without dislocating persons with developmental disabilities from their home communities.

The Department has established goals derived from the Lanterman Developmental Disabilities Services Act to provide a framework for departmental operations. The department's goals are to:

1. Reduce the incidence or severity of developmental disabilities through increased prevention efforts.
2. Promote the delivery of appropriate services to persons with developmental disabilities in the most efficient and cost effective manner, including generic services and alternative funding whenever possible.
3. Increase public awareness, understanding and support for persons with developmental disabilities.
4. Increase the self sufficiency of persons with developmental disabilities through quality work programs, in-home supportive services and independent living skills training.
5. Increase the availability of appropriate services and living arrangements for underserved populations.
6. Ensure that the continuum of services is stable, secure, caring and of high quality.
7. Promote policies which encourage persons with developmental disabilities to lead more independent, productive and normal lives.

The Department sets broad policy for the delivery of developmental services statewide; establishes priorities, standards and procedures within which the Developmental Services Program operates; monitors, reviews and evaluates the actual operation of the services; and oversees the correction of faulty procedures and practices brought to light by the evaluation and review process. Services are delivered directly through seven State developmental centers and indirectly through a statewide network of 21 private, nonprofit, locally based community agencies.

The Department of Developmental Services provides care and treatment to persons eligible for developmental services through three programs: Community Services, Developmental Centers and Administration.

Specific appropriations are identified in the following RECONCILIATIONS(S) WITH APPROPRIATIONS and are also summarized in the Budget Summary Schedule 9A, Proposition 98 General Fund Guarantee.

10 COMMUNITY SERVICES PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The primary objective of the Community Services Program is to develop and maintain a complete continuum of care for persons eligible for developmental services who reside in the community. The program ensures that various sections of Division 4.5 of the Welfare and Institutions Code are implemented, including those which mandate case finding and management, provision of services, prevention activities, and development of new community programs and other activities. Implementation is provided by contracting with 21 private, non-profit agencies (regional centers) that arrange for services and by encouraging the development of quality community programs. In addition, the Community Services Program is responsible for the development of standards and regulations for the administration of community programs.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91 the following budget adjustment is reflected:

- An increase of $16,122,000 to fund a deficiency in the regional center budget.

In fiscal year 1991-92 the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $61,399,000 in the regional center program to accommodate growth of 5,465 community clients and an average caseload of 101,415 community clients. This includes increased operating costs and purchase of services as a result of caseload growth and projected increases in utilization of services.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

- An increase of $11,070,000 to fund Community Based Day Programs in accordance with AB 877, Chapter 1396, Statutes of 1989.
- An increase of $1,458,000 in reimbursements from the Home and Community Based Waiver Program resulting in a reimbursement level of $25,620,000.
- A decrease of $1,510,000 in reimbursements from the Nursing Home Reform Program. This is a result of the program being scheduled as a revenue rather than a reimbursement.
- A decrease of $38,000 in reimbursements from the Compensatory Education Program resulting in a reimbursement level of $431,000.
- A decrease of $300,000 in reimbursements from the State Council on Developmental Disabilities for program development.
- A decrease of $5,799,000 in regional center operations as a result of conducting individual program plans every other year instead of annually.
- A decrease of $7,241,030 and 8.3 positions (7.7 personnel years) in the Early Intervention Program. The amount remaining after this reduction is sufficient funding for the project through September 30, 1991. This date represents the end of the state's third year of participation in Part H of P.L. 99-457, and also corresponds with the close of the federal third-year grant cycle. California is currently evaluating the merits of continuing participation for the fourth and succeeding grant cycles of the program.

20 DEVELOPMENTAL CENTERS PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The Department of Developmental Services is responsible for the operation of seven developmental centers: Agnews, Camarillo, Fairview, Lanterman, Porterville, Sonoma and Stockton. The primary objectives of the Developmental Centers Program include providing care, treatment and developmental services in the most efficient and effective manner to all residents referred to the State developmental centers by the regional centers, county mental health departments and/or the judicial system; and providing programs which assure improvement of independence, maintenance of health and welfare, increased ability to control the environment and increased normalcy of behavior for residents in state developmental centers who are developmentally disabled.

The Developmental Centers Division provides central administrative and clinical management to the seven developmental centers to assure quality treatment and compliance with state licensing, federal certification and AC/DD standards. ## 4440 DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH

The Department of Mental Health (DMH), as the State's mental health authority, administers the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act, the Short-Doyle Act and other State and federal statutes. DMH is also responsible for the direct operation of Atascadero, Metropolitan, Napa and Patton State Hospitals and the Acute Psychiatric Program at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville. In addition, the Department manages all treatment programs for approximately 600 mentally disabled patients at Camarillo State Hospital, while the Department of Developmental Services (DDS) administers the hospital, as well as the programs, for the developmentally disabled clients.

Within the Department of Mental Health's overall goal of upgrading, balancing and integrating community and State-operated services, the objective of the State Hospital Services program is to complement mental health services in the community. The program provides specialized inpatient services which are, for the most part, not available in local communities.

The Department promotes access to appropriate statewide mental health services for California residents. As the State's mental health authority, the Department invites the participation of numerous persons and organizations such as: the California Conference of Local Mental Health Directors; the California Council on Mental Health; Local Mental Health Advisory Boards; California Mental Health Association; California Alliance for the Mentally Ill; California Network of Mental Health Clients; Community Mental Health providers; Medi-Cal officials; private psychiatrists; primary health care providers; and individuals in informal networks of local support systems.

Under the provisions of the Short-Doyle Act, counties are responsible for the provision of mental health services to their residents. Services available include prevention and control of mental illness through community education and consultation, crisis evaluation and emergency care, 24-hour acute care, 24-hour residential treatment, day care treatment, outpatient care, case management and resocialization. The Department, in consultation with the California Conference of Local Mental Health Directors and the California Council on Mental Health, sets overall policy for the delivery of mental health services statewide; establishes priorities, standards and procedures within which mental health services will operate; monitors, reviews and evaluates the actual operation of the services; and oversees application of modifications indicated by the evaluation and review process.

10 COMMUNITY SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

The Community Services Program provides mental health treatment and support services through state, county and other organizations. This program is comprised of the following: Community Residential Treatment System, Community Services—Other Treatment, Primary Intervention Projects, Targeted Supplemental Services, Residential Care Services, Homeless Mentally Disabled, AIDS-Related Services, Brain Damaged Adults, Institutions for Mental Disease, Services to Wards and Dependents, Traumatic Brain Injury Projects, and Children's Mental Health Services.

The objective of the community services program is to provide mental health clients with a network of treatment and supportive services in a local setting that will help them return to normal living as fully and quickly as possible. The counties are responsible for developing plans for the delivery of mental health services to their communities.

In response to the Loma Prieta earthquake of October 17, 1989, the Department of Mental Health expended $79,000 to assist in response and recovery. These expenditures were made within existing budget resources. These costs were then reimbursed by the Office of Emergency Services with funds received from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the budget reflects the following adjustments:

- An increase of $5,700,000 in General Fund and $5,000,000 from the Unallocated Account, Cigarette and Tobacco Products Surtax Fund from Chapter 1323, Statutes of 1990 (SB 1409).
- An increase of $3,800,000 in General Fund to reflect the transfer of cost-of-living funds for the Institutions for Mental Disease Program which were appropriated in the budget of the Department of Health Services.
- An increase of $400,000 in General Fund to meet the mandates included in Chapter 1258, Statutes of 1990 (SB 1569). This legislation waives the county matching requirements for funding of mental health services provided under the Short-Doyle Act for Butte County for Fiscal Year 1990-91. In addition, the state is required to fund this match for both local services and state hospital bed days.
- A reduction of $3,367,000 in funding from the State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant to reflect a reduction in California's federal allocation.
- An increase in reimbursements of $152,000 to reflect funds received from the Office of Emergency Services for crisis counseling services as a result of the forest fire in Santa Barbara County.
- An increase in reimbursements of $743,000 to establish 1 position (1.0 personnel year) and provide contract funds for the coordination and development of a comprehensive interagency children's program through a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.
- An increase in reimbursements of $76,000 to establish 1 position (1.0 personnel year) for interagency coordination of the Handicapped Infant Program pursuant to Public Law 99-457.
- A net increase in federal funds of $1,283,000 which includes: (1) a one-time stipend of $5,000 from ADAMHA to address the treatment of adolescents who suffer concurrently with mental health, alcohol and/or drug abuse problems, (2) a reduction of $2,000 to the grant for enhanced research capacity for the forensics program to reflect second year funding received from the National Institute of Mental Health, (3) a reduction of $9,000 to the Community Support Program grant for Alameda County which is offset by a rollover of $45,000 in prior year funds, (4) a reduction of $27,000 to the Consumer Case Management Grant to reflect second year funding received from the National Institute for Mental Health, and (5) the rollover of prior year funds for four separate departmental activities. These include mental health planning activities pursuant to Public Law 99-660 ($69,000); disaster assistance funds as a result of the October 1989 Bay Area earthquake ($1,050,000) which includes 0.4 position (0.4 personnel year) of temporary help, services to the homeless mentally disabled pursuant to the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act of 1987 ($52,000), which includes 0.5 position (0.5 personnel year) of temporary help, and manpower grant training activities ($100,000).

In 1991-92 the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- A reduction of $431,744,000 in General Fund as part of a realignment of program responsibilities between the State and local governments with funding for mental health treatment services being transferred to counties beginning in Fiscal Year 1991-92. The counties would then be provided an additional revenue source, which is expected to grow in future years for continued support of this program. The role both the State and the counties will have in providing a system for the treatment of California's mentally disabled will be specified in the enabling legislation. Those program elements which are affected by the realignment show no proposed funding for Fiscal Year 1991-92.
- An additional $7,929,000 in General Fund and $782,000 in reimbursements to provide funding for 360 new beds for the Institutions for Mental Disease Program.
- An additional $1,863,000 in General Fund to provide outpatient services to an additional 85 mentally disordered offenders through the Conditional Release Program.
- An increase in reimbursements of $745,000 through a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation for the continuation of 1 position (1 personnel year) and contract funds for the coordination and development of an interagency children's program.
- An increase in reimbursements of $19,000 for the continuation of 1 position (0.3 personnel year) until September 30, 1991 for activities related to the Handicapped Infant Program pursuant to Public Law 99-457.
- An increase of $40,000,000 in Cigarette and Tobacco Products Surtax Funds ($36,000,000 from the Unallocated Account and $4,000,000 from the Physician Services Account) for allocation to the counties for provision of mental health treatment services.
- An increase of $1,034,000 ($635,000 in reimbursements and $399,000 in Short-Doyle audit collections) to establish 17.0 positions (16.1 personnel years) to increase the number of Short-Doyle utilization review audits performed annually and to implement a revised Short-Doyle/Medi-Cal cost settlement process in response to federal concerns.
- A reduction of $12,353,000 in funding from the State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant to reflect a reduction in California's federal allocation. This results in the reduction of 6.0 positions (5.7 personnel years) associated with administrative activities related to this program.

10.15 Community Residential Treatment System

Program Element Statement

The Community Residential Treatment System provides mental health treatment programs which are rehabilitative in focus, non-institutional in design, and systematically interrelated so as to form a coordinated continuum of care. These services are intended to reduce the dependence of the mentally disordered clients on antipsychotic medications and foster the development of social interactive skills, independent living and vocational performance.

10.25 Other Treatment

Program Element Statement

Other treatment constitutes the majority of the available local mental health services. These program services are described below.

Twenty-four hour habilitation and rehabilitation is aimed at persons who have traditionally been relegated to State hospitals because of behavior manifestations that have caused them to fail in community care facilities. They must be taught socially acceptable behavior, and learn to be independent from the traditional institutional structure. The patient is generally young with multiple problems, but may also be aged or have brain damage. Staffing is weighted heavily toward occupational and rehabilitational therapies, but may also include reality orientation for the elderly person. The medical component is generally supplied by outside physicians. Much of the treatment of patients in 24-hour care takes place offsite in Short-Doyle funded outpatient and day-treatment programs.

Satellite housing and supervised out-of-home placement services are the traditional board and care or group homes. The patients are long-term dependent persons who require supervision to function in a community setting. These services expose residents to the full range of supportive social services, including Short-Doyle funded outpatient care and day treatment. The patients are typically chronically disabled due to mental disorders, substance abuse or aging. Most are eligible for SSI/SSP and Medi-Cal.

Semi-independent living takes place in an apartment house or a group home with a client self-government atmosphere. Here, several clients live in a cooperative, self-help environment and are responsible for various household chores and personal maintenance. Staff assist and offer guidance to clients trying to become self-sufficient and responsible for their physical and personal needs.

Some individuals require more than short-term treatment to continue their usual living, working and social arrangements. They may benefit from services in a day treatment center during part of the day, and frequently their treatment involves members of their families. Others receive mobile professional services in their own homes, foster homes, schools, jails or in other community facilities. Such treatment requires only modest changes in the person's normal life, and is far less expensive than institutionalization.

Sheltered workshops are nonhospital-based programs lasting less than 24 hours. They are designed for the chronically mentally ill client who is unable to participate in competitive employment. These programs include vocational and rehabilitation counseling, work training and vocational evaluation. The development of sound work habits and skills, and social functioning for marginally productive individuals is stressed. There may be provision for remunerative employment for individuals who are capable of partial self-support in a sheltered work environment.

Counseling and social rehabilitation services are provided for clients living in facilities with little or no day treatment component. Ideally, the services are nonhospital based and have a functional orientation with prevocational and vocational services. Prevocational is a long-term "habilitation" service for the seriously disturbed or multiple handicapped. The main focus is on attitudinal, motivational, emotional and physical blocks which impedes functioning. Orientation is focused on skill-seeking and skill-enhancement to attain vocational goals. Vocational programs provide experiences which will enhance an appreciation and understanding of the reality of work. Some vocational services may be permanently "sheltered" in the sense that they are programmed for people who have reached their optimum level of vocational growth.

The Conditional Release Program provides mandated community services to judicially committed patients and mentally disordered offenders placed on outpatient status. These services include, but are not limited to, community residential treatment programs, short term hospitalization, socialization programs, day-treatment and individual and group therapy. The primary objectives of the program are the prevention of criminal re-offense, the maintenance of mental health and the successful reintegration into society.

20 STATE HOSPITAL SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

The State Hospital Services Program assures the provision of quality inpatient treatment services for mentally disabled Lanterman-Petris-Short (LPS) patients, judicially committed patients, mentally disordered offenders, inmates transferred from the Department of Corrections and wards from the Department of Youth Authority.

The basic goal of the program is restoration of the individual's optimal level of functioning to allow reintegration into the community. The State Hospital serves as only one of a number of treatment programs available in the continuum of public mental health services throughout California.

A full range of programs with the exception of medical-surgical services, is found at Atascadero, Camarillo, Metropolitan, Napa and Patton State Hospitals to treat the mentally disabled adult. Programs for mentally disabled children and adolescents are provided only at Camarillo and Napa State Hospitals. Of the populations at Atascadero and Patton, 100% and 94% respectively are mentally ill offenders. In addition, the Department operates an acute psychiatric program for Department of Corrections inmates at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

The in-hospital population count in programs for the mentally disabled in state hospitals is projected to be 4,833 on June 26, 1991 and is expected to decrease to 4,748 by June 24, 1992.

Budget Adjustments

The 1990-91 budget reflects the following adjustments:

- An increase of $2,154,000 in General Fund for the establishment of 63 positions (27.9 personnel years) to reflect first year compliance with the consent decree, entered into in the case of United States of America v. State of California, et al. This consent decree requires the establishment of additional level-of-care and clerical positions at Napa State Hospital over a three year period.
- An increase in reimbursements of $61,000 to reflect the following adjustments: (1) employee rent at Atascadero ($12,000) and Patton ($5,000); (2) an increase in a lease agreement with Los Angeles County for the use of beds at Metropolitan ($8,000); (3) an increase in the Medi-Cal eligibility contract at Metropolitan ($17,000) and Napa ($5,000); (4) an increase in Compensatory Education funds at Napa ($18,000); (5) an increase in Special Education (AB 1202) funds at Napa ($32,000); (6) an increase in the lease agreement with the Highland Seniors Group at Patton ($2,000); (7) a new reimbursement from the California Arts Council ($13,000) to partially support an art therapy program in the state hospitals; (8) a decrease in Lottery Education funds at Napa (—$12,000); and (9) a net decrease of $39,000 in Adult Basic Education funds involving three of the state hospitals, Napa (—$45,000), Metropolitan ($1,000) and Patton ($5,000).
- A reduction of $1,000 to the federal grant for enhanced research capability for the sex offender treatment program to reflect second year funding received from the National Institute of Mental Health.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An additional $7,007,000 in General Fund for the establishment of 123 positions (86.4 personnel years) to reflect full year funding for the 63 positions which were administratively established in Fiscal Year 1990-91 and the addition of 60 positions required in Fiscal Year 1991-92 for continued compliance with the consent decree entered into in the case of United States v. State of California, et al.
- An additional $3,049,000 in General Fund and a decrease of $5,718,000 in reimbursements to reflect an increase of 118 beds for mentally disordered offenders and a decrease of 160 beds for Department of Corrections inmates and 43 beds for other judicially committed/ Penal Code patients. This will result in a reduction of 19.0 positions (77.8 personnel years).
- An increase of $4,692,000 to the state hospital budget from the Special Account for Capital Outlay (SAFCO) to fund (1) the reroofing of Atascadero State Hospital; (2) the installation of safety railings and (3) the extension of the existing catwalks and the addition of crossover stairs to provide access to recently installed air conditioning equipment.

20.30 Other State Hospital Services

Program Element Statement

In addition to the clients admitted to the State hospitals by the county mental health programs and committed by the Superior Court, there is a separate group of clients treated in the State hospitals under various other criteria. For example, DMH provides mental health services to clients referred by the Departments of Corrections (CDC) and the California Youth Authority. Additionally, DMH provides psychiatric services for 210 inmates at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville. These clients are not reflected in the State Hospital Inhospital Population Chart which follows.

The State Hospital Inhospital Population Count chart displays past and projected population levels for hospital clients (excluding those on leave). The chart displays departmental policies and goals with respect to population.

The chart is vertically divided by fiscal year into two parts: "Last Wednesday of the Fiscal Year" and "Average for the Fiscal Year". Both components display "observed" columns which are composed of actual client count and "estimated" columns which are population projections upon which the budget is built.

Horizontally, the chart is divided by hospital into three categories: LPS, Penal Code and "other clients".

Budget Adjustments

The 1990-91 Budget reflects the following adjustments:

- A reduction of 1 position (1 personnel year) to reflect the decision to use a consultant contract rather than a civil service position for work associated with the federal grant for improvement of the mental health data collection system. This same grant has also been reduced by $27,000 to reflect second year funding received from the National Institute of Mental Health.
- The establishment of 2 positions (1.7 personnel years) for key data entry activities through a redirection of $68,000 in operating expense funds.

In 1991-92 the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $680,000 ($340,000 in reimbursements and $340,000 in Short-Doyle audit collections) to establish 9.0 positions (8.5 personnel years) to increase the number of Short-Doyle Medi-Cal audits performed annually.
- A continuation of the current year reduction of 1 position (1 personnel year) to reflect the decision to use a consultant contract rather than a civil service position for work associated with the federal grant for improvement of the mental health data collection system. There is also a continued reduction of $27,000 to reflect an adjustment in the funding received from the National Institute of Mental Health.
- A redirection of $68,000 in General Fund contract funding to establish 2 positions (1.9 personnel years) for key entry activities.

55 CAPITAL OUTLAY

The Capital Outlay component of the Mental Health Initiative will begin its eighth year in 1991-92. As part of the initiative, the Department of Mental Health is committed to upgrading all patient living areas to meet Fire, Life Safety, Handicapped Accessibility, and Environmental standards. This, in addition to programmatic improvements made possible by the Mental Health Initiative, enabled the Department to meet the major objective of accreditation of all state hospitals in 1987. Accreditation is the hallmark of quality services and has returned California to the forefront in providing services to mentally disabled persons. In order to minimize the costs of necessary improvements, the Department will continue to seek waivers of certain requirements when prudent and cost effective without jeopardizing the safety and well being of patients and staff.

The Department of Mental Health's Major Capital Outlay program upgrades all patient living areas to meet fire, life safety and environmental standards. Funding is provided in 1991-92 for completion of the Camarillo Developmental Center/Hospital phase of this program. The Department is also beginning to plan for the upgrade of other areas of the state hospitals to meet fire and life safety codes and provide appropriate and adequate space for other patient and support functions. This effort will be seen in future projects to construct new kitchens at all the state hospitals and renovate space at Metropolitan State Hospital for the Medical Ancillary Department and other support services.

The Department is remodeling beds to meet four licensing categories. These are: 1) General Acute Care (GAC), 2) Acute Psychiatric (AP), 3) Skilled Nursing (SNF), and 4) Intermediate Care (ICF). Adolescents (AD) and Children's units (CH), within the Acute Psychiatric category, are also included. The following chart illustrates the Department's plans for remodeling at each hospital serving mentally disabled clients. The Program Beds column indicates the number of clients who can be served at one time in each building. The Total Beds column includes additional beds used for isolation or seclusion which are temporary only and cannot be used for client admissions. The chart below references these other major non-bed related improvements in aggregate as "other projects."

10 EMPLOYMENT AND EMPLOYMENT RELATED SERVICES PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The people of the State of California benefit from a sound and growing economy. However, many employers' job openings remain unfilled, resulting in a loss in production of goods and services. At the same time, many job seekers are unable to find employment and suffer wage loss and reduced buying power. The objective of the Employment and Employment Related Services program is to match employers' needs and job seekers' skills.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are reflected:

- An increase of 6.5 positions (6.3 personnel years) and $1,000,000 for alien certification workload, reports and outreach.
- An increase of 1.0 position (0.9 personnel year) and $63,000 to the Housing Inspections Program in 1990-91 for the estimated increase in housing certifications for shepherders.
- A decrease of 6.6 positions (6.4 personnel years) and $350,000 to the State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant (SLIAG) portion of the Immigration Reform and Control Act (IRCA) to match available federal funding.
- An increase of 15.2 positions (14.6 personnel years) and $706,000 to continue the Business Establishment List Program which collects information on employers with multiple locations.
- An increase of 3.1 positions (3.1 personnel years) and a net increase of $169,000 for the Wagner-Peyser 10-Percent Discretionary Program. These monies will be used to augment existing projects such as the Youth Employment Opportunity Program (YEOP), McMasters Project, BRIDGE Project, and Deaf and Hearing Impaired Program.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An addition of $3,870,000 for the Job Service Automation System (JSAS) for ongoing Health and Welfare Data Center (HWDC) costs.
- An increase of $1,916,000 for increased facilities costs for Employment and Employment Related Service Programs.
- A decrease of 15.6 positions (15.0 personnel years) and $914,000 to the SLIAG portion of the IRCA program to match available funding.
- The 10-Percent Discretionary funds will fund an increase of 3.1 positions (3.1 personnel years) and $149,000 to augment the YEOP and to preserve funding for the Deaf and Hearing Impaired Program.

10.10 General Employment Services

Program Element Statement

The Wagner-Peyser Act authorizes the Job Services (JS) Program. This law requires that 90 percent of the JS funding be allocated in support of statewide labor exchange responsibilities and 10 percent be reserved for the Governor's discretionary projects as described in 7 (b) of the Wagner-Peyser Act. The basic labor exchange responsibilities are carried out through 125 field offices in various locations throughout the State. The labor exchange responsibilities include providing applicant assessment; job placement; employment counseling; vocational testing; job search workshops; and referral to training and employers. Specific target groups, such as veterans, disabled persons, older workers, youth, minorities and migrant and seasonal farmworkers, are provided special emphasis. In addition, the Department carries out the provisions of legislation by determining tax credit eligibility and issuing tax credit certifications. The federal Wagner-Peyser Act provides that 10 percent of Federal Wagner-Peyser funds received may be used at the Governor's discretion for 1) performance incentives applicable to basic JS programs, 2) services to client groups with special needs, and 3) development and trial of exemplary model systems for delivery of JS activities. In addition, State legislation provides that up to 50 percent of the 10-Percent monies be used to provide job services for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) eligible clients.

10.20 Special Group Employment Services

Program Element Statement

Special Group Employment Services includes an array of services designed to assist hard-to-place persons in securing worthwhile, productive work. These persons may be disadvantaged in the job market for a variety of reasons, including lack of skill, training or experience; age; physical handicap; social barriers and cultural differences. The Department's Service Centers and Job Agents provide specialized services to Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) program participants, as well as to other clients who would benefit from intensive employability development and placement services. The GAIN program, implemented in 1985, requires AFDC recipients to participate in employment-related activities designed to maximize their opportunities for employment. The GAIN program is administered by the State Department of Social Services through the county welfare departments and is now fully implemented statewide. EDD supports the GAIN program by providing services to GAIN recipients as specified in agreements with county welfare departments. These services include job search workshops, supervised job search, development of on-the-job training, intensive job development and placement services, and, in some counties, specialized services tailored to individuals' needs. The nine Service Centers, located in economically disadvantaged areas of the State, provide employability development and placement services to individuals who need coordinated and intensive services to become employable. These individuals are vocationally handicapped due to lack of education, job skills, language barriers, health problems, and/or poor work habits and attitudes. The Service Centers provide intensive employment-related services to remove or control barriers to employment through a "case responsible" approach. This approach includes an orientation to the world of work, referral to other governmental or nongovernmental agencies for supportive services, referral to or enrollment in educational or vocational training, use of case services funds to obtain goods and services necessary for employment, counseling, testing, providing labor market information, and job development, referral and placement. GAIN participants receive priority for these services. Job Agents stationed in various EDD field Offices provide the same range of services as the Service Center personnel, but generally provide more intensive services to clients who are even more difficult to place. All Job Agent clients must be economically disadvantaged. With a priority of services to GAIN clients, Job Agents target heads of household and clients with the most serious barriers to employment, such as ex-offenders, the disabled and clients who lack proficiency in English. After job entry, follow-up is provided to ensure permanent, full-time employment. In addition EDD provides specialized job services to Service Delivery Areas (SDAs) via contracts. These services include job clubs, placement, job search workshops and are customized to meet the needs identified by the SDAs. Through this process, EDD and the SDAs coordinate at the local level to effect an overall delivery system which maximizes the use of available resources and minimizes duplication.

20 TAX COLLECTIONS AND BENEFIT PAYMENTS PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The seasonality of certain industries, constant fluctuations in the economy and advances in technology in the workplace continue to cause unemployment of individuals through no fault of their own. Workers also continue to suffer the loss of wages due to nonwork-related illness and injury, and pregnancy. These circumstances have a detrimental effect on the state of the economy. To alleviate the hardships on individuals and stabilize the economy, the objective of this program is to provide relief to individuals who suffer periods of unemployment or are temporarily disabled. This program contains two systems, the Unemployment Insurance (UI) program and the Disability Insurance (DI) program, which provide monetary relief to persons who have suffered a wage loss due to unemployment, illness or injury. These systems are based upon insurance principles, with the employer and employee paying tax contributions to funds which provide benefits to unemployed and temporarily disabled individuals respectively. The systems include the following activities: collection of tax contributions, establishing benefit claims, processing of benefit payments to claimants and adjudication of disputes involving claims or tax liabilities. The collection process includes the collection of the Unemployment Insurance (UI) and Disability Insurance (DI) taxes as well as the Personal Income Tax (PIT) and the Employment Training Tax (ETT) from all subject employers. Consolidation of the collection of UI, DI, PIT and ETT taxes into one program simplifies the reporting and payment of these four taxes by employers. California is the only state in which the collection of personal income tax withholdings has been consolidated with collection of the unemployment insurance tax, resulting in a savings to the State General Fund and minimizing administrative burdens on business. The integrity of the tax collection system is maintained by the audit program which detects and deters employer errors and intentional tax evasion and by the intensive collection of delinquent taxes. By ensuring that all employers carry their fair share of the tax burden these activities help to promote fair completion in the marketplace.

20.10 Unemployment Insurance

Program Element Statement

Through the Unemployment Insurance (UI) program, EDD provides and maintains an employer-funded system to pay benefits to covered individuals who become unemployed through no fault of their own. Employers subject to the Unemployment Insurance Code are identified, registered and given a tax rate for payments to the UI fund. Governmental and nonprofit entities may elect either to reimburse the fund for the cost of benefits or to be tax rated. The monies in the UI fund are used to pay UI benefits to those who are eligible. Eligibility requires that the individual be unemployed through no fault of his or her own, register with EDD for work, be able and available for work and be actively searching for employment. Eligible individuals receive weekly benefit payments which provide partial, temporary relief for the loss of wages. Benefit payments vary from $40 to $210 per week, with the maximum increasing to $230 on January 1, 1992 depending on a claimant's earnings during a one-year base period. A claimant's continuing eligibility is reviewed periodically and any issues that arise are resolved in a Department determination. In those instances where a decision of claimant eligibility or employer tax liability is disputed, an appeal can be made to the California UI Appeals Board. The UI Appeals Board is empowered to render legal decisions regarding the payment of all UI benefits and the determination of tax liabilities for subject employers. Currently subject employers pay into the UI Fund to provide coverage to approximately 90 percent of the State's labor force. Those persons generally not covered are the self-employed, domestic workers and church employees.

20.20 Disability Insurance

Program Element Statement

Through the Disability Insurance (DI) program, EDD provides and maintains a system to compensate, in part, for the wage loss sustained by individuals disabled because of nonoccupational illness, nonoccupational injury, or pregnancy. The program has two components: State Disability Insurance and Nonindustrial Disability Insurance. State Disability Insurance (SDI) covers private sector employees who have worked in California, certain public employees who elect coverage and self-employed individuals who elect to be covered. This system requires activities very similar to the UI system including an eligibility determination process, a benefit payment process, a tax contribution and collection process, a staff support process and an appeal process. In accordance with the Unemployment Insurance Code, DI taxes are collected from subject employers who withhold DI contributions from their employees' wages based on an annual rate established by EDD. Monies in the DI Fund are used to pay disability insurance benefits and costs of administering the program. Weekly benefit rates range from $50 to $336 and may be paid up to a maximum of 52 weeks during one disability benefit period. Where claimant's eligibility is disputed, an appeal may be filed. Also, an employer may appeal a disputed DI tax liability. The California Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board conducts hearings and issues decisions on these disputes. The Nonindustrial Disability Insurance (NDI) program covers State employees. NDI does not require a withholding from State employee wages. Each State department pays the actual cost of benefits paid to their employees. Eligibility factors vary by bargaining unit and weekly benefit rates vary to a maximum of $135. State employees designated "Managerial" may elect a special NDI program.

20.30 Personal Income Tax Withholding

Program Element Statement

The majority of California employers are required by law to deduct California Personal Income Tax (PIT) from the wages of their employees based on withholding schedules prepared by the Franchise Tax Board. The employers are required to report and remit the withheld taxes to EDD. Remittances may be required up to eight times per month. The PIT system includes all activities necessary to equitably and promptly collect PIT from all subject employers, ensure employer compliance with all legal provisions of the program and keep employers informed of their responsibilities regarding PIT withholdings.

50 EMPLOYMENT TRAINING PANEL PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The Employment Training Panel (ETP) was created by AB 3461, Chapter 1074, Statutes of 1982. The Panel is funded by a special employer paid tax collected by EDD and deposited into the Employment Training Fund. The objectives of the ETP program are: to promote economic development in California by providing training funds to qualified employers who are retraining potentially unemployed workers, expanding their operations, or relocating their businesses to California; and to minimize UI costs by providing employment opportunities to UI recipients, UI exhaustees and potentially displaced workers. To accomplish these goals, the ETP assists employers and training agencies in the development and funding of training and retraining projects. EDD provides administrative support to the Panel in the areas of personnel, fiscal, business services and data processing. EDD files are utilized to assist in the determination of trainee eligibility.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- The addition of 4.0 positions (3.8 personnel years) and $165,000 to provide contract monitoring for increased workload.
- An increase of 3.1 positions (3.0 personnel years) and $200,000 to establish a new ETP office in San Diego.
- An addition of 1.0 position (1.0 personnel year) and $36,000 for clerical and accounting workload increases.
- An increase of 2.0 positions (1.9 personnel years) and $120,000 to improve the audit coverage of the Employment Training Panel Program.

60 JOB TRAINING PARTNERSHIP ACT (JTPA) PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The State receives federal training funds pursuant to the federal Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). The objectives of the JTPA program are to provide training programs to prepare youth and unskilled adults for entry into the labor force and to afford job training to economically disadvantaged individuals and others facing serious barriers to employment who are in special need of such training in order to obtain productive employment. Through the Job Training Partnership Division (JTPD), Employment and Training Branch, the Employment Development Department (EDD) administers JTPA funds pursuant to policy direction provided by the State Job Training Coordinating Council (SJTCC). JTPA funds are provided in support of the following: Incentive and Technical Assistance Grants to Service Delivery Areas (SDAs); Educational Linkages; Specialized Training/retraining for Displaced Workers, Targeted Veterans and Older Individuals; Training for Adults and Youth; Training and Employment-Related Services to youths during the school recess (summer) period and staffing and administrative oversight by the SJTCC and EDD.

- An increase of 1.0 position (1.0 personnel year) and $63,000 for the projected increase in Rapid Response workload.
- An increase of $16,161,000 to reflect carryforward and the actual federal allocations for Title III Dislocated workers (Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance Act - EDWAAA).
- An increase of $9,912,000 to reflect the actual federal allocations for Title IIA Adult and Youth and Title IIB Summer Youth. These monies are distributed to the service delivery areas as local assistance.
- An increase of $3,992,000 for carryforward and estimated additional Title III Dislocated Worker funds distributed by the Secretary of Labor.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $154,000 for increased facilities costs for the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) Program.
- An increase of 16.7 positions (16.0 personnel years) and $2,162,000 in additional JTPA funds to continue the development and implementation of the Job Training Automation Project.

60.11 Administrative Cost Pool

Program Element Statement

The Administrative Cost Pool (ACP) funds the State's administration of the JTPA program. Administrative costs are funded from JTPA five-percent and six-percent funds. The ACP funds administrative costs in the SJTCC and EDD. The SJTCC acts in an advisory, policy making and oversight role for the Governor concerning: JTPA program operations; integration of employment and training programs at the state level; and in furthering cooperation between government and the private sector in meeting the needs of employers and the labor force. EDD is responsible for establishing the rules, regulations and procedures for administration of the JTPA program, which includes the review and approval of the SDA plans, allocation and control of funds to SDAs and evaluation of program performance.

Coordination occurs through the use of cooperative agreements between the state agency, SDAs and local education agencies. AB 2580, Chapter 1025, Statutes of 1985, Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) encourages the Superintendent of Public Instruction to use a portion of these funds to provide services to GAIN clients. All funds granted for the purpose of providing services to eligible participants must be matched with non-JTPA funds.

The Governor, upon recommendation of the SJTCC, has awarded these funds for economic and job development projects intended to improve local job markets, marketing efforts to attract both employers and participants to the JTPA program, grants to SDAs for administrative stability due to funding variations created by the JTPA formula allocation process, and other local projects.

The Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification (WARN) Act, the Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance Act (EDWAAA) and revisions to the Trade Adjustment Act (TAA) amended services for displaced workers under Title III of JTPA beginning in Program Year 1989-90. As a result, EDD's role under Title III changed, requiring establishment of a "rapid response unit" and implementing procedures for handling mandated preclosure/layoff notices from certain employers. As required by federal law, 50 percent of the resources are formula-allocated to substate areas, another 10 percent is allocated to substate areas based on need, and 40 percent is earmarked for various discretionary statewide activities which include special projects focused on specific industries with large numbers of displaced workers, and basic readjustment services to workers. In California, the substate areas are the 52 Service Delivery Areas.

10 VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

The Vocational Rehabilitation Services Program is the Department of Rehabilitation's major service. The Department estimates that for the budget year there may be over 765,000 working age Californians with disabilities who have a need for vocational rehabilitation services in order to obtain or retain employment.

The Department delivers basic vocational rehabilitation services to the general disabled community through district and branch offices located throughout the State. A number of formal and informal cooperative agreements between the Department and State and local agencies (educational institutions, hospitals and mental health treatment facilities and alcoholism treatment programs) assure specialized services to particular target groups among the disabled population. The Department places special emphasis on services to clients with severe functional limitations including the blind, deaf, developmentally disabled, mentally ill and cardiovascularly disabled.

The Department provides comprehensive training and supervision, enabling the legally blind to support themselves in the operation of vending stands, snack bars and cafeterias. Prevocational services are provided by the Orientation Center for the Blind to newly blind adults to prepare them for basic rehabilitation services.

Rehabilitation services which support the basic program are also provided to clients, employers, other units of government and the disabled population in general. These services constitute Program Element 10.40, Other Rehabilitation Services.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustment is reflected:

- An increase of 15 positions (7.4 personnel years) administratively established for program monitoring and administration of three major transition programs. Funding for these positions is provided by a redirection of $246,000 from consultant and professional services.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of 15 positions (14.9 personnel years) for program monitoring and administration of three major transition programs. Funding for these positions is provided by a redirection of $517,000 from consultant and professional services.
- An increase of $2,942,000 in federal funds to support the estimated caseload (client services) for the Supported Employment Program.

10.10 Rehabilitation Counseling and Placement

Program Element Statement

This program element is the primary service delivery effort of the Department of Rehabilitation. Through rehabilitation counselors, the Department evaluates applicants for rehabilitation services, determines eligibility for services, develops an individualized written rehabilitation plan jointly with the person having a disability, identifies specific services required for rehabilitation, provides such services either by coordination of available community resources or purchase of services from the community, helps the person with a disability upon completion of the plan to find suitable employment and maintains follow-up contact to assure employment stability.

The general disabled public receives such services through a basic program which is financed with approximately 80 percent federal funds and 20 percent State and other matching funds. Special cooperative agreements with other state and local agencies are financed with federal funds and with funds from the cooperating agency. These programs direct rehabilitation services to particular target groups such as the mentally ill, the mentally retarded and alcoholics. In support of the Mental Health Initiative and Chapter 1286, Statutes of 1985 (AB 2541), the Department is continuing its joint effort with the Department of Mental Health to target services to mentally disabled clients.

In Fiscal Year 1991-92 the Department anticipates the rehabilitation of 23,500 persons with disabilities including 6,325 public assistance recipients. Rehabilitations of this kind represent considerable annual public savings in Welfare, Medi-Cal and Social Security costs, as well as increased tax revenues from the earnings of rehabilitants.

In accordance with the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Department has established a priority system of extending services to the severely disabled. The Department anticipates that 50 percent of the persons rehabilitated will be severely disabled.

10.20 Business Enterprise Program

Program Element Statement

The Business Enterprise Program for the Blind (BEP) provides training and employment for legally blind persons in the management of food service and vending facilities on public and private properties located throughout the State.

The staff promotes and develops new locations in public and private buildings for vending and food service operations. Other services include the design and installation of new operations, remodeling of older facilities, supervision of new vendors and general business services.

Legally blind persons (vendors) who complete BEP's prescribed training courses are selected on a competitive basis to operate facilities. The vendors retain the profits from the facility they manage except for a percentage prescribed by law. This percentage (fee) is placed in a trust fund account, matched with federal funds and used for the establishment of new facilities and the maintenance of established facilities.

10.40 Other Rehabilitation Services

Program Element Statement

The Department provides other complementary rehabilitation services to or on behalf of individuals with disabilities. These services include:

1. Development and implementation of new rehabilitation technology and methodology which includes evaluating the potential of clients having severe disabilities to operate motor vehicles, wheelchair fittings for clients who cannot use commercially available equipment and fabrication of various assistive devices to expand mobility or scope of independent function for persons with disabilities. Another aspect is development of new counseling techniques, training of counselors and evaluation of results.

The Department also purchases visual examinations, visual aids, and provides training in using visual aids for persons who are partially sighted from the Center for the Partially Sighted.

2. The Department also operates several programs designed to safeguard or promote the rights of persons with disabilities. The Rehabilitation Appeals Board and Client Assistance Program ensure that clients or prospective clients receive the services to which they are entitled. The Community Access Section provides expert consultation and assistance to state and local government and to profit and non-profit organizations which are subject to the provisions of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and California law, regarding access to public facilities and non-discrimination on the basis of handicap.

20 HABILITATION SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

The Habilitation Services Program addresses the needs of adults with severe handicaps who are currently too disabled to benefit from mainstream vocational rehabilitation programs, but who need and can benefit from a broad range development program targeted at increased independence, improved social functioning and, to the extent feasible, development of the individual's potential for mainstream vocational rehabilitation programs.

Under this program, the Department purchases habilitation services from community work activity programs for individuals with developmental disabilities referred by the Department of Developmental Services regional center system. The Department also provides services to blind and deaf-blind individuals through counselor-teachers, purchase of reader services and a community-based project to serve the elderly blind.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- Increase of $1,567,000 General Fund to support the estimated caseload growth in the local assistance portion of the Work Activity and Supported Employment programs.

Authority

20.10 Work Activity Program

Program Element Statement

The Department purchases habilitation services for persons with developmental disabilities. Eligibility for these services is determined by a regional center, which prepares an individual program plan for each client. The Department is responsible for the review and approval of client assessments developed by facilities conducting work activity programs to ensure that services are directed toward preparing clients for their highest level of functioning and for the promotion of innovative approaches to the delivery of habilitative services by community-based programs.

The services of Department counselor-teachers are provided to individuals who are blind or deaf-blind. These services are non-vocational and include in-the-home counseling, training in independent living, mobility training in the community and information and referral services. Counselor-teachers also provide vocational services to clients who are included in Vocational Rehabilitation Services (Program 10). Another group of individuals who are blind and who are not vocational rehabilitation clients receive reader services, by law, from the Department which enables them to participate in college programs not necessarily directed toward vocational goals. Also, the Department has a project to serve elderly blind individuals through community-based facilities.

20.40 Supported Employment Services

Program Element Statement

Supported employment services are those services that will permit severely disabled individuals to work at a site where there are coworkers without disabilities, and to be paid based on their productivity. There are three categories for clients receiving supported employment services: (1) Individual Placement is a single client that works at a specific site, (2) Enclave is a group of clients that work at a specific site, and (3) Work Crew is a group of clients that do work requiring them at numerous sites. A job coach will provide training to the client at the actual work site. The supported employment approach includes three service phases to ensure the success of these individuals including an initial intensive training phase, an adjustment and stabilization phase and a follow-along phase.

The Department will continue to receive federal funds to implement supported employment services in California. The purpose of the project is to provide the impetus for system change within the Public Education and Adult Service Systems responsible for serving the severely disabled.

30 SUPPORT OF COMMUNITY FACILITIES

Program Objectives Statement

The Community Resources Development Section, in conjunction with field office staff, works with government and private nonprofit organizations toward development or improvement of rehabilitation services needed to serve clients of the Department and other people with handicaps at the community level. These community based services are provided by rehabilitation workshops, rehabilitation centers, independent living programs, special facilities for the blind and deaf, halfway houses and alcoholic recovery homes. Community based rehabilitation facilities are encouraged to place more emphasis on job development and placement of persons with disabilities.

The Department also sets standards for services provided by such resources, inspects and certifies programs to ensure that standards are met, and assists all agencies of State government in establishing fee schedules for services purchased from rehabilitation resources. Each year, the Department inventories rehabilitation facility services throughout the State and publishes the California State Plan for Rehabilitation Facilities.

Authority

30.10 Technical Consultation to Rehabilitation Facilities

Program Element Statement

Community Resources Development Specialists and Technical Consultants provide assistance to local community rehabilitation facilities on requirements necessary to assure an adequate quantity and quality of community based services for persons served by the Department of Rehabilitation. In the case of workshops and work activity centers, technical consultation helps facilities to integrate a rehabilitation service program with the production of goods and/or services to create a setting in which realistic evaluation, work adjustment, work experience and vocational preparation of persons with disabilities can take place. Certifications are done on facilities that provide services to rehabilitation clients and rates are set for each service provided.

Program Element Statement

The Department administers grants and provides technical consultation to independent living centers (ILC's) to maintain and develop services that assist individuals with disabilities in achieving social and economic independence. Independent living centers are private, nonprofit organizations that provide peer counseling, advocacy, attendant referral, housing assistance and other referrals and services as necessary to individuals with severe disabilities to assist them in their efforts in living fuller and freer lives outside institutions. Program objectives include maintaining existing ILC services, establishing a base of information about these services and their effectiveness in terms of client gain and determining the appropriate role of ILC's in the continuum of services to individuals with severe disabilities.

The Department of Social Services administers four major program areas: welfare program operations, social services, community care licensing and disability evaluation.

The goals of the Department are to:

- (1) Ensure the delivery of payments and benefits and provide services to foster self-sufficiency, with human dignity and equity, to welfare recipients, with effectiveness in terms of accuracy of payments and with efficiency in terms of the lowest possible administrative costs.
- (2) Provide social services to California's elderly, blind, disabled and other adults and children, to protect them from abuse, neglect, exploitation and to help families stay together.
- (3) Regulate group homes, nurseries and preschools, foster homes, day care centers and homes to assure the public that all such California facilities meet established standards for health and safety.
- (4) Evaluate the disability of applicants for various Social Security Act programs and State disability programs, in an efficient, effective and equitable manner, to ensure that eligibility exists.

10 WELFARE PROGRAM OPERATIONS*Program Objectives Statement

The Department's welfare program provides financial assistance to those California residents who are unable to support themselves. The program is comprised of six elements: (1) Payments for children (Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Program, Child Support Enforcement Program, Aid for the Adoption of Children/Adoption Assistance Program, and Transitional Child Care); (2) Supplemental Security Income/State Supplementary Program (SSI/SSP, i.e., payments to aged, blind and disabled); (3) Special Adult Programs; (4) Food Stamps; (5) County Administration; and (6) Refugee Cash Assistance Programs.

The objective of this program is to provide, on behalf of the general public and within the limits of public resources, reasonable financial assistance to eligible needy and dependent children and families and to monitor, assist in administering and improve the SSI/SSP and Food Stamp Programs.

10.04 Payments for Children

Program Element Statement

This program element provides financial assistance to eligible, needy, dependent children and their parents, eligible relatives or other caretakers with whom they live.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the Department of Social Services estimates General Fund expenditures will be approximately $39.5 million higher than the approved budget for the program. Significant components of the increase include:

- $11.2 million increase attributable to caseload growth in the AFDC-FG/U programs.
- $7.1 million increase in the AFDC Homeless Assistance Program due to updating the caseload estimate.
- $3.5 million increase in WRL v. Woods prospective costs due to extending the program 5 months.
- $8.3 million decrease in beginning date of aid (SB 991) attributed to delayed implementation.
- $4.2 million decrease in the Refugee Funding Shortfall due to a revised estimate of eligible caseload.
- $5.5 million net increase in Foster Care due to changes to caseload and grants.
- $3.4 million increase in Foster Care Rate Reform attributed to caseload.
- $7.9 million increase resulting from sequestration provisions of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Law (Section 11002 of Public Law 101-239) which prohibits Federal Financial participation for any portion of foster care rate increases which become effective during Federal Fiscal Year 1990.
- $4.9 million increase due to a reduction in child support collections as a result of reflecting only distributed collections.
- $1.3 million increase in Transitional Child Care due to using the new regional market rates for child care providers.
- $7.2 million increase attributable to various other programmatic changes.
- An increase of 2.0 positions (1.2 personnel years) associated with the Refugee Resettlement Program. Funds are being redirected from the operating expense category.
- A decrease of $52,000 and 1 position (0.9 personnel years) in the Foster Care Program due to the reduced availability of State Legalization Impact Assistance (SLIAG) funds.

In 1991-92, the general fund cost of this program is expected to decrease by $50.1 million from the current year estimate. The specific budget adjustments proposed include:

- $126.2 million increase attributable to caseload growth in the AFDC FG/U programs.
- $41.7 million savings due to the elimination of the Homeless Assistance program effective July 1, 1991.
- A $225.4 million savings resulting from reductions to AFDC Maximum Aid Payment levels due to fiscal constraints.
- A $3.5 million in savings in WRL v. Woods to reflect settlement of the court case.
- $6.6 million savings in the Early Fraud Detection Program for a full year of implementation.
- $111.4 million increase in Foster Care due to increases in caseloads and grants.
- $49.8 million increase in the Foster Care Program attributed to grant increases due to Foster Care rate reform.
- $17.4 million increase due to reversal of the Federal Eligibility Linkage (RIP-IV) requirements.
- $7.9 million savings reflecting no additional costs for Federal sequestration in the budget year.
- $10.4 million increase in Beginning Date of Aid to reflect a full year of costs.
- $2.7 million savings attributed to full year implementation of the Substance Abuse/HIV Infant (Drug Babies) Demonstration project.
- $6.7 million savings resulting from the elimination of the State-only AFDC-Unemployed Parent program due to fiscal constraints.
- $25.0 million savings due to an increase in claiming of Title IV-E Federally eligible Foster Care costs.
- $1.1 million savings in the AFDC program due to the impact of increased funding for Family Planning.
- $17.0 million savings from increased AFDC FG/U and Foster Care Child Support Collections.
- $10.6 million increase due to increased caseloads and average grants for the Adoption Assistance program.
- $5.8 million increase in the Transitional Child Care program due to continued phase-in of the program.
- $45.3 million savings due to the imposition of the "trigger mechanism" and a proposal to freeze Foster Care rate increases.
- $1.2 million increase attributed to various other programmatic changes.

Other changes in the administration of the program include:

- A continued authorization of $53,000 and 1 position (0.9 personnel year) to process appeals on AFDC-Foster Care audit findings.
- A continuation of 2.0 positions (1.9 personnel years) in the Refugee Resettlement Program, funded through a redirection of federal funds from the operating expense category.
- A decrease of $51,000 and 1 position (0.9 personnel years) in the Foster Care Program due to the reduced availability of State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant (SLIAG) funds.

10.04.005 Aid to Families with Dependent Children

Element Component Statement

The AFDC program is divided into three major subgroups: aid to family groups, aid to families with unemployed parents and aid to children in foster care. In addition, the Adoption Assistance Program (formerly Aid for the Adoption of Children) provides aid to families adopting hard-to-place children. Both programs are administered by the counties in accordance with regulations, standards and procedures set by the Department as authorized by law.

Under the aid to family groups (AFDC-FG) component, cash grants are provided to children and their parents or guardians if the family's income is insufficient to meet their basic needs. Eligibility is limited to those needy families in which the children are deprived of one or both parents due to the parent's incapacity, death or other continuing absence. Eligibility is further based on statutory maximums related to the size of the family and the amount of income and real and personal property available to the family.

Grant amounts in the AFDC Program are established by law based on the number of eligible persons in the family less the family's net nonexempt income. In addition, a family may receive an allowance for recurring special needs such as medical diets and transportation, as well as an allowance for nonrecurring special needs.

The cost of the AFDC-FG grant is shared by the federal, State and county governments. Fifty percent of the grant cost for federally eligible recipients is paid by federal funds. The remaining fifty percent of the grant is composed of 89.2 percent State and 10.8 percent county funds.

Needy children meeting the basic eligibility requirements may receive assistance under the aid to families with unemployed parents (AFDC-U) component if their parent(s) is not fully employed. Additional conditions of eligibility require the parent to be available for and to seek employment. The basic grant standard and program funding are the same as for the aid to family groups program.

The AFDC-Foster Care (AFDC-FC) component provides cash assistance to children who are in need of protection and care by persons other than their parents, and who require 24-hour out-of-home care in a foster home or institution (group home) as a result of court order, parental consent, relinquishment or guardianship. AFDC-FC consists of both federal and nonfederal cases. Federal financial participation in the cost of care is available for children who are removed from their homes by court order and meet additional federal requirements. Those not qualified for federal financial participation may be eligible for AFDC-FC benefits funded by state and county monies.

The cost of the AFDC-FC grant is shared by federal, State and county governments. Fifty percent of the grant cost for federally eligible children is paid by federal funds. Provisions of Chapter 323, Statutes of 1983 (AB 223) established the non-federal share of AFDC-FC grants at a 95 percent State and 5 percent county ratio until December 31, 1985. Chapter 1426, Statutes of 1985 (AB 454) extended the 95 percent State and 5 percent county ratio through June 30, 1988. Chapter 1092, Statutes of 1987 (SB 357) extended the 95 percent State and 5 percent county ratio through June 30, 1990. Chapter 1294, Statutes of 1989, (SB 370) extends the 95 percent state and 5 percent county ratio through June 30, 1995.

10.04.010 Child Support Incentive

Element Component Statement

The Child Support Enforcement Program is a revenue-producing program which locates absent parents, establishes paternity and obtains and enforces court-ordered child, spousal and medical support payments for both welfare and non-welfare families. The program reduces overall AFDC costs as collections made for AFDC families reimburse the federal, State and county governments for aid paid. Collections made on behalf of non-welfare clients help keep families off AFDC and, consequently, result in significant welfare cost avoidance. The program returns more revenue to State and county general funds than it costs to operate. Effective October 1, 1990, the Federal share of administrative costs is 66 percent for child support enforcement activities.

Since the beginning of the Child Support Enforcement Program in California, collections have increased significantly each year. In 1991-92, child support collections are estimated to reach $620,287,000. Of this amount, approximately 50 percent represents collections made on behalf of families receiving AFDC. Direct net savings to the California taxpayer, in the form of reduced AFDC costs, are anticipated to exceed $99.7 million in the budget year. Collections made on behalf of non-welfare families also represent a substantial indirect savings to the taxpayer, since many of those families would otherwise be on welfare.

The payment of State and federal incentives to counties encourages county collection efforts in the Child Support Enforcement Program. Since 1975, the incentive rates and funding structure for the program have changed several times.

10.04.015 Aid for the Adoption of Children

Element Component Statement

The Aid for the Adoption of Children (AAC) program is designed to encourage and promote the placement in adoptive homes of children who, because of their ethnic background, race, color, language, physical, mental, emotional or medical handicaps or age, or because they are a sibling group who should be placed in the same home, have become difficult to place in adoptive homes. The legislative intent of the program is to encourage placement of these children with families that can provide them with the stability and security of a permanent home. The five year time limit on adoption assistance has been eliminated; payments can now be made until the child is 18 years of age, or until 21 years of age when certain circumstances exist.

10.04.020 Transitional Child Care

Element Component Statement

The Transitional Child Care (TCC) program provides subsidized child care for a maximum of 12 months to former AFDC recipients no longer eligible for aid because of earned income. To be eligible for TCC, a recipient must have collected aid for at least 3 of the 6 months prior to becoming employed. Families qualifying for TCC must contribute a share of cost based on the State Department of Education's Family Fee Schedule. After the participant's contribution, the cost of child care payments is shared by the federal government (50 percent) and the state (50 percent).

10.08 Supplemental Security Income/State Supplementary Program SSI/SSP

Program Element Statement

The Supplemental Security Income/State Supplementary Program (SSI/SSP) provides cash grant assistance to aged, blind or disabled persons who meet the program's income and resource requirements. The SSI/SSP is administered by the Federal Social Security Administration which determines eligibility, computes grants and disburses the combined monthly payment to recipients. California supplements the federal SSI payment with an additional SSP payment. The combined SSI/SSP grant is intended to cover the recipients' basic needs and living expenses. The State monitors the federal payment operation to determine whether, under the supplemental program, State monies are accurately and properly expended and recipients' payments are properly received.

Budget Adjustments—SSI/SSP

In 1990–91, the General Fund cost of the SSI/SSP reflects an increase of $24.0 million due to:

- A $53.9 million increase attributable to higher than anticipated caseload.
- A $2.5 million increase due to the change in federal time eligibility for refugees from 24 to 4 months.
- A $19.5 million savings to reflect the January 1991 federal COLA adjustment from 4.4% to 5.4%.
- A $13.6 million savings to reflect the Federal Fiscal Liability settlement.
- A $0.7 million increase attributable to various programmatic and caseload changes.

In 1991–92, the following changes will result in a General Fund savings of $12.6 million over the current year estimate:

- A $174.2 million increase to fund caseload growth of 7 percent over the current year estimate.
- A $13.6 million increase to reflect the Federal Fiscal Liability settlement.
- A $110.2 million savings to reflect the January 1991 federal COLA full year impact.
- A $89.8 million savings to reflect the January 1992 federal COLA adjustment of 4.46 percent for SSI.
- A $0.4 million savings attributable to various programmatic and caseload changes.

10.12 Special Adult Programs

Program Element Statement

In addition to regular SSI/SSP benefits, a program for emergency and special needs established by Chapter 1216, Statutes of 1973 (AB 134), has been available to SSP and/or IHSS recipients. The Special Circumstances program is funded by the State and administered by the counties in accordance with regulations, standards and procedures set by the Department as authorized by law. Special Circumstances provides allowances to eligible recipients for special nonrecurring needs (i.e. housing repairs required to preserve safe and healthful housing, necessary moving expenses due to eviction, unsafe or unhealthful housing and unmet shelter needs).

Welfare and Institutions Code Section 11212 provides for reimbursement to foster parents for the cost of the burial plot and funeral expenses for a child receiving foster care at the time of death. Funding for this program is included in the Special Circumstances appropriation.

An additional program for SSP recipients is the recurring Special Need Allowance (funded under Special Benefits), offered to eligible recipients with a specially trained guide dog, signal dog, or other service dog to cover the costs associated with the dog's care and maintenance. The Special Allowance is state administered and state funded.

The Repatriated American Program provides temporary help to needy U.S. citizens returning to the U.S. from foreign countries because of destitution, physical or mental illness or war. Funding is 100 percent federal funds reimbursed to the counties through the Department of Social Services.

Budget Adjustments

- In 1990–91, an increase of $61,000 is reflected for the cost of a new Assistance Dog Special Allowance program.
- In 1991–92, an increase of $134,000 General Fund is proposed in the Special Adult programs due to Assistance Dog Special Allowance costs above the current year estimate.

10.16 Food Stamps

Program Element Statement

The purpose of the Food Stamp Program is to provide for improved levels of nutrition among low-income households by offering eligible households food stamps at no cost. The amount of food stamps a household receives will depend on its net adjusted income. The cost of the benefit value of food stamps is borne entirely by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture, Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), retains the overall administrative responsibility for the Food Stamp Program. Through a cooperative agreement between FNS and the State, the Department of Social Services directs food stamp operations within California. Household eligibility and certification determinations as well as food stamp issuance have been delegated by law to the fifty-eight county welfare departments. Counties are, however, given the option to contract with outside agencies for food stamp issuance.

The Food Stamp Employment and Training (FSET) Program, mandated by the Food Security Act of 1985 (Public Law 99-198), requires certain nonassistance food stamp recipients to participate in employment and training activities. This program is administered by the Department's Employment Programs Branch. Costs for FSET are shown under County Administration (Program Element 10.20).

10.20 County Administration

Program Element Statement

County administrative funds are used to pay salaries and benefits of county staff who administer social services programs and operating expenses such as space, utilities, supplies, and check writing for recipients. Approximately 73 percent of administrative funds are used to pay salaries and employee benefits of welfare department employees, with the remaining 27 percent used for operating costs.

The administrative costs of most public assistance programs are funded by the federal government (50%), the State government (25%) and county governments (25%). The exceptions are fraud investigation activities which receive 75% of their funding from the federal government and 12.5% from the State and the Child Support Enforcement program to which the federal government contributes 66% of administrative costs.

A plan to control county administrative expenditures for the AFDC and Non-Assistance Food Stamp (NAFS) programs has been in effect since 1975-76. Although the basic concept of cost containment has remained unchanged since that time, revisions to improve and enhance some technical aspects of the plan continue to be made. These improvements are geared toward developing more accurate workload measurements to enable counties to better identify and resolve problems in specific areas. The continued effectiveness of the cost control plan in controlling county administrative costs can be attributed to the efforts of both State and county staff to improve the efficiency of program operations. The administrative costs associated with the special circumstances and special benefits programs for adult recipients shall not exceed the cost of program services. County administration cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) increases are fully funded one year in arrears.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, an increase of $18.8 million General Fund is due to:

- $14.4 million increase attributable to caseload changes.
- $4.4 million increase attributable to various program changes.

Other changes in 1990-91 in the Administration of the program:

- A reduction of $513,000 and 7 positions (6.3 personnel years) pursuant to Section 3.80.

In 1991-92, the General Fund is expected to increase by $35.7 million over the current year estimates. The specific budget adjustments proposed include:

- $22.7 million increase attributed to caseload changes.
- $11.0 million increase to restore a Budget Reduction which applied to 1990-91 only.
- $0.7 million increase attributed to various other programmatic changes.
- Due to fiscal constraints, a $3.7 million savings as a result of the elimination of the Homeless Assistance program effective July 1, 1991.
- $0.3 million savings as the result of eliminating the State-only AFDC—Unemployed Parent program due to fiscal constraints.
- $5.3 million increase due to State participation in prior year Cost-of-Living Adjustments for county employees.

Other changes in 1991-92 in the administration of the program:

- A reduction of $510,000 and 7 positions (6.3 personnel years) pursuant to Section 3.80.

10.24 Refugee Cash Assistance Program

Program Element Statement

The goal of the Refugee Cash Assistance Program is to promote self-sufficiency within the shortest time by providing cash and medical assistance as transitional aid when necessary. Needy refugees who meet the same eligibility criteria as non-refugees may receive AFDC, Medi-Cal or SSI/SSP benefits. Until December 31, 1989, the State and county share of these benefits were federally reimbursable for the first 24 months that eligible refugees resided in the United States. Beginning January 1, 1990, the period for federal reimbursement became 4 months. Payments for these refugees are shown in Program Element 10.04, AFDC, and Program Element 10.08, SSI/SSP.

In 1985 the Department of Social Services implemented the Refugee Demonstration Project (RDP). The RDP requires refugees to participate in employment and training programs designated by the counties as appropriate for refugees. The RDP phased out operations on April 1, 1990. All refugees formerly eligible for RDP are now eligible to participate in GAIN.

Refugees who do not qualify for AFDC or SSI may receive assistance through the Refugee Cash Assistance (RCA) program during their first 12 months of residence in the United States.

Effective July 1, 1988, the Department of Health Services became responsible for the provision of health services to refugees and for the administration of federal funds for that purpose.

20.30 Other County Social Services

Program Element Statement

Other County Social Services (OCSS) includes the Title XX services programs (other than In-Home Supportive Services) and the Title IV-B Child Welfare Services. The programs are administered by county welfare departments. The OCSS also consists of the Child Welfare Services Grant and the County Services Block Grant which are separately allocated to the counties.

The objective of Child Welfare Services is to provide emergency, maintenance and placement services for abused and neglected children and their families. The Department of Social Services meets these objectives through the (1) Emergency Response, (2) Family Maintenance, (3) Family Reunification and (4) Permanent Placement programs as mandated in Chapter 978, Statutes of 1982, which implemented P.L. 96-272 in California.

Also as a part of Child Welfare Services, the Department administers and regulates foster care and adoptive placements of children, between California and other states in accordance with California's interstate agreement on the placement of children.

The County Services Block Grant consists of (1) county administration of the In-Home Supportive Services program, (2) Adult Protective Services, (3) Out-of-Home Care for Adults, (4) Information and Referral, and (5) Optional Services programs. The Optional Services programs consist of (1) Special Care for Children in Their Own Homes, (2) Home Management, (3) Employment, Education and Training, (4) Services for Children with Special Problems, (5) Services to Alleviate or Prevent Family Problems (6) Substance, (7) Housing and Referral Services, (8) Legal Referral Services, (9) Diagnostic Treatment Services for Children, (10) Special Services for the Blind, (11) Special Services for Adults, (12) Services for Disabled Individuals, and (13) Services to County Jail Inmates.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the budget reflects a General Fund savings of $5.5 million due to the impact of the Los Angeles County caseload study and a reduction in anticipated federal Title IV-B funds.

Other adjustments include:

- An increase of $476,000 and 8.0 positions (5.0 personnel years) for Child Welfare Services monitoring activities in Los Angeles County.
- An increase of $194,000 and 2.0 positions (1.3 personnel years) for the implementation of Chapter 1117, Statutes of 1990 (AB 1696) for the expansion of the Family Preservation Program and the funding of a Child Welfare Services Study.
- An increase of $379,000 and 6.0 positions (4.3 personnel years) for Foster Family Home Recruitment in Los Angeles County.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

In 1991-92, the General Fund cost of this program is expected to increase by $58.3 million over the current year estimate. The proposed significant changes include:

- An increase of $36.9 million in the Child Welfare Services (CWS) program to reflect the impact of caseload growth.
- An increase of $18.3 million attributed to the Cost-of-Living Adjustment (COLA) provided by the counties in 1990-91.
- A net increase of $3.1 million attributable to various other caseload and programmatic changes.

Other adjustments include:

- A continuation of $580,000 and 8.0 positions (7.6 personnel years) for Child Welfare Services monitoring activities in Los Angeles County.
- A continuation of $112,000 and 2.0 positions (1.9 personnel years) for the implementation of Chapter 1117, Statutes of 1990 (AB 1696) for the expansion of the Family Preservation Program.
- An increase of $682,000 and 9.5 positions (9.0 personnel years) for training and system support activities associated with the Child Welfare Services Case Management System.
- A continuation of $414,000 and 6.0 positions (5.7 personnel years) for Foster Family Home Recruitment in Los Angeles County.
- An increase of $656,000 for the development of the Child Welfare Services Case Management System.
- A continuation of 1.0 limited-term position (0.3 personnel year) for an interagency liaison with the Department of Developmental Services.

20.35 Specialized Adult Services

Program Element Statement

Specialized Adult Services are intended to assist adults to maintain or achieve maximum self-sufficiency in an environment free from abuse, exploitation and neglect. Specialized Adult Services are comprised of In-Home Supportive Services, Maternity Care and Access Assistance to the Deaf.

In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS) provide specified supportive services to enable eligible persons to remain in their own homes as an alternative to out-of-home care. Eligible persons are aged, blind or disabled recipients of public assistance and similar persons with low incomes. Services include: domestic services such as meal preparation, laundry, shopping and errands; nonmedical personal care services; assistance while traveling to medical appointments or to other sources of supportive services; protective supervision; teaching and demonstration directed at reducing the need for supportive services; and certain paramedical services ordered by a physician. These services are available statewide.

The Pregnancy Freedom of Choice Act (Chapter 1190, Statutes of 1977); amended by Chapter 1636, Statutes of 1990 (AB 3805), established the Licensed Maternity Home Care Program. This program provides residential care and maternity related services to unmarried expectant mothers under the age of 18, domiciled in California, who are living in maternity homes with established contracts with the Department of Social Services.

Chapter 1193, Statutes of 1980 (AB 2980) provides for access assistance to the deaf. Such assistance includes certain types of activities provided for in Welfare & Institutions Code Chapter 2.1 to enable persons with deafness to secure needed public social services.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91 the General Fund cost of In-Home-Supportive Services is estimated to increase by $14.3 million over the approved budget. The significant changes include:

- An increase of $19.8 million due to higher than anticipated caseload and hours per case.
- A savings of $1.7 million due to an increase in anticipated federal Low Income Housing and Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) grant funds.
- A savings of $3.8 million due to the delay in payment for the Miller v. Wood court case.

Other adjustments include:

- A reduction of $56,000 and 1.0 position (0.9 personnel year) in the Adult Protective Services Program in order to fund higher priority programs pursuant to Section 3.80.

In 1991-92 the General Fund cost of this program is expected to increase by $65.6 million over the current year estimate. The proposed significant changes include:

- An increase of $62.8 million to fund basic cost and caseload increases in the In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS) program.
- An increase of $2.1 million for payments related to the WRO v. Woods court case.
- An increase of $0.7 million due to an increase in the Maternity Home Care rates pursuant to Chapter 1636, Statutes of 1990 (AB 3805).

Other adjustments include:

- A continuation of the reduction of $56,000 and 1.0 position (0.9 personnel year) in the Adult Protective Services Program in order to fund higher priority programs pursuant to Section 3.80.

20.40 Employment Services

Program Element Statement

Chapter 1025, Statutes of 1985 (AB 2580) provided for the establishment of the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) Program. This program is designed to provide the education, training and job services necessary to allow AFDC recipients to obtain employment and end their dependency on public aid. This is accomplished through job search assistance, employability assessments and referrals to education and other individually selected employment and training programs, including pre-employment preparation assignments.

The Federal Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training (JOBS) Program, established by the Family Support Act of 1988, was implemented in California on July 1, 1989. Chapter 1568, Statutes of 1990 (AB 312) made additional modifications to the GAIN program, including those necessary to conform to the final federal JOBS regulations.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the budget proposes a decrease of $3.5 million from the appropriations provided in the 1990 Budget Act, due to fiscal constraints.

20.42 Adoptions

Program Element Statement

The adoptions element includes: (1) provision of relinquishment adoption services through five State offices and twenty-eight licensed county adoption agencies; (2) conducting studies of all independent adoption placements through six State offices and five county adoption agencies; (3) reimbursement to licensed private adoption agencies for expenses incurred in placing special needs children; and (4) Minority Home Recruitment activities through directly provided and contracted services.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

20.45 Refugee Assistance Services*Program Element Statement

The objective of these services is to provide a range of support services to refugees through contracts and direct allocations to county agencies in order to assist refugees in becoming self-sufficient and promote their assimilation into American society. These services include (1) Central Intake, (2) English as a Second Language (ESL), (3) Vocational English as a Second Language (VESL), (4) employment services, (5) vocational training, (6) on the job training, (7) health accessing and (8) Title XX type services. Title XX services include (1) Information and Referral, (2) Emergency Response, (3) Family Maintenance Programs, (4) Protective Services for Adults, (5) Family Reunification Program, (6) Permanent Placement Program, (7) Out-of-Home Care for Adults and (8) In-Home Supportive Services.

Chapter 39, Statutes of 1989 (AB 277), required that by October 1, 1990, all funding which is to be used for employment and English language training programs shall be incorporated into a county's GAIN plan and used to provide GAIN-related services to refugees. Up to fifteen percent of such funds may be set aside to establish separate non-GAIN English Language training and employment services for refugees receiving assistance under the Refugee Cash Assistance Program.

20.47 Child Abuse Prevention*Program Element Statement

The Office of Child Abuse Prevention (OCAP) was established in May 1977 pursuant to the California Child Abuse Prevention Act of 1974 (Chapter 309, Statutes of 1974). The OCAP provides policy input and legislative analysis to the Department in the area of child abuse prevention programs. Most of the effort of the office is directed to developing, implementing and administering over 175 projects in child abuse prevention.

Until 1982, OCAP activities and projects were primarily funded through a grant under the federal Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (P.L. 93-247). State legislation enacted since 1982 has significantly expanded the projects under this program. The key program areas are: (1) Chapter 1398, Statutes of 1982 (AB 1733) provided for child abuse prevention programs. A single training and technical assistance contractor provides this service to the projects. Of the program funds, 90 percent is allocated on a county by county basis and used to select projects in each county to meet county identified services needs. The remaining 10 percent is used to test innovative programs selected competitively by OCAP and (2) Chapter 1399, Statutes of 1982 (AB 2994) established the State Children's Trust Fund, and Chapter 1082, Statutes of 1983 (AB 607) added a State income tax designation to the original funding mechanism of a surcharge on birth certificates.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the Child Abuse Prevention Program reflects a reduction of $56,000 and 1.0 position (0.9 personnel year) in order to fund higher priority programs pursuant to Section 3.80.

In 1991-92 the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- A continuation of the reduction of $56,000 and 1.0 position (0.9 personnel year) in order to fund higher priority programs pursuant to Section 3.80.

30 COMMUNITY CARE LICENSING*Program Objectives Statement

The objective of the Community Care Licensing Division is to provide a preventive and protective service to all persons in community care facilities by ensuring that licensed facilities providing care and supervision meet established standards for health and safety of those individuals served. The Community Care Licensing Program achieves this goal by regulating the community care industry, which includes all non-medical children and adult day care centers, adoptions and foster family agencies, foster family homes, children's family and group homes, adult residential, and residential facilities for the elderly. The licensed facilities number approximately 89,600 statewide serving a client population of approximately 1,070,000. Of the 29,400 residential care facilities in California, approximately 13,600 are foster homes licensed by forty-six county welfare departments under contract with DSS. The remaining 15,800 residential facilities, including approximately 250 adoption and foster family agencies, are licensed directly by the eighteen DSS field offices.

Of the 60,200 day care facilities serving approximately 854,400 clients, about 16,300 are family day care homes licensed by twenty-five county welfare departments under contract with DSS. Sixteen of the eighteen DSS field offices licensed approximately 43,900 day care facilities including approximately 10,600 day care centers.

40 DISABILITY EVALUATION PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The Disability Evaluation Program is responsible for determining the medical/vocational/functional eligibility for California residents applying for benefits under Title II (Disability Insurance), Title XVI (Supplemental Security Income), and Title XIX (Medicaid) of the Social Security Act related to public assistance programs.

The main objective of the Disability Evaluation Program is to establish an applicant's medical/vocational eligibility for disability benefits by determining the severity of the individual's physical and/or mental impairment(s) and overall ability to engage in substantial gainful employment. Effective January 10, 1990, new federal regulations (42 CFR Parts 435 and 436) specified the Health Care Financing Administration's policy concerning the precedence of disability determinations made by the Social Security Administration over State Medicaid disability determinations. Due to recent changes in the evaluation of childhood disability cases, an evaluation must now also be made as to a child's ability to perform a full range of age-appropriate daily living activities and to behave in an age-appropriate manner. Persons having a disability who are covered by Social Security benefits and/or qualify for public financial assistance may file an application at a Social Security Administration district office (Titles II and XVI) or county welfare department (Title XIX). The claim is then forwarded to the Department of Social Services, where determinations are made by an adjudicative team composed of an analyst specially trained in medical and vocational factors relevant to disability evaluation and a medical consultant. Medical evidence and pertinent vocational and functional information are obtained from the claimant, physicians, medical facilities, primary caregivers, schools and other sources. Claimants who are determined not disabled are provided an opportunity to appeal this decision. Such claims are reviewed by a new adjudicative team. Further appeals are handled by the Social Security Administration or by the State Hearings process. Recipients of disability benefits who are determined to be no longer medically eligible through the Continuing Disability Review (CDR) process, are offered a face-to-face hearing by the Office of Disability hearings. Determinations are then made in accordance with federal regulation promulgated by the Social Security Administration. The program also refers those claimants with rehabilitation potential to the Department of Rehabilitation.

3. An administrative segment to provide sufficient managerial and administrative services to support the disaster relief effort.

In response to the Loma Prieta earthquake of October 17, 1989, the Department expended $1.1 million to assist in response and recovery. These expenditures were made within existing budget resources. ## 5185 IMMIGRATION REFORM AND CONTROL ACT

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE AND DESCRIPTION

In November, 1986 the federal government enacted the Immigration Reform and Control Act (IRCA) (Public Law 99-603). The Act allows certain persons illegally residing in the United States to apply for legal residency status if they otherwise qualify as legal residents under Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) regulations. Eligible persons include those persons who have been in the United States since prior to January 1, 1982 (pre-82s) or have been engaged in specific types of agricultural work for at least 90 working days prior to May 1, 1986 (special agricultural workers—SAWS). The INS began accepting applications for legal residence on May 5, 1987. Pre-82 applicants had until May 4, 1988 to apply for temporary residency while SAWS could apply through November 30, 1988. Based on the latest figures from INS, an estimated 1,636,000 persons in California have applied; 959,000 are pre-82s with the remaining 677,000 being SAWS.

Those newly legalized persons who are pre-82s must submit a new application for lawful permanent residency status. These applications must be submitted within a specified time period after temporary legal residency is granted. Most pre-82 applicants must have submitted new applications to INS between November, 1988 and November, 1990. To obtain permanent residency, newly legalized persons must demonstrate basic proficiency in English and in the history and the government of the United States, or show satisfactory progress towards such knowledge by attending English-as-a-Second Language (ESL) and civics classes for at least 40 instructional hours. They must also demonstrate they are working or are otherwise self-sufficient, i.e. not likely to depend upon publicly supported cash assistance programs.

The federal government has appropriated funds, the State Legalization Impact Assistance Grant (SLIAG), to assist states and local governments with costs they may incur in providing public health, public assistance and educational services to eligible persons. The allocation is made to the states based on a formula taking into account population, impactation and costs. The amount available to states over a five-year allocation period (federal Fiscal Years (FFYs) 1988, 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1992) was expected to be $3.5 billion, after deducting the estimated federal offset from the annual SLIAG appropriations. However, Congress reduced the amount available to the states in FFYs 1990 and 1991 by over $1.1 billion. These funds may be made available in FFY 1992. California receives the majority (approximately 60%) of SLIAG funds made available to states. To date, California has been allocated $1.441 billion in SLIAG funds.

The Health and Welfare Agency has been designated by the Governor as the lead agency in implementing IRCA in California. The Agency has used a broad-based working advisory group designed to solicit input on IRCA implementation from all affected State agencies, local governments, the Legislature, private non-profit organizations and advocacy groups. The initial 5-year expenditure plan, based in large part on information gathered from the working advisory group, was presented in the 1988-89 Governor's Budget. The primary assumptions used in developing that plan were that SLIAG funds should initially be spent on essential programs; funds should be expended over four and three-quarters years; and funds should be allocated through regular program delivery systems to the greatest extent possible.

Congress' deferral of over $1.1 billion in SLIAG funds in FFYs 1990 and 1991 to FFY 1992 has precipitated a SLIAG funding problem. This deferral has reduced California's SLIAG revenue significantly below the level of previous appropriations. To manage this shortfall in SLIAG funds, the Administration has identified unspent SLIAG funds from prior fiscal years and revised its current year estimates of SLIAG costs. These actions only partially cover the 1990-91 revenue shortfall. Therefore, the legislative notification process authorized by Sections 23.50 and 28.00 of the 1990 Budget Act have been utilized to reduce $42 million in additional program expenditures. The major program areas targeted for service reduction in 1990-91 are public health, mental health, adult education, and anti-discrimination education.

Given Congress' practice of deferring SLIAG funds during the past two years and the ongoing federal budget crisis, it seems reasonable to expect that only 60-65% of the SLIAG funds deferred to FFY 1992 will actually be allocated to the states. The strong probability that Congress will not provide full SLIAG funding in FFY 1992 requires the phase-out of SLIAG funding for certain programs covered by the 5-year expenditure plan. Programs such as Medi-Cal, and SSI/SSP, are entitlements which California must fund whatever the level of SLIAG funding provided. These programs are therefore the highest priorities for the use of available funds. Should additional federal funds become available beyond the amount projected to be received in the budget year, it is proposed that that funding be reserved for the IRCA portions of entitlement programs in 1992-93.

The following information outlines the programs funded under the IRCA Implementation Plan. A program description is included as well as estimated expenditures. Estimated program expenditures have been updated to reflect the latest population estimates of newly legalized persons as well as the most recent utilization information for program activities in the prior and current years.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Federal SLIAG funding augmented certain statewide public health programs, but primarily reimbursed local jurisdictions for a wide range of public health services they provided to newly legalized persons. Most of the funding to local jurisdictions was transferred through the IRCA Subvention program. SLIAG funding for public health services is discontinued in 1991-92.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Under IRCA, states have the option of disqualifying eligible persons from programs of state and local public assistance. The California IRCA Implementation Plan does not assume any disqualification of newly legalized persons for public assistance programs such as the State AFDC-FG program, county general assistance programs or indigent health care. However, federal regulations require that, in order to provide reimbursement to a public assistance program, services provided to newly legalized persons must be tied to the individual, must be generally available to the public, and that the program administer a means test for eligibility.

It appears that newly legalized persons are using cash assistance programs at a significantly lesser rate than originally estimated. For example, the projections for general assistance during 1990-91 are less than $1 million compared to early estimates of $88.1 million. Based on limited data, there seem to be two primary reasons for low utilization of cash assistance programs. First, the newly legalized population is a working population, though they may be in low-paying jobs. Second, there may be a fear of disqualification from legalization on public charge grounds. However, SSI/SSP program utilization, especially for newly legalized persons over 64 years of age, has increased dramatically over the past two years. This trend will continue in 1991-92. Additionally, in 1991-92 the trend of higher than originally anticipated utilization of indigent medical care programs continues.

SLIAG funding for several discretionary public assistance programs (e.g., general assistance at the county level, mental health, migrant farmworker housing) is eliminated in 1991-92.

EDUCATION

In accordance with federal law and regulations, the IRCA Implementation Plan distributes funds for educational services through the State Department of Education (SDE) which is the state education agency in California. In accordance with the IRCA education services delivery plan SDE is responsible for distributing SLIAG funds to service providers, which include community colleges, K-12 adult education programs and community-based organizations.

The federal IRCA regulations impose certain restrictions on funding educational services. These restrictions parallel the Emergency Immigrant Education Act, which was incorporated into IRCA. The restrictions include a three-year limitation on receiving services and a reimbursement cap of $500 per person per year.

Those newly legalized persons who are pre-82s must submit a new application in order to convert to permanent residency status. One of the criteria that must be met prior to conversion is a basic proficiency in English and in the history and government of the United States. Less than 100,000 pre-82s face a 1991-92 deadline date to adjust to permanent residency status. SAWs do not have to meet the education standard.

In 1991-92 the Administration continues the policy of targeting the education funds for services to those pre-82s needing the services in order to convert to permanent residency status. Instructional services will be offered to those newly legalized persons who need to demonstrate ESL proficiency to obtain lawful permanent residency, and to the extent that funds are available to individuals who continue to function below the fifth-grade skills level.

ANTI-DISCRIMINATION EDUCATION

The anti-discrimination education program seeks to educate employers, workers, and the general public about employment discrimination based on national origin or citizenship. IRCA, through the enforcement of employer sanctions, has had the unintended effect of increasing job discrimination against legal residents and citizens who look or sound foreign. Congress amended IRCA in December, 1989 to allow states to spend SLIAG funds to combat national origin/citizenship discrimination through education and outreach. SLIAG funding for these activities is eliminated in 1991-92.

5240 DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS

The mission of the California Department of Corrections (CDC) is the control, care and treatment of men and women who have been convicted of serious crimes, or those admitted to the civil narcotic program, and entrusted to the Department's Institution and Community Correctional programs.

CDC is organized into three programs, Institutions Program, Community Correctional Program, and Central Administration Program. Within the Institutions Program, and located throughout the state, are 21 operating correctional institutions with 10 of these having reception centers. In 1991-92, CDC will continue to activate beds at new institutions to accommodate inmate population growth. Included within the Institutions Program budget is the Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority and the Richard A. McGee Correctional Training Center.

The Community Correctional Program consists of four regions statewide which include various field offices and community correctional facilities. These facilities include public and privately operated Return-to-Custody facilities, Work Furlough facilities, Restitution Centers, Prison Mother programs, and Substance Abuse programs.

The Central Administration Program is organized into six line divisions: Institutions Division, Evaluation and Compliance Division, Planning and Construction Division, Parole and Community Services Division, Legal Affairs Division, and Administration Services Division.

21 INSTITUTION PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The Department of Corrections is required by statute to accept convicted felons and civilly committed nonfelon narcotic addicts from California courts when their sentence is imprisonment in a State correctional facility. It is the Department's responsibility to provide safe and secure detention facilities to protect society from further criminal activities and to provide necessary services such as feeding, clothing, medical care, psychiatric and counseling services and training, including academic and vocational education.

The Department's total institution population is projected to increase to 105,898 by June 30, 1991. To house these inmates, the Department proposes to activate 12,088 beds, including 5,560 beds at three new facilities. For 1991-92, this inmate population is projected to increase to 118,608 by June 30, 1992, requiring the Department to activate 12,710 additional beds, including 12,094 beds at three new facilities.

21.05 Reception and Diagnosis

Program Element Statement

A systematic method of intake, diagnosis, and classification is an integral part of the California correctional program. A personal history is compiled on each inmate, incorporating information principally from law enforcement agencies, courts, other correctional programs, the military, family, friends, and schools. This information is documented and used in diagnosing institutional custodial and program needs.

In addition to processing new commitments, 90-day diagnostic evaluations and 120-day evaluative reports on convicted offenders are provided to California courts at their request.

Recent court decisions regarding more expedient Parole Violator-Return-To-Custody population processing coupled with the rapidly increasing inmate population have required the Department to alter its existing reception center processing function. The Department will spread peak inmate processing over a broader staffing base to better manage these increased needs. Reception center processing functions will continue at California Medical Facility, California Institution for Men, California Institution for Women, Northern California Women's Facility, Deuel Vocational Institution, California Correctional Institution, California State Prison at San Quentin and Richard J. Donovan Correctional Facility at Rock Mountain. Civilly committed narcotic addicts will continue to be received and processed at the California Rehabilitation Center. Additionally, the Central California Women's Facility and Wasco State Prison Reception Centers will open during 1990/91 FY.

In addition, the Northern California Women's Facility has been designated to process Parole Violator-Return to Custody cases from the Northern California counties. The California Rehabilitation Center has been designated to complete the Post-parole Revocation Processing on selected inmates initially received at the California Institution for Men.

21.10 Security

Program Element Statement

California law requires that the Department of Corrections provide secure and safe facilities to house convicted felons and civilly committed nonfelon narcotic addicts for the term of their sentences. Inmates are housed in the appropriate units equipped with the degree of security needed, based on the inmate's escape risk, violence propensities, and history of assaultive behavior. Custodial personnel are assigned to posts and perform a variety of functions including supervision of inmates in housing units, dining areas, recreation areas, specialized security areas, and on work details.

There are special security units in some institutions which house prison gang members and other violent prison offenders. These units require additional staff for increased security, more intensive searches, supervision and general surveillance.

21.20 Inmate Support

Program Element Statement

The California correctional system has implemented rules, regulations, and practices which insure that inmates receive humane treatment and adequate support services, including food, clothing, housing, medical, dental, psychiatric care, counseling services, leisure activities and religion.

The Inmate Welfare Fund (IWF) was created in 1945 as a special trust fund for the benefit, education, and welfare of the inmates. The IWF is a self-supporting fund totally dependent upon its generated revenues. The largest IWF operation is the inmate canteen. While this is a major source of revenue, income is also derived from photo projects, handicraft sales, and interest on invested surplus IWF and inmate trust funds. Income from the IWF is used to provide certain inmate benefits such as the canteens, movie rentals, entertainment, handicraft materials, and equipment, and fiction library books.

21.40 Administration

Program Element Statement

Administration within the Institution Program consists of the Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority (NAEA), the Richard A. McGee Correctional Training Center, inmate benefits, and general administration.

When a male or female addict in the Civil Addict Program or a parolee under the jurisdiction of the Narcotic Authority who has been returned to the California Rehabilitation Center or branch thereof, shows significant progress as a result of treatment and demonstrates the potential to abstain from narcotic drug use, the superintendent of the facility where the individual is confined certifies this progress to the NAEA for release consideration.

In addition, the Authority considers the cases of outpatients and parolees under its jurisdiction who violate their conditions of release/parole and determines whether these individuals should be returned to inpatient status for further treatment. A revocation hearing is held as soon as possible after an outpatient's/parolee's return to the California Rehabilitation Center or branch thereof.

31 COMMUNITY CORRECTIONAL PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The primary objective of the Community Correctional Program, consistent with the public's safety, is to increase the rate and degree of successful reintegration and release to society of adult offenders released to the jurisdiction of the Parole and Community Services Division from State prison. This objective is attained by providing support services, community program referral, control of behavior, and by increasing community awareness and understanding.

In addition, the Department's parole population is projected to increase by 12,021, to 75,718, by June 30, 1991, and by an additional 11,096, to 86,814, by June 30, 1992.

Budget Adjustments

The Current and Budget Years reflect the following adjustments:

- An increase of 11.2 positions (5.4 personnel years) and $0.4 million in 1990-91 and an increase of 369.7 (174.4 personnel years) and $16.6 million in 1991-92 to provide parole agent staffing for the 1990-91 and projected 1991-92 increases in the parole population. The 1990-91 amount includes $2.3 million due to accelerated activations of community based facilities and a savings of $1.9 million for a lower parole average daily population. The 1991-92 amount includes $0.9 million for the activation of new community based facilities and $1.8 million cost-of-living increase for contracted facilities. (Contract funding for these community based facilities is included in Community Based Program-Contract Services in the Institution Program.)
- A continuation of $4,500,000 in 1991-92 to provide the fourth year of funding to implement the Parole Division's distributed data processing system. Project implementation has been revised to extend through 1996-97. (Funding includes an increase of 6 positions within the Administrative Services Division.)
- A continuation of 110 positions (110 personnel years) and $9,884,000 through 1991-92 to continue a program of intensive supervision of selected parolees to prevent parole revocation and reincarceration due to substance abuse violations.
- An increase of 14.5 positions (10.2 personnel years) and $372,000 in 1991-92 to process parole records.
- An increase of 3 positions (3 personnel years) and $93,000 in 1991-92 to process parole violators through revocation proceedings.
- An increase of 2.1 positions (2.1 personnel years) and $131,000 in 1991-92 to process the extradition of parolees and inmates.

31.10 Supervision—Case Services

Program Element Statement

The Department of Corrections is responsible for supervising felons and nonfelons who have been paroled, as well as providing certain services to parolees and their families. Differential supervision is basic to the parole operation. When required case assessments indicate, selected parolees will be placed in a category of supervision intended to prevent, detect or interrupt behavior likely to endanger the community or themselves. These categories include: high control and high service which provides more frequent supervision and detection elements; control/service which is the standard supervision level; and minimum supervision for parolees assessed as posing little or no risk to the community and requiring infrequent or low needs for services. As a parolee's situation changes, scheduled reassessments will result in reclassification from one level of supervision to another.

Parole agents' average caseloads are as follows: (1) 53.2 cases for felon supervision; (2) 47 cases for nonfelon supervision for civil addicts, including cases within 60 days of institutional release and cases where the addicts have been returned for short-term treatment; (3) 44 cases for work furlough supervision; and (4) 100 cases for return-to-custody supervision. Direct supervision to provide guidance and support to these case carrying agents are assigned to each unit. Services to parolees and their families include: (1) short-term financial support; (2) medical attention; and (3) residential placement until a suitable independent residence is established.

Successful parole programming requires the implementation of the most effective techniques to detect and deter the use of controlled substances and other illegal narcotics by parolees and thereby reduce their incidence of readdiction. Urinalysis, routine physical examinations, naltrexone blocking, and methadone maintenance are used to deter and/or detect opiate and substance abuse. Urinalysis testing of parolees with histories of substance or other drug addiction is performed by contract laboratories.

Persons released on parole, or to community based programs are frequently in need of supportive services during periods of unemployment, family disruptions, or for reasons of physical and/or mental disturbance. The department assists such persons in these situations by providing short-term financial support, medical attention, or meaningful residential placement pending establishment of suitable independent residence in the community.

31.20 Community Based Program

Program Element Statement

The Department of Corrections is responsible for the placement, supervision, treatment, and transportation of inmates released to community based facilities shortly before established parole dates. These community based facilities include: (1) restitution programs, (2) local government detention facilities, (3) transportation, and (4) staffing for community work furlough programs, return-to-custody programs, and substance abuse treatment programs.

The restitution program provides a means for inmates with low risk to the community to be able to pay their victims financial restitution as ordered by the sentencing court, or as agreed upon by the defendant and his/her victim(s). These inmates must meet numerous specialized conditions prior to placement.

Local governments are reimbursed as authorized by Penal Code Sec. 2910 et seq. and 4016.5 for their costs incurred in detaining (1) alleged parole violators, (2) persons whose parole had been revoked, and (3) community based inmates temporarily jailed for disciplinary or classification reasons.

The transportation units for the community based facilities are comprised of custody teams dedicated to the movement of inmates in and out of return-to-custody, work furlough, and other community based programs.

Community work furlough programs which are designed for the gradual re-entry of selected inmates into the community, provide housing, supervision, counseling, pre-release planning and other re-entry programs in a controlled environment on a contracted basis with parole agent supervision. The work furlough programs are divided between State operated facilities, supplying the more structured setting, and contracts with private organizations which provide greater community access.

Return-to-custody programs are provided through contracts with public agencies and private profit and nonprofit corporations. These programs provide secure facilities and programming including housing, subsistence, supervision and pre-release planning for inmate eligibles determined to pose minimal public risk. These inmates are supervised by State and/or private custody staff.

The substance abuse treatment program is a community based facility that provides an alternative to incarceration when certain technical violations occur.

31.30 Psychiatric Outpatient Services

Program Element Statement

The primary purpose of Psychiatric Outpatient Services is to offer psychotherapy to parolees and members of their families and to offer consultation and evaluation of special cases for parole agents, the Board of Prison Terms, and the Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority.

Following institutional psychiatric treatment, inmates with a history of aggravated assault crimes, serious sex offenses and offenses with other indications of mental illness are often required to participate in additional psychiatric treatment while on parole. Over 95 percent of parolees receiving psychiatric treatment do so pursuant to a special condition of parole imposed by the department or by the Board of Prison Terms.

Mandatory psychiatric services are supplemented by clinical evaluation, treatment or consultation to many parolees who require them because of occasional serious mental health problems which may or may not be associated with new criminal acts. Approximately 15 to 20 percent of the parole population requires these services.

CAPITAL OUTLAY

The California Prison System continues to experience serious pressure from the unprecedented growth of inmate population. As increasing numbers of felons are committed into the custody of the Department of Corrections, a need for inmate housing developed which drastically exceeds the Department's ability to accommodate prisoners. To meet this need, the Department of Corrections is continuing with a Prison Construction and Renovation Program which will add 51,984 new beds to the prison system. As of December 1990, the Department had completed construction on 26,492 new beds, 9,384 beds were under construction and almost 16,108 were in various stages of planning and design.

Financing for this new prison construction program is provided primarily through two methods. Five general obligation bond acts totaling $2.6 billion** were approved by the voters. Also, various special legislation authorized financing of construction for nine prisons through State Public Works Board issued lease-purchase debt revenue bonds. Through this combination of funding sources, sufficient funding is in place to complete 20 new prison facilities, 5 major expansions at existing prison locations, plus numerous new camps and modular additions. Due to the failure of the November Prison Construction Bond, this budget reflects funding through design phases only for the Madera County and Lassen County II projects.

The current prison population expansion also puts a severe strain on existing institutions. The accelerated deterioration associated with prolonged overcrowding conditions, combined with court decisions specifying conditions under which inmates may be housed, requires major capital outlay improvements to several existing facilities. The budget year proposes to continue necessary improvements at existing facilities through 15 major capital outlay projects at 8 institutions totaling $11,090,000. An additional $3,500,000 has been proposed for 25 minor capital outlay projects statewide, and $200,000 for preparation of budget estimates and advance planning.

** Includes funds from the 1986 and 1988 Prison Construction Bond Funds for Youth Authority and $40 million appropriated to the Board of Corrections from the 1988 Prison Construction Bond.

<sup>1</sup> This display indicates the direct design and construction costs, by fund source, for new prison bed projects as appropriated by the Legislature and net of Public Works Board actions. Alternative financing amounts reflect, similarly, the estimated amounts available for design and construction purposes when revenue bond issues were sized for sale. Indirect staff expenses, bond overhead, and interest costs are not reflected in this display.

<sup>2</sup> Bed counts are greater than specified in authorizing legislation for various reasons: building design can accommodate more inmates, the inclusion of the firehouse beds, and/or design change for Level I beds. In addition, funding is limited to design phases only for the 2,000-bed Madera County II project and 2,152-bed Lassen County II project.

11 STANDARDS FOR DETENTION FACILITIES

Program Objectives Statement

The principal activities of this program relate to local, adult corrections in the state. The Board promulgates regulations relating to the design and construction of local detention facilities and to the conditions of confinement of adults in these facilities. It conducts regular inspections, provides technical assistance, and makes biennial reports on the conditions of jails in the state to the legislature. Regulations relate to design of physical plant, facility operating procedures, fire and life safety, program activity, personnel training, food, clothing, bedding, medical care, and sanitation. The Board also reviews, by law, architectural plans and specifications for jail remodeling and construction and, at the request of counties or cities, conducts studies into their detention needs.

12 COUNTY JAIL CONSTRUCTION FINANCING PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The County Jail Construction Financing Program originated in 1980. The program provides funds for the construction, remodeling, replacement, and deferred maintenance of county jail facilities. The program assists counties from prearchitectural planning and assessment through design, facility occupancy, and transition into the new jails. With an initial $40 million General Fund appropriation in 1980 (Chapter 1351, AB 3245), the program has been followed by five bond acts that total $1.455 billion (Proposition 2 in 1981—$280; Proposition 16 in 1984—$250 million; Proposition 52 in 1986—$475 million; and Propositions 80 and 86 in 1988 $40 million and $410 million respectively). The $40 million appropriated in 1980 has been disbursed. Of the $1.455 billion available through the bond acts, $696 million has been disbursed to counties through the 1989–90 fiscal year. It is estimated that a total of $154 million and approximately $265 million will be disbursed during the 1990–91 and 1991–92 fiscal years, respectively.

Budget Adjustments

The 1991–92 budget provides additional contract field representative costs of $70,000 from 1990 Prison Bond funds to support the construction of Substance Abuse Community Correctional Detention Centers.

21 STANDARDS AND TRAINING FOR LOCAL OFFICERS

Program Objectives Statement

For the purpose of improving the performance of local corrections and probation officers, Penal Code Section 6035 requires the Board of Corrections to adopt rules establishing minimum standards for the selection and training of all local corrections and probation officers. Penal Code Section 6040 establishes a Corrections Training Fund which derives its revenue by levying an assessment upon fines imposed and collected by the courts for violations of certain sections of the Penal and Vehicle Codes. These revenues provide state aid to any county or city which adheres to the selection and training standards established by the Board.

Three distinct functional areas of responsibility for the Board of Corrections can be identified within the mandates of Penal Code Sections 6035 through 6044: (1) operations functions; (2) assistance to cities and counties; and (3) administration of the program.

The operations function will conduct detailed research analyses of tasks associated with all local corrections and probation positions, establish selection standards, establish training standards, and coordinate efforts to increase effectiveness by stimulating the development of education and training courses to meet identified needs.

Assistance to cities and counties will be provided to encourage and assist local corrections and probation agencies to comply with the minimum selection and training standards. Each local jurisdiction participating in the program will be reimbursed from the Corrections Training Fund in proportion to the number of corrections or probation officers trained and to the extent funds are available.

The administrative function will provide direction and control over the local assistance program so that the overall objective may be realized in the most efficient and economical manner possible. This function will include close supervision of training to maintain quality control, certifying training attendance and completion, processing local government claims for payment, and establishing criteria for meeting training requirements.

5440 BOARD OF PRISON TERMS

The Community Release Board was established with the enactment of Chapter 1139/76 (SB 42), July 1, 1977. The Board was renamed to the Board of Prison Terms effective January 1, 1980 with the enactment of Chapter 255/79 (SB 281). The Board considers parole release and establishes the length and conditions of parole for all persons sentenced to prison under the Indeterminate Sentence Law, persons sentenced to prison for a term of less than life under Penal Code section 1168 (b), and for persons serving a sentence for life with possibility of parole. The Board also reviews the sentences of all determinately sentenced (DSL) prisoners and may recommend to the court that the sentence be recalled and the prisoner resentenced.

The Board may suspend or revoke the parole of any prisoner who has violated parole. The Board determines the necessity for rescission or postponement of parole dates for persons sentenced to prison for life, persons sentenced under Penal Code section 1168, and persons sentenced to prison under the Indeterminate Sentence Law. The Board may waive parole for any prisoner and may discharge any prisoner prior to the expiration of the statutory maximum parole period. Upon request of persons determinately sentenced, the Board reviews the length and conditions of parole imposed by the Department of Corrections and the Department's denial of good time credit, and may modify the Department's decision. The Board also advises the Governor on applications for clemency.

The Board is composed of nine Commissioners appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for terms of four years each. The terms are staggered and Commissioners are eligible for reappointment. A chairperson of the Board is designated by the Governor. Deputy Commissioners are employed by the Board in civil service positions. Their duties include hearing and deciding cases. An executive officer is appointed by the Board, who is responsible for the ongoing operation of the Board in accordance with Board policies. Other civil service staff include management, investigative, stenographic and clerical personnel to facilitate the performance of the Board of Prison Terms duties. The Board of Prison Terms maintains its headquarters in Sacramento.

5450 YOUTHFUL OFFENDER PAROLE BOARD

The Youthful Offender Parole Board is the paroling authority for young persons committed by the courts to the Department of the Youth Authority. The Board was established in 1941 by the Legislature as the Youth Authority Board. When the Department of the Youth Authority was created in 1942, the Director also served as the Chairman for the Board. The Board separated from the Department of the Youth Authority on January 1, 1980, when it was renamed the Youthful Offender Parole Board. Support services for the Board, such as budgeting, accounting, personnel, business services, etc., are provided by the Department of the Youth Authority under a contractual agreement.

The Board is composed of seven members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for terms of four years each. One member of the Board is designated as Chairman by the Governor. The powers and duties of the Board, as set forth in Section 1719 of the Welfare and Institution Code are:

- Return of persons to the court of commitment for redispotion by the court
- Discharge of commitment
- Orders to parole and conditions thereof
- Revocation or suspension of parole
- Recommendations for treatment program
- Determination of the date of next appearance
- Return of non-resident persons to the jurisdiction of the state of legal residence

The case of each ward is heard by the Board immediately after the case study of the ward has been completed. The Board periodically reviews the case of each ward for the purpose of determining whether existing orders and dispositions should be continued or modified. These reviews are made as frequently as the Board considers desirable and shall be made at intervals not to exceed one year.

5450 YOUTHFUL OFFENDER PAROLE BOARD—Continued

The Board uses a classification system which designates young offenders by categories of offense. These categories guide the Board in setting parole consideration dates, that is, that presumptive period of incarceration after which a person can be released to parole without being a danger to society. During the 1989-90 fiscal year the Board conducted 20,957 hearings. Of those hearings 74% were institutional cases and 26% were parole cases. The hearings have been categorized as follows: Initial hearings; referrals to parole which includes approval, denial or requests for parole plans; miscellaneous hearings which include annual reviews, disciplinary hearings and other hearings conducted in the institutions or in the locale where wards are on parole; and parole hearings which include probable cause violation/disposition, rescission and discharge hearings.

10.10 Support Services*Program Element Statement

Support Services provides statewide leadership on issues relative to crime and delinquency prevention, community corrections, juvenile law enforcement, public protection, and training. This operation has responsibility for developing policies and procedures for programs which provide services to local communities. It also administers state bond funds allocated for construction and deferred maintenance of county juvenile detention facilities and develops standards for all local detention facilities and jails that detain minors. It also administers state bond funds allocated for the purpose of constructing, acquiring, renovating and equipping the youth centers and youth shelters. Standards for youth service bureaus and other community-based prevention and correctional programs are also developed. A delinquency prevention appropriation is made available for locally sponsored projects through a competitive process. Funding is provided for youth service bureaus which provide services to help young people lead socially productive lives. Policies and procedures are developed for reviewing, monitoring, and evaluating funded programs as well as for the County Justice System Subvention Program. Support services are provided to the State Commission on Juvenile Justice, Crime and Delinquency Prevention which is established to advise the Department on matters pertaining to crime and delinquency prevention and juvenile justice practices. Limited training is also provided to law enforcement and local justice agency personnel.

20 INSTITUTIONS AND CAMPS

Program Objectives Statement

The objective of this program is to reduce the incidence and severity of delinquent and criminal behavior of juveniles and youthful offenders under Youth Authority jurisdiction in institutions. This is achieved by:

1. Accurately evaluating referrals and commitments.
2. Providing appropriate care, custody and treatment programs consistent with ward needs.

Trends—Youth Authority Population:

1. Ethnic group composition of wards first committed to the Youth Authority has undergone a significant change in recent years. In 1975, minority group members constituted 59.3 percent of Youth Authority's commitments. In 1989, 77.1 percent of the total first commitments were from minority groups.

2. Since 1975, the juvenile court-criminal court "mix" of first commitments to the Youth Authority has shifted significantly. The 1975 ratio was 54 percent juvenile and 46 percent criminal court commitments. The 1989 ratio was 66.7 percent juvenile and 33.3 percent criminal court cases.

3. The average age of first commitments in 1975 was 18 years while in 1989 it was 17.8 years. The average age of those housed in Youth Authority facilities in 1975 was 19 and it was 19.1 in 1989.

4. First commitments directly to the Youth Authority were 3,404 in 1975. In 1989, it was 2,602. If commitments pursuant to 1731.5 WIC (M Cases) are included, the total for 1989 was 3,631.

5. The length of stay for Youth Authority wards released on parole in 1977 was 10.9 months. This compares to a length of stay of 21.8 months for parole releases in 1989.

Youth Authority institution populations for 1989-90 through 1991-92 fiscal years are shown in the table entitled Statement of Population—Institution.

Budget Adjustments

• During the 1990-91 fiscal year, the ward population is expected to decline slightly from 8,152 to 8,144 by June 30, 1991, resulting in an overall population increase of 44 from the budgeted level of 8,088. This results in an increase of 5.4 personnel years and $736,000. In the 1991-92 fiscal year, the ward population is projected to marginally increase from 8,144 to 8,163 by June 30, 1992. This is a total increase of 63 wards over the previously budgeted level, requiring an increase of 14.3 personnel years and $990,000. The 1991-92 fiscal year also includes $70,000 for increased costs associated with Department of Mental Health placements.

• The 1991-92 budget proposes 60.5 personnel years and $1,824,000 for increased special education services. This results from a recent court settlement.

• A network of Health and Safety Officers will be established to administer both the Health and Safety and Return-to-Work programs. This program will require 8.3 personnel years and $339,000 for 1990-91, and 15.4 personnel years and $644,000 in 1991-92, and will be funded through redirection in that it is designed to reduce the costs of Workers' Compensation Benefits.

• One personnel year is proposed as part of a two-year pilot program and will be responsible for planning, organizing, coordinating and directing all non-treatment medical and dental programs for the southern institutions and camps. This program is proposed to be self-funded through the reduction of contract medical costs.

• The 1991-92 fiscal year reflects the completion of construction projects funded through the Prison Construction Bond funds, allowing the reduction of four administrative support positions and $309,000 from the 1990 Prison Construction Bond Fund.

• State Lottery Funds totaling $1,382,000 and 16.5 personnel years are proposed for 1991-92 for various ward education programs. The budget also includes an increase of $115,000 in Lottery Fund expenditures in the 1990-91 fiscal year.

20.10 Case Planning

Program Element Statement

Case planning within the Youth Authority operates to assist wards in their eventual reintegration into the community by evaluating and assessing individual needs and assigning them to programs which best prepare them for release and success in parole. The case planning process begins at the time youthful offenders are first referred to the Department and continues throughout their institutional stay. The case planning process includes diagnostic studies program assignment, objective setting and progress evaluations and parole planning.

20.20 Program Operations

Program Element Statement

Program operations have responsibility for the routine day-to-day operations of institutions, camps, and community based facilities, and providing wards with appropriate care and opportunities for training and education. In keeping with the Department's mandate for, and commitment to, offender accountability and public safety, each ward is assigned to programs based on his/her individualized needs.

A wide range of training and education services are made available to wards including individual and group counseling, therapy, academic education, vocational training, Free Venture, work experience, employability and coping skills training, religious services, and recreational and cultural activities. Programs including Victims Services, restitutions, and public service provide a means of increasing offender accountability. Two 60-bed Planned Reentry Programs operate at Karl Holton and Ventura Schools, which provide intensive rehabilitation services within a shorter treatment period. A 50-bed Program at Karl Holton School and an 80-bed program at the Youth Training School provide an accelerated five-month activity/counseling experience. A five 50-bed non-violent offender program provides accelerated services for the department's least serious offenders. The Youth Authority presently has 134 Intensive Counseling beds designed for individuals with particularly severe emotional behavioral disorders who cannot be adequately housed in the general population. Some 148 Specialized Counseling beds are designed for those who exhibit either acute or long-term manifestations of social and emotional disturbances at a lower level of severity greater than can be reasonably addressed within a regularly staffed program. All institutions have drug programs with special drug program living units at Preston and the Youth Training School. Nelles School and Preston have programs aimed at dealing with sex offenders. The Youth Authority has also contracted beds with Butte County for added program options.

30 PAROLE SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

The objective of this program is to protect the public from further criminal activity by Youth Authority wards and to increase the likelihood of their successful reintegration into the community. The major activities of the Parole Services Program are individual and community assessment on new commitments, intensive re-entry services upon release to parole, supervision and surveillance of wards after re-entry, intervention to prevent violation behavior, taking corrective actions when necessary, liaison with community agencies, the coordination of several residential programs, the purchase or contracting of services for wards on parole, and administering the interstate compacts.

Youth Authority parole caseloads for 1987–88 through 1989–90 fiscal years are shown in the table entitled Statement of Parole Caseload.

Budget Adjustments

● During the 1990–91 fiscal year, the parole caseload (California Supervision) is expected to increase from 5,893 to 6,163 by June 30, 1991, resulting in an overall caseload decrease of 457 from the budgeted level of 6,620. This results in a decrease of 9.6 personnel years and $543,000. The parole caseload will continue to increase in the 1991–92 fiscal year from 6,163 to 6,623, slightly above the budgeted level and allowing minor savings of $25,000 and 0.5 personnel year. Costs of $1,439,000 and 11.2 personnel years are required for two proposed bed savings alternative which are included as increases to the parole caseload of 154 by June 30, 1992. One alternative is an expansion of existing "in lieu of revocation" programs designed to provide a 90-day program for technical parole violators with identified substance abuse problems. The second alternative, is an "enhanced parole release program" designed to reduce institutional length of stay by 60 days for selected wards and is augmented by the use of electronic monitors.

● In the 1991–92 fiscal year, $97,000 is proposed for a statewide job services system equipment used by EDD employment specialists at each parole office.

30.10 Ward Program Services

Program Element Statement

The ward program services element has primary responsibility for assisting wards in making a successful reintegration back into the community after their institutional release. Beginning at the time of commitment, ward program service works with wards families, local agencies and programs until their discharge from parole. As soon as a ward is accepted for commitment to the Youth Authority, the local parole office is sent the case file, the parole agent makes a visit to the ward's family, and prepares a community assessment report for use by clinic staff in the diagnostic process.

For the first 90 days after a ward is released, intensive reentry services are provided. The parole agent has frequent contact with the ward and provides needed brokerage with community agencies. Direct and brokerage services continue to be offered after the reentry period, however, the level and intensity gradually diminishes as the ward becomes increasingly self-sufficient.

Parolees with medical, psychiatric, vocational, educational, substance abuse, gang affiliation, or other special needs can be provided counseling and financial assistance if other resources are not available and if such assistance is required to implement a parole plan or to assure a successful reintegration into the community.

30.20 Public Protective Services

Program Element Statement

The emphasis of this program is the protection of the public from further criminal behavior by Youth Authority parolees. This is accomplished through preventive actions which focus on solving problems before a law violation occurs and corrective actions which focus on ward accountability after a violation has occurred. The activities of the violation process may include investigations, searches, possible arrest and/or detention, probable cause/detention hearings and violation/disposition hearings.

Counties are reimbursed for the cost of detaining parolees awaiting hearings and/or transportation back to a Youth Authority facility. Local assistance funds are provided for this purpose.

Education

6110 DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

California's public education system is administered at the State level by the Department of Education, under the direction of the State Board of Education and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, for the education of approximately 5.0 million students from preschool age to adulthood. In 1990-91, $22,381.8 million will be spent from State and local revenue sources for the State's public school pupils. In 1991-92, those expenditures are expected to increase to $22,972.8 million. These expenditures are in addition to expenditures for teacher retirement costs, deferred maintenance and capital outlay, reimbursements to local educational agencies for state mandated costs, and bond interest and redemption shown in other parts of the Governor's Budget. The State administration aspects of the program are managed through seven branches of the department: the Executive Branch, the Governmental Policy Branch, the Program Assistance and Compliance Branch, the Field Services Branch, the Department Management Services Branch, the Curriculum and Instructional Leadership Branch, the Specialized Programs Branch, and the Legal and Audits Branch.

The functions of the State staff in administering the programs described in this budget extend across six principal areas which include:

Policy development and coordination—promulgating regulations, implementing statutes, interpreting legislative intent, developing program goals, and coordinating with other agencies within the executive and legislative branches.

Curriculum and management assistance—assisting local educational agencies through the dissemination of information, conducting workshops and providing other in-service training, and performing other leadership functions.

Fund and product distribution—allocating funds appropriated by the State or federal government and distributing surplus or donated food commodities to local educational agencies.

Program and plan review—assessing the quality of operating educational programs and adhering to implementation requirements.

Regulatory action—resolving compliance issues identified through the program and plan review functions.

Consumer protection—following up on and resolving parent, student, or community group complaints unresolved by local agencies.

The primary goal of the Superintendent and the department is to provide education policy direction to local school districts, and to work with the educational community to improve academic performance. Major objectives of the department include working to: (a) provide sufficient time for learning to occur and to ensure that available time is used well; (b) upgrade both the quality and quantity of the content of schooling; (c) upgrade the quality of the teaching force through training and other incentives; (d) provide for higher quality instructional leadership for districts and schools; and (e) promote safe and orderly learning environments for our schools.

10.10 School Apportionments

Program Element Statement

Support for California's K-12 public school system is a shared responsibility, with funding provided from local property taxes, State general-purpose aid and federal subventions. School apportionments supplement local resources to fund the general education programs of California's 1,008 K-12 school districts and 58 county offices of education. Local property taxes and other local revenue will provide more than $5.4 billion to districts and county offices in 1991-92 and $613.5 million will be available from the lottery fund. The remaining $11.5 billion of local assistance aid for K-12 general education will be provided by the State.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $635 million General Fund for enrollment increases in school districts and county offices of education.
- $42.484 million General Fund to reflect statutory growth for the Year-Round School Operation Grant program pursuant to Chapter 1261/90 (AB 87).
- $11 million has been shifted to Home-to-School Transportation from School Apportionments for Small School District Transportation Aid pursuant to Chapter 1601, Statutes of 1988.
- $5 million General Fund for Implementation Grants for the costs of converting to year-round schools, pursuant to Chapter 1261/90 (AB 87).
- $3.1 million General Fund to reflect a statutory growth increase of 1.3 percent in funding for regional occupation centers and programs based on the projected increase in total enrollment in grades 11 and 12.
- $2.4 million General Fund reduction for voluntary desegregation programs to reflect actual claims.
- $1.2 million General Fund for statutory growth in court-ordered desegregation programs.
- $250 million General Fund reduction to reflect current law which requires attendance in school for a minimum amount of time per day in order for schools to claim an average daily apportionment.

10.25 Class Size Reduction and Language Arts Enrichment

Program Element Statement

The number of students per instructional staff has an impact on the quality of learning. Smaller class sizes allow teachers greater opportunity to spend time with individual students, assign and grade more homework and manage their classrooms more effectively. Smaller classes also are especially beneficial when students are engaged in an activity-based curriculum that requires more time spent writing, conducting their own experiments and investigations, analyzing their own work, and engaging in collaborative learning. These benefits can be realized through a variety of approaches. This element provides incentive funding for school districts to implement a class size reduction program based on local needs and priorities.

10.30 Other Compensatory Programs

Program Element Statement

The Migrant Education—ESEA Chapter I—program provides supplemental services to California's migrant children. Services include health and social services, pre-service and in-service education for staff, transportation, child development activities and active parent involvement. During 1989-90, a total of 1,450 schools in 520 districts enrolled approximately 192,000 migrant children. Specifically, the program ensures that all eligible migrant children are identified, recruited, and entered into the Migrant Student Record Transfer System and receive supplementary instructional services such as language development, reading, and mathematics. The program further provides health screening and supplemental treatment as needed, and an opportunity for parents to participate on advisory committees and become actively involved in their children's education.

The Demonstration Programs in Reading and Math program provides exemplary programs for intensive instruction in reading and mathematics. The California Indian Education Centers include 22 community based centers designed to raise the academic achievements, reduce the dropout rate, and improve the self-concept of American Indian students and adults.

The American Indian Early Childhood Education Program is responsible for developing educational models for reading, language arts, mathematics, and self-esteem for pre-kindergarten through grade four American Indian students.

The Compensatory Education and Hawkins/Stafford Elementary and Secondary Improvement Amendments of 1988 coordinate the delivery of services funded under these programs with other related state and federal programs. (This program amended the ESEA Title I and replaced ECIA Chapter I programs.)

The Economic Impact Aid (EIA) program was established by Chapter 894, Statutes of 1977, and became operative on July 1, 1979. EIA funds support supplementary educational services to educationally disadvantaged students and limited English proficient students through State Compensatory Education (EIA-SCE) and Bilingual Education programs (EIA-LEP). School districts allocate EIA-SCE funds to schools selected on the basis of above average poverty concentration and number of limited English speaking population.

Budget Adjustments

- $70.5 million federal funds to expand compensatory educational services in accordance with the federal Hawkins/Stafford 1988 Amendments.
- $9 million General Fund to provide statutory growth funding for the Economic Impact Aid program.

10.40 Special Bilingual Programs

Program Element Statement

This program element consolidates the federally-funded State administrative resources for support of bilingual programs, including local assistance funding for grades K–12 for eligible refugee and immigrant students. State bilingual education support is provided primarily through the Economic Impact Aid program (10.30.070). Support also comes from the federal Hawkins/Stafford Elementary and Secondary Improvement Amendments of 1988 (10.30.060).

The needs of limited-English-proficient (LEP) students are addressed through direct local assistance to school districts and indirectly through State administration of curriculum, management, and policy-oriented activities. The Special Bilingual Program element includes the following components:

Bilingual Education (ESEA Title VII)—Provides funding for technical assistance, the dissemination of information, and the pursuit of research for the improvement of bilingual education programs.

National Origin Desegregation Assistance—Provides technical assistance to school districts undergoing national origin desegregation, and has primary responsibility to assure that national origin minority students participate equitably in California public schools.

Emergency Immigrant Education Assistance Program—Provides eligible immigrant children supplemental educational services such as bilingual education programs and English language instruction. Funding also is provided for special materials and supplies, as well as construction costs, transportation and rental of space.

10.50 Adult Education

Program Element Statement

Adult education programs are designed to involve adults served by public high school and unified districts in relevant general education programs which will improve literacy skills, employability, parenting abilities and meet the special needs of individuals such as the handicapped, older persons and non- and limited-English speaking adults.

In 1988–89, there were 1,864,227 enrollments which included 327,453 in adult basic education, 586,744 in English as a second language, 217,052 in vocational training, 96,636 in parent education courses, 23,912 in Americanization, 18,094 in homemaking, 174,847 in older adult programs, 78,035 in programs for handicapped adults, 140,822 in Health and Safety Education, and 200,632 in other programs including physical education, driver education/training and other civic education courses.

The state provides technical assistance to schools, approves all adult programs and classes, supervises the GED testing centers, and issues the California High School Equivalency Certificate.

Budget Adjustments

- $7.2 million General Fund to provide 2.5 percent growth in Adult Education programs.
- $99 thousand federal funds and one position to address adult literacy objectives of the Adult Education program.
- $36 million is provided for the Immigration Reform and Control Act program to ensure that the remaining number of individuals who need English and civics courses to gain permanent residency may do so.
- $82 thousand General Fund to provide 2.5 percent growth in the Adults in Correctional Facilities (jail education) program.

10.60 Special Education Programs for Exceptional Children

Program Element Statement

Under both federal and State statutes, individuals with exceptional needs are entitled to a free, appropriate public education. Approximately 472,000 individuals with exceptional needs are expected to be enrolled in special education programs in school districts in 1991-92. The Special Education Programs for Exceptional Children element includes the following components:

State Administration—The objective of the State administration component is to make resources and services available to public schools so that all students with exceptional needs can receive special education and related services.

Clearinghouse Depository for Handicapped Students—The objective of the Clearinghouse Depository for Handicapped Students (CDHS) is to maintain a central clearinghouse-depository and duplication center for specialized textbooks, reference books, recordings, study materials, tangible apparatus, equipment and other similar items for the use of handicapped students. As a necessary adjunct, CDHS also provides information to educational institutions (preschool through college) and individuals regarding the production, selection, and acquisition of such items.

California State Deaf-Blind Services—The objective of the California State Deaf-Blind Services is to secure the provision of medical, educational, psychological, or other appropriate services to any identified deaf-blind child in California. This activity is fully funded by a Federal grant.

State Special Schools—The Department of Education operates six Special Schools for handicapped children. The objective of the State School for the Blind and two Schools for the Deaf is to provide an appropriate education to those blind, and deaf pupils who, because of their severe sensory loss and educational needs, cannot be provided an appropriate education program and related services in regular public schools. These schools provide highly specialized services including educational assessments and individual educational recommendations for individuals referred for such service and a comprehensive residential and nonresidential educational program composed of academic, nonacademic and extracurricular activities.

The objectives of the three Diagnostic Schools are to: (a) serve as an educational planning, technical assistance, and training resource to educators and parents on a regional basis; (b) provide assessment and educational planning services for seriously handicapped children referred by special education programs in local educational agencies, including, but not limited to, the severely emotionally disturbed and the neurologically handicapped; and (c) provide unique extended assessment and diagnostic services on a short-term residential basis.

Special Education Instruction—Local Assistance—The objectives of the local assistance component are to apportion funds to local educational agencies to carry out program objectives at the school level. Local assistance funds include those appropriated from the General Fund for the Master Plan for Special Education and funds available under Title VI of the Federal Education for All Handicapped Children Act (Public Law 94-142).

The primary goal of this program is to identify pupils between the ages of 4 to 7 who are at risk of becoming learning disabled so that those pupils will receive appropriate instructional assistance in the regular classroom in order to reduce the severity or onset of learning disabilities in later years as well as to prevent the need for special education.

10.70 Vocational Education Programs

Program Element Statement

The Vocational Education element provides students with job/career guidance, and job specific skills for entry level jobs by concentrating resources on improving educational programs leading to academic, occupational training and retraining skill competencies needed to work in a technologically advanced society.

The Department of Education also administers the State Education Coordination and Grants Funds which make up 8% of the allotment to the state under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). These funds facilitate coordination and promote linkages among local educational agencies and administrative entities in service delivery areas to improve or develop occupational training programs which increase the employment opportunities for economically disadvantaged youth and adults.

The Partnership Academies Program serves educationally disadvantaged students. This is a three year dropout prevention "school within a school" program to prepare high risk youth for specific occupational fields. The program emphasizes partnerships between school districts, business/industry and the State Department of Education.

10.90 Education Consolidation and Improvement Chapter II

Program Element Statement

The Education Consolidation and Improvement Act of 1981, which consolidated approximately 29 federal categorical programs into a federal block grant, was amended by HR 5, the Hawkins/Stafford Elementary and Secondary Amendments of 1988. The reauthorized program, referred to as ESEA, Chapter 2, limits the use of its funds to the following six areas: (1) meeting the needs of at-risk and high cost students, (2) purchasing instructional and educational materials, (3) providing for professional development, (4) designing innovating programs to carry out schoolwide improvements, (5) implementing programs designed to enhance the personal excellence of students and student achievement, and (6) providing innovative programs to enhance the educational program and climate of the school.

Up to 20% of the grant award may be used for state purpose discretionary projects. Of the 20% for state purposes, not more than 25% may be used for state administration and at least 20% shall be used for effective school programs.

The remaining 80% must be allocated to Local Educational Agencies (LEAs) on the basis of a formula which uses enrollment as the primary factor. Funds appropriated under the Act may be used for any of the purposes which were formerly authorized by the programs now included in the block grant. The enabling legislation also created a state advisory committee to be appointed by the Governor to advise the state educational agency on the percentage and use of funds retained for state use, and determine the formula for distributing the remaining allocation to local educational agencies.

Expenditures of the federal block grant are reflected in Program 10 and Program 20.

20.30 Administrative Services to Local Educational Agencies

Program Element Statement

Local educational agencies look to the State for leadership, guidance, and technical expertise to manage operations consistent with all requirements. Further, by virtue of broad exposure, staff can provide consultant services to aid in improving operations and more efficiently using scarce resources. Such services are particularly required in school facilities planning, attendance accounting, district governance and organization, transportation, insurance, accounting/budgeting, maintenance and operations and other areas of planning and administration. This element also includes publishing required documents such as attendance registers and other materials such as manuals for planning for school construction and rehabilitation, budgeting, accounting, transportation, attendance, maintenance and operations, student body funds and other advisory handbooks and materials.

20.40 Supplementary Program Services

Program Element Statement

The objectives of this element encompass identification, development, and dissemination of innovative and exemplary programs and practices to local educational agencies and nonpublic school systems; assistance in development of alternative/independent study educational programs; coordination of continuation/opportunity/summer school programs; as well as compliance, audit and other monitoring activities.

- To meet these objectives, the Supplementary Program Services element includes the following components:
- Sex Equity in Education—This program provides information and conducts in-service training workshops to assist schools in promoting sex equity in education; promotes the infusion of sex equity concepts into educational programs and practices.
  - Foster Youth Services—This component provides direct reimbursement to school districts operating Foster Youth Services programs.
  - Alternative/Independent Study—Independent study provides individualized ways for students to pursue a course of study. This option was offered in 765 county and local school districts in 1989–90 with a statewide ADA of approximately 43,532.
  - Alternative educational programs and schools fulfill attendance and credit requirements in various ways that allow for choice by parents, students and teacher to accommodate varied student needs. Over 1,160 alternative schools and programs were offered statewide in 1989–90.
  - Continuation Education—Continuation education fulfills the compulsory maximum day high school attendance requirement for students aged 16 and 17, with the major goal of meeting graduation requirements.
  - Opportunity classes and programs provide adjustment services for the purpose of returning pupils to the regular educational programs of the district.
  - Compliance and Grants Management—This component streamlines administration for all categorical programs, ensures that LEA's are in compliance with requisite laws or have State Board approved waivers, and ensures that agencies receiving child development/nutrition funds will not have paybacks after required audits. The component also includes all external audits, including bilingual census audits.
  - Pupil Dropout Prevention and Recovery—Chapter 1431, Statutes of 1985 (SB 65) established several programs aimed at dropout prevention and recovery. The school based pupil motivation and maintenance program is designed to improve schools' abilities to keep students from dropping out of school. The alternative education and work centers teach basic academic skills in order for the student to obtain employment or return to high school, operate clinics to diagnose students' abilities and provide appropriate instruction, and provide on-the-job training, vocational skills reflective of labor market demand, counseling and placement services. Educational clinics target youth who have dropped out of school and combine instruction in basic academic skills with motivational emphasis to encourage school re-entry and/or employment. The clinics differ from most alternative school programs by providing a specified program for a limited period of time to youth who officially are classified as having dropped out of school.
  - $415 thousand from the Foster Youth and Parent Training Fund to fund two new Foster Youth Services program sites.
  - $369 thousand General Fund reduction in the Opportunity Schools Grant program in accordance with revised estimates of program expenditures.

20.60 Improving School Effectiveness

Program Element Statement

The Improving School Effectiveness element consists of the following components:

- School Leadership—The primary objective of this component is to strengthen leadership of local school boards, superintendents and principals. Training is provided in instructional leadership, curriculum, instruction, performance, climate, staff development and supervision and evaluation.
- School Climate—The primary objective of this component is to assist school districts in providing a learning environment that encourages effective academic achievement. Major efforts include assisting local districts in improving attendance, providing safe orderly environments for students, reducing school crime, developing student support services, developing student responsibility and encouraging students to take strong academic programs through the Tenth Grade Counseling Program.
- Intergroup Relations—The primary objective of this component is to encourage and assist school districts in providing equal access to educational opportunities for all students. The Intergroup Relations Office seeks to end racial, ethnic, religious and sex discrimination in the operation of public schools in California by providing assistance in understanding civil rights laws and issues, and in planning and implementing programs and activities which promote educational equity.
- School Improvement—The primary objective of this component is to improve the instructional program for elementary and secondary schools through the development of a school-level plan which addresses student assessment, goal setting, improved curriculum and instruction, staff development and school climate. Local school site councils comprised of school personnel, parents, and in secondary schools, students, design and evaluate the improvement plan for their schools. Triennial program quality reviews which include self studies and action plans for growth are a central part of the improvement process.
- Regional Programs and Special Projects—This component provides leadership and assistance to local educational agencies on: 1) "restructuring" for the purpose of improving student learning and achievement; 2) coordination of CDE regional assistance and program improvement efforts with county offices and school districts; and 3) special projects for the State Superintendent of Public Instruction (e.g. the High School Task Force).
- Parental Involvement—The primary objective of this component is to assist local educational agencies in promoting and increasing parental involvement in the educational process as a means of improving student achievement and student success in education.
- Staff Development—The primary objective of the staff development component is to provide assistance and leadership in professional development, training and retraining of classroom teachers. Staff development is designed to: 1) provide in-depth, comprehensive training in curriculum content, instructional methods, and use of appropriate technologies in mathematics, science, English/language arts, history/social science, fine arts, foreign language, and physical education; 2) help school staff plan and implement site-focused professional development activities, recognizing that the best staff development is based on teacher collaboration around instructional issues; 3) provide training for language minority teachers to prepare them for bilingual certification and ensure that the curriculum is accessible and available to language minority students.

20.80 SUPPLEMENTAL GRANTS

Program Element Statement

The intent of the Supplemental Grants is to better equalize categorical funding among the school districts in the state in order that all students in California public schools have equal educational opportunities. To do this, Supplemental Grants are awarded to school districts that are receiving less than the average funding from existing state programs. Districts receiving the funds must use them to expand or initiate one or more of the 27 eligible categorical programs identified in the legislation.

30.10 Child Development

Program Element Statement

The child development element provides part-time and full-time child care and educational services, including supportive services, to children from low income and other families with special needs. Several different program structures have been established over the years to target resources to specific populations and/or to address specific types of needs.

The state preschool education component provides (a) a wide range of educational and related experiences and services in part-day settings for pre-kindergarten (three- and four-year-old) children from low-income families; and (b) parent education and training for the parents of eligible children. The objective of the component is to help ensure a child's later success in formal school programs.

The preschool career incentive program (Chapter 795, Statutes of 1975) provides $300 thousand for tuition and book scholarships for preschool teachers and aides to assist them in continuing their professional development toward the attainment of full credentials.

This budget does not include funds for the Headstart Program administered directly by the federal government. However, in terms of program objectives, the two programs serve similar target populations with approximately the same type of program.

6110 DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION—Continued

The child care services component is designed (a) to assist families in becoming self-sufficient by enabling parents to work or receive training leading to employment by providing safe and appropriate environments for their children; (b) to enhance the physical, emotional, and developmental growth of participant children; and (c) to refer families in need of medical or family support services to appropriate agencies.

- a. General child care—Provides comprehensive child development services for low-income parents in work or training situations.
- b. Campus—Provides child development for infants and children of low-income student parents who are working toward a vocational or professional goal.
- c. School age parenting and infant development (SAPID)—Provides supervised infant care to allow eligible adolescent parents to complete high school and provides training of students in parenting skills.
- d. Migrant—Provides child development and related services to children of migrant families working in fishing, agriculture or related industries.

30.20 Child Nutrition

Program Element Statement

The objective of the child nutrition element is to assist participating school districts and private, nonprofit agencies in providing nutritious meals and nutrition education to children and adults.

This objective is met through subsidies received from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) to fund the National School Lunch Program (NSLP), School Breakfast Program (SBP), Special Milk Program (SMP), Child Care Food Program (CCFP), Adult Day Care Food Program (ADCFP), Nutrition and Food Services Education Section (NFSES) and from the state through the State Mandated Child Nutrition Programs (SMCNP) and the meal supplement for Pregnant and Lactating Students Program (PAL).

These programs provide subsidies for nutritious meals, milk and nutrition educational opportunities to children in public and non-profit private schools residential and non-residential child care institutions, including family day care homes and adults in non-residential adult day care centers.

The following programs are offered to assist participants in providing nutritious meals to children and adults:

State-Mandated Child Nutrition Programs (SMCNP):

This program was created by Senate Bill 2020 (Chapter 1487/74) and Senate Bill 120 (Chapter 1277/75). Administered by the department, the program will provide a basic per meal reimbursement for breakfasts and lunches served in public and non-profit private schools and non-residential child care institutions, including day care homes to children who qualify for free and reduced price meals. Section 49550 of the Education Code requires that all school districts offer at least one nutritious meal to needy students each school day. This subsidy is a supplement to the Federal National School Lunch, School Breakfast, and Child Care Food Programs.

National School Lunch Program (NSLP):

This program provides a subsidy for a nutritious lunch to all children and residents of residential child care programs under 21 years of age with a daily nutritious meal. In 1991-92 it is anticipated that over 1,154 public and private school districts and residential child care institutions will participate in the NSLP.

School Breakfast Program (SBP):

This Program provides a subsidy for nutritious low-priced breakfasts to eligible children in public and private schools, including residents of residential child care institutions. In 1991-92, it is anticipated that over 493 public and private school districts and residential child care institutions will participate in the SBP.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

Child Care Food Program (CCFP):

This Program provides a subsidy for nutritious meals to eligible children enrolled in non-residential child care institution, including family day care homes. The objective of the CCFP is to extend services to non-participating eligible child care institutions, placing priority on reaching institutions in low-income areas. In 1991-92 it is anticipated that over 670 sponsors for non-residential child care institutions, including family day care homes will participate in the CCFP.

Adult Day Care Food Program (ADCFP):

1988 amendments to the CCFP regulations established the Adult Day Care Food Program (ADCFP). This program provides financial assistance to nonresidential adult day care centers serving nutritious meals to adults who are either functionally impaired or 60 years of age or older. During 1991-92 it is anticipated that 150 sponsors will participate in the ADCFP.

Special Milk Program (SMP):<sup>6</sup>

This Program provides reimbursement for milk to children in eligible public and private non-profit institutions. Participation in the SMP is restricted to those sponsors who do not participate in any other food program at a given site. In 1991-92 approximately 550 sponsors are expected to participate in the SMP.

Nutrition and Food Services Education Section (NFSES):

This Program provides comprehensive nutrition information and education programs to children, teachers, food service personnel, program administrators, and parents. Emphasis is on using meals served through child nutrition programs as a learning laboratory for selecting nutritious meals and to effect changes in eating patterns that will result in improved health and well-being of children. In addition, this section is participating in a new campaign. Shaping Healthy Choices, that is designed to help California Schools introduce students to dietary practices that promote health and reduce the risk of chronic disease.

Pregnant and Lactating Students Program:

This program, created by Chapter 1482, Statutes of 1985 (SB 1179), allocates funds to participating school food authorities to provide pregnant or lactating students with daily nutritional supplements. In 1991-92, 58 sponsors will participate.

- Approve courses offered by private and public schools for the training of veterans.
- Reimburse from the Student Tuition Recovery Fund the prepaid but unused tuition of a student enrolled in a private postsecondary school which closes prior to completion of the student's instructional program.

Effective January 1, 1991, pursuant to Chapter 1239/89 (AB 1402), and Chapter 1307/89 (SB 190), the postsecondary education program and staffing will be transferred to the Council for Private Postsecondary and Vocational Education.

30.50 Food Distribution

Program Element Statement

Surplus donated food from the federal government is available to certain California public, private, and nonprofit agencies; California law provides that the State Department of Education is designated as the California State Agency for Donated Food Distribution (Educ. Code Section 12110). The major program is the federal donated commodities (food) distribution program. The Food Distribution Section was established within the Department of Education for the distribution of these donated foods. The goal of this agency is to acquire and distribute efficiently to eligible agencies all surplus foods donated by the federal government that can be used effectively by these agencies. In addition, the agency coordinates the processing of surplus food items into other usable products (examples: surplus peanuts, peanut butter, flour and vegetable oil into peanut butter cookies; and surplus vegetable oil into mayonnaise). The total number of agencies served in 1991-92 will be approximately 2,750. The fair market value of the donated food commodities distributed will be approximately $82 million.

10 State Library Services<sup>1</sup>

Program Element Statement

The State Library Services (SLS) program provides library services to a variety of library users both directly and indirectly through other libraries. In order to perform its information functions, State Library Services gathers, catalogs, preserves and protects materials so they may be used easily.

The interlibrary loan service supplements the collections of California public libraries and assists local libraries by answering reference and informational questions. The SLS also coordinates the distribution of State and federal publications to libraries so residents using local libraries have convenient access to official government publications.

Through the Braille and Talking Book Library, which is a regional library designated by the Library of Congress National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, braille and recorded books (records and cassettes) and special playback equipment are provided to blind and physically disabled residents of Northern California who are unable to use standard print materials. Funds are provided for the Braille Institute in Los Angeles to operate the Southern California Regional Library.

20 Library Development Services<sup>2</sup>

Program Element Statement

The Library Development Services program provides state and federal financial assistance to libraries and provides technical consulting assistance to help local libraries extend and improve services to all residents. The primary components of the program are: a) the California Library Services Act (CLSA), b) the California Literacy Campaign (CLC), c) the Families for Literacy Program, d) the Public Library Foundation Program and e) the Library Services and Construction Program.

The California Library Services Act helps public libraries and cooperative public library systems provide coordinated reference services and provides reimbursement for interlibrary loans of materials and loans to nonresident borrowers.

The California Literacy Campaign provides community-centered literacy assistance to adults who have missed the opportunity to learn to read English.

The Families for Literacy Program seeks to break the cycle of illiteracy by engaging the children of functionally illiterate adults in family-oriented activities designed to promote reading readiness and the joy of reading.

The Public Library Foundation Act is a funding formula under which the state may contribute funding for basic local library services under specified conditions.

The federal Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) provides grants to libraries for public library services, public library construction, and library networking and resource sharing. In addition to the federal program, the California Library Construction and Renovation Program was enacted through Proposition 85 in 1988 to provide $75 million in bond funds for construction and renovation of public libraries.

Budget Adjustments

For 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $172 thousand federal funds redirected to purchase genealogical and local history materials on microfilm.
- $164 thousand federal funds redirected for three limited-term positions for the multitype library network.
- $6 million reduction in the library foundation program.

6255 CALIFORNIA STATE SUMMER SCHOOL FOR THE ARTS

Program Objectives Statement

The California State Summer School for the Arts (CSSSA) was created pursuant to SB 45 (Chapter 1131, Statutes of 1985) and reauthorized pursuant to SB 2266 (Chapter 1515, Statutes of 1988) to provide California high school students who have demonstrated exceptional talent and excellence in the arts with intensive instruction through a multi-disciplinary, residential summer training program. The California State Summer School for the Arts allows students to choose from six major disciplines of study: Creative Writing, Dance, Film/Video, Music, Theatre Arts, and Visual Arts. The program provides a training ground for future artists aspiring to careers in the State's arts and entertainment industries. In 1989-90 State funding for CSSSA was provided by a transfer of funds from the Supplemental Summer School Program operated by the Department of Education. Beginning in 1990-91 State funding for CSSSA is by a transfer from the support item for the Department of Education in lieu of the allocation provided by Chapter 1515, Statutes of 1988, in order to be consistent with the provisions of Proposition 98. Private donation funds are raised and managed by the California State Summer School for the Arts Non-Profit Foundation. During fiscal year 1989-90, private sector support for the program totaled more than $743,000 which included private contributions, student fees, earned interest and in-kind services.

The proposed budget includes an anticipated deficiency of $80,000 in 1990-91 which is the result of the CSSSA not raising as much revenue from private sources as expected. An increase of $110,000 is proposed for 1991-92 to help the CSSSA to become current in meeting its obligations. The Administration believes, however, that future needs for increased funding must be provided from private sector and industry support as was the original intent for funding this program.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

6300 CONTRIBUTIONS TO TEACHERS' RETIREMENT FUND

The objective of this program is to provide a General Fund contribution to the Teachers' Retirement Fund to ensure full actuarial funding of benefits, because the cost of vested benefits is not currently supported by existing employer and employee contributions.

Funding for the Teachers' Retirement Fund is derived from four separate sources: teacher members who contribute 8 percent of their salary; employing school districts who contribute 8.25 percent of member payroll; income from investments; and contributions from the General Fund. From 1972 to 1976 the State contributed $135 million annually for the purpose of funding retirement benefits which were in effect on June 30, 1972. Chapter 323, Statutes of 1976, as amended by Chapter 991, Statutes of 1976, provided an additional amount of $9.3 million to fund a one-time cost of living increase in benefits. The State continued to contribute $144.3 million through fiscal year 1979-80.

Effective July 1, 1980, Chapter 282, Statutes of 1979, annually appropriated $144.3 million from the General Fund for transfer to the Teacher's Retirement Fund, cumulatively increased or decreased by the June to June change in the composite California Consumer Price Index (CCPI) for the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas for the preceding year. This chapter also appropriated $10 million in Fiscal Year 1980-81 and $20 million in Fiscal Year 1981-82, with annual increases of $20 million. Thereafter this amount was indexed to the CCPI.

As part of the legislation to balance the 1990-91 General Fund Budget, Chapter 460, Statutes of 1990, repealed the previously existing statutory contributions, and eliminated the 1990-91 contribution required by Chapter 282. Effective July 1, 1991, Chapter 460, Statutes of 1990, annually appropriates from the General Fund, for transfer to the Teachers' Retirement Fund, 4.3% of total salaries of the preceding calendar year upon which members' contributions are based. This legislation, which was named the "Elder State Teachers' Retirement System Full Funding Act", provides, for the first time in STRS history, a fully funded retirement system. As a statutory appropriation, the State contribution is not included in the Budget Act.

Effective July 1, 1989, Chapters 115 and 116, Statutes of 1989, established the Supplemental Benefit Maintenance Account to provide for purchasing power maintenance up to 68.2%. The General Fund provides a statutory transfer to the Teachers' Retirement Fund commencing with 0.50% of the teacher's salaries in 1990-91 fiscal year, and increasing to 2.5% in and after the 1994-95 fiscal year.

Budget Adjustments

1991-92 budget adjustments:

- This budget includes an increase of $470.4 million in General Fund to meet the statutory contribution requirements.
- This budget includes a General Fund increase of $64.4 million for the purchasing power protection program.

6330 CALIFORNIA OCCUPATIONAL INFORMATION COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Program Objectives Statement

The California Occupational Information Coordinating Committee (COICC) is funded annually by the National Occupational Information Coordinating Committee, which is responsible for improving and coordinating the development and implementation of occupational information systems at the national and state levels. Federal legislation (Carl D. Perkins Vocational Education Act of 1984) mandates state occupational information coordinating committees for states that receive vocational education funds.

COICC was established by AB 2020 (Chapter 972/78). It is responsible for coordinating the development of an occupational information system (OIS) that will address the occupational information needs of occupational program planners and administrators and the career information needs of youth and adults, and for fostering communication between the users and producers of occupational information. SB 1033 (Chapter 1667/90) requires COICC to annually report on the design, funding and implementation of the OIS in California. COICC consists of representatives of the California Department of Education, Employment Development Department, Department of Commerce, Chancellor's Office of the California Community Colleges, State Job Training Coordinating Council, Council for Private Postsecondary and Vocational Education, Department of Rehabilitation, Department of Social Services, and Employment Training Panel.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

6350 SCHOOL FACILITIES AID PROGRAM

The objective of this program is to provide financing for the new construction and reconstruction and maintenance of K-12 school facilities. The State School Building Lease-Purchase Law of 1976 provides funding to school districts through revenue obtained from the sale of state general obligation bonds authorized by the electorate ($4.950 billion since 1982).

State School Building Lease-Purchase Program

The State Allocation Board (SAB) provides grant funds to local school districts for the construction and reconstruction of schools in accordance with a relative prioritization system based on the districts' need to house the existing and projected number of pupils. Grants allocated to districts are in the form of apportionments. The June ($800 million) and November ($800 million) 1990 School Facilities Bond Acts, authorize the sale of $1.6 billion in general obligation bonds to provide funds for new school construction and reconstruction, modernization, portable classrooms, asbestos abatement, year-round school air-conditioning equipment, and other school facility-related activities.

School Emergency Portable Classroom Program

Existing law authorizes the SAB to provide up to $35 million annually to the Department of General Services (DGS) for the purchase of portable classrooms. The DGS Office of Local Assistance is authorized to acquire these classrooms and lease them to school districts and county superintendents for an annual rent of $2 thousand per classroom. The SAB authorized $50 million from the 1990 School Facilities Bond Act (June), Chapter 24, Statutes of 1990, for this program.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

Child Care Facilities Program

Under existing law, the SAB is authorized by two separate programs to purchase relocatable facilities for lease to qualifying public and private non-profit child care providers, and to provide grant and loan funds to these providers for the renovation and repair of existing child care facilities. Chapter 1026, Statutes of 1985 (SB 303), appropriated $36.5 million in federal funds to the SAB for allocation to qualifying providers of extended day care services (latchkey program), while Chapter 1440, Statutes of 1985 (AB 1024), authorized an additional $7.25 million in federal funds for child care and development programs. Of the total $43.75 million available, approximately $41.25 million has been allocated to child care providers.

Asbestos Abatement Programs

The SAB is authorized to allocate funds to school districts and county offices of education for the containment or removal of hazardous asbestos materials in schools. Currently, there are two programs administered by the SAB which provide funding on a district matching basis, and give first priority for funding based on the level of asbestos contamination. The State Asbestos Abatement program, enacted in 1984, has provided a total of $25 million from the General Fund for district asbestos abatement projects. In addition, the SAB authorized $25 million from the 1988 School Facilities Bond Act (November) for the assessment and abatement of hazardous asbestos in schools. Of this amount, $16.9 million has been allocated to districts to date.

State School Deferred Maintenance Program

Chapter 282, Statutes of 1979 (AB 8), appropriates the amount of repayments received from school districts for loans that is in excess of the amount required to reimburse the General Fund for debt service for outstanding bonded indebtedness to the State School Deferred Maintenance Fund. For 1991-92, approximately $67 million in excess bond repayments will be available, in addition to $23 million from Proposition 98 General Fund monies, for a total of $90 million.

Year-Round School Air-Conditioning Program

Existing law authorizes the SAB to allocate funds to school districts for the purchase and installation of air-conditioning equipment and insulation materials for schools operating on a year-round basis. Chapter 24, Statutes of 1990 (SB 173), and Chapter 578, Statutes of 1990 (AB 236), authorize a total of $80 million for this program in 1990-91 and 1991-92 from the June and November 1990 Bond Acts.

6360 COMMISSION ON TEACHER CREDENTIALING

10 STANDARDS FOR THE PREPARATION AND LICENSING OF TEACHERS

Program Objectives Statement

The Commission was established in 1970, with the specific charge of ensuring excellence in education by encouraging high standards of quality and diversity. The Commission carries out its program of standards for the preparation and licensing of teachers through four program elements: Credential Issuance/Information; Professional Services; Professional Standards; and Agency Administration.

Chapter 572, Statutes of 1986, raised the credential fee effective January 1, 1987 from $40 to $50 and authorized a maximum fee of $65. The Commission increased credential fees by $10 to $60, effective July 1, 1988. Effective July 1, 1987, Chapter 572 also established within the Teachers' Credential Fund the Test Development and Administration Account through which all examination related revenues and expenditures will flow.

6370 CALIFORNIA SCHOOL FINANCE AUTHORITY

The California School Finance Authority was established by Chapter 1438, Statutes of 1985, and is authorized to issue $250,000,000 in revenue bonds for the provision of grades K-12 school facilities. Chapter 598, Statutes of 1987 (AB 370) increased the total revenue bond authority to $400,000,000 and included community college districts within existing provisions. The proceeds from the sale of the bonds are made available to provide loans to assist school districts and community college districts in obtaining new school sites, constructing new facilities, reconstructing existing facilities and acquiring portable/relocatable buildings, and for maintenance. The proceeds of loan repayments provide necessary resources for bond debt service. During fiscal year 1989-90, the Authority redeemed $49,300,000 in outstanding bonds issued and sold additional revenue bonds. As of June 30, 1990, $29,345,000 in revenue bonds have been sold and deposited in the California School Finance Authority Fund for purposes of providing loans to eligible school districts and community college districts. The entire $29,345,000 has been loaned to various districts statewide. The Authority is authorized to issue up to $370,655,000 in revenue bonds in 1991-92.

All expenditures of the Authority for debt service and other expenses must be paid from revenues available to the Authority.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

50 WESTERN INTERSTATE COMMISSION FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

Program Objectives Statement

The Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) is a nonprofit regional organization which helps California and 12 other member states cooperate in providing high quality cost-effective programs to meet the education and personnel needs of the West. Member states, in addition to California, are Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. Governors appoint three Commissioners from each state to govern the agency. California's annual assessment for organizational operations for 1991-92 will be $72,000 according to the interstate compact.

WICHE has three primary goals: (1) to work toward improving access to higher education for students, (2) to assist member states to meet their technical and professional personnel needs, and (3) to improve the quality of higher education through greater effectiveness and efficiency. These goals are achieved through seven general program areas: student exchange, health resources, nursing education, mental health and human services, minority education, economic development and student internships.

WICHE is assuming administration of the Western Name Exchange, an association of 25 universities that circulates the names of senior-level minority students for recruitment into graduate programs in the West. Many schools within the exchange are located in California.

1990-91 FUNDED PROGRAM LEVEL AND 1991-92 PLANNING BASE

The University of California was founded in 1868 as a public, State-supported land-grant institution. It was written into the State Constitution of 1879 as a public trust, to be administered under the authority of an independent governing board—the Regents of the University of California. Presently, the Board of Regents includes 28 members, seven ex officio, 20 appointed by the Governor with the approval of the Senate for staggered terms, and one student appointed by the board.

A master plan for the development of higher education in California, enacted in 1960 and referred to as the "Donahoe Higher Education Act," designates the University of California as the primary State-supported academic agency for research with exclusive jurisdiction in public higher education over instruction in the professions of law, medicine, dentistry, and veterinary medicine. Sole authority is also vested in the university to award doctoral degrees in all fields, except that joint doctoral degrees with the California State University may be awarded.

The administrative structure of the university is headed by a president who is responsible for overall policy development, planning, and resource allocations. Chancellors have primary responsibility for the management of campus resource allocations as well as campus administrative activities.

The regents have delegated authority to the academic senate to determine conditions for admission (subject to constraints of the Master Plan for Higher Education), degree requirements, and approval of courses and curricula. Special faculty committees serve in an advisory capacity to the regents, the president, and the chancellors in a variety of matters. There are nine university campuses. Eight of them offer undergraduate and graduate instruction and professional education; the ninth is devoted exclusively to the health sciences. The university owns and operates teaching hospitals and clinics on the Los Angeles and San Francisco campuses, and in Sacramento, San Diego, and Orange counties. Approximately 150 university institutes, bureaus, centers, and laboratories operate in all parts of the state. The university's Agricultural Experiment Station, Cooperative Extension Offices in 54 counties, and the Natural Land and Water Reserves System serve people in all areas of California.

The University of California conducts higher education programs in four major areas:

1. Instruction of qualified individuals, by sharing with them knowledge and skills and by helping them to experience with their instructors the processes of developing and testing new hypotheses and fresh interpretations of knowledge. The university offers lower division, upper division, graduate, professional, and postdoctoral programs on each of its general campuses.

2. Research directed toward advancing the understanding of arts and sciences and the interpretation of human history. The university provides faculty time and the essential libraries, laboratories, and other resources necessary to further faculty research, which is intimately connected with teaching in the university—especially at the advanced graduate level.

3. Education for professional careers—education grounded in the understanding of relevant sciences, literature, and research methods by which the boundaries of knowledge are pushed back. Individuals are provided with the tools to continue intellectual development over a lifetime and to contribute to the needs of a changing society.

4. Public service contributing to the fulfillment of the university's obligation to disseminate knowledge and bring to faculty and students the stimulation of applying their knowledge and special skills to the problems of modern life.

Health Sciences

The instructional program in the health sciences is carried on in 14 schools which provide education in various health fields to students preparing for careers in health care, teaching and research. The health science schools are located on six campuses and include five schools of medicine, two schools of dentistry, two schools of nursing, two schools of public health, one school of pharmacy, one school of veterinary medicine, and one school of optometry. In addition, four programs in medical education are conducted at Berkeley, Fresno, Riverside, and the Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science in Los Angeles. The physical, biological and behavioral science programs of the general campuses complement the programs of the health science schools. Professional students, residents, fellows, students in allied health programs and graduate students who will become teachers and researchers are participating in these programs.

Summer Sessions

University of California summer sessions are self-supporting instructional programs offering courses for both degree credit and in selected specialized programs. The summer programs provide a broad spectrum of instructional offerings. The specialized programs include intensive courses conducted at several campuses which enable students to accelerate their progress toward degrees, and serve as refresher courses for new and continuing students. Programs in education are offered to improve instruction in California's schools and colleges. Courses to prepare prospective students are also offered.

University Extension

University Extension is the largest institution of its kind—the nation's leading "noncampus university"—with an annual projected 1991-92 enrollment of 400,000 students participating in classes, short courses, seminars, field studies, and similar activities throughout California and in several foreign countries. It has open admissions, optional credit and free student selection of curriculum. University Extension is a self-supporting instructional unit and its offerings depend entirely on student fees.

Program organization varies among the campuses, depending on the size of the program and the characteristics of the campus. Programs have a disciplinary orientation; for example, arts and humanities, business administration, dentistry, education, engineering, health sciences, medicine, nursing, physical sciences, social sciences, and public affairs. Statewide programs, such as Continuing Education of the Bar, and correspondence courses, are established when there are valid reasons (e.g., when a single university unit can more effectively and economically serve the entire State).

10 RESEARCH

Program Objectives Statement

The University is designated by the Donahoe Act as "... the primary State-supported academic agency for research." Its research activities, both basic and applied, contribute to the social, economic, and technological progress of the State and the nation. More specifically, the university, through its research toward the solution of complex problems facing society, enables individuals to control their environment more effectively. In addition, the research process is essential to the training of scholars in the methodology of inquiry and the nature of the creative scholarly process, especially in the advanced graduate and professional instructional programs.

15 PUBLIC SERVICE

Program Objectives Statement

Activities funded within this function are campus public service, Cooperative Extension, the contract with the Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science, and the California College of Podiatric Medicine program conducted cooperatively with the UC San Francisco School of Medicine. Campus public service programs include the California Mathematics Project, California Writing Project, California Science Project, Puente, University Schools, Community College Transfer Centers, EQUALS, MESA, ASSIST and the Teratogen Registry. These programs account for most of the State funds for public service, but the University also offers many activities which are almost completely supported by user fees and other non-State fund sources. Such activities include the Lawrence Hall of Science, arts and lecture programs, vocational education, and community service projects.

Cooperative Extension, previously known as Agricultural Extension, provides to the citizens of California information and education programs in agriculture and natural resources, family and consumer sciences, community resource development, and 4-H youth development. Its programs are designed to deliver the results of research and new knowledge to people located in communities beyond the campuses of the University and to bring problems and issues from individuals and communities back to campuses for exploration and research. The California Mathematics Project is a staff development program which strengthens the mathematics problem-solving skills and teaching techniques of K-14 teachers. The California Writing Project is a program designed to improve the writing skills of students from elementary school through community college levels. The program offers tenured teachers in-service training in the teaching of writing skills to students.

The California Science Project is administered by the University of California, in cooperation with the California State University and the State Department of Education. The project, established in 1988 and modeled after the California Mathematics Project, is designed to strengthen science education through K-12 faculty development activities and a statewide effort to update science instruction.

Community College Transfer Centers are an intersegmental effort designed to increase the number of students transferring from community colleges to four-year institutions, particularly minority, handicapped, low income, and other students who are underrepresented among transfer students.

ASSIST (The Articulation System Stimulating Interinstitutional Student Transfer) is an on-line microcomputer system designed to store and make accessible essential data concerning course requirements for students wishing to transfer from a Community College to a four-year institution. EQUALS is a training program to provide classroom teachers, counselors, and administrators with the tools to promote the participation of women and minority students in mathematics courses, thereby improving their opportunities for entry into math-based fields of study and employment.

Under the University/Schools Cooperative Research Extension Program in Education, research results and ideas for educational improvement will be brought to K-12 schools through extension programs and through work with K-12 teachers, counselors, administrators, and student teachers.

MESA assists underrepresented minority students by preparing them to enter and complete math- and science-based courses of study in college.

The 1991-92 Budget includes an appropriation to the University for support of a program of clinical health sciences education, research, and public service at the Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science, conducted with UCLA. Programs which are specified by the act to provide the greatest public benefits are: (1) continuing education of physicians and other health professionals and consumers of health services; (2) community medicine, designated to improve the health status of the citizenry, the health care delivery system and health sciences education; (3) residencies, including a family practice residency program at the Martin Luther King Hospital and other appropriate facilities and clinics; and (4) such other programs of clinical health sciences education, research, and public service as the Regents and the Charles R. Drew University of Medicine and Science deem in the public interest, provided that the above specified programs are first funded. State funding was originally authorized by the Legislature in 1973 (Chapter 1140/73—SB 1026).

Chapter 1497/74 appropriated $541,000 to the University for the support of an educational program in podiatry operated in conjunction with the California College of Podiatric Medicine in San Francisco. The State has continued to support this program each year at its levels, adjusted for inflation.

20 ACADEMIC SUPPORT—LIBRARIES

Program Objectives Statement

The University libraries provide ready access to books, documents, and other scholarly materials for the University's students, faculty, staff, and faculty from other California colleges and universities. In addition, the libraries may grant borrowing privileges to any California adult. University libraries service both instructional and research needs and thus must be diverse in nature and maintain comprehensive and historical information. The rapid expansion of knowledge requires an extensive effort to keep materials current.

20.10 Academic Support—Other

Program Objectives Statement

Academic Support—General Campus Programs: Other academic support on the general campuses is comprised of a number of partially self-supporting activities organized and operated in connection with educational departments and conducted as a basic support for the departments educational programs. These supporting services contribute greatly to the quality and effectiveness of the instructional programs.

Many diversified programs are included, the largest being the demonstration of new schools (university elementary schools, nursery schools, and a psychology clinic school) which serve as interdepartmental teaching laboratories for experimentation, research and teacher training. These programs receive part of their support from state funds. The demonstration schools not only educate hundreds of children, but contribute to the advancement of education through research efforts and application of results; through development of new programs of teacher education, and dissemination of new knowledge to public schools.

Academic Support—Health Sciences Programs: In support of programs in the health sciences, the University operates dental clinics and neuropsychiatric institutes at Los Angeles and San Francisco, a veterinary medicine teaching facility at Davis and one in the San Joaquin Valley (near Tulare), an optometry clinic at Berkeley and two occupational health centers: one in the northern part of the state and one located in the southern part of the state. These facilities are extension of the health sciences schools, and provide clinical experience essential to the educational process as well as valuable community health services.

Other activities supporting both general campus and health sciences programs include vivaria, which provide centralized facilities for ordering, receiving and care of all animals necessary for teaching and research in the biological sciences; support for arts by direct sponsorship of performances and exhibits and funding for galleries and museums; support of specialized physical science and engineering projects which are of service to academic departments and to industry, support for intercollegiate athletics at the smaller campuses, and support for professional journals.

25 TEACHING HOSPITALS

Program Objectives Statement

The University operates five teaching hospitals whose primary mission is to support the clinical teaching programs of the five schools of medicine located on the Davis, Irvine, Los Angeles, San Diego, and San Francisco campuses. This primary educational mission of the teaching hospitals also extends to the other health sciences schools operated by the University and to the many practicing health professionals who participate in the clinical instruction and continuing education programs offered at the five teaching hospitals. Concurrent with their educational mission, the hospitals provide health care to thousands of patients, who generally have more serious illnesses and less financial resources than patients at other community hospitals, and are also the sites for the development of new diagnosis and therapeutic health care technology. In their tripartite mission of education, service, and research, the five University teaching hospitals are a major resource for California and the nation.

The State appropriates funds, called Clinical Teaching Support (CTS), for the University teaching hospitals which are used chiefly to provide financial support for patients essential for the clinical teaching program but unable to pay the full cost of hospital care. CTS is also used for ambulatory care teaching costs in the hospitals. While approximately 4 percent of the total 1990-91 operating budget for the five hospitals, CTS assists in providing a diverse patient population for instruction in health care.

In recent years, sharply rising health care costs, demographic changes, and economic conditions caused the California Legislature, the Congress, and the private sector to initiate fundamental changes in the method of paying for health care. Among those changes, the following have profoundly affected the University teaching hospitals: (1) the Medi-Cal Reform Act of 1982 authorized selective contracting for hospital inpatient services at prospectively determined per diem rates based on competitive bids and also transferred responsibility for health care of Medically Indigent Adult patients from Medi-Cal to the counties, but with reduced funding; (2) AB 3480 was passed in 1982 and authorized private group health insurance carriers also to selectively contract with hospitals on behalf of their beneficiaries for rates that are less than established charges; and (3) the Congress authorized the Medicare program to phase in over a three-year period a nationally established prospective payment system for hospital inpatient care at payments per case that are based on diagnosis rather than on per diem cost. The basic intent of these changes is to replace cost-based reimbursements and fee-for-service payment systems with prospectively determined fixed payment rates. For the University hospitals, the combined result has been inadequate reimbursement for operating costs and reduced opportunities for offsetting the resulting shortfall to charge-paying patients.

The University implemented programs to contain costs and increase revenue that were consistent with maintaining a high quality of care for all patients, including medically indigent patients, and a sufficient volume and balanced mix of patients necessary for a quality clinical teaching program. However, at the three former county hospitals operated by the Davis, Irvine, and San Diego campuses, total operating losses of $11.2 million and $1.5 million were reported for 1984-85 and 1985-86, respectively. The 1985 Budget Act authorized the Legislative Analyst to contract for a study of the management effectiveness of the three hospitals. The study determined that the hospitals were effectively managed and that the operating deficits were attributable to the environment in which the hospitals operate, i.e., a significant volume of uncompensated and underreimbursed patient care services due mainly to the high proportion of medically indigent patients.

As a means of resolving the fiscal problems of the hospitals, the University worked with the Governor to develop a plan in the 1985-86 Governor's Budget which included: (1) continued effort by the five hospitals to improve fiscal operations by controlling costs and increasing revenue while maintaining quality teaching and patient care programs; and (2) for the three former county hospitals, State funding over an eight-year period for special capital outlay and equipment projects that will improve the fiscal viability of those facilities through reduced operating costs or increased revenue plus an annual operating subsidy to be phased out over the eight-year period as the financial payback from those projects is realized. Beginning with the Budget Act of 1985, a total of $87.2 million has been appropriated through 1990-91 for cost saving/revenue enhancing projects at the three hospitals as part of the multi-year plan. In addition, $11.1 million has been appropriated for code-required projects at the San Diego hospital. Included among the cost saving/revenue enhancing projects are expansion of the intensive care unit and operating room facilities at the Davis hospital, a cancer center and replacement psychiatric inpatient facility at the Irvine hospital, and a multi-purpose administrative building and completion and modernization of the inpatient tower at the San Diego hospital. Many of the larger projects will not be completed until 1991 or 1992 when the cost savings and revenue increases should be realized. A total of $28.6 million in annual operating subsidy has been appropriated during the 1985-86 through 1990-91 period. All of these funds were required to offset losses at the Irvine hospital. Currently, the Irvine hospital has only 6% of the total hospital beds, but provides care for over 60% of the medically indigent patients in Orange county. The hospital is actively seeking improved reimbursement from the Medi-Cal and county medically indigent programs as well as a redistribution of indigent care among the 34 acute care hospitals in the county. The principal State-funded cost saving/revenue enhancing capital projects, i.e., the cancer center and replacement psychiatric inpatient facility, will not be completed until 1991 and 1992. Improved reimbursement for and redistribution of medically indigent patients plus completion of the State-funded capital projects authorized by the multi-year plan are essential to improved fiscal operations at the Irvine hospital. In the current plan, funding is being provided earlier for capital outlay projects than in the initial 1985-86 plan in order to achieve financial paybacks from cost savings or revenue increases earlier and thereby reduce the total operating subsidy required by the plan. The current plan will require total operating subsidy and capital outlay funds of $121.9 million, excluding $11.1 million for code-required projects at San Diego, which is a savings of $17.1 million from the initial 1985-86 plan that would have required a total operating subsidy and capital outlay of $139 million.

Student Affirmative Action

The University's student affirmative action programs are a comprehensive effort designed to increase the enrollment of academically qualified students from underrepresented groups and to provide the necessary support to ensure academic success for these students. These programs support the movement of students from junior high school through high school into the completion of University undergraduate and graduate degree programs and assistance with career placement. Programs are funded at both the systemwide and the campus level. At the systemwide level, programs are supported under outreach, undergraduate student affirmative action, and graduate and professional school student affirmative action. The Outreach effort includes Early Academic and Immediate Outreach programs. The Undergraduate Student Affirmative Action programs include Academic Support Services, Grants-in-Aid (financial aid), the Undergraduate Minority Scholars Program, and the Pregraduate Mentorship Program. The University's graduate and professional school student affirmative action programs are included under the title of the Academic Career Development Program. This Program includes the Graduate Outreach and Recruitment Program, the Graduate Mentorship Program, the Research Assistantship/Mentorship Program, and Dissertation-Year Fellowships.

45 STUDENT FINANCIAL AID

Program Objectives Statement

There are four major sources of financial aid available to University of California students—the Federal Government, University Resources, Private Donors and Outside Agencies and the State of California. In 1989-90 approximately 72,000 students received assistance from one or more of these sources, at a total cost of $349 million.

The major sources for University program funds are student fee income and Regents' sources, including private gifts and scholarships and loan funds. The Federal government provides for loans, veterans benefits, and grants through various programs. In addition, graduate students receive traineeships and fellowships from numerous Federal sources. The California Student Aid Commission provides scholarships, loans, and grants directly to students. Private and outside agencies provide the remaining amounts of scholarships, grants, and loans available to University of California students.

50 AUXILIARY ENTERPRISES

Program Objectives Statement

Auxiliary enterprises are those noninstructional services provided to individuals, primarily students, in return for specific user charges. The organizational units providing these services, such as student housing, parking, intercollegiate athletics, food services, parking operations, and various others, are largely self-supporting and are not subsidized by the State.

55 PROVISIONS FOR ALLOCATION

Program Objectives Statement

These budgetary provisions serve as a temporary repository for lump sum appropriations which are destined for allocation (1) from Systemwide provisions to campus provisions, and (2) campus provisions to operating programs and subprograms where expenditures will occur. The major provisions for allocation include funds for salary merit increases, academic position upgradings, staff reclassifications, price increases, employee benefits, and unallocated endowment income. These provisions are partially offset by the University budgetary savings target.

65 SPECIAL REGENTS' PROGRAMS

After provision for certain administrative costs, 55 percent of the Federal overhead on contracts and grants is used as part of the funding for the University's Budget for Current Operations; the other 45 percent supports special programs established by action of The Regents. For 1991-92, The Regents have allocated $81,254 for special Regents' programs.

General Analysis

The 1991-92 capital budget for the University of California focuses on the continued development of instruction and research facilities and library space to support campus academic programs. The capital budget also includes projects to renovate existing space and upgrade buildings to enhance seismic safety. The budget gives the highest priority to the completion of partially funded projects.

6600 HASTINGS COLLEGE OF THE LAW

University of California

The college was founded in 1878 by Serranus Clinton Hastings, the first Chief Justice of the State of California. On March 26, 1878, the Legislature provided for affiliation with the University of California. Policy for the college is established by the Board of Directors and is carried out by the Dean and other officers of the college. Vacancies on the Board, other than the position held by the heir or representative of S.C. Hastings, are filled by the Governor and approved by a majority of the Senate. Directors serve for a term of twelve years. The juris doctor degree is granted by The Regents of the University of California, and is signed by the President of the University of California and the Dean of Hastings College of the Law.

10 INSTRUCTION PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The principal objectives are:

1. Develop in the students the required competency in substantive law demanded by the legal profession.
2. Develop students' skills in research and writing.
3. Provide students with an adequate background in the law through the study of comparative law, legal history, and jurisprudence.
4. Instill in students, through theory-practice clinical courses, a level of professional competence and skill that will shorten the period of training in the law office.
5. Develop special skills in advocacy for trial lawyers.

The instruction program is designed to provide thorough and systematic instruction in those branches of the law which will best prepare students for their responsibilities to the community as members of the legal profession. It is composed of three elements including the classroom, theory-practice, and instructional support. Through these elements it is planned that the student will receive a combination of theoretical instruction, practical experience, specialized training as lawyers, and necessary support services.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- $351 to fund the third and final phase for enhancement of the clinical program which includes an additional 4.5 positions.

40 STUDENT SERVICES PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The Student Services Program includes Admissions, Records, Financial Aid, Health Services, Career Services, the Legal Education Opportunity Program (LEOP) and Disabled Student Services Program. Through these offices, students are provided a fair system for admittance to the law school and information about their academic performance. Students are also assisted in securing necessary financial assistance to complete the instructional program, and in identifying employment opportunities. Supportive services include tutoring, academic advising, disabled student accommodations, summer transitional programs, and the LEOP program which includes special courses supplementing regular instructional activities for the educationally, socially or economically disadvantaged. LEOP students number 302 in 1990-91 and comprise about 23% of the student body.

Budget Adjustments

- The 1991-92 Budget increases resident student fees by $325 and nonresident tuition by $1,283. These increases will offset General Fund expenditure by $386,000.
- The 1991-92 Budget includes an increase of $66,000 for financial aid related to the increase in student fee levels.

6610 THE CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY

The individual California State Colleges were brought together as a system by the Donahoe Higher Education Act of 1960. In 1972, the system became the California State University and Colleges (CSUC), and since then all 20 campuses have received the title of "university". Effective January 1982, the name of the system changed to the California State University (CSU).

The oldest campus, San Jose State University, was founded in 1857 and became the first institution of public higher education in California. The newest campus, California State University, San Marcos, began instruction in 1990.

Responsibility for the California State University is vested in the Board of Trustees, whose members are appointed by the Governor.

The trustees appoint the Chancellor, who is the chief executive officer of the system, and the presidents, who are the chief executive officers on the respective campuses.

The Trustees, the Chancellor, and the presidents develop systemwide policy, with actual implementation at the campus level taking place through broadly based consultative procedures. The Academic Senate of the California State University, made up of elected representatives of the faculty from each campus, recommends academic policy to the Board of Trustees through the Chancellor.

Academic excellence has been achieved by the California State University through a distinguished faculty, whose primary responsibility is superior teaching. While each campus in the system has its own unique geographic and curricular character, all campuses, as multipurpose institutions, offer undergraduate and graduate instruction for professional and occupational goals as well as broad liberal education programs. Each campus requires, for graduation, a basic program of "general education—breadth requirements" regardless of the type of bachelor's degree or major field selected by the student. A limited number of doctoral degrees are offered jointly with the University of California and with Claremont Graduate School.

The program objectives of the California State University are:

1. To provide instruction in the liberal arts and sciences, the professions, applied fields which require more than two years of college education, and teacher education—both for undergraduate students and graduate students through the master's degree.

2. To provide public services to the people of the State of California.

3. To provide services to students enrolled in the California State University.

4. To provide institutional services to support the primary functions of instruction, research, public services, and student services in the California State University and to ensure that legal obligations related to executive and business affairs are met.

The locations of the 20 campuses show the statewide coverage of this, one of the largest baccalaureate degree higher education systems in the nation.

6610 THE CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY—Continued

For 1991-92 most of the student fees and other CSU fee monies are budgeted and accounted as Higher Education Fees and Income revenue and expenses rather than as General Fund revenues and expenditures. While not changing total expenditures, this practice decreases the amounts reflected as General Fund expenditures. The decreased revenues and expenditures offset each other; thus, there is no effect on the General Fund Balance.

01 INSTRUCTION

Program Objectives Statement

The California State University (CSU) educational program is designed to educate and grant degrees, credentials, or certificates to qualified students in the liberal arts and sciences, and certain applied fields and professions. Through regular classroom efforts and special supplemental programs, the CSU program attempts to prepare students for a profession, occupation, or advanced study, or to update knowledge and upgrade skills. Although teaching activity may take place in other programs (e.g., the academic support program), formal study for credit toward a degree or certificate at higher education institutions usually falls within the instruction program.

Currently, the instruction program consists of three subprograms: regular instruction, special session instruction, and extension instruction.

Table I displays the changes in FTE and head count students on each campus for the past, current, and budget years. Table II provides changes in FTE for other instruction program components: special session instruction (including summer session, external degree programs and special sessions) and extension instruction under the title Continuing Education.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $22,022,000 and 546.6 positions to accommodate a projected enrollment increase of 5,720 FTE students over the 1990-91 budgeted level.
- $2,593,000 and 72.3 positions are included for the recomputation of faculty position requirements and related staff based upon a change in the mix of students by mode and level of instruction.
- $125,000 and 3.5 positions are provided for additional faculty sabbaticals corresponding to the increased number of faculty.
- $312,000 and 10.7 positions are provided for supplemental support for laboratory courses.
- $97,000 and 2.5 positions are provided for faculty participation in schools, reflecting increased enrollment in teacher education courses.

01.01 Regular Instruction

Program Element Statement

The primary function of the California State University is the instruction of undergraduate and graduate students, through the master's degree level, in the liberal arts and sciences, applied fields, and certain professions. The regular instruction element includes those instructional programs operating during the academic year that are part of a formal degree or certificate curriculum and are managed by the regular academic departments.

01.02 Special Session Instruction

Program Element Statement

The California State University operates summer sessions on all campuses except for the Pomona campus. (The Pomona campus is one of four campuses offering a state-supported summer quarter.) The special session instruction element includes all programs that offer residence credit toward a formal degree or certificate. This is an essentially self-supported institutional term. Special Session Instruction and Extension Instruction (below) together form the continuing education instruction program. Table II displays total continuing education full-time equivalent students.

01.03 Extension Instruction

Program Element Statement

Extension instruction, primarily a nonstate-supported function and designed to serve a variety of needs, is offered year-round by the California State University. Within the field of continuing education, teacher education provides access for teachers to new techniques to improve instructional expertise. Courses are concentrated at the upper-division and graduate levels and are designed to satisfy school district and state credential requirements. The extension instruction element includes all program elements that are managed separately by an extension division or similar agency within the system.

03 PUBLIC SERVICE

Program Objectives Statement

The public service program contains all the program elements within the institution that are directed toward the benefit of the general public. Programs that are controlled or operated by outside agencies but are housed or otherwise supported by the institution fall within the public service program.

04 ACADEMIC SUPPORT

Program Objectives Statement

The academic support program provides the library, audiovisual, data processing, and ancillary (e.g., college farms, marine science facilities) activities that are required to display, retain, and preserve materials and in other ways to assist the academic functions of the system.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $143,000 and 2.8 positions are added to provide remedial instruction to first-time freshman and lower division transfer students who have not demonstrated college-level writing capability.
- $635,000 is provided for contractual library services.
- $71,000 and 1.9 positions are provided for increased enrollment in existing joint doctoral programs.
- $553,000 is provided for additional space rental for off-campus centers.
- $279,000 and 5 positions are provided for continued development of the Contra Costa off-campus center.
- The budget also authorizes CSU to establish four new joint doctoral programs; however, CSU will have to redirect funds for this purpose as no new funds are provided.

04.01 Libraries

Program Element Statement

Library services consist of all activities which directly support the libraries of the 20 CSU campuses. The libraries provide the bibliographic and informational resources necessary to help carry out the teaching and research functions of the CSU. The expenditures required to support the library system include:

1. Collections—purchasing, processing (including cataloging and classifying), preserving, and exhibiting library materials which include: books, periodicals, kits, models, microforms, art objects, and a host of other items which comprise today's academic library.
2. Services—reference and referral services to students, faculty, and other system users, including institutions, i.e., interlibrary loans and other resource sharing.
3. Operations—management, supervision, training, planning, and equipment maintenance.

04.03 Audiovisual Services

Program Element Statement

Audiovisual services facilitate use of such resources as communication satellites and instructional television by the primary programs of instruction, research, and public service. Audiovisual services include materials preparation, and technical services.

Television is being used in some form at nearly all of the CSU campuses in a variety of applications and for professional curricula in broadcasting.

04.05 Computing Support

Program Element Statement

Although support to instruction is the principal responsibility of this element, funds are included to support both academic and administrative computing activities. Students are the largest users of CSU computing facilities. Computer support for instruction takes two forms: (1) training in computer and information sciences; and (2) using the computer as a tool for instruction and research in virtually all academic programs.

The demand for specialists in computing technologies affords The California State University full opportunity to offer curricular programs in computer and information sciences at selected institutions serving large geographic areas. The goal of computing programs is to produce individuals both at the undergraduate and graduate level sufficiently competent in computer technology to meet the demand in this field.

Recognizing that computer support increases the quality of instruction in all fields, and that nearly all students need some knowledge of computing in order to enter a variety of occupations, CSU campuses will continue to make the instructional use of computers available to the largest possible number of students. The goal of instructional usage in CSU is to make students especially knowledgeable in the use of modern information systems technology.

04.06 Ancillary Support

Program Element Statement

Certain professional instructional programs are much more effective when there are facilities for practical application of the principles taught in the classroom. There are several clinics, bureaus, centers and institutes that provide for such practical experience. For example, there are nursery schools at San Diego and San Francisco and campus farms at Fresno, Chico, San Luis Obispo, and Pomona, operated in conjunction with campus instructional programs.

05 STUDENT SERVICE

Program Objectives Statement

The student service program includes all activities related to the student body except for degree-related activities and student records. Activities in this program are designed to contribute to the student's physical well-being and to his or her intellectual, cultural, and social development outside of the context of the formal instruction program. Self-supporting organizations provide food service, housing, and bookstores.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $12,589,000 in General Fund financial aid is provided. Of this amount, $9,334,000 is to off-set the impact of the 20 percent increase proposed for resident student fees, and $3,255,000 is to fund an increase in the number of students eligible to receive the State University Grant, based on the actual number of eligible students. These increases will fund 10,578 additional grants to needy students.
- $1,733,000 and 60.4 positions to fund additional staff for the Educational Opportunity Program (EOP) attributed to an increase in the number of eligible EOP students. In addition, $1,787,000 is provided to fund an additional 2,079 state EOP grants.
- $430,000 and 14.9 positions are provided to accommodate the increased staffing requirements associated with administering the Financial Aid program.
- $773,000 and 23.7 positions are provided for support services, such as readers, notetakers and interpreters, to 2,459 additional disabled students.
- $223,000 and 6.2 positions are provided for increased numbers of visits and prescriptions in student health services.

05.01 Social and Cultural Development

Program Element Statement

Student activity programs in The California State University reflect the conviction that development of student potential in the social and cultural aspects of their lives is an important part of the overall educational objective. Opportunities are provided for students to educate themselves through active participation in college-sponsored activities. Informal programs of a cultural, social or recreational nature that complement and supplement academic disciplines are considered an essential part of this educational program because they foster an acceptance of responsibility and the development of effective human relations skills. Student self-government, for example, provides an opportunity to participate in representative government and obtain leadership training. Coordination of various student-sponsored events and special services to students is also a part of this program.

05.03 Counseling and Career Guidance

Program Element Statement

Students needing professional counseling services may be aided in evaluating their educational objectives, strength of motivation, intellectual potential and vocational and professional goals through this program.

The placement program provides occupational information and placement of students in professions for which they have been prepared. This responsibility includes the careful articulation between instructional programs and the changing professional needs of the business and government communities and follow-up on the placement of graduates. The placement office provides services to the student from the time he or she enters college until he or she is ready to enter full-time employment. The Testing Office administers and interprets and, when necessary, develops tests used by Counseling, Career Planning and Placement, and other student support services. It also administers academic placement and advance placement tests and conducts student profile surveys used in assessing the need for specific student support programs.

05.04 Financial Aid

Program Element Statement

Financial aid consists of information dissemination and counseling services, analyses of financial need, awarding and disbursement of funds, and other services established to provide financial assistance to students. This program reflects not only the cost of administering aid programs but also the amount of financial aid disbursed to students.

Financial aid offices provide information regarding the costs of college attendance, sources of availability of financial aid and students' rights and responsibilities under various financial aid programs. They are responsible for the administration of a complex program of student awards including scholarships, grants, fellowships, loans and employment designed to make it possible for students with financial need to initiate or continue their academic programs.

05.05 Student Support

Program Element Statement

Each campus maintains facilities for parking which are totally self-supporting. In addition, housing facilities are operated at all campuses. The special revenue funds are Dormitory Revenue-Housing and Dormitory Revenue-Parking.

As in all special fund operations, the parking program is maintained through the collection of revenue for the use of the facilities. Additional revenues are available from fines and forfeitures collected on the campuses. Construction of parking and housing facilities are financed by special revenue bond issues which are liquidated from operating revenues.

The health services element of student support is concerned with the health and medical needs of students. Accordingly, the campus health centers are part of a total approach to the provision of comprehensive medical and health care. Basic on-campus health services include: outpatient medical services; X-ray services; a clinical laboratory; physician-prescribed medicines; immunizations; first aid and emergency care; personal health supervision and counseling; health evaluation, and review; campus public health service; plus educational, and advisory, administrative, and supplementary services.

The Disabled Student program assists disabled students to realize educational goals and participate fully in campus programs and activities while maximizing their independence.

Included also within student support are special services such as the operation of bookstores, cafeterias, vending machines and other retail services which are provided to the student body. These services are tailored to the campus community and provide for student employment as well as contribute to the students' overall campus experience. All such services are provided on a self-supporting basis, at minimal cost to the students and others.

09 AUXILIARY ORGANIZATIONS

Program Objectives Statement

Auxiliary organizations are campus-based separate legal entities authorized by the Legislature to perform functions that contribute to the educational mission of the university or college, as well as provide essential services to students and employees.

These organizations are governed by applicable laws and regulations of the federal and state governments. In addition, they operate within the policies established by the Board of Trustees, the Chancellor and campuses. There are 60 auxiliary organizations with two to five per campus. Most of these organizations can be grouped into four major functional categories:

- Associated student organizations
- Special educational projects which are typically administered by foundations
- Student union operations
- Commercial activities

The auxiliary organizations must be self-supporting and do not receive funding from General Fund sources. They derive revenue from various non-state sources such as contractual arrangements (e.g., federal government), general assessments (e.g., student body fees) and commercial operations (e.g., bookstore). Pursuant to existing laws and policy, materials facilities, or services provided by the campus to these separate entities are paid for by the auxiliary organization.

Revenue in excess of expenditures for a given fiscal period is used to establish working capital and reserves, and pay for capital expenditures or special campus programs.

11 PROVISIONS FOR ALLOCATION

Program Objectives and Description

These budgetary provisions serve as a temporary repository for lump sum appropriations and other budgetary adjustments which are destined for allocation to operating programs where expenditures and adjustments will occur, such as salary savings, unallocated reductions, workers compensation and unemployment compensation. While some of the reductions are made on a permanent basis, many of them are allocated anew each year, based on consultation within the CSU. Thus, reductions related to past budgets continue to be reflected in this program. This program also reflects the offset of General Fund expenditures by Higher Education Fees and Income Fund expenditures.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $33,438,000 representing CSU's share of Lottery funds, for which CSU will identify expenditures by September 1991.
- $27,320,000 General Fund representing the cost of merit salary adjustments (MSAs), for which no new funding was provided, is reflected as an unallocated reduction.
- $52,195,000 General Fund unallocated reduction.
- $15,300,000 General Fund reduction to instructional equipment and administration.
- $4,260,000 decrease in General Fund, and a corresponding $4,260,000 increase in Higher Education Fees and Income Fund, as a result of a 20 percent increase proposed for nonresident tuition. With this increase, nonresident tuition will be $7,404.
- $51,627,000 decrease in General Fund, and a corresponding $51,627,000 increase in Higher Education Fees and Income, as a result of a 20 percent increase proposed for resident student fees. There will be a net General Fund savings of $39,003,000 after the related financial aid is provided—$9,334,000 in CSU's budget (Program 05-Student Services) and $3,290,000 in the budget of the Student Aid Commission for CSU students receiving Cal grants.

12 ADMINISTRATION

Program Objectives and Description

The costs of administration consist of salaries and benefits of all California State University employees covered under the Management Personnel Plan. The Management Personnel Plan covers all employees who have been designated as "Management" or "Supervisory" in accordance with the provisions of the Higher Education Employer-Employee Relations Act (HEERA). Amounts shown for the past year are actual figures reflecting salary savings that were achieved; amounts shown for current and budget years are gross amounts which do not reflect salary savings that will be realized or decreases that will be made to meet unallocated reductions.

6860 CALIFORNIA MARITIME ACADEMY

The California Maritime Academy was established in 1929 to educate officers for the United States Merchant Marine. The program has been broadened to provide well-trained, college-educated officers for the maritime industry.

The Academy offers a four-year academic program. Included in the eleven month academic year is a three-month dockside exercise and cruise aboard the Golden Bear training ship. Students operate the ship under the supervision of licensed merchant marine officers who comprise the majority of the faculty. These cruises enable students to meet U.S. Coast Guard regulations for licensing, and learn actual ship handling under operating conditions.

Responsibility for the Academy is vested in the Board of Governors who are appointed by the Governor. The Board has adopted the following statement as the goal of the Academy:

"To provide instruction in the marine transportation, marine engineering and related fields, including all those necessary to provide the highest quality officer for the American Merchant Marine and California industries and licensing therein."

Inherent in the goal of the Academy are the following objectives:

- 1. To educate each student in an accredited college program in marine transportation, marine engineering and related fields.
- 2. To train each student in the skills and knowledge essential to licensing in the American Merchant Marine.

10 INSTRUCTION

Program Objectives Statement

The instruction program provides general education classes and specialized courses to prepare students for careers as licensed officers in the merchant marine and the maritime industry. The curriculum provides for specialization in either Marine Transportation, Marine Engineering Technology, Business Administration or Mechanical Engineering. A list of minors in related fields is available covering: Marine Business Management, Maritime Specialities, Computer Science, Instrumentation and Automation, Ocean Technology, Naval Architecture Technology, and Naval Science. Satisfactory completion of the academic program and successful performance on the U.S. Coast Guard license examination enables a student to graduate from the four-year program with a Bachelor of Science degree in one of the specialties. Graduates are eligible for reserve commissions in the U.S. Navy or U.S. Coast Guard and, after passing U.S. Coast Guard examinations, are licensed as third mates or third assistant engineers in the merchant marine.

The Academy has been granted academic accreditation by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges and professional accreditation by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology and the National Association of Industrial Technology.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $100,000 and 1.9 personnel years for partial support of educational equity program costing $180,000; the remainder of the support is to come from private donations.
- Reimbursement increases of $105,000 resulting from a 20 percent increase in fees for all students ($81,000) and a 20 percent increase in nonresident tuition fees ($24,000).

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

20.20 Ship Operations

Program Element Statement

Ship operations provides the basis for practical seamanship, navigation and marine engineering instruction to all students. This includes daily operation and maintenance of the training ship, waterfront facilities and all assigned small craft. An annual training-at-sea trimester is normally conducted in the months of January, February and March to provide the practical shipboard training necessary to meet Coast Guard licensing requirements. Annual shipyard overhaul and repair of the vessel is paid by the U.S. Maritime Administration (MARAD) and is not included in this budget. In recent years, expenditures for the ship's fuel have been reimbursed by MARAD.

30 STUDENT SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

Included in this program are health support, housing and food. These are needed to support students, all of whom are required to live on campus. In addition, admissions, financial aid and registration are part of student support services.

The Academy's daily routine provides residence facilities and meals for the students on nearly a year-round basis. This continuing requirement is interrupted three times during the year: winter recess (two weeks); spring recess (one week); and summer recess (five weeks). Fourth-class students remain on campus during the sea training trimester to receive additional academic instruction.

Elimination of the Public Health Service by the Federal Government prompted the Academy to institute a health insurance plan. The cost of the program is covered through student fees.

Budget Adjustment

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustment is proposed:

- An increase of $16,000 in financial aid to offset resident student fee increases.

6870 BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE CALIFORNIA COMMUNITY COLLEGES

The Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges was established by Chapter 1549, Statutes of 1967, to provide statewide leadership to the public community college segment of California higher education.

The Board has 17 members appointed to four-year terms by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Board's headquarters is in Sacramento, headed by a chancellor appointed by the Board.

The objectives of the Board are:

1. To give direction, coordination, planning, and leadership to California's Community Colleges.
2. To promote quality education in community colleges.
3. To improve district and campus programs through informational and technical services on a statewide basis, while recognizing the community oriented aspect of California's network of 107 community colleges.
4. To seek adequate financial support while ensuring the most prudent use of public funds.

Specific appropriations are identified in the RECONCILIATION WITH APPROPRIATIONS and are also summarized in the Budget Summary Schedule 9A, Proposition 98 General Fund Guarantee. For 1991-92, the Governor's Budget proposes that legislation be enacted to suspend the Proposition 98 Guarantee.

10 COMMUNITY COLLEGE APPORTIONMENTS

Program Objectives Statement

This program provides funds which supplement local resources in financing the general education programs for the 107 community colleges. This program also includes the preparation of reports and the collection of a wide range of data from California Community Colleges for certification of the apportionments to be paid to each district. Major state funding of community colleges is achieved through the transfer of funds from the General Fund to Section B of the State School Fund.

AB 1725, Chapter 973, Statutes of 1988, outlined two phases of community college reforms. The implementation of each phase required that an additional $70 million of Transitional Program Improvement Funds be allocated to community colleges, for a total of $140 million. This level of funding has been reached in 1990-91 with the enactment of the 1990 Budget Act and companion "set-aside" legislation (Chapter 1321, Statutes of 1990). Phase II reforms include the transition from the current funding formula based upon average daily attendance (ADA) and implementation of Program Based Funding which relies upon workload standards in various categories of operations. Upon certification of the Board of Governors that sufficient funds have been allocated to carry out the various reforms and state mandates, the new Program Based Funding mechanism will be implemented in accordance with Education Code Section 84750. The program based formula differentiates among five major categories of community college operation (Instruction, Instructional Services and Libraries, Student Services, Maintenance and Operations, and Institutional Support) and is intended to be the basis of annual budget requests by the Board of Governors for general state apportionments, exclusive of capital outlay and categorical programs. For each program category, there are specific workload measures and standards to be proposed by the Chancellor to justify the requested level of funding. The workload measures are full-time equivalent students (FTES), the number of new and continuing students, and gross square footage.

The current funding formula (SB 851) will continue to be applicable for recalculations of prior year apportionments and was intended by AB 1725 to be a minimum allocation goal for each district during the transition year of 1991-92. During the 1991-92 fiscal year, Program Based Funding was intended to be run concurrently with the SB 851 funding formula to ensure, to the extent that funds are available, that community college districts receive no less under Program Based Funding than the amount they would have received for 1991-92 under the SB 851 formula. However, there are insufficient General Fund resources available to fund this "hold harmless" provision and the only part of the apportionment formula that can be funded is ADA growth of 2.25 percent. The budget proposes language to provide that the Chancellor must allocate the growth funds of $36.9 million for that purpose and not for the purpose of holding districts harmless during the transition year from revenue losses from the SB 851 formula.

The other significant statutory provisions relating to community college finance were established in Chapter 1, Second Extraordinary Session, Statutes of 1984 (AB1xx), which imposed a modest student enrollment fee in the Community Colleges and appropriated funds for student financial aid to offset the impact of the fee for needy students. These provisions expired on January 1, 1988, and were extended to January 1, 1992, by Chapter 113, Statutes of 1987 (AB 2336). AB 2336 imposed a fee of $5 per unit up to a maximum of $50 per semester and provides for student financial aid to cover the fee for needy students. Extension and modification of the student enrollment fee will be proposed during the current legislative session.

The revenues available to districts for apportionment in 1991-92 also include an estimated $95.2 million in lottery revenue.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $36.9 million to fund 2.25 percent ADA growth at a marginal funding rate.
- $5.144 million adjustment to the base for continuation of additional ADA added to the base in 1989-90 due to increased local revenues.
- $6.543 million for increased reimbursements to districts for lease payments (apportionment offsets by the State Controller's Office) to the State Public Works Board for debt service on revenue bonds for capital outlay projects.
- 20 percent student fee increase from $5 to $6 per unit up to a maximum of $60 per semester, resulting in $16.909 million additional student fee revenue. The increase in fee revenue is offset by $2.474 million additional financial aid for needy students.
- $99.8 million decrease in General Fund needed for apportionments due to increases in local property tax revenues, student fee revenue and federal oil and mineral revenues.

20.10 Student Services

Program Element Statement

This element serves the needs of the economically, educationally, or physically disadvantaged students who require assistance to participate more fully in, and benefit from, a college education. This assistance includes financial aid, and mobility and educational aids for the disabled among other services. This element also provides specialized student services to the general student body.

It is the intent and purpose of the Community College Extended Opportunity Programs and Services (EOPS) to implement programs directed to identifying those students affected by language, social and economic handicaps, to increase the number of eligible EOPS students served, and to assist those students to achieve their educational objectives and goals, including, but not limited to, obtaining job skills, occupational certificates, or associate degrees, and transferring to four-year institutions. EOPS funds are used for a variety of purposes including outreach, counseling, transfer assistance and financial aid assistance.

Chapter 1029, Statutes of 1982 (AB 3103) established the Cooperative Agencies Resources for Education (CARE) Program beginning in 1982–83. Through the joint participation of the Chancellor's Office, the Employment Development Department, the Department of Social Services, county welfare departments and community college districts, the CARE program coordinates and targets the services of these agencies for welfare recipients who wish to become self-supporting through the acquisition of a job-related education.

This element administers the Chancellor's Office Tax Offset Program (COTOP), which works with the Franchise Tax Board to offset State income tax refunds against defaulted student loans and other proper non-financial aid obligations. A service fee is deducted from the proceeds remitted to the districts. This element also administers the Board Financial Aid Program (BFAP), established by Chapter 1118/87, which provides financial aid to students who cannot afford the mandatory fee also imposed by that statute.

AB 77 (Lanterman, 1976) established Handicapped Students Programs and Services (HSPS), now Disabled Students Programs and Services (DSP&S), a categorical program providing State funds to community colleges to cover the direct excess costs of providing special facilities and services. Colleges must certify that all other local funding available has been completely utilized prior to accessing these funds.

Chapter 1597, Statutes of 1984 (SB 2003) established the Community College Foster Parent Training Program, now the California Community College Foster Care Education Program. Specialized educational programs which focus on the development and training needs of foster families are provided by the California Community Colleges in consultation with the California State Foster Parents Association and the State Department of Social Services.

Matriculation is a program of student assessment, counseling, placement and follow-up established by Chapter 1467, Statutes of 1986 (AB 3), and implemented by a statewide plan adopted by the Board of Governors in January, 1987. The goal of matriculation is to help students clarify their educational goals, enroll in courses and programs appropriate for their goals and academic skill level, and complete their educational program.

In addition, this element includes the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) program, established by Chapter 1025, Statutes of 1985 (AB 2580) and jointly administered by five major systems. GAIN attempts to combat welfare dependency and to promote full employment by providing education, job services, and support services to eligible welfare recipients. The Chancellor's Office oversees implementation of GAIN systemwide by establishing college GAIN programs, coordinating policy development with other responsible agencies, administering special funds for GAIN, providing statewide monitoring of the program, and providing technical assistance to local GAIN personnel.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991–92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $302 thousand to fund 2.25 percent augmentation in financial aid to accommodate student growth plus $2.474 million additional financial aid to offset the proposed enrollment fee increase of 20 percent.
- $734 thousand to fund 2.25 percent ADA growth in Extended Opportunities Programs and Services (EOPS).
- $36 thousand to fund 2.25 percent ADA growth in Cooperative Agencies Resources for Education (CARE).
- $752 thousand to fund 2.25 percent ADA growth in Disabled Students Programs and Services (DSPS).
- $864 thousand to fund 2.25 percent ADA growth in Matriculation.

20.20 Faculty and Staff Services

Program Element Statement

The goals of this element include achieving a high standard of education through establishment of minimum qualifications for faculty, through support of the statewide Academic Senate and through support of district affirmative action employment programs.

Prior to June 30, 1990, administrators and teachers in California Community Colleges were required to obtain teaching credentials. The credentials office administered this program which involved the review and processing of applications, as well as the revocation and reinstatement of credentials as prescribed by law. On July 1, 1990, the credential requirement was replaced by a structure of minimum qualifications pursuant to Chapter 973, Statutes of 1988 (AB 1725). The credentials program will continue to function in 1990-91, with General Fund support exclusively, to process applications on hand and to conduct an orderly phase-out.

The minimum qualifications staff are responsible for working with the Academic Senate in developing the structure of minimum qualifications; in clarifying hiring criteria and developing a list of qualifying disciplines; and reviewing, with field input, the continued appropriateness of such minimum qualifications.

The Academic Senate provides for faculty input to local and state policy-making, focusing primarily on the preservation of academic freedom and the maintenance of the integrity of the instructional program. It is partially state funded and partially funded by local community college districts.

The Planning and Special Projects Unit is responsible for intersegmental relations and integrated long-range planning. The Office of Faculty and Staff Diversity has been established to expedite efforts to provide technical assistance to districts for the development and implementation of affirmative action programs. This office provides major assistance in the area of faculty and staff recruitment and is responsible for monitoring and evaluating the effectiveness of affirmative action efforts in districts statewide. It provides central administrative assistance by way of funding, technical resources and technical assistance.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- One position, Human Resources Vice Chancellor, to be funded from existing resources.

40 CAPITAL OUTLAY

There are 107 community colleges organized into 71 districts serving the entire State of California from Eureka and Weed in the north to Chula Vista and Imperial in the south, from San Francisco in the west to Lake Tahoe and Blythe in the east. Classes are also offered at close to 3,000 different off-campus locations.

In prior years, funding for state support of the Community College Capital Outlay Program came from voted bond issues between 1965-66 and 1974-75, and the Capital Outlay Fund for Public Higher Education (COFPE) between 1975-76 and 1986-87. Matching shares, as required by the Community College Construction Act of 1967, were raised by the districts through permissive taxes and local voted bonds or tax overrides. Pursuant to Chapter 6, Statutes of 1990, Community College Districts are no longer required to provide matching funds for projects.

Projects budgeted for 1990-91 were funded from the 1986 and June 1990 Higher Education Capital Outlay Bond Funds and the Public Buildings Construction Fund. Projects budgeted for 1991-92 are proposed from the June 1990 Higher Education Capital Outlay Bond Fund and the Public Building Construction Fund.

In the California Community Colleges system, Weekly Student Contact Hours (WSCH) is the common budget measurement comparable to Full Time Equivalent (FTE) in other higher education systems and is used to determine current and projected facilities needs.

6880 COUNCIL FOR PRIVATE POSTSECONDARY AND VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Effective January 1, 1991, the Council for Private Postsecondary and Vocational Education became responsible for the oversight and approval of private colleges, universities and vocational educational institutions, including those schools previously administered by the Department of Consumer Affairs, and for developing state policies for private postsecondary education in California. The Council reviews and approves all private degree granting and vocational institutions operating in California, and represents this sector of education in all state level planning and policy discussions about postsecondary and vocational education. The Council is also responsible for the administration of veteran educational benefit programs and the Student Tuition Recovery Fund.

The Council for Private Postsecondary and Vocational Education was established, effective July 1, 1990, by Chapter 1307, Statutes of 1989 (SB 190), Education Code Section 94304. From July 1, 1990 until January 1, 1991, the Council was to organize and elect a chairperson, identify its ongoing needs and resources, develop goals and policies, and take other steps needed to become fully operational. During this period, the Private Postsecondary Education Division in the State Department of Education was responsible for oversight of private postsecondary institutions, administration of veteran educational benefit programs and the Student Tuition Recovery Fund. During this first six month period, the Council had certain administrative support needs which were provided through the Department of Education. On January 1, 1991, responsibility for the oversight and administration of private postsecondary institutions, as well as the State staff and funding resources, transferred from the State Department of Education to the Council.

SB 190, and companion legislation, Chapter 1239, Statutes of 1989 (AB 1402) and Chapter 1324, Statutes of 1989 (AB 1993), also established new minimum standards for private postsecondary institutions and allowed for an increase in the fees charged to private institutions for authorization, approval, and licensure.

38 7980 STUDENT AID COMMISSION

40 The Student Aid Commission is composed of 15 members, 11 of whom are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, 2 members
41 appointed by the Senate Rules Committee and 2 members appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly. Terms are for four years except for two student 42 members whose terms are for two years.

43 The primary purpose of the California Student Aid Commission is to insure the effective and efficient administration of federal and state authorized
44 financial aid programs including grant, work study and loan programs for students attending California postsecondary educational institutions. The 45 Commission has a responsibility to provide leadership on financial aid issues and make public policy recommendations concerning financial aid
46 programs. To meet these responsibilities, the Commission compiles information on student financial aid issues, evaluates the effectiveness of its 47 programs, conducts research assessing California's financial aid needs, engages in long-range planning as a foundation for program improvement, and 48 disseminates information to parents, students and California educational institutions.

15 FINANCIAL AID GRANTS PROGRAM

Program Objective Statement

This program provides grants, work-study aid, and other specialized financial aid programs to help undergraduate and graduate students pay educational expenses. Awards are coordinated with other available award sources including federal Pell Grants. Federal Incentive Grant funds of $11,096,000 for 1990-91 and 1991-92 are provided. The financial aid grant programs are described below.

1. Cal Grant A provides tuition and fee funding for financially and academically eligible students to attend the California college or University of their choice.

2. Cal Grant B provides funds to low-income disadvantaged students seeking a postsecondary education. The first year of the award provides subsistence funds only; in subsequent years the award also includes a grant to help cover tuition and fees.

3. Cal Grant C provides funding for financially eligible students preparing for vocational or occupational careers.

4. The Graduate Fellowship Program assists financially needy graduate students who have committed to becoming college and university faculty.

5. The Law Enforcement Personnel Dependents Scholarship Program provides college grants to needy, dependent children of law enforcement officers killed or permanently disabled in the line of duty.

6. The Student Opportunity and Access Program (Cal-SOAP), through intersegmental consortia, provides informational outreach and tutoring services to disadvantaged junior and senior high school students, to increase their access to postsecondary education, and to community college students, to assist them in matriculating to four-year institutions. Currently, there are six consortia in operation; Cal-SOAP is a pilot project which is slated to sunset June 30, 1994.

7. The Assumption Program of Loans for Education (APLE) allows the State to issue conditional warrants, which are redeemable after one year of teaching, to as many as 500 students annually. Through APLE, a student who teaches a total of three years can receive warrants to cover up to $8,000 in student loans.

8. The Paul Douglas Teacher Scholarship Program provides scholarships to academically eligible college students pursuing careers in teaching. Students may receive up to $5,000 a year for a maximum of four years. Students receive funds beginning in their sophomore years.

9. The California Work Study Program assists students by placing them in employment settings which are related to their course of study or career interest, and which will enable them to pay for a portion of their educational costs. This is a pilot program which currently operates in 15 institutions. Employers must provide a portion of the students' salaries.

10. The Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship Program is designed to promote student excellence and achievement and to recognize exceptionally able students who show promise of continued academic excellence.

11. The Bilingual Teacher Grant Program will be fully phased out as of 1991-92. No funding is budgeted for the program for 1991-92.

Budget Adjustment

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

• A $2,722,000 workload increase in grants and scholarships, primarily to reflect the continuation costs of the additional Cal Grant B awards provided in 1989-90.

• An $11,056,000 increase in Cal Grants A and B to continue full-fee funding at the University of California and the California State University, given the 20 percent budgeted increase in mandatory systemwide fees at those institutions.

50 CALIFORNIA LOAN PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

This program assists students in meeting postsecondary educational expenses through low-cost, federally reinsured, educational loans which are made available to students through conventional lenders at no cost to the State. These guaranteed loans are an important supplement to other Federal, State, institutional and private sources of student financial assistance. Components of this program are: (a) the Guaranteed Loan Program which supervises collections on outstanding loans made prior to November 1967 and (b) the California Loan Program—which includes the Stafford Student Loan, Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS), and Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS) Programs (through which the State guarantees federally reinsured loans to parents and students). Finally, effective June 1, 1987, the Commission made the Loan Consolidation Program available for borrowers with outstanding student loan balances of $5,000 or more, thereby providing an opportunity to, repay loan debts on a graduated ascending scale, over time periods ranging from 10 to 25 years, depending on the size of their total indebtedness.

Budget Adjustment

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustment is reflected:

- Implementation of the loan processing component of the Financial Aid Processing System (FAPS) will be delayed until May 1, 1991. This delay will require an extension of the current loan processing contract, which will be funded by a redirection of $1,820,000 and 5.3 personnel years.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $60,000 for debt management and default prevention counseling to be provided in conjunction with the Cal-SOAP program.
- $679,000 and 14.3 personnel years (personnel years) to increase the strength of the Claims Processing Unit (6.7 personnel years), Preclaims Unit (1.9 personnel years), Application Evaluation and Processing Unit (3.8 personnel years) and the Collections Unit (1.9 personnel years) due to the expanded volume of lender claims on defaulted loans, preclaim assistance requests from lenders, and loan transactions and documents.
- $40,000 and 0.9 personnel years to process bankruptcy work within the time frames specified by law.
- $63,000 and 0.9 personnel years to increase training and technical assistance to lenders.
- $61,000 and 0.9 personnel years to investigate fraud and abuse in the loan program.
- $46,000 and 0.9 personnel years (one-year limited term) to meet workload increases in the Central Inquiry Unit.
- $60,000 and 0.9 personnel years (two-year limited term) to strengthen legal review and support for Commission staff.

10 STANDARDS

Program Objectives Statement

The standards program establishes job-related selection standards for peace officers which are enforced through compliance procedures. It also provides management consultation to local agencies and issues professional certificates to qualifying officers. Activities include development of examinations, counseling local law enforcement agencies on ways to improve management practices and inspection of local agencies receiving state aid to assure they are adhering to minimum state standards for selection and training of peace officers.

Applied research is conducted in the areas of peace officer selection and training, operational procedures and program evaluation in order to meet statutory requirements and to provide management guidance to local law enforcement agencies. The program also provides local agencies with information and technical expertise in the development and installation of new programs.

Budget Adjustments

For 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $83,000 and 1.9 personnel years for the maintenance of the Penal Code Section 832 testing program.
- An increase of $204,000 and 1.9 personnel years to expand the Penal Code Section 832 testing program.
- An increase of $66,000 and 0.9 personnel years for the maintenance of the achievement testing program.

8120 COMMISSION ON PEACE OFFICER STANDARDS AND TRAINING—Continued

20 TRAINING

Program Objectives Statement

POST's training program increases the effectiveness of law enforcement personnel by developing and certifying courses that meet identified training needs, by providing scheduling and quality control of such courses, and by assisting law enforcement agencies in providing necessary training and career development programs. POST assesses training on a continuing basis to assure that emerging needs are met. Courses are offered through local community colleges, four-year colleges, universities, police academies, private trainers and training centers. The curricula cover a wide variety of technical and special courses necessary for effectiveness in police work and address the training needs of recruit, officer, advanced officer, supervisor, manager, executive-level, and other law enforcement personnel. Curricula content is updated regularly.

The Commission establishes the basic criteria that must be met by each course in order to obtain POST's certification. Assistance is given to applicable educators and police trainers in preparing and implementing courses and training plans. Periodic field inspections ensure that training instructors and coordinators are adhering to established course outlines and are meeting instruction standards. Failure to meet these standards may cause revocation of course certification.

Budget Adjustments

For 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $80,000 and 0.9 personnel years to establish a video training distribution program.
- An increase of $16,000 and 0.5 personnel years to assist with the additional workload in the Training Delivery Services Course Control Unit.

30 PEACE OFFICER TRAINING REIMBURSEMENT

Program Objective Statement

The enforcement of laws and the protection of life and property without infringement on individual liberties is one of modern government's most pressing problems. Carefully selected, highly trained and properly motivated peace officers are important factors in the solution of this problem. To encourage and assist local law enforcement agencies to meet and maintain minimum standards in the selection and training of law enforcement officers, financial assistance is provided to all 58 counties, approximately 346 cities, numerous specialized districts and local agencies which have agreed to meet POST's standards. Each jurisdiction participating in the program is reimbursed from the Peace Officers' Training Fund in proportion to the number of officers who participate in reimbursable training.

Budget Adjustments

The budget includes an increase of $3,500,000 in 1990-91 and a proposed increase of $4,500,000 for 1991-92 to provide additional reimbursements to local law enforcement agencies.

8140 STATE PUBLIC DEFENDER

Program Objectives Statement

The Office of the State Public Defender was established in July 1976 by Chapter 1125, Statutes of 1975, to represent those entitled to representation at public expense. The State Public Defender has offices in Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles to provide a statewide capability to represent indigents in the appellate courts.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

The State Public Defender, in conjunction with court appointed legal counsel, represents persons who are financially unable to employ counsel in the following matters:

- (a) An appeal, petition for hearing or rehearing to an appellate court or petition for certiorari to the United States Supreme Court or a petition for executive clemency from a judgment relating to criminal or juvenile court proceedings;
- (b) Petitions for an extraordinary writ or action for relief relating to a final judgment of conviction or wardship;
- (c) Proceedings after a judgment of death;
- (d) Proceedings in which an inmate of a state prison is charged with an offense where the county public defender has declined to represent the inmate;
- (e) Any proceeding where a person is entitled to representation at public expense.

In addition, the Legislature has designated the State Public Defender to represent indigents at hearings to extend their commitments as persons found not guilty by reasons of insanity.

The enabling legislation specifically provides that the State Public Defender: (1) may employ such deputies and other employees and establish and operate such offices as deemed necessary for the proper performance of the office, (2) may contract with county public defenders, private attorneys and nonprofit corporations, (3) may enter into reciprocal or mutual assistance agreements with the board of supervisors of one or more counties to provide for exchange of personnel, and (4) shall formulate plans for representation of indigents in the Supreme Court and in each appellate district. Although authorized to provide representation as stated above, the Office focuses its resources on death penalty and the more complex non-capital cases.

The 1991-92 budget proposes an increase of $272,000 to cover rent for newly relocated offices in the San Francisco and Sacramento.

8160 ASSISTANCE TO COUNTIES FOR DEFENSE OF INDIGENTS

Section 987.9 of the Penal Code provides that in the trial of a capital case, or a case where the defendant is charged with murder in the second degree and has served a prior prison term for murder, the defendant through his or her attorney may request the court for funds to pay for investigators, experts and others to assist in the preparation or presentation of the defense. The attorney must file an affidavit with the court seeking funds and specifying that the funds are reasonably necessary for the preparation or presentation of the defense. When the affidavit is received, a judge other than the trial court judge must rule on its reasonableness at an in camera hearing. If the judge finds that the requested funds are necessary for the presentation of a full and complete defense, an appropriate amount of money is disbursed by the county to the defendant's attorney. The attorney is required to furnish the court with a complete accounting of all monies received and disbursed at the end of the proceeding. The State Controller may reimburse counties for these costs so long as they do not exceed Board of Control standards for travel and per diem expenses. The Controller may also reimburse extraordinary costs if sufficient documentation is submitted.

Due to fiscal constraints faced by the state, funding for this program was eliminated in the 1990-91 fiscal year, and no funding is proposed for the 1991-92 fiscal year.

8180 PAYMENT TO COUNTIES FOR COSTS OF HOMICIDE TRIALS

It is State policy that justice be administered uniformly throughout California and that the cost of homicide trials should not unduly impact local government finances. Government Code Sections 15200 through 15204 implement this policy by allowing a county to apply to the State Controller for reimbursement of specified costs of homicide trials and hearings.

A county with a population of 300,000 or less at the time of the 1980 census may apply for reimbursement of 90 percent of the allowable costs, excluding normal salaries and expenses, it has incurred for each homicide trial or hearing after it has first expended county funds in an amount determined by a property tax based formula. This threshold amount must be met only once for each trial or hearing.

Effective January 1, 1991, a county with a population of 200,000 or less as of January 1, 1990 may apply for reimbursement under criteria that differ from those mentioned above. If the county conducts only one homicide trial or hearing in a fiscal year, it may be reimbursed as specified above for the first year of the trial or hearing. In subsequent years, normal salaries and expenses may also be reimbursed. If the county conducts two or more homicide trials or hearings in a fiscal year, it may apply for reimbursement of 90 percent of its allowable costs in the first proceeding and 85 percent of its allowable costs in all subsequent proceedings after it has met the threshold. The county may combine the costs of the various proceedings to reach the threshold. However, the county must meet the threshold for each fiscal year in which reimbursement is sought.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

1810 PAYMENT TO COUNTIES FOR COSTS OF HOMICIDE TRIALS—Continued

A county with a population exceeding 300,000 at the time of the 1980 decennial census may apply for reimbursement of 80 percent of its allowable costs which exceed a property tax based threshold up to a second threshold. Allowable costs which exceed this second threshold may be fully reimbursed. These formulas will remain in effect until January 1, 1995, unless they are amended before that date.

8260 CALIFORNIA ARTS COUNCIL

The California Arts Council was established by Chapter 1192, Statutes of 1975. Major statutory mandates to this agency are:

- (1) To encourage artistic awareness, participation, and expression among the citizens of California.
- (2) To help independent local groups develop their own arts programs.
- (3) To promote the employment of artists and those skilled in crafts in both the public and private sector.
- (4) To provide for the exhibition of art works in public buildings throughout California.
- (5) To enlist the aid of all state agencies in the task of ensuring the fullest expression of our artistic potential.

The Council consists of eleven members, nine appointed by the Governor and one each by the President Pro-tem of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly. The Council establishes general policy and approves program allocations. Panels of experts independent of the Council advise the Council in each grant program.

The Council stresses the development of community-based cultural activities in rural areas as well as in major metropolitan cultural centers. Almost all Arts Council grants programs require that the grantee provide at a minimum a match equal to the amount of the grant.

The Arts Council provides information, consultation, and expertise to foster the development of such cultural activities. The Traditional Folk Arts Program identifies, documents, presents, honors and encourages California's traditional folk arts and artists.

20 ORGANIZATIONAL SUPPORT GRANTS

Program Objectives Statement

In providing grants to organizations, the California Arts Council helps non-profit arts organizations improve their artistic offering, strengthen their internal management, employ professional staff, and extend their arts programs and performances to a broader audience. Grant guidelines are established by the Council and each application is initially screened for guideline compliance to assure that the state's program objectives are met. Applications which meet all technical requirements are reviewed by volunteer panels of professionals in the arts who rate the proposals' relative merits and recommend grant awards to the Council for final confirmation. All grant awards in this program require a dollar-for-dollar cash match.

20.70 Multi-Cultural Arts Development

Program Element Statement

The California Arts Council intends to increase the participation of previously underserved ethnic minority populations. Two pilot programs have been implemented. The Multi-Cultural Advancement Grant will provide major grants each year for the next two years to eight to ten organizations. The major goal is the stabilization of multi-cultural arts organizations moving them closer to institutional status. The second program, the Multi-Cultural Entry Grants, will provide small grants up to three consecutive years to multi-cultural groups currently not eligible to participate in the Organizational Support Program category. A technical assistance component will provide these groups with management and artistic development assistance.

25 PERFORMING ARTS TOURING/PRESENTING PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The California Arts Council subsidizes up to 50% of selected artist's fees paid by non-profit organizations which provide public performances and programs in communities, schools, senior citizen centers, fairs and festivals, colleges and universities. The Council assesses the ability of performing groups and their potential sponsors who participate in the program, promotes the touring program statewide to facilitate contact between potential community sponsors and the touring roster; provides assistance to presenting organizations and artists in the areas of booking contracts, promotion, marketing, publicity, producing and planning arts engagements; maintains a calendar of events, a published directory of touring artists and sponsors; conducts on-site evaluations of performing engagements; reviews and approves artist-sponsor contracts and performances.

The Touring Program reimburses presenters of the selected artists to encourage public performances and programs throughout the state's large and small communities, which would not ordinarily take place. Additionally, the Touring Program assists touring artists and arts sponsors to develop earned income more effectively through service workshops in booking, production, audience development, group sales, fundraising, graphics and image development and budget planning.

40.70 Art in Public Buildings

Program Element Statement

The California Arts Council is mandated to provide for the exhibition of Art in Public Buildings throughout California.

The program increases public access to art and provides opportunities to artists to create public work. In an annual competition, the California Arts Council seeks the best artists available to work with state architects on planning and design projects and architecturally integrated artwork for building projects. This Program emphasizes site-specific designs and does not usually purchase existing work.

Through this program, commissioned art plans, designs and art works improve the working environments of state agencies for both the public and employees. More than 90 artists have been commissioned since 1976, and the program has resulted in a state collection of more than 114 public art works in a wide variety of media, as well as art plans and design enhancements to state building projects.

Matching funds must come from new and/or increased private contributed sources at a ratio of three private dollars to one state dollar. Awards will generally range from $20,000 to $75,000. This program is designed to generate $3,645,000 in non-State support for the arts.

8280 NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE COMMISSION

Program Objectives Statement

The Legislature created the Native American Heritage Commission in 1976 to preserve and protect California Native American cultures. The Commission's powers and duties include: identifying and cataloging geographic sites of importance to Native Americans; helping Native Americans to obtain access to these sites when necessary; protecting Native American burials and sacred sites; and ensuring that remains are treated appropriately when burials are discovered. The Commission is empowered to make recommendations to the Legislature and to other public agencies, request their services, receive grants and donations, and bring legal action when necessary to accomplish these objectives.

8300 AGRICULTURAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

The Agricultural Labor Relations Board (ALRB), which was created by the Agricultural Labor Relations Act of 1975 (Chapter 1), is responsible for conducting secret ballot elections to determine collective bargaining representation in agriculture and for investigating and resolving unfair labor practice disputes. The ALRB is patterned after the National Labor Relations Board and is divided into two major programs: (1) Board Administration of the Agricultural Labor Relations Act and (2) General Counsel Administration of the Agricultural Labor Relations Act.

The workload of the Agricultural Labor Relations Board is dependent upon the number of election petitions and unfair labor practice charges filed, the number of elections objected to, the ability of the Agency to settle unfair labor practice charges and complaints, the number of hearings, the number of appeals to the Board from those hearings and the number of appeals to the courts from Board decisions.

10 BOARD ADMINISTRATION

Program Objectives Statement

Board Administration consists of a five-member Board. The Board establishes policies and procedures for all activities related to the conduct of elections, the investigation and resolution of unfair labor practices and the conduct of hearings on elections and unfair labor practices. It also conducts and/or reviews these hearings on elections, determines whether the results of such elections should be certified and adjudicates complaints issued in unfair labor practices.

10.10 Representation Cases

Program Element Statement

Hearings may be conducted by the Board to determine whether particular union representation elections are to be certified; these hearings must be held in all cases where conduct which might warrant setting aside the election is shown in declarations. The Board rules on the statements of objections and whether or not the facts of the case warrant setting aside the election. In order to refine the process so that certification is not unduly delayed, the Executive Secretary's office screens all objections to assure that hearings are limited to only those points and issues which are pertinent to the case and which have not previously been held to be non-objectable. The Board acts as an appellate body to which any of the parties involved may appeal the decision of a hearing officer and the Board must consider all appeals. Hearings are also held to consider challenged ballot issues, unit clarification issues and access issues, which are appealed to the Board through the same process.

10.20 Unfair Labor Practices

Program Element Statement

The Agricultural Labor Relations Act defines unfair labor practices and authorizes the Board, if the preponderance of the evidence taken warrants such a decision, to issue orders to prevent or remedy such practices. Hearings on unfair labor practices are conducted before an administrative law judge according to the rules of evidence. Parties are represented by counsel, and a transcript is made of the proceedings. The administrative law judge writes a decision; if any party files exceptions, the decision is reviewed by the Board. While an unfair labor practice case is pending, the Board has the authority to petition the courts for appropriate temporary relief or restraining orders.

10.30 Policies, Procedures and Motions

Program Element Statement

Board Administration is responsible for the overall policy direction of the agency, and the establishment of procedures to implement that policy. This involves the development and promulgation of regulations required to implement, interpret and make specific the provisions of the Agricultural Labor Relations Act. This process involves the formulation of regulations, the solicitation and analysis of public comments, the holding of public hearings and meetings, and the final adoption of regulations. Further, policy and procedure development is required internally to deal with any legal and practical problems in the administration of the Agricultural Labor Relations Act.

Ongoing administration of the Board's caseload requires the disposition of numerous and varied procedural and substantive motions. Executive Secretary staff reviews motions to extend certification and deny access, as well as continuance and extension motions, and other miscellaneous motions related to the conduct of hearings or the progress of cases before the Board.

10.40 Litigation

Program Element Statement

ALRB court litigation falls into two categories:

1. Review and Enforcement of Final ALRB Decisions.

Section 1160.8 of the act provides for judicial review of Board orders in unfair labor practice decisions. In those cases where a respondent seeks judicial review in the appropriate court of appeals, attorneys appear on behalf of the Board and defend its decisions. If the respondent has not filed a petition for review but refuses to comply with the Board's order, the Board will seek enforcement of its order in the appropriate superior court.

2. Suits Against the Board.

This litigation involves suits against the Board by employers and labor organizations seeking to enjoin the Board from conducting elections, counting ballots, proceeding with unfair labor practice trials or challenging Board regulations, policies or procedures. These suits are in the nature of petitions for declaratory and injunctive relief, writs of mandate, and writs of prohibition. They usually necessitate the Board appearing on a few hours' notice to defend against the issuance of a temporary restraining order and then, perhaps a week later, appearing in a hearing on an order to show cause. These suits have also resulted in appellate litigation where it has been necessary to seek extraordinary appellate review in the appropriate Court of Appeal or the California Supreme Court in order to stay the effect of an adverse ruling in a superior court.

20 GENERAL COUNSEL ADMINISTRATION

Program Objectives Statement

The objectives of the General Counsel Administration are to conduct fair, secret ballot elections; to investigate and bring resolution or prosecution in unfair labor practices. The General Counsel is responsible for implementing the provisions of the act and rules and regulations of the Board in the conduct of elections, challenges to ballots, court litigation, and investigation, issuance of complaints and prosecution before the Board of unfair labor practice charges. The General Counsel is also responsible for compliance—the process by which remedies prescribed by the Board are administratively acted on. The staff of the regional offices have the primary responsibility, under the direction and coordination of the General Counsel, for the activities related to elections and unfair labor practices, for seeking temporary injunctive relief in unfair labor practice cases, and for ensuring that compliance has been implemented.

20.10 Representation Cases

Program Element Statement

The ALRB conducts secret ballot elections in which agricultural employees can vote to designate a collective bargaining unit. The election process begins with the filing in a regional office of a petition for election, the petition is then investigated to determine whether it meets all the requirements of the act and the Board's rules and regulations. If the petition meets all requirements of sufficiency and if there is reasonable cause to believe that a question of representation exists, arrangements must be made with the participating labor organization(s) and with the employer to conduct an election within seven days of the date of filing. If no choice on the ballot receives a majority of the ballots cast, a runoff election is conducted. If the election cannot be certified, another election may be held.

Elements that may be required in the investigation of petitions during the seven days subsequent to filing include determining whether a valid election was conducted among the employees of the employer within the 12 months immediately preceding filing, whether a labor organization is currently certified as the exclusive collective bargaining representative of the employees affected, and whether the petition is barred by an existing collective bargaining agreement negotiated by a certified labor organization and an employer. In addition to the filing of petitions for certification by labor organizations, the statute also permits the filing of petitions for decertification by an agricultural employee or group of agricultural employees. The same additional elements may also be required in the investigation of such petitions during the seven days subsequent to filing.

During an election, a board agent or an observer of any party may challenge the eligibility of any person to cast a ballot. The ballots of challenged voters are set aside and if upon completion of the election, the tally of ballots discloses that the challenged ballots are sufficient in number to affect the results of the election, an investigation may be conducted to determine the challenged voters' eligibility and a report issued containing recommendations and conclusions. In the alternative, a hearing may be held on some or all of the challenged ballots.

20.20 Unfair Labor Practices

Program Element Statement

An unfair labor practice charge may be filed by an individual, an employer, or a labor organization alleging that an agricultural employer or a labor organization is engaging in an unfair labor practice in violation of Section 1153 or 1154 of the Act. The charge is filed in a regional office and a copy is served on the charged party. The charge is then assigned to a team comprised of a field examiner and an attorney in the regional office to conduct an investigation of the charge. Initially, the field examiner interviews the charging party's witnesses and where it appears that there is evidence of a violation, the charged party is requested to provide witnesses relevant to the investigation. After an investigation, the regional office determines whether the investigation has established sufficient evidence to warrant issuance of a complaint. If the determination is made to issue a complaint, the charged party is contacted and requested to enter into a settlement agreement to resolve the alleged unfair labor practices. In the absence of settlement, the matter is set for hearing before an administrative law judge. An attorney in the regional office then prepares the appropriate witnesses for trial and litigates the case. These hearings have ranged from one day to several months in duration, depending upon the complexity of the issues. A legal brief is ordinarily written by the trial attorney and submitted to the administrative law judge after the close of the hearing. Exceptions to the administrative law judge's decision may be taken by either party. In this circumstance another legal brief, arguing the points on review by the board, is prepared by the trial attorney.

20.30 Compliance

Compliance is the process by which Board ordered remedies in unfair labor practice decisions are effectuated. While the remedies that the Board can order vary, typically they include a requirement that the charging party (or parties) and their fellow employees be informed by a document entitled a Notice, of the results of the administrative hearing. This requirement is fulfilled by a posting, mailing and a reading of the Notice to the employees by a field examiner. Another usual remedy that the Board orders is backpay where the unlawful conduct of an employer or labor organization has resulted in the loss of work by charging party. Additionally, if the loss of work resulted from a termination of employment, the Board will order the charging party reinstated to his or her former position. Where the employer has refused to collectively bargain in good faith with a labor organization, the Board may order the makewhole remedy which is designed to recompense the employees for what they might have earned had the employer bargained in good faith.

The compliance activity of the General Counsel commences once judicial review of the Board decision and order in the unfair labor practices matter has been either exhausted or completed. The compliance activity will commonly be handled by the regional office that handled the underlying unfair labor practice. The matter is assigned to a field examiner who will seek voluntary compliance with the Notice requirements from the employer or labor organization. If the Board has also ordered backpay or makewhole, the employer will be asked to provide payroll records so that the amounts owing can be calculated. When the records are not provided voluntarily, the regional office must go to court to obtain an order securing the records. In backpay cases, the field examiner will also interview the discriminatees in order to determine what if any mitigation by way of interim employment exists. Once the amounts are calculated, the regional office contacts the employer or labor organization and requests voluntary payment. The employer or labor organization can request settlement discussions. In the absence of voluntary payment or settlement, the regional office prepares a formal "specification" of the amount owing and the matter is set for hearing before an administrative law judge. An attorney for the regional office then prepares the appropriate witnesses for trial and litigates the case. The process after hearing is identical to unfair labor practices.

10.10 Violations of Statute

Program Element Statement

An employer, an employee organization, or an employee may file a charge alleging that an employer or employee organization has committed an unlawful act as defined in the Educational Employment Relations Act (EERA), the Ralph C. Dills Act, State Employer-Employee Relations Act (SEERA) and the Higher Education Employer-Employee Relations Act (HEERA). PERB reviews the charge to determine if a prima facie case has been established. If the charge states a prima facie case, PERB issues a complaint. Next, PERB calls an informal conference to attempt to settle the matter by mutual agreement. If settlement does not occur, either party may request a formal hearing and the administrative law judge issues a proposed decision. Proposed decisions that are not appealed are binding on the parties to the case. Cases that are appealed go before the Board.

A similar process is utilized in resolution of conflicts regarding violations of public notice and other provisions of statute.

All final decisions of the Board are assigned to regional office staff to monitor and ensure compliance. This includes resolution of disputes regarding exactly what actions constitute compliance.

Appeals from these employers are heard by administrative law judges employed by the three-member board and written decisions are filed within 30 days after hearings. If any party to a hearing is dissatisfied with the decision of the administrative law judge, he/she may petition the Board for reconsideration. Following the Appeals Board's Decision After Reconsideration, a party may appeal to the Superior Court. ## 40.70 Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board

Program Element Statement

The Occupational Safety and Health Standards Board has responsibility to adopt, amend and repeal occupational safety and health standards, assuring, as much as possible, safe and healthful working conditions for California workers. In addition, the Board maintains standards for certain areas of the State's enforcement authority not covered by Federal standards which include elevators, aerial passenger tramways, amusement rides, pressure vessels and radiological health. The Board's objectives are to adopt reasonable and enforceable standards at least as effective as those promulgated by the Federal OSHA program.

The Board also has the responsibility to grant or deny variances from adopted standards. Permanent variances requested by employers are granted by the Board if it determines that the alternative methods proposed will provide employee protection equal or superior to that required by the existing standard. Any employer or other person adversely affected by the granting or denial of a temporary variance from the Division of Occupational Safety and Health may appeal to the Board within 15 working days. Finally, any interested person may propose new or revised standards or any other item concerning occupational safety and health to the Board.

40.80 Consultation and Education

Program Element Statement

This element provides consultation—both safety and health—to all employers, at their request, to assist them in complying with California's safety and health regulations. California recognizes the need to assist employers in achieving voluntary compliance with Cal/OSHA safety and health regulations through on-site consultations and employer and employee education as an alternative to correction of unsafe practices through enforcement/compliance. In addition, a need exists for greater understanding by employers of their obligations under the Federal or State OSHA Acts to encourage voluntary compliance. The interpretation of complex standards and the ability to recognize hazards pose difficulties for employers, particularly small business employers, who often lack the financial resources to utilize private consultants to assist them in understanding their obligations under the Act.

This unit also provides safety and health training for miners and mine operators as required by the Federal Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) and the State Division of Occupational Safety and Health (DOSH). A federal grant has been awarded to support training, consultation and related State and Federal safety order activities.

In addition to the 7(c)1 contract with OSHA which provides up to 90% federal funding and 10% a minimum of state funding for private sector employer assistance, the element receives general fund support to provide consultation and training for public sector employers.

50.40 Industrial Welfare Commission—Promulgation of Labor Standards

Program Element Statement

The Industrial Welfare Commission (IWC) has the continuing duty to ascertain wages, hours of labor and working conditions and to investigate the health and welfare of employees. It must undertake a full review of the adequacy of the minimum wage at least every two years. Upon petition or upon its own motion, it may promulgate, review, and amend its orders establishing minimum wages, maximum hours, and working conditions necessary to the health and welfare of employees in various industries and occupation groups, according to procedures specified in the Labor Code and the Government Code. For these purposes it conducts research and provides information and holds public meetings and hearings. Amendment of an order usually requires calling an advisory wage board consisting of employer and employee representatives for the affected industries. Minimum standards protect nearly all employees in the private sector and establish fair conditions of competition for employers. The nature of IWC's output varies in each fiscal year and depends upon the stage of the mandated process to which the (IWC) is responding.

60 PROMOTION, DEVELOPMENT, AND ADMINISTRATION OF APPRENTICESHIP AND OTHER ON-THE-JOB TRAINING

Program Objectives Statement

To develop a maximum of on-the-job training opportunities in the State's industrial economy through apprenticeship and other on-the-job training programs. The Division of Apprenticeship Standards develops apprenticeship and other on-the-job training programs in the private and public sectors (including correctional institutions) to assist industry to develop a trained labor force and also ensures equality of opportunity in apprenticeship and other on-the-job training.

The Division monitors and enforces state and federal regulations that cover the employment of apprentices (California Plan for Equal Opportunity in Apprenticeship) and also enforces state codes dealing with apprentices on public works. The Division also inspects, develops, and approves training establishments under contract with the United States Veterans Administration as authorized by Labor Code Section 3090.

70 LABOR FORCE RESEARCH AND DATA DISSEMINATION

Program Objectives Statement

Continuing expansion of the California work force requires urgent ongoing statistical and research information to provide an understanding of on-the-job safety and health as well as economic and industrial developments in both the private and public sectors.

The objectives of the program are to provide data for use in planning and executing safety programs; to measure the effectiveness of accident and illness prevention efforts in the work place; to provide accurate information pertaining to industrial relations from an impartial source on short notice; and to guide legislative and administrative decisions by State and local government. These objectives are met through the occupational injuries and illnesses statistics and industrial relations research programs which provide information on wage rates, working conditions, fringe benefits, work injuries, occupational diseases, industrial disputes, industrial relations practices, cost-of-living, and other studies related to labor.

Authority

- This program is required by the Labor Code: Division 1, Chapter 7, Sections 150-156; Division 2, Part 4, Chapter 1, Section 1202; Division 2, Part 7, Chapter 1, Article 2, Sections 1773.1-1773.8; Division 5, Part 1, Chapter 2, Sections 6409-6413.5; Public Utilities Code, Sections 465-467.

Budget Adjustments

- In 1990-91 an increase of $307,000 was authorized to fund increased facilities operations costs resulting from the Loma Prieta earthquake;
- The 1991-92 budget proposes a baseline adjustment of $252,000 related to the increased facilities operations costs resulting from the Loma Prieta earthquake.

70.10 Occupational Injuries and Illnesses Statistics

Program Element Statement

To provide information on the incidence, severity, and trend of occupational injuries and illnesses, the Division of Labor Statistics and Research conducts an annual Occupational Injuries and Illnesses Survey among California employers. The data collected are used as input to the national survey and basis to compare California's rates with other states and the nation as a whole.

Supplementing the annual survey, the Division compiles statistics on the causes of occupational injuries and illnesses based upon individual injury reports filed by employers and physicians. Accident factors coded and analyzed include accident type, source of injury or illness, nature of injury, part of the body affected, age, sex, and occupation of injured worker, county of occurrence, and industry. Data are used to pinpoint when, where, how, and why work-connected accidents or illnesses occur and are presented in a series of annual and special reports.

The Division of Labor Statistics and Research is party to grant agreements providing for 50 percent federal funding by the United States Department of Labor for two occupational injuries and illnesses statistics programs, the annual OSHA survey, and the supplementary DATA System program which utilizes information from employers.

Performance Measures

The statistics the Division compiles, which serve to pinpoint accident and occupational disease factors and to measure prevention progress within various industries, are used by individuals responsible for giving direction to an implementation of occupational injury and illness prevention programs, both in government and private industry.

8380 DEPARTMENT OF PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION

The Department of Personnel Administration is the agency responsible for managing the nonmerit aspects of the State's personnel system. The goal of the Department of Personnel Administration is to insure the proper administration of existing terms and conditions of employment for the State's civil service employees and to represent the Governor as the employer in all matters concerning state employer-employee relations.

The State Employer-Employee Relations Act (Chapter 1159, Statutes of 1977) established a formal, bilateral process of employer-employee relations. The right to meet and confer in good faith granted to state civil service employees under this Act requires the Department of Personnel Administration, in conjunction with departments, to review existing terms and conditions of employment subject to negotiation, to develop management's negotiating positions, to represent management in negotiations with the exclusive representatives of employee representation units, and to administer negotiated memorandums of understanding.

It is also the responsibility of the Department of Personnel Administration to administer the personnel classification plan, and to provide for the compensation, terms and conditions of employment, as well as the development and training of the State's management team and employees not represented in the collective bargaining process.

8420 WORKERS' COMPENSATION BENEFITS

(8430) Compensation Insurance Fund

The California State Compensation Insurance Fund is a self-supporting enterprise created to offer insurance protection to employers at the lowest possible cost. This fund operates in competition with other insurance carriers, acting as a yardstick to secure fair premium rates for employers and fair treatment for injured employees. The law requires that the fund use the same rates and classifications established by the State Insurance Commissioner for insurers generally, and provides that the rates shall be only sufficient to carry out the specific purposes stated in law.

Expenditure estimates for the budget year are based on the level of activity anticipated by the fund's management. Changes in economic conditions may result in corresponding changes in the various items of expense.

The budget data presented is information available as an annual operations report. As a public enterprise fund authorized by statutes, no budget detail is presented.

This program, authorized by Sections 4750-4755 of the Labor Code, provides benefits for permanent disabilities which arise from industrial injury to an employee who has suffered from a previous permanent disability.

Section 4706.5(e) of the Labor Code provides that where there are no heirs of a deceased employee or no persons entitled to death benefit payment, such payment will be made to the State. These moneys are continuously available for payment of benefits and partially offset the need for direct General Fund support.

Workers' Compensation Costs

The Labor Code (Divisions 4 and 4.5, Sections 3200-6148) mandates a complete system of workers' compensation for all employees, public or private, who incur injuries or illnesses that are employment-related. The following table provides data on actual and estimated workers' compensation expenditures by State agencies. This table is informational only. All workers' compensation expenditures are included in the individual agency budgets.

State agencies are either legally uninsured against workers' compensation liability or are insured by the State Compensation Insurance Fund (SCIF) pursuant to Section 11870 of the Insurance Code. Benefits paid by the uninsured agencies and insurance policy premiums paid by the insured agencies are shown below. Pursuant to Section 11871 of the Insurance Code, claims against uninsured agencies are adjusted by SCIF under a Master Agreement entered into with the Department of General Services. Adjustment costs and other administrative charges under the Master Agreement are also included below.

Additionally, the table includes Industrial Disability Leave benefits available under Chapter 374, Statutes of 1974, which may be elected in lieu of workers' compensation temporary disability benefits. Special disability benefits available under Section 4800 of the Labor Code to members of the California Highway Patrol and safety members of the Department of Justice are also highlighted.

The unfunded liability of the State for estimated future payments of Workers' Compensation benefits as of June 30, 1990, was $621,696,495. Based on current assumptions and trends, the State Compensation Insurance Fund anticipates that this liability will increase to $727,384,899 by June 30, 1991.

8550 CALIFORNIA HORSE RACING BOARD

Program Objectives Statement

The purpose of the Board is to regulate parimutuel wagering for the protection of the betting public, to promote horse racing and breeding industries and to maximize State of California tax revenues.

In 1933, the people of the State of California adopted a constitutional amendment which created the California Horse Racing Board. The measure wrote many safeguards into the law and gave complete jurisdiction and supervision over all racing activities to the State of California acting through the California Horse Racing Board. Previously racetracks had acted autonomously and the stewards had complete and final authority over all meetings. The amendment transferred this authority to the Board and gave the Board wide discretion in rule making powers. Pursuant to these powers, the Board passed rules establishing the authority of the stewards, but made the stewards strictly and completely responsible to the Board for all their actions.

The California Horse Racing Board, currently a seven-member commission appointed by the Governor, supervises all race meetings in the state where parimutuel wagering is conducted. Principal activities of the Board include:

- Protection of the betting public;
- Licensing of racing associations;
- Sanctioning of every person who participates in any phase of horseracing;
- Designating racing days and charity days;
- Acting as a quasi-judicial body in matters pertaining to horseracing meets;
- Collecting the State's lawful share of revenue derived from horseracing meets;
- Enforcing laws, rules, and regulations pertaining to horseracing in California.

The State's revenue from horseracing is principally derived from fees based upon a percentage of the parimutuel wagering pools, breakage (the odd cents not paid to winning ticket holders), and unclaimed tickets. Additional revenue is derived from licenses issued to horse owners, trainers, jockeys, grooms and others, and from fines.

Revenues for the 1991-92 fiscal year are estimated at $159 million, of which approximately $114.9 million is distributed to the General Fund; $28 million to the Fair and Exposition Fund; $15.3 million to the Satellite Wagering Fund; $750,000 to the Wildlife Restoration Fund; and $310,000 to the Racetrack Security Account, Special Deposit Fund.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of 1.9 personnel years and $111,000 for increased legislation and regulation workload.
- Reallocation of one position and $33,000 from Temporary Help to a permanent full-time position to address workload growth.
- An increase of $55,000 for implementation of Chapter 1258, Statutes of 1990.

10.10 Licensing

Program Element Statement

It is essential, to protect both the public and the industry, that the Board be aware of every individual participating in horseracing. The licensing of each participant establishes such a control.

10.20 Enforcement

Program Element Statement

Racetrack investigators, who represent the California Horse Racing Board, inspect racing operations for compliance with the rules and regulations of the Board, seek the ejection of undesirables from racing enclosures, and keep the Board informed of all racing matters. Strict compliance with the detailed rules is required in order to establish preventive control and protection of the betting public and the State's interest.

8560 CALIFORNIA EXPOSITION AND STATE FAIR

The objective of the California Exposition and State Fair is to provide a medium for the education, commercial interaction, personal interaction and recreation of the citizens of California by providing a forum for the competitive and non-competitive exhibition of the State's industrial and agricultural accomplishments.

Fairs traditionally provide an arena for the presentation of new ideas and information for the education of the visitor as well as provide a market place for the demonstration, advertisement and sale of goods and services. Sponsors from the governmental and commercial sectors can present promotional information to the public. Fairs stimulate achievement through awards and prizes for excellence in the fields of agriculture and industry, and create a festive atmosphere with events and attractions for the amusement and recreation of their participants.

The California Exposition and State Fair provides a showcase for the agricultural, recreational and industrial resources of California for both residents and non-residents. It provides a forum for State Government to present its achievements to its constituency, and establishes programs of public participation to encourage the interchange of information regarding agriculture, industry and government. The State Fair also provides conventional youth programs for 4-H, and FFA, and provides a recreational outlet for the citizens of California.

MAJOR BUDGET ADJUSTMENTS

The 1990-91 state operations budget (deferred maintenance projects) included a reduction of $908,000 which was transferred to a new capital outlay item related to minor improvement projects. In addition, the Department of Food and Agriculture has entered into an agreement to build a new satellite wagering facility at Cal Expo at an estimated project cost of $4 million. The project would be paid for out of the Fair and Exposition Fund and Cal Expo would be responsible for repaying $785,000 in 1991-92. The project should be completed in December, 1991.

The 1991-92 budget proposes an expenditure level of $16,162,000. This expenditure level consists of $14,942,000 from the California Exposition and State Fair Enterprise Fund, $905,000 in reimbursements, $50,000 from the State Fair Police Special Account and $265,000 from the Fair and Exposition Fund. The amount of $265,000 is continuously appropriated pursuant to Business and Professions Code, Section 19622(a).

In 1991-92 the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- Continuation of funding in the amount of $250,000 to be applied toward the repayment of Cal Expo's share of the replacement costs of the livestock barns.
- $785,000 to be applied toward the costs of a new satellite wagering facility at Cal Expo.
- An increase of 6.6 personnel years and $178,000 for workload adjustments.

10 PESTICIDE REGULATION

Program Objectives Statement

The Division of Pest Management is responsible for: registering all pesticides prior to sale for use in California; monitoring, regulating and controlling the use of pesticides; enforcing the law concerning the sale, application, and use of pesticides; identifying environmental contamination resulting from pesticide use; identifying, developing and promoting the use of effective alternatives to pesticides (e.g., biological controls); integrating various pest control methods; testing produce for pesticide residue levels; promoting worker health and safety by reviewing and, if necessary, revising the proposed application methods and use of pesticides; and, for assessing the effectiveness and safety of pesticide active ingredients and products.

The Division is comprised of seven elements: Pesticide Use Enforcement, Pesticide Registration, Integrated Pest Management, Environmental Hazards Assessment, Biological Control Services, Worker Health and Safety, and Medical Toxicology.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

10.10 Pesticide Registration

Program Element Statement

Before a pesticide can be used or sold in California, manufacturers and formulators are required to register their products with the Department. There are approximately 10,000 pesticide products that are licensed for use and regulated by the Pesticide Registration Program. Scientific review of pesticidal data, submitted to support registration, ensures that adverse health or environmental effects are ascertained and that use is restricted to mitigate or eliminate adverse effects. When adverse effects cannot be mitigated or otherwise controlled, registration is denied, canceled or suspended. Recent legislative mandates have generated significant increases in pesticidal data review, collection, and dissemination. The Pesticide Registration Data Library—responding to increased demands for data regarding health and environmental effects—catalogs, maintains and retrieves pesticide data, and processes public requests for pesticide data and information.

Within this program, the Information Services Unit provides support services that include, but are not limited to: information gathering, coordination of data processing functions, interagency committee assistance, and analytical assistance in the area of public report writing.

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $748,000 and 13.4 personnel years to meet the workload generated by the implementation of 100% pesticide use reporting pursuant to Chapter 1200/89 (AB 2161).
- $413,000 to cover the increased costs of worker's compensation policy premiums.

10.20 Pesticide Use Enforcement

Program Element Statement

The Pesticide Use Enforcement element primarily involves enforcement by the local County Agricultural Commissioner's staff of the day-to-day use of pesticides. The State provides coordination, supervision, training, investigative assistance, and overview controls necessary to keep the program uniform and to prioritize enforcement activities.

Counties support approximately forty-one percent of the cost of local pesticide regulatory activities through local revenues. The restricted materials permit plays a major role in county enforcement activities. The Commissioners receive financial assistance for county enforcement of State pesticide laws and regulations through Section 12844 of the Food and Agricultural Code. Section 12844 specifies that 31.25% of pesticide mill assessment revenues shall be paid to counties as reimbursement for pesticide administration and enforcement costs. These payments are apportioned to the counties based on criteria adopted by regulations, which include workload measure, time, money expended, and performance. The General Fund supports contracts with counties for enforcement of new pesticide regulations adopted during and after 1980.

Section 12112 of the Food and Agricultural Code provides that fifty percent of moneys collected from licensing pesticide dealers shall be paid to counties for enforcement and administration of Chapters 6 and 7 of the Food and Agricultural Code. These payments are made to the county that the applicant indicates as his or her principal address at the time of payment of such fees.

Farm commodities used as food or feed are sampled and laboratory tested for pesticide residue. Produce found with illegal residues is quarantined and removed from sale. Follow-up investigations are made to determine any violations and possible enforcement actions.

Coordination is maintained with county agricultural commissioners, the Departments of Water Resources, Fish and Game, Air Resources, Health Services and Industrial Relations, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, U.S. Wildlife Services, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. In addition, assistance is given to county agricultural commissioners in developing and executing local programs for regulation of pesticides.

10.30 Pest Management Analysis and Planning

Program Element Statement

The Pest Management Analysis and Planning Program (PMAP) incorporates pest management into the Department's pesticide regulatory program. PMAP evaluates specific pest management problems and provides scientific information about pesticides, their application and pest management strategies which may significantly reduce hazards to human health and the environment. PMAP performs research on pest management and agricultural practices relating to problems with pesticides in the environment and on feasible alternatives to specific pesticides, maintains an accessible database containing information about pesticides and their importance in controlling specific pests, conducts hearings as required by law for pesticides which may contaminate groundwater, promotes public awareness of pest control alternatives, and provides training and consultation to other government agencies on pest management.

PMAP activities include on-site evaluation and research of specific problems, assessment of the pest management implications of registration of new pesticides and changes in uses of existing pesticides, evaluation of the impact on agriculture of regulatory actions taken concerning specific pesticides, preparation and distribution of reports concerning pest management practices that can mitigate problems of pesticide use, and providing training to growers and government agencies on ground water protection regulations.

10.40 Biological Control Services

Program Element Statement

The Biological Control program (BC) develops and implements biological controls as alternatives to chemical pesticides. BC performs research to identify, test, rear and disseminate natural enemies of agricultural and other pests, develops methods for monitoring microbial and genetically engineered pesticides in the environment, provides information and promotes use of natural enemies for pest control, and provides consultation and training to government agencies on biological control. BC concentrates on those biological controls which will establish permanently in the environment and are not commercially available.

BC activities include cooperating with state, federal and university scientists to find and import new beneficial organisms into California, establishing and maintaining field, laboratory and greenhouse facilities to rear beneficial organisms for release into the environment, working with the County Agricultural Commissioners to set priorities for biological control, training the Commissioners and their staffs in biological control techniques, conducting field studies to determine the impact of beneficial organisms on pests, compiling and maintaining a database on releases of beneficial organisms in California and publishing lists of commercial suppliers of beneficial organisms.

Budget Adjustments

The 1991-92 budget proposes $531,000 and 5.7 personnel years to increase funding for the development and importation of biological control agents to be used as alternatives to chemical pesticides.

10.50 Environmental Hazards Assessment

Program Element Statement

The Environmental Hazards Assessment Program evaluates the extent of environmental contamination from pesticides, agri-chemicals, and pollutants; determines the impact of pesticides on the environment and agricultural productivity; recommends mitigation methods to minimize or eliminate potential or existing threats; and implements legislation in support of the Department's environmental protection programs for surface water (Federal Clean Water Act/Proposition 65), ground water (AB 2021/Proposition 65), and air (AB 1807 & 3219/Proposition 65). The program develops methods to accurately assess air pollution crop losses; identifies sensitive and resistant plant varieties; identifies pollutant-pesticide interactions; and compiles and disseminates pesticide methodologies and information regarding activities.

The Program monitors selected pesticide applications and identifies off-target transportation and fate of these materials in the environment by collecting and analyzing samples of air, water, soil, vegetation, and other media. It provides the environmental monitoring data required for emergency eradication projects, environmental fate assessments, pesticide registration, pesticide use enforcement, and human exposure evaluations. EHAP designs studies; coordinates review of study protocols; coordinates participation of other branches, agencies, local agricultural commissioners, and local cooperators; prepares sample collection equipment; collects the data; analyzes the results; and presents the study in a written report. EHAP uses geographical analysis, conducts land use surveys, and reviews previous monitoring results, pesticide use reports, and/or notices of intent to identify the sources of pesticide residues in the environment. The scientific evaluations and recommended mitigation measures are used to guide the regulatory and registration functions of the Department and to prevent environmental contamination. EHAP trains county staff in the appropriate methods for sampling air, surface or ground water and soil.

10.60 Worker Health and Safety

Program Element Statement

There are a significant number of agricultural workers who may be exposed to pesticides either through unintentional exposure from residues on foliage and plant surfaces, or in mixing and applying pesticides. Additionally, there are an even greater number of non-agricultural workers (e.g., janitors) whose occupations involve working with or include possible exposure to pesticides. The goal of this unit is to provide increased protection for workers and the public from the potentially harmful effects of pesticide products in their environment. In meeting this goal, the unit performs the following activities in cooperation with the Department of Health Services, the Department of Industrial Relations and other specified entities:

1. Reviews toxicological and human experience data concerning the hazards of pesticides proposed for use or in use and recommends appropriate actions.
2. Conducts tests of pesticide residues on plant surfaces, in soil, in water and in air, establishes worker re-entry standards, and develops the basis for regulations and recommends registration actions to establish requirements for safe working conditions.
3. Evaluates adequacy of medical supervision provided by employers and responds to requests for sources of medical information.
4. Reviews and investigates reported pesticide-related illness and compiles informative summaries to determine the causes and necessary corrective action in terms of packaging, safe use instructions, handling, applicator techniques, registration actions and regulation changes.
5. Assists County Agricultural Commissioners with investigations of pesticide related incidents of all kinds.
6. Conducts pesticide exposure assessments, develops and evaluates risk mitigation measures for individual pesticides.

10.70 Medical Toxicology

Program Element Statement

The Medical Toxicology Branch was created in 1985 to meet Legislative mandates of the 1984 Birth Defect Prevention Act. The Branch performs chronic toxicology data reviews of all active ingredients contained in pesticide products registered in the State of California. This includes the evaluation of toxicology data; the identification of toxicology data gaps; and a determination of the significance of potential adverse human health effects as indicated by results of toxicology studies.

Additionally, the Medical Toxicology Branch is responsible for the following activities:

Ongoing Toxicology Data Review: Evaluation of Toxicology data submitted to support pesticide active ingredient and product registration to ensure that products registered and sold in California may be safely used when applied in accordance with label directions.

Health Assessment: This includes an in-depth analysis of toxicology studies. The information taken from toxicology and exposure studies is used to reach an assessment of the level of risk or margin of safety associated with exposure to a particular material.

20 AGRICULTURAL PLANT PEST AND DISEASE PREVENTION

Program Objective Statement

The objective of this program is to prevent the introduction or spread of plant disease, weeds, insects and other pests and diseases. This is accomplished by: 1) the establishment and enforcement of quarantines to exclude such pests and diseases whenever possible; 2) the detection of diseases and pests now established or about to become established in the State and, through identification, analysis, and evaluation after detection, making recommendations for actions; 3) the formulation and enactment of plans for action to eradicate or control such diseases and pests. These activities are carried out by program staff either directly or with county agricultural commissioners.

20.15 Exclusion of Plant Pests and Diseases

Program Element Statement

This element provides: 1) inspection at border stations of vehicles carrying high risk cargo (or coming from high risk areas) to detect quarantined pests and to assure that out-of-state shipments meet California market quality standards; 2) coordination, oversight, training and certification of county personnel to inspect plant materials arriving at terminal points within the State (air/sea ports, rail stations, post offices, etc.) to assure compliance with quarantine policies and procedures, and to inspect and certify all outgoing plant materials to assure compliance with "clean plant" (phytosanitary) standards required by foreign or out-of-state markets; and 3) issuance of news releases and formal presentations to increase public awareness and enlist their aid in accomplishment of program goals. These activities ensure uniform enforcement of numerous exterior, interior, and Federal domestic quarantines regulating shipment of plants and other specified articles arriving into the State. With 16 inspection stations operating along its northern, eastern and southern borders, and 10 interior offices within the State, California enforces 27 State exterior quarantines and 13 Federal domestic quarantines designed to prevent the introduction of plant pests.

Other government agencies are assisted in meeting their missions and roles at border stations by observing and recording weather data, validating game tags and reporting out-of-state game, reporting highway conditions, cooperating with other law enforcement agencies, and conducting traveler surveys. Other Department units are assisted in meeting their roles and missions at border stations by reporting out-of-state shipments of grain, hay, livestock, eggs, bees, and bulk shipments of certain fresh produce.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustments are included:

- $281,000 in reimbursement authority and 6.0 personnel years to fund the collection of data by border station employees on beverage containers entering the State. Funding is provided by the Department of Conservation.
- $2,161,000 and 31.8 personnel years to provide intensive inspections of agricultural commodities entering California at major air and maritime ports of entry pursuant to Chapter 1612, Statutes of 1990, (SB 2772).

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- $600,000 to address health and safety project needs at various border stations in California.
- $289,000 in reimbursement authority and 6.0 personnel years to continue the collection of data by border station employees on beverage containers entering the State. Funding is provided by the Department of Conservation.
- $4,542,000 and 88.3 personnel years to continue the intensive inspections of agricultural commodities entering California at major air and maritime ports of entry pursuant to Chapter 1612, Statutes of 1990, (SB 2772).

20.20 Control and Eradication of Plant Pests and Diseases

Program Element Statement

This element, working cooperatively with county personnel, establishes boundaries of current infestations of plant pests or diseases and locations of known hosts to determine the potential for spreading; applies chemicals or releases bio-control agents to treat the infested areas; and systematically follows up to determine the effectiveness of the treatment. The Weed and Vertebrate Pest Program includes testing, development, and supervision of control methods. The Branch also administers the curly top and pink bollworm assessment programs, which support the related control and research activities. Training programs are prepared, conducted and evaluated for county personnel.

Budget Adjustments

20.25 Pest Detection and Emergency Projects

Program Element Statement

This element provides for a trained group to be able to respond immediately to emergencies and any serious and damaging invasion of a plant pest or disease and to assure early detection of agricultural pests and diseases. Response activities involve statewide detection programs, training of other governmental agency personnel, and quality control of all statewide detection activities.

Pest detection is cooperatively conducted by County Agricultural Commissioners under the general supervision, guidance and evaluation of State personnel. Activities include systematic trapping, visual surveys, and remote sensing techniques involving aircraft and satellite photos, and computer interpretations.

This element provides: 1) statewide detection of plant pests including trapping and special surveys; 2) training of county and other governmental agency employees in detection techniques; 3) oversight and coordination of county pest detection programs; and 4) immediate response to plant pest infestations in order to eradicate them.

Budget Adjustments

● In 1990-91, a $6,021,000 deficiency has been proposed for funding the Mediterranean Fruit Fly eradication program in Los Angeles, Orange and San Bernardino Counties. The actual costs are still under review.

20.30 Analysis and Identification

Program Element Statement

The five laboratories included in this element are Botany, Entomology, Nematology, Plant Pathology, and Seed Taxonomy/Germination. These laboratories: 1) identify plants and seeds, plant pathogens and disorders, nematodes, insects and related arthropods and mollusks; 2) monitor and record germination rate, type and percent of noxious weed seeds present in samples; 3) maintain pest collections and records, and distribute pest detection devices; 4) grow and maintain indicator plants for testing; 5) serve as professional resource centers in fields of botany, plant pathology, nematology, and entomology; and, 6) gather, store and serve as a source of technical information regarding exotic pests. These services support Department programs including pest exclusion, pest detection and emergency projects, control and eradication, pesticide management, environmental protection, animal industry, and the nursery and seed services. Service is provided to Federal agencies, county agricultural commissioners, universities and museums, the extension service, other states and foreign countries, as well as the general public.

20.40 Nursery Service

Program Element Statement

This element initiates and maintains programs to coordinate and supervise county agricultural commissioners' enforcement of State laws which regulate the growing, handling, and distribution of nursery stock. Persons selling nursery stock are licensed to enable effective enforcement work.

The unit provides uniformity in regulation enforcement and leadership in pest detection programs while ensuring sufficient freedom of movement of nursery stock to keep the nursery trade from becoming involved in restrictive quarantines and to assure orderly marketing. Nursery Service also engages in cooperative research to solve nursery-related pest problems and provides voluntary registration and certification programs as a means of producing and marketing plants relatively free of virus diseases, disorders, and plant pests.

The nursery services are supported entirely by fees collected for licenses and services performed in nursery stock registration and certification activities.

20.50 Seed Potato Certification Service

Program Element Statement

California's seed potato certification program commenced in 1915 when it became evident that potatoes could no longer be produced commercially unless seed, meeting strict standards of pest cleanliness and varietal purity, was available for planting. The fitness of potatoes to qualify for certification is determined by inspection and testing of plants and tubers for serious pests, grade standards, and varietal purity.

Approximately 900 acres of seed potatoes are entered for certification annually. This acreage is grown and harvested over a 12-month period throughout the State. The service is supported entirely by acreage and test plot fees.

Program Element Statement

This element provides protection to growers by ensuring that commercial seed is free from prohibited noxious weed seeds and is properly labeled with regard to quality statements and fungicide treatments. This is accomplished through coordination and supervision of inspection, enforcement, and seed certification that is performed by county agricultural commissioners.

The industry supports the total enforcement cost of the California Seed Law and up to one-third of the associated laboratory costs.

The element also administers the San Joaquin Valley Quality Cotton District Act, which establishes an elected Cotton Board and conducts the non-approved variety testing program. The Board is authorized to approve those cotton varieties which meet Fiber Quality Standards, thus assuring the growth of the most profitable and uniform cotton varieties. Funding is provided by an assessment upon cottonseed delinted for planting within the cotton district.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, Chapter 1622, Statutes of 1990, (AB 2983), provided $600,000 and 6.4 personnel years to operate the Sterile Mediterranean Fruit Fly Production Facility in Hawaii.

25 ANIMAL PEST AND DISEASE PREVENTION/INSPECTION SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

The Division of Animal Industry's primary responsibilities are to prevent, detect, diagnose, control, and whenever practical, eradicate animal diseases and pests. An important function is the planning and preparation to respond immediately to an introduction of an emergency disease. Of particular concern are those diseases or pests which can be transmitted to humans, can cause serious financial losses to the livestock and poultry industry in California, or can adversely affect the supply of animal products to the consumer. Inspections of meat, poultry, and milk and dairy products are essential to assure consumers that products are safe, wholesome, and properly labeled. This Division also helps to protect the livestock industry against loss of animals by theft and straying.

The Division is comprised of five elements: Animal Health, Meat and Poultry Inspection, Milk and Dairy Foods Control, Livestock Identification and the California Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory System. The Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory System is administered through contract with the University of California, School of Veterinary Medicine.

25.10 Animal Health

Program Element Statement

The Animal Health Branch provides an organized statewide preventive veterinary medical service program designed to assist with ensuring an adequate wholesome food supply, and to aid in protecting the public health. These responsibilities are met by detection, control, eradication, and prevention of animal disease in the State. Detection activities include surveillance, examination, testing, and autopsies performed both in the field and the laboratories.

Disease control is accomplished through vaccination, testing, and elimination of infected animals, cleaning and disinfection of trucks and premises, and restriction of animal movement by hold orders, quarantines, or controlled destination movement permits for animals with disease, exposed to disease, or contaminated with deleterious substances.

Disease eradication efforts are accomplished through state and national programs to break the cycle of infection by test and removal of infected animals, sterilization of garbage fed to swine, sanitation of hatching eggs, and herd treatment for external parasites. Owners of removed animals are in some cases indemnified for a portion of the animal's value.

Preventive activities are directed against the entry of diseases which do not currently exist in California. This is accomplished by destroying ship and aircraft garbage, inspecting imported animals, disease monitoring and educational efforts, and quarantines when applicable. An important function is the planning and preparation to respond immediately to an introduction of an emergency disease. The planning includes devising systems and methodologies, training field personnel, eliminating constraints and increasing effectiveness and efficiency of procedures utilized in eradication efforts.

The Branch also seeks to prevent the fraudulent drugging of horses that would alter their disposition in a public sale or performance.

Through an interagency agreement, the University of California, School of Veterinary Medicine at Davis provides diagnostic laboratory services in support of foreign and domestic livestock disease detection, control, and eradication activities at a central reference laboratory and four branch laboratories. Utilizing the disciplines of pathology, bacteriology, virology, serology, parasitology, and toxicology, information is developed and reported concerning diseases of both human and animal significance. Information is furnished to State and Federal animal health regulatory agencies, state and county public health departments, State Meat Inspection, Milk and Dairy Foods Control, and university and extension veterinarians. Specified services are provided to the poultry, beef, dairy, sheep, swine, and horse industries on a partial recovery fee basis.

25.30 Meat and Poultry Inspection

Program Element Statement

The purpose of the Meat and Poultry Inspection Branch is to provide meat and poultry inspection services in slaughterhouses and processing plants, which are exempt from federal inspection, to ensure that all meat and poultry food products produced or consumed in the State are disease free, wholesome, unadulterated, and truthfully labeled.

Many animal diseases are transmissible to individuals through the meat they eat. Pesticides, antibiotics, pathogenic microorganisms, carcinogenic compounds, additives and deceptive extenders used in meat products and meat from animals which died other than by slaughter are undetectable by the consumer. The Branch provides inspection in establishments slaughtering domesticated pigeons, squabs, pheasants, quail, or rabbits, establishments slaughtering less than 20,000 turkeys or 20,000 chickens per year, livestock custom slaughter plants, establishments preparing meat food products such as hams and cooked sausages that sell such products to individual consumers on the premises where produced, and pet food slaughter and pet food processing plants.

In meeting program objectives, the Branch:

Performs ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection of livestock and poultry, enforces AQL (Acceptable Quality Level) standards of poultry carcasses and parts, implements moisture and chilling temperature control of poultry, marks and denatures carcasses and parts not intended for food purposes, reviews records to prevent diversion of condemned and inedible materials into human and pet food channels, provides fat and moisture control of cooked sausages, controls the use of nitrites, and other additives, monitors trichinae control in pork and pork products, and enforces sanitation, facilities, and equipment standards.

25.40 Milk and Dairy Foods Control

Program Element Statement

The objectives of the Milk and Dairy Foods Control Branch are to insure that milk, milk products and products resembling milk products are safe and unadulterated, and to insure that these products meet state and federal compositional requirements and are properly labeled.

Branch staff provide training and supervision for local Approved Milk Inspection Services (AMIS) to develop statewide uniformity of compliance. Staff additionally certify dairy farms, milk plants and sources of single-services dairy containers for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for interstate sales and for use by milk processors selling products to federal entities. They inspect or supervise the inspection of manufacturing grade dairy farms, make inspections of milk processing plants and provide product grading service for the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In addition, the branch insures that tests used to determine the basis for payment for milk or cream are accurate.

25.60 Livestock Identification

Program Element Statement

The Livestock Identification Branch staff protects cattle owners in California against loss of animals by theft, straying, or misappropriation. This is accomplished by the registration of livestock brands; inspection of cattle for lawful possession prior to transportation, sale, or slaughter, and the recording of the information obtained by such inspections; and assisting local law enforcement officials with investigations and prosecutions involving cattle theft.

Livestock owners pay the total cost of the program, including overhead charges. The primary sources of revenue are from brand registration and inspection fees.

30.10 Marketing Trust

Program Element Statement

This element currently provides administrative, marketing, and some accounting services to a varying number of marketing programs. Activities carried on under these programs include market development through advertising and sales promotion, production, processing and marketing research, the establishment of quality regulations with inspection, and the prohibition of unfair trade practices for various farm products. This element is supported by marketing trust monies collected by the Department from industry groups operating under authority of the Marketing Act of 1937 and other marketing laws. This element is exempt from budgetary review under the provisions of Section 221 of the Food and Agricultural Code.

The major benefit of the marketing trust program is the protection provided to the consumer by assuring an adequate supply of pure and wholesome food products at a fair and reasonable price. The total cost of promoting orderly marketing of the commodities concerned is paid by the producers and handlers through fees and assessments. The personnel years and dollars shown below reflect the civil service employees within the Department that are involved in the centralized administration of the various marketing programs.

30.21 Market News

Program Element Statement

The Market News component is under a cooperative agreement operated with the United States Department of Agriculture as the Federal-State Market News Service.

Agricultural marketing data is collected from farmers, buyers, dealers, shippers, auction sales companies, and others involved in the marketing process. All data is given to Market News representatives on a voluntary basis, including confidential information such as an individual's or firm's selling prices, volume sold, volume processed, shipments, and market conditions. Information from the many sources is consolidated into Market News reports and disseminated to the public by telephone, teletype, radio, TV, printed reports, newspapers, and trade journals.

California markets the largest food and agricultural production of any state, with a large portion shipped to eastern consuming centers. The exchange of current marketing guidelines nationwide gives California the timely information needed to economically market several billion dollars worth of perishable food commodities each year. The unbiased third-party information provided by the Federal-State Market News Service assists in creating a better economic balance between buyer and seller, thereby benefiting both the producing and consuming public.

30.30 Agricultural Statistics

Program Element Statement

The California Agricultural Statistics Service is a federal-state entity operating under a cooperative agreement between the Department of Food and Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service. The responsibility of this element is to prepare and distribute statistics on California agriculture. These statistics are used as a basis for production and marketing decisions by those in agriculture and allied industries. The growing complexity of California agriculture has expanded the need for "farm facts" and increased the demand for their precision.

The statistical series provide estimates of acres planted and harvested, production, stocks, and utilization of crops. Forecasts of yield and production are issued monthly during the growing season. Also prepared and published are statistics covering inventory numbers, production, and prices of livestock and poultry and their products, and periodic reports of weather, crop and range conditions. The Service is also responsible for estimating California exports.

Newer sampling techniques and improved estimating procedures provide forecasts of production with greater precision than in past years. The improved estimating procedures include objective cotton, rice, wheat, and fruit counts, probability list sampling, area frame sampling, multiple frame sampling, and the use of aerial photography.

30.40 Milk Marketing

Program Element Statement

The Milk Marketing element is authorized to establish the minimum prices paid to producers by handlers under standards established by the Legislature. The program also has responsibility for controlling unfair practices in the milk industry. These responsibilities include the prohibition against sales below cost and discriminatory prices, which undermine competitive forces in the industry. It also administers a milk producers security trust fund which provides some reimbursement to milk producers for handler payment defaults.

Another major responsibility is administering the Milk Pooling Act, which provides the standards for distributing the monthly statewide revenue, derived from the sale of bulk market milk to handlers, to California dairy producers based on their individual entitlements.

30.70 Market Enforcement

Program Element Statement

Through licensing provisions of the Food and Agricultural Code, this component exercises control upon the activities of middlemen and processors of farm products to ensure that fair marketing practices prevail.

Mandatory provisions require investigation and settlement procedures when complaints against handlers are received from producers or other suppliers of farm products. In the event that settlement negotiations are not successful, the authority provides for formal hearings where disposition of the complaint may be either by dismissal or disciplinary action against the licensee in the form of probation, suspension, or revocation of his license. This activity is handled by a field staff under the supervision of supervising investigators.

Preventive and deterrent effects are achieved through examination of licensee's records to assure that the licensee is conducting his business in an acceptable manner. This part of the activity is handled by auditing licensees.

30.80 Agricultural Cooperative Bargaining

Program Element Statement

This element administers and enforces the Cooperative Bargaining Association Law. The purpose is to discourage and/or prevent unfair trade practices between processors, handlers and distributors or their agents and cooperative bargaining associations or their agents with respect to bargaining for price and other contractual terms of sale. These unfair trade practices include coercing or boycotting producers who are members of bargaining associations, discriminating against any producer with respect to price and any other terms of purchase because of membership in a bargaining association, and refusing to negotiate or bargain at reasonable times with a genuine desire to reach agreement by either party on price and other contractual terms of sale. Each of these unfair trade practices interferes with the efforts of bargaining associations and/or processors in exercising their rights granted in the law.

40.15 Commercial Fertilizer Control

Program Element Statement

Approximately four million tons of fertilizing materials are used annually by the producers of food and fiber crops and the home gardener, representing a value of about $500,000,000.

This component provides protection to the buyers and users of plant food, soil amendments, agricultural minerals and auxiliary soil chemicals.

Users depend upon complete label information for purchase decisions and proper application instructions. Further, the user relies on label integrity to achieve the lowest unit production cost. Mislabeling or adulteration can result in serious economic loss to the user.

Intensive inspection and sampling are used to determine product compliance with State labeling requirements. These activities are supported by registration fees and mill tax assessments.

40.21 Feed and Livestock Drug Control

Program Element Statement

This component provides protection to producers of livestock and poultry through product registration and label enforcement activities.

Complete labeling is necessary so that producers can select and use products with confidence and efficiency. Inspection, sampling, and laboratory testing assures that commercial feeds and feed additives will not cause illegal drug and pesticide residues or other contaminants in food products purchased by consumers and that such products will be safe and wholesome.

Livestock drugs require registration and proper labeling so that livestock and poultry producers can depend on these products to control disease problems safely and effectively. Random monitoring of the user is performed to ensure that label directions are being followed to prevent the possibility of illegal residues in meat, milk and eggs.

An intensive inspection program supports labeling requirements and conformance with required regulations. It is supported by license fees, registration fees and tonnage tax assessments.

40.25 Grain and Commodity Inspection

Program Element Statement

This component provides inspection and grade certification services for grains, rice, beans, peas, hops, hay, safflower, and certain processed commodities in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. Authority is derived from the United States Grain Standards Act, Agricultural Marketing Act, and California law. An additional activity is supervision of official weighing of grains shipped from and received by export elevators.

Grade and weight certificates issued by the Grain and Commodity Inspection element are generally accepted as proof of quality and quantity and are used as a basis for the domestic and export trade of grain and other commodities. Inspection offices are located throughout California wherever demand for services is sufficient. Except for export grain inspection and weighing activities, the services are voluntary. All services are completely supported by user fees.

The purpose of this component is to inspect eggs and egg products to assure compliance with minimum California and United States Department of Agriculture standards of quality, size and labeling; to assure California consumers only wholesome eggs and egg products of established quality are marketed and properly labeled; to furnish the California egg industry with a means of maintaining a fair and equitable marketing standard.

Inspections are performed at production, wholesale and retail levels by county agricultural personnel who are trained and supervised by California personnel. In addition, California personnel are responsible for the collection of fees on all eggs sold in California. The fees are paid by egg dealers and support the total administrative cost of the program and a portion of the County Agricultural Commissioners' cost of enforcement.

40.55 Shipping Point Inspection

Program Element Statement

The objective of this component is to fill a need in the marketing system for unbiased inspection certification by furnishing third party inspection service when requested by industry and approved by the Director. This service provides applicants with a certificate based on federal, State, or industry standards that accurately describes the quality, condition, grade and size of fresh fruits, nuts and vegetables grown in California and destined for commercial resale or processing usage.

The major benefits are the establishment of an orderly marketing condition, assurance of maximum protection to the allied segments of the agricultural industry, and minimization of losses to producer, processor, buyer, receiver and carrier. Further residual benefits are received by the consumer. Through quality control and economical marketing, both better acceptance and monetary savings are realized.

Shipping Point Inspection is funded by fees charged for inspection and certification of California produce.

40.60 Canning Cling Peach Inspection

Program Element Statement

The purpose of this component is to inspect each load of cling peaches destined for processing for quality; assure the Cling Peach Advisory Board, which operates under a State marketing order program, that quality information is accurate; assure that inspection procedures are uniformly applied statewide; and provide these services economically, efficiently, and safely.

The major benefit of this program is the protection and assistance given to the producer and processor by an impartial third party by providing accurate and uniform analysis of all loads and issuance of an inspection certificate which provides a communicative link between producer and processor for payment purposes. ## 40.65 Processing Tomato Inspection

Program Element Statement

The purpose of this component is to inspect each load of tomatoes destined for processing for quality and color; assure the processing Tomato Advisory Board and industry that grade and color information is accurate; assure that inspection procedures are uniformly applied statewide; and provide this service economically, efficiently, and safely.

The major benefit of this program is the protection and assistance given to the producer and processor by an impartial third party by providing accurate and uniform analysis of every load of canning tomatoes and issuance of an inspection certificate which provides a communicative link between producer and processor for payment purposes.

The program is entirely self supporting. The inspection fee is shared equally by the producer and processor.

Program Element Statement

Agricultural Resources manages projects, evaluates and recommends policies related to agricultural resources, such as land, water, and energy. Agricultural Resources coordinates agricultural weather activities in the state. Agricultural Resources tests and demonstrate solutions to technological, economic and ecological aspects of farm production in order to meet the demands of the agricultural industry and the general public. Agricultural Resources represents the Department in the California Environmental Quality Act process. The Agricultural Resources Branch works extensively in cooperation with State and Federal agencies, agriculture industry groups, agricultural commissioners, and individual farmers to develop systems to maximize plant (farm) productivity and economic viability.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the reporting responsibility of Program Element 80.40—Agricultural Resources was transferred from Program 80 General Agricultural Activities and Emergency Funding to Program 40 Food and Agricultural Standards/Inspection Services. The transfer to Program element 40.80 reflects the actual reporting structure of this element.

50 MEASUREMENT STANDARDS

Program Objectives Statement

In order to provide a basis of value comparison for consumers and fair competition for industry, the Division of Measurement Standards is responsible for providing the standards of measurement necessary for the use of commercial weighing and measuring devices; quantity verification of both bulk and packaged sales of goods and commodities; and quality, advertising and labeling standards for most petroleum products. In excess of $350 billion of commerce is subject to the standards of weights and measures. The Division works closely with county weights and measures officials who, under the direction and supervision of the Director, carry out the majority of the local weights and measures enforcement activities. During the last budget year, county contributions to weights and measures activities exceeded $12.6 million.

Program Objectives Statement

The State has a total of 80 county fairs, citrus fruit fairs and district fairs. The majority of county fairs are conducted by nonprofit corporations under contract with county boards of supervisors. Citrus fruit fairs are State instrumentalities operated by nonprofit corporations. District fairs are operated by district agricultural associations, which are State institutions with Governor-appointed directors. State support for these local fairs is administered by the Division of Fairs and Expositions, which oversees budget approval and the capital outlay program.

80.60 Agricultural Export Program

Program Element Statement

The goal of this program is to encourage and promote the sale of agricultural products of California in foreign markets to assist farmers, processors, distributors and exporters in meeting world market needs. The program will provide long-term farm profitability by creating stable overseas markets among foreign buyers that need and can afford to purchase California's products. This will be accomplished through project agreements with cooperators wherein the cooperator agrees to conduct activities that both address constraints and encourage development or maintenance of agricultural commodity export sales. Cooperators will be required to provide an annual contribution equal to or greater than the amount of State funds utilized for each project agreement. Export promotion is also achieved by maintaining an electronic trade leads system that matches foreign importers with California sellers; and conducting an active, aggressive market development program designed to increase demand for California's agricultural products through trade shows, buyers' missions and in-store promotions.

8620 FAIR POLITICAL PRACTICES COMMISSION

The Fair Political Practices Commission has primary responsibility for the impartial administration and implementation of the Political Reform Act of 1974. The objectives of the Political Reform Act are to: (1) ensure that election campaign expenditure data is fully and accurately disclosed so that the voters may be fully informed and to inhibit improper financial practices; (2) regulate the activities of lobbyists and disclose their finances to prevent any improper influencing of public officials; (3) provide for the disclosure of assets and income of public officials which may affect their official actions to avoid any conflicts of interest; (4) ensure that the state ballot pamphlet contains useful and adequate information so that the voters will not be entirely dependent upon paid advertising for information concerning state measures; (5) eliminate laws and practices that unfairly favor incumbents to provide for fair elections; and, (6) provide adequate mechanisms to public officials and to private citizens to ensure vigorous enforcement of the Act. To fulfill this responsibility the Commission adopts rules and regulations; issues opinions to persons who request them; prepares and publishes manuals and instructions to facilitate compliance with and enforcement of the Act; provides assistance to agencies and public officials in administering the Act; investigates possible violations; conducts hearings and applies sanctions provided by the Act; provides technical assistance to state and local agencies in the preparation of conflict of interest codes; and, reviews and approves the codes of state agencies, county boards of supervisors, city councils, and all local government agencies with jurisdiction in more than one county.

MAJOR BUDGET ADJUSTMENTS

In 1990-91, the budget included $164,000 and 3.8 personnel years for the continuation of funding for the provisions of Chapter 1452/89 (SB 1431) related to enforcement of regulations on the personal use of campaign funds. In addition, $122,000 and 1.9 personnel years were included for implementation of the ethics and conflict of interest provisions of Chapter 84/90 (SB 1738).

The 1991-92 budget proposes a continuation of the funding in the amount of $122,000 and 1.9 personnel years for Chapter 84/90 to allow administration, interpretation, and enforcement of its provisions.

8660 PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

The objectives of the Public Utilities Commission are:

1. To provide the public with the lowest reasonable rates for services by utilities and transportation companies.
2. To make certain that utilities and transportation companies render adequate service and have sufficient facilities to meet the needs of the public.
3. To ensure that the public has stable, efficient utilities and transportation services by controlling and limiting entry into the field to those applicants with financial responsibility and demonstrated capability to render adequate service.
4. To promote public safety and accident reduction by establishing and enforcing safety regulations for utility and transportation companies, as well as for railroad highway grade crossings.
5. To determine the just compensation for the acquisition of utility or transportation company property by political subdivisions of the State.

10 REGULATION OF UTILITIES

Program Objectives Statement

Utilities in California have been granted exceptional powers and privileges by the State, including exclusive service areas, which preclude customers from obtaining service from others. State regulation is necessary to protect the public interest and to ensure fair and impartial rates as well as adequate service facilities rendered by stable, financially responsible companies. Regulatory controls have also been established to promote the safety of employees, customers and the public at large.

The objective is to provide the public with adequate and safe utility services at the lowest reasonable rates.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

10.10 Regulation of Rates

Program Element Statement

The Commission's responsibility for the establishment and maintenance of reasonable rates for utility service is accomplished by making intensive studies of cost of service, cost of physical plant, earnings and financial analyses which are entered into evidence at public hearings. Similar studies are made to form the basis for negotiated rate settlements and reductions. The Commission's attorney represents the people of the State of California and the Commission in all proceedings involving any questions under the Public Utilities Act and any order or act of the Commission. The Commission participates in rate and certification proceedings before federal regulatory commissions and in the courts.

10.20 Service and Facilities

Program Element Statement

Utility services are regulated through Commission orders issued as a result of investigations, studies and public hearings related to the adequacy of service and facilities. A large part of new facilities are financed through the issuance of stocks or bonds which require Commission authorization prior to issuance. The control and supervision of financing practices of utilities is essential because of the effect of such practices on capital costs and the availability of capital funds; both are important elements in providing adequate service at reasonable costs to utility customers. Commission authorization is required for security issuance and such related matters as transfers of utility properties, mergers and consolidations for the purpose of assuring sound, well-balanced financing and capital structures.

With a continual growth in the general population and the number of customers in the State, the number of service connections and the related activities of maintaining adequate service and facilities will also continue to expand.

10.30 Certification

Program Element Statement

Before utilities can exercise any rights or privileges of franchise, they must obtain certification that public convenience and necessity require their exercise of these rights.

New or existing entities file applications for certification of public convenience and necessity to construct or extend facilities to areas not previously serviced. The processing of the application involves studies and investigations covering financing programs, operations and reasonableness of initial rates.

10.40 Safety

Program Element Statement

The safety element of the Commission's regulation of utilities program is divided into three components: gas safety, electric safety and telephone safety.

In its endeavor to meet the objectives of this element, the Commission establishes minimum standards for the construction, operation and maintenance of utility plants to promote the health and safety of employees and the public.

Accident reports and other utility reports are made to ensure that these standards are maintained. This is accomplished through field investigations, tests of utility plants and examination of methods of construction, operating procedures and maintenance; and public hearings where appropriate.

20 REGULATION OF TRANSPORTATION

Program Objectives Statement

The Commission regulates various privately owned for-hire passenger and freight transportation companies including motor carriers, railroads, vessels and pipelines as well as transit guideway systems. The program for the regulation of transportation protects the public interest in matters relating to rates, service, licensing and safety.

The main responsibilities of the program are: (1) to maintain a healthy, efficient and competitive transportation system; (2) to ensure public access to services with rates which are just, reasonable and free from unlawful discrimination; (3) to promote competitive price options for a range of service levels in response to market demands; (4) to enforce rates, rules, regulations and statutory requirements; (5) to enforce requirements for permits and licenses to operate transportation services and collect related fees; and (6) to ensure safety of rail transit systems and railroad-highway crossings.

The Commission's regulatory responsibilities are discharged through administrative actions and through decisions and orders which, except for non-contested matters, are based on evidence presented by staff and interested parties in public hearings.

Budget Adjustments

In 1990-91, the following budget adjustment is reflected:

- An increase of 4.5 positions (3.2 personnel years) and $209,000 appropriated by Chapter 518, Statutes of 1990, which directs the Commission to develop uniform operating standards for charter-party carriers.

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of 6 positions (5.7 personnel years) and $408,000 to process railroad safety and rail transit safety workload related to newly authorized transportation projects.
- An increase of 4.5 positions (1.4 personnel years) and $141,000 to reflect the 1991-92 cost of Chapter 518, Statutes of 1990 (charter-party carriers).
- An increase of 0.8 positions (0.7 personnel years) and $55,000 for Chapter 373, Statutes of 1990, which directs the Commission to assess specified fines upon unlawful household goods carriers.
- An increase of 3 positions (2.9 personnel years) and $90,000 to enforce highway carrier equipment safety regulations.
- An increase of 4 positions (3.8 personnel years) and $108,000 to process workers' compensation insurance filings for highway carriers.

20.10 Regulation of Rates

Program Element Statement

The rate element of the transportation regulation program provides for Commission oversight of pricing activities of trucking firms, railroads, passenger bus lines, vessel carriers, pipelines and related companies.

The Commission approves and establishes freight rates and passenger fares in accordance with constitutional and statutory requirements that such prices be just, reasonable and nondiscriminatory. Rate regulation varies in form according to mode of transportation, carrier and commodity classifications within modes, but it is generally directed to ensure adequate service, efficient operations, equal competitive opportunity and freedom from destructive rate wars.

The Commission supervises carrier pricing practices through informal staff activities as well as through formal quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial proceedings. The public has the right to petition, complain and seek judicial review of all rates subject to Commission regulation.

A variety of activities related to rate and fare regulation are performed in Commission offices throughout the State. The Commission maintains as legal documents open to public inspection, tariffs and contracts filed by carriers or their agents. Rate and fare filings are reviewed in accordance with statutory and administrative criteria and are then either accepted or rejected. Evaluation of price adjustments involves cost factor research, cost allocation studies, prevailing wage criteria and other economic studies. Information and assistance concerning rates, fares and regulations are furnished to carriers and the general public upon request. An important aspect of rate regulation is the enforcement of rates and rules to ensure uniform observance by all carriers.

20.20 Service and Facilities

Program Element Statement

This element includes four functions: freight service, passenger operations, rail transportation and consumer protection.

The Commission is responsible for ensuring that an adequate level of service is provided by carriers of property. It must evaluate such service with regard to geographical areas (particularly small communities), types of commodities, classes of shippers and volume of shipments. The program considers service level changes, discontinuance of service and the desirability of new service. Traffic flow and other operating performance reports are made available to the public, transportation companies and staff who monitor carrier service.

The Commission is empowered by the State Constitution and statutes to regulate the operations of most privately-operated passenger carriers in California. The Commission performs in-depth investigations and analyses of the service provided by passenger carriers, and formulates policies, procedures and regulations affecting numerous carrier services including intercity buses, charter-party carriers, home to work carriers, airport access and other specialized services.

Commission staff consult with passenger carriers to develop new bus services and improve and coordinate existing services and routes.

By maintaining carrier tariffs and timetables, the Commission staff ensures that the passenger carriers fulfill their service obligations of providing reliable transportation.

To ensure adequate train service, the Commission analyzes passenger and freight train operations, facilities and equipment in light of existing service and proposed service changes. The analyses include investigations and reports, as well as testimony before the Public Utilities Commission and Interstate Commerce Commission in hearings on proposals of railroads to initiate and discontinue privately operated passenger trains, merge railroad companies and abandon rail lines. The Commission consults and advises other government agencies on the establishment of new rail service and improvement of existing service including intermodal facilities necessary for inter-urban rail passenger service.

The Commission staff responds to consumer complaints regarding motor freight and passenger transportation. Many of these complaints involve loss or damage of used household goods or general freight. Other complaints are concerned with passenger service or lack of service by common carriers who are obligated by the terms of their certificates to serve certain geographical areas. Rules are established for consumer protection which include provisions for loss and damage claims on property shipments and compliance with passenger service standards as set forth in tariffs and timetables. The Commission provides public information and assistance for resolving service complaints and has offices located throughout the State.

20.30 Licensing

Program Element Statement

The Transportation Division administers programs which control entry, continuance and discontinuance of for-hire transportation companies.

The Commission's licensing responsibilities include:

1. Public utility motor carriers of property.
2. Public utility bus and other passenger motor carriers.
3. Vessels which carry passengers and property.
4. Express corporations, freight forwarders and motor transportation brokers.
5. Interstate and foreign motor carriers operating in California.
6. Commercial air operators.

The Licensing element has five functions:

1. Evaluation of the need for passenger and freight transportation services and issuance of the kinds and numbers of operating authority which will adequately satisfy this need.
2. Determination of the character and amount of insurance and bonds required to protect the public. Verification of minimum insurance coverage by the regulated carriers.
3. Development of financial, operational and managerial standards required for entry into specific classes of carriers.
4. Coordination with the California Highway Patrol and other law enforcement agencies and the Department of Motor Vehicles to ensure that carriers authorized by the Commission to operate are inspected for mechanical deficiencies and proper maintenance procedures.
5. Support functions including collection of fees and taxes.

The Licensing element responsibilities are performed by three branches of the Transportation Division. Passenger matters relating to buses, railroads and vessels and verification of insurance coverage for commercial air operators are assigned to the Passenger Operations Branch. Administrative control for freight motor carrier operators is the responsibility of the Tariff and License Branch. Both of these branches rely on the Compliance and Enforcement Branch to implement statutory and Commission established license standards and requirements by obtaining compliance of the affected businesses.

20.40 Safety

Program Element Statement

The safety element in the regulation of transportation program is divided into the following functions: railroad, grade crossing, and rail rapid transit and public transit guideway systems. The railroad safety function is concerned with the promotion, adoption and enforcement of safe and efficient operations by railroads and the maintenance of their facilities in compliance with Commission orders and State law. In the grade crossing function, the Commission evaluates the need for the installation of automatic protection devices, the closure of unnecessary crossings and the construction of underpasses or overpasses at dangerous railroad-highway crossings. The rail rapid transit and public transit guideway safety functions provide independent safety oversight of all planned and operating rail transit and fixed guideway transit systems.

20.50 Just Compensation

Program Element Statement

Upon petition by a political subdivision, the Commission determines the just compensation for the acquisition of a transportation company's property. The determination of just compensation and the terms and conditions or compensation involve valuation, depreciation, appraisal and financial studies.

No work is planned in this element until a political subdivision of the State makes a formal request for such services.

30 ADMINISTRATION

Budget Adjustments

In 1991-92, the following budget adjustments are proposed:

- An increase of $1,720,000 to upgrade the Commission's office automation system.
- An increase of $294,000 for increased hardware maintenance costs and software license fees.
- An increase of $127,000 for scheduled building maintenance.

11 CITIZENS INDEMNIFICATION

Program Objectives Statement

This program indemnifies those citizens who are injured and suffer financial hardship as a result of a crime, or who sustain damage or injury while performing acts which benefit the public. The victim of a crime, a citizen performing an act beneficial to the public, or any person dependent upon the victim or citizen for support may file a claim with the State Board of Control. Eligibility is determined by the Board, as authorized by Chapter 1144, Statutes of 1973, after an investigation of the claim is conducted by the staff. The Board currently contracts with 21 local Victim Witness Centers for the processing of a portion of these claims.

Budget Adjustments

For 1990-91, the budget proposes the following adjustments:

- An increase of $135,000 (Restitution Fund) and 7.0 positions (3.4 PY) to implement Chapter 1254, Statutes of 1990, which establishes expedited payment schedules for specified victims claims.

For 1991-92, the budget proposes the following adjustments:

- An increase of $6,376,000 (Restitution Fund) to continue permanently 96.5 limited-term staff positions (91.7 PY) which expire on June 30, 1991 and to establish 35.0 new positions (33.2 PY) on a two-year limited-term basis to address projected claims workload.
- An increase of $382,000 (Restitution Fund) to reimburse the Health and Welfare Data Center for communication/equipment leasing costs and storage/transaction costs ($220,000), and the purchase of printing equipment and lease buy-outs ($162,000).
- An increase of $67,000 (Restitution Fund) and 1.0 position (0.9 PY) on a two-year limited-term basis to establish a hearing officer to conduct Board hearings in diversified areas and improve the level of service to victims of crime.
- An increase of $236,000 (Restitution Fund) and 7.0 positions (6.6 PY) to continue the implementation of Chapter 1254, Statutes of 1990, which establishes expedited payment schedules for specified victims claims.

8730 COMMISSION ON STATE FINANCE

Program Objective Statement

The Commission on State Finance, which was created in 1979, provides the Legislature, the Governor and the public with independent and non-partisan General Fund revenue, expenditure and economic forecasts. These forecasts assist the Legislature and the Governor in establishing an appropriate, timely and coordinated fiscal policy for the State.

Members of the Commission include the following or their designees: the President pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly, the Senate Minority Floor Leader, the Assembly Minority Floor Leader, the Director of Finance, the State Controller and the State Treasurer.

The Commission also has the responsibility to produce an annual long-range forecast of General Fund revenue and expenditures extending ten years. The Commission prepares semi-annual reports assessing the impact of selected federal government expenditures on California's economy, revenues and employment. In addition, the Commission is required to compute the California Necessities Index, which is used to determine the annual cost-of-living adjustments for various health and welfare programs.

To carry out the required duties, the Commission is empowered to examine the records of State agencies, hold hearings and contract for studies and reports.

Authority

Government Code, Title 2, Division 3, Part 3.2, Section 13885-13894.

COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENTS

Program Objectives Statement

The Council of State Governments (CSG) was established in 1933 to foster interstate cooperation and improve state representation on matters before the federal government by means of regional conferences, research, information services and direct assistance.

The CSG is a joint agency of all fifty states and is directed by state officials, primarily governors and legislators, who serve on the governing board and the executive committee. The council has its headquarters in Lexington, Kentucky and regional offices in San Francisco, Atlanta, New York, and Washington D.C. The council is funded through assessments based upon each state's population.

The CSG's 1988-89 budget was augmented by $75,000 to make planning money available for the 1989 western regional conference, for which California was the host state. The $75,000, along with $5,000 in interest, was repaid to the General Fund on October 31, 1989.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF STATE LEGISLATURES

Program Objectives Statement

The National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL), created in 1975, is composed of legislators from the fifty states, and the United States' territories and commonwealths. Its mission is to improve the quality and effectiveness of state legislatures, foster interstate communication and cooperation and ensure state legislatures a strong voice in the federal system. It is funded primarily through formula-based appropriations from member legislatures.

WESTERN STATES LEGISLATIVE FORESTRY TASK FORCE

Program Objectives Statement

Organized in 1974, the Western States Legislative Forestry Task Force provides a forum for legislators from six western states and two Canadian provinces to monitor and discuss issues pertaining to the management of forestry resources.

PACIFIC FISHERIES LEGISLATIVE TASK FORCE

Program Objectives Statement

The Pacific Fisheries Legislative Task Force (PFLTFF) was formed as a mechanism for dealing with Pacific fisheries, aquaculture and seafood issues. Any state or territory of the United States bordering, or with streams tributary to, the Pacific Ocean may become a participating member.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

It is jointly sponsored by the Council of State Governments, the National Conference of State Legislatures and the National Governors' Association.

NATIONAL GOVERNORS' ASSOCIATION

Program Objectives Statement

The National Governors' Association (NGA), founded in 1908, represents the Governors of the fifty states and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Northern Mariana Islands and the territories of the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa. Its missions are to influence the development and implementation of national policy and to apply creative leadership to state problems. Both the NGA and its affiliate agency, the Council of State Policy and Planning Agencies, are funded through assessments based on each state's population.

COUNCIL OF STATE POLICY AND PLANNING AGENCIES

Program Objectives Statement

Founded in 1966, the Council of State Policy and Planning Agencies (CSPA) is an organization of key executive aides in the fifty states and in the United States' territories. The CSPA identifies and develops information on issues of potential importance to the states, recommends policy and provides technical assistance.

COASTAL STATES' ORGANIZATION

Program Objectives Statement

The Coastal States' Organization (CSO) represents the interests of states which border on the Pacific Ocean, Atlantic Ocean, Gulf of Mexico and Great Lakes with regard to coastal zone management and offshore energy development issues. Specifically, CSO represents its members' interests before Congress and federal agencies, in legal briefs to the Supreme Court, and in sharing information among the coastal states.

WESTERN GOVERNORS' ASSOCIATION

Program Objectives Statement

The Western Governors' Association (WGA) represents the interests of the sixteen western states, two pacific territories and one commonwealth through regional exchange of ideas, regional policy management, advocacy, promotion of efficient resource management and provision of information. The WGA is funded by dues from member states and contributions from grantors and foundations.

NATIONAL CENTER FOR STATE COURTS

The National Center consists of a headquarters office which is located in Williamsburg, Virginia and six regional offices, one of which is located in San Francisco.

Each member state receives basic services provided by the national center including: access to copies of current publications of its research study teams; short-term consultative services; responses to requests for information hard to get elsewhere; judicial salary reports; and various states' views on federal legislation and other national programs affecting the judicial system. This item was formerly reflected in Item 0460.

8820 COMMISSION ON THE STATUS OF WOMEN

Program Objectives Statement

Chapter 541, Statutes of 1971, established the Commission on the Status of Women as a permanent state agency to eliminate inequities in laws, practices and conditions which affect women. The Commission implements its mandate by examining bills introduced in the Legislature which affect women's rights; maintaining and distributing information to the public on needs of women; developing and maintaining liaison with government agencies and advisory bodies; and providing technical and consultative assistance to organizations which assist women. Emphasis is on economic issues, employment, child care/support/custody, health services, problems of violence against women, minority/older women and homemakers' rights.

The Commission consists of a 17-member body: the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Chief of the Division of Labor Standards Enforcement, three members of the Assembly and one public member appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly, three members of the Senate and one public member appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules, and seven public members appointed by the Governor. Public members are selected for staggered four-year terms and receive reimbursement for necessary expenses.

Chapter 1596, Statutes of 1984, (SB 2262), established until January 1, 1992 the Displaced Homemaker Emergency Loan Act, a pilot project designed to assist individuals abandoned by, or separated from a spouse, divorced, or widowed, who have an economic need caused by this displacement.

8830 CALIFORNIA LAW REVISION COMMISSION

The primary objective of the California Law Revision Commission is to study the statutory and decisional law of this state, to discover defects and anachronisms and to recommend legislation to effect needed reforms.

The Commission consists of a member of the Senate, a member of the Assembly and seven additional members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Legislative Counsel is an ex officio member of the Commission.

The Commission assists the Legislature in keeping the law up to date by studying complex and controversial subjects, identifying major policy questions for legislative attention, gathering the views of interested persons and organizations and drafting recommended legislation for legislative consideration. The efforts of the Commission permit the Legislature to determine significant policy questions rather than to concern itself with the technical problems in preparing background studies, resolving intricate legal problems and drafting needed legislation. The Commission thus enables the Legislature to accomplish legal reform that otherwise might not be made because of the heavy demands on legislative time. In some cases the Commission's study discloses that no new legislation on a particular topic is needed, thus avoiding the need for further study.

The Commission may study only topics which the Legislature authorizes by concurrent resolution. The Commission currently has an agenda of 26 topics.

During the 1990-91 fiscal year, more than 4000 statute sections were affected by legislation enacted upon Commission recommendation. The enacted legislation included a new Probate Code.

In the 1991-92 fiscal year, the Commission plans to work on administrative procedure, on a new Family Code, on probate law, and on issues related to other topics.

10 ANNUAL FINANCIAL PLAN

Program Objectives Statement

To ensure the financial integrity of the State through the planned allocation of State resources, the Department of Finance advises the Governor on the fiscal condition of the State and guides in the preparation and presentation to the Legislature of the Governor's annual financial plan for the State. After enactment of the budget, the Department of Finance assists in the administration of the budget. The Governor's Budget contains past year actual expenditures and revenues, current year estimated expenditures and revenues, and proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the next fiscal year. The budget year figures include expenditure proposals for new or expanded programs as well as those necessary to continue existing levels of most services. The Department of Finance also provides fiscal analyses of bills introduced in the Legislature and makes recommendations to the Governor.

Budget Adjustments

For the 1991-92 fiscal year, an increase of $85,000 and 1.0 position (0.9 personnel years) is proposed to provide staff counsel services to the department.

10.10 Preparation

Program Element Statement

To effectively allocate anticipated State resources to meet the needs of State Government, the Department of Finance, with the assistance of other State departmental and agency staff, develops an expenditure plan for each State agency or program. These expenditure plans include an agency's or program's authorized level of expenditures as reflected in the Budget Act adjusted for any subsequent changes such as legislation. A department wishing to change its authorized program or level of support must initiate a budget change proposal which is reviewed by the Department of Finance to ensure consistency with statutes and the Governor's policies and priorities.

The Department of Finance adjusts the annual financial plan for the State to reflect revised expenditure projections for both the current and budget years. If expenditures exceed revenue, additional revenue and/or expenditure reduction alternatives are recommended, as required by the constitution. The proposed financial plan for the next fiscal year is presented to the Legislature by January 10 of the current year.

10.20 Enactment

Program Element Statement

To ensure that the Governor's proposed programs are effectively presented to the Legislature and to monitor the status of the budget as it proceeds through the legislative process, the Department of Finance assists in the legislative review of the budget bill. As the budget bill moves through each of the legislative houses, representatives from the Department of Finance, the Legislative Analyst, and State agencies provide testimony as needed during legislative committee hearings. The Department of Finance records legislative changes and produces a Final Change Book and Final Budget Summary following enactment of the budget. At the time of budget enactment, revenue estimates are prepared to reflect the latest economic forecasts and recent financial legislation. This information is included in the Final Change Book.

10.30 Support and Direction

Program Element Statement

State programs must be administered in accordance with the authorized financial plan. Controls are placed on appropriation items in the Budget Act and through other statutes which require specific monitoring by the Department of Finance. Variations from the approved financial plan are analyzed to ascertain their effects on programs and on the financial position of the State. If justified and within approved policy and legislative intent, revisions are made to the extent permitted by law. Variations are reported to appropriate legislative committees for their consideration as required by law.

Periodic comparisons of expenditures and revenues are made based on cash flow statements which are developed to assist in managing the State's fiscal resources.

Program Element Statement

The Department of Finance provides analyses of bills introduced in the Legislature and makes recommendations to the Governor's Office. These analyses inform both the Governor and the Legislature of the fiscal and program implications of the bills, including additional mandated costs to local governments. Representatives of Finance appear before the fiscal and revenue committees of the Legislature which are considering bills. Proposed new programs or changes to existing programs are analyzed to ascertain if any additional costs are mandated on local governments. Appropriate criteria are developed for reimbursement of those costs by the State Controller's Office.

20 PROGRAM AND INFORMATION SYSTEM ASSESSMENTS

Program Objectives Statement

To improve operating efficiency and performance of State agencies, and to ascertain the need for changes in programs or levels of support, the Department of Finance systematically reviews and evaluates State-administered and financed programs. Alternatives are provided to more effectively satisfy identified needs. Specific review functions include program analysis and evaluation, financial and performance audits, and assessment of statewide electronic data processing (EDP).

20.10 Program Evaluation

Program Element Statement

To assist in governmental decision making, particularly with respect to the allocation of resources and formation of public policy, the Program Evaluation Unit (Unit) performs critical analyses and evaluative examinations of State programs, policies, resources, organization, and management and makes recommendations on ways to increase the effectiveness and efficiency of State programs. Also, the Unit performs ongoing functions in the Department of Finance which often require more in-depth analysis than can be provided by the assigned analyst. Additionally, the Unit provides assistance to other State agencies on organizational, management, and operational matters. Finally, there are ad hoc assignments from external sources requiring staff participation by the Department of Finance.

Requests for studies or assistance may originate from within the Department of Finance, by referral from officials at Cabinet level, from the Governor's Office, from the Legislature or from other State agencies. Studies may result in either formal or informal reports. The formal reports normally are listed in California State Publications and given full distribution under the Library Distribution Act.

Program Objectives Statement

This program includes a variety of information systems and services which support the mission of the Department. The budget support systems provide information to decisionmakers throughout the budgetary process. The operation and management of the automated California State Accounting and Reporting System (CALSTARS) is intended to provide a uniform and complete accounting system for State agencies. Statewide fiscal and accounting policies are developed and maintained. Basic and applied economic and tax research functions support the revenue estimates required for the development of the State financial plan, for the analysis of financial legislation and the evaluation of economic trends or other fiscal developments which affect the State. Basic and applied demographic research functions provide data to support the workload estimates of State agencies.

30.12 CALSTARS

Program Element Statement

The California State Accounting and Reporting System (CALSTARS) has been developed for all agencies that do not have an automated program cost accounting system to accurately and systematically account for all revenue, expenditures, receipts and disbursements of State agencies. CALSTARS has been designed to accommodate program cost accounting, cost allocation and fund distribution, and to encompass the reporting requirements necessary to provide data to the State Controller and other control agencies.

This program incorporates the efforts of the State toward development of a modern and complete accounting system for each agency of the State. Such efforts include bringing California State Government accounting practices into conformance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) and the implementation of the State's uniform Chart of Accounts (Uniform Codes Manual), improving the timeliness and accuracy of financial information, standardizing the accounting and reporting functions within state agencies, and expanding their accounting and reporting capabilities.

CALSTARS currently operates on the computer system at the Health and Welfare Agency Data Center. Agencies and institutions submit data to CALSTARS through data entry terminals located in the agencies.

The continued successful operation of the CALSTARS system has required that various types of ongoing support, including system operations and training of agency staff, be made available to all CALSTARS agencies.

30.20 Economic Research

Program Element Statement

The Economic Research group prepares economic forecasts on a comprehensive basis approximately four times a year. Alternative (high and low) forecasts and long-term projections are prepared annually for the Governor's Budget. Semiannual economic outlook conferences are organized to bring together leading authorities from California and other areas to advise the staff on economic developments and to evaluate the preliminary forecasts.

California data are developed and maintained, forecasting models are built and maintained, analyses are prepared on various economic developments, and consultations are provided to assist State departments and local governmental agencies in planning and evaluation. The unit also prepares the Economic Report of the Governor, the California Statistical Abstract, and the California Economic Indicators.

The unit maintains a basic and applied research function which includes development of various computer research applications. In addition the unit participates in major studies, task forces, and special projects initiated by the Administration, Legislature, or State agencies. Revenue estimates are prepared for the Governor's Budget, May Revision and as required. Monthly collections are also monitored including an analysis of actual and estimated receipts.

30.40 Demographic Research

Program Element Statement

The Demographic Research Unit provides the single source for official demographic and enrollment data for State planning and funding. This data is required for fiscal programs, research and planning purposes by State agencies, county and local governments, the Federal Government, academic institutions, school districts, private entities, and the public. The unit is the designated liaison between the State and the U.S. Census Bureau.

The unit carries out a basic and applied research function primarily directed at the production of population figures which underlie the caseload estimates of most State agencies. In the development of estimates and projections, data is gathered from all levels of government and the private sector. Population estimates are used as the basis for apportionment of certain State subventions and tax rate limits. Analyses and projections of enrollments in public schools, colleges, and universities are prepared to assist support and capital outlay decisions. Within the unit, the State Census Data Center, coordinates special censuses and provides consultation and data from censuses and surveys.

30.50 Fiscal Systems and Consulting

Program Element Statement

To maintain a complete and uniform State accounting system, the Fiscal Systems and Consulting Unit (FSCU) develops and communicates statewide fiscal and accounting policies and procedures to State agencies through Management Memos and the accounting portion of the State Administration Manual (SAM); reviews, advises, approves, and interprets various rules, regulations, and statutes relating to State accounting and financial management procedures and transactions; conducts special fiscal studies; develops and conducts training seminars for State accounting personnel; and develops and implements procedures to recover overhead costs from special funds and the Federal government.

In addition, FSCU evaluates modifications to the State's uniform accounting system including whether, and to what extent, California State Government accounting practices should be changed to conform with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP); maintains the Uniform Codes Manual to promote uniformity in the State's accounting code structure; and issues Federal Trust Fund procedures to provide a central accounting over Federal Funds.

8885 COMMISSION ON STATE MANDATES

The principal objectives of the Commission on State Mandates are: (1) through its "Administration" program, to adjudicate differences between local entities and the State over the existence of a reimbursable state mandate in a particular statute or executive regulation, and (2) through its "Payments for Mandated Costs" program, to ensure that funding is provided for the ongoing costs of activities which have been determined by the commission, by the courts or by the mandating legislation itself to be reimbursable.

Virtually all funding for this program comes from the General Fund, with the exception of a relatively small amount of funding from the Restitution Fund ($1,510,000), and the funds available from the State Mandates Claims Fund.

Specific appropriations are identified in the following RECONCILIATION WITH APPROPRIATIONS and are also summarized in the Budget Summary Schedule 9A, Proposition 98 General Fund Guarantee.

10 ADMINISTRATION

Program Objectives Statement

The Commission on State Mandates was created by Chapter 1459, Statutes of 1984 (SB 2337) as a quasi-judicial body to assume the authority for the initial determination of state mandated costs formerly vested with the State Board of Control.

The Commission consists of the Director of Finance, the Controller, the Treasurer, the Director of the Office of Planning and Research and a public member with experience in public finance, appointed by the Governor and approved by the Senate.

Chapter 1459 also created the State Mandates Claims Fund, appropriated $10 million into that fund, and specified that this amount is continuously appropriated for designated purposes. Reimbursement for a bill determined by the Legislature to contain state mandated costs could be made directly from this Fund rather than from an appropriation in that legislation if the Commission determined that those costs will not exceed $500,000 during the first twelve months of the bill's implementation. Funding for such legislation determined by the Commission to cost more than $500,000 or previously-disclaimed legislation which is determined by the Commission to contain state mandated costs in any amount would be provided through the claims bill process. Chapter 1179, Statutes of 1988 (AB 3979) increased the ceiling on disbursements from this Fund to $1,000,000.

20 PAYMENTS FOR MANDATED COSTS

Program Objectives Statement

Chapter 1406, Statutes of 1972 (SB 90) first established the statutory requirement for the State to reimburse units of local government for all costs mandated on them by the State resulting from either legislative acts or executive regulations which impose a new program or demand an increased level of service in an existing program. The approval of Proposition 4, the "Gann Initiative", at the November 6, 1979 election elevated this program of reimbursing State-mandated costs to a constitutional requirement by incorporating this reimbursement concept in Section 6 of Article XIII B of the State Constitution. Chapter 1459/84 was enacted to provide for the implementation of this constitutional provision and to consolidate the procedures for reimbursement of statutes specified in the Revenue and Taxation Code with those identified in the Constitution. Those statutory provisions, which are now in the Government Code, were modified and clarified by Chapter 879/86 (SB 2002), Chapter 1123/88 (SB 2875), Chapter 1179/88 (AB 3979) and Chapter 589/89 (SB 1014).

Finally, this budget reflects that local agencies are excused from complying with eighteen of the nineteen mandated programs which were made optional for the first time in the 1990 Budget Act. The nineteenth program, Short-Doyle audits (Chapter 1232/85), is proposed to be reinstated since it is cost effective to the State.

8910 OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

The Office of Administrative Law (OAL) is responsible for the implementation of the Administrative Procedure Act (APA). The APA provides procedures for the promulgation of regulations by state agencies and establishes standards with which regulations must comply.

The goals of OAL are to reduce the number of administrative regulations and to improve the quality of those regulations which are adopted. These goals will be achieved by: (1) maintaining the orderly review of regulations promulgated by more than 130 state regulatory agencies; (2) issuing determinations as to whether or not any guideline, bulletin, manual, instruction, order or other rule is a regulation; and (3) fostering increased awareness of the regulatory process.

8915 DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

The Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) administers programs to assist the low-income residents and communities of California in the following areas: Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) and the federal Department of Energy Weatherization Program (DOE). Services are provided by DEO through a network of approximately 200 community agencies. DEO also certifies applicants eligible for the Low Income Rate Assistance Program (LIRA) offered by energy utility companies. The goal of the programs is to assist the low-income population of California to become self-sufficient.

20 ENERGY PROGRAMS

Program Objectives Statement

The objective of Energy Programs is to provide funds to assist low-income people in meeting the high costs of energy, using and conserving energy more efficiently, and learning about and using new sources of energy.

DEO first administered the 1980-81 federal Low Income Energy Assistance Program which provided financial assistance to low-income persons to help them meet the increasing costs of home energy. Effective October 1981, federal Public Law 97-35 reauthorized LIHEAP and retitled it the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP). In addition to providing financial assistance for routine home energy costs, the LIHEAP block grant also incorporated an emergency intervention program and a weatherization program.

Chapter 228, Statutes of 1982, officially designated DEO as the recipient of the LIHEAP block grant. In accordance with Chapter 1604, Statutes of 1985, the allocations for programs within LIHEAP are as follows:

- 10% transfer to the Department of Social Services (DSS) for Title XX programs;
- 7.5% for state administrative costs, PVEA funding inclusive;
- 15% allocation for Weatherization;
- 25% allocation for the Energy Crisis Intervention Program (ECIP); and,
- The remaining allocation for the direct payment Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP).

Budget Adjustment

Because of the decrease in federal funds over the past several years, 9.0 positions and $294,000 are proposed to be eliminated to reflect prior years' state operations reduction. Also, the 1991-92 Budget includes $3.3 million in Petroleum Violation Escrow Account Funds for the Home Energy Assistance Program.

40 COMMUNITY SERVICES

Program Objectives Statement

The Department of Economic Opportunity has administered the federal Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) in California since 1982-83. The objective of the Community Services Program is to provide a wide range of services designed to assist low-income persons to:

- Secure and retain meaningful employment;
- Attain an adequate education;
- Make better use of available income;
- Obtain and maintain adequate housing and a suitable living environment;
- Remove obstacles and solve problems which block the achievement of self-sufficiency;
- Achieve greater participation in the affairs of the community;
- Provide on an emergency basis supplies and services, nutritious foodstuffs, and related services as may be necessary; and
- Coordinate and establish linkages between governmental and other social services programs.

The low-income populations of all 58 counties in California are served. In addition, limited purpose agencies are funded from discretionary funds. Administrative funds are budgeted at 5 percent of the grant and are used for subgrant award and program monitoring, personnel, accounting, and business services activities.

In the current and budget year, the budget includes $1.9 million in Federal Emergency Community Services Homeless Grant funds. These funds will be allocated to existing community action agencies and migrant and seasonal farmworker organizations.

10 ARMY NATIONAL GUARD

Program Objectives Statement

This program manages Army National Guard units, personnel, supplies, and equipment in order to maximize the readiness of those forces when required for federal missions in the military defense of the United States or for state missions in support of civil authority.

The Army National Guard consists of 163 company-size and 35 detachment-size units, and 12 support activities allotted to the State by the Department of the Army. The Military Department, in turn, stations those units at locations deemed best suited to ensure their readiness and availability to perform state and federal missions. The current authorized strength of the Army National Guard is 22,347 officers and enlisted personnel.

Program Element Statement

All of the federal funds provided to support the Army National Guard are to sustain the supplies, equipment, and maintenance requirements necessary for readiness training and operations. Camp San Luis Obispo is a state-owned installation which serves as the primary logistical base for receipt, storage, and distribution of federal supplies and equipment. Camp San Luis Obispo and Camp Roberts are major outdoor training areas that are utilized year-round by the National Guard, Army Reserve, and Active component forces. Camp Roberts and Los Alamitos Armed Forces Reserve Center are federal installations licensed and operated by the Military Department with 100 percent federal funding. Camp San Luis Obispo receives partial federal funding.

Army National Guard units and equipment are housed in 126 armories. Local maintenance support is provided at 40 organizational maintenance shops, with higher echelon maintenance accomplished at four support facilities. Over 80 percent of the state funds provided to support the Army National Guard Program are directed toward logistical activities.

60 FARM AND HOME LOAN PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

This program is known as the California National Guard Members' Farm and Home Purchase Act of 1978 which was effective January 1, 1979. The objective of the program is to provide members of the California National Guard who are enlisted members, warrant officers, or commissioned officers who serve a six-year obligation, the opportunity to acquire farms and homes with low interest loans. Funds for loans are raised through the issuance of revenue bonds. An amount of $2.5 million has been appropriated from the General Fund (Chapter 920, Statutes of 1981) for the purpose of creating the Supplementary Bond Security Account within the California National Guard Members' Farm and Home Building Fund of 1978 as backing for the revenue bonds issued. The $2.5 million will be repaid to the General Fund at the end of 30 years. The administration of the program is vested in the Military Department; however, all administrative functions, except eligibility determination, have been assigned to the Department of Veterans Affairs with the administrative costs of the program payable from revenue bond proceeds. The program will continue to be administered by the Military Department and Department of Veterans Affairs; however, no additional bonds will be sold during the budget year. As of June 30, 1990, there are a total of 191 active home loans.

71 CALIFORNIA IMPACT PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The California Innovative Military Projects and Career Training (IMPACT) Program has been in continuous operation since 1977. The primary objective of this program is to utilize traditional military training and educational techniques to recruit, train, and job place, either in the military service or private work force or return to school, disadvantaged youth ages 17 to 21. This is accomplished by presenting a highly structured curriculum consisting of basic skills, (mathematics, English, and reading comprehension), pre-employment training and pre-military training. Each education and training module is designed to improve the IMPACT participant's self-esteem, instill a sense of self-discipline, organizational loyalty, and understanding of basic skills concepts.

Since its inception, the IMPACT Program has trained 6,021 participants, of which 2,531 participants have been job placed in the private work force, and 1,400 participants have entered the Active or Reserve Military Service, and 675 participants have returned to school. The goal for 1991-92 is to place at least 820 participants into full-time unsubsidized employment in the civilian workforce or the Active or Reserve Military Services.

9100 TAX RELIEF

California homeowners and renters are provided assistance through a variety of tax relief programs. Additional relief is provided to low-income senior citizens and disabled persons. Tax relief also is provided to people who agree to hold their land as open space under the Williamson Act of 1965.

This budget provides payments to cities and counties to help defray revenues lost as a result of property tax relief programs, and to individuals who qualify for special income tax offsets. Also, it includes funds for local housing authorities to rehabilitate housing units and enforce local building codes.

10 SENIOR CITIZENS' PROPERTY TAX ASSISTANCE

Program Objectives Statement

The Senior Citizens' Property Tax Assistance Program, established in 1967, provides financial assistance to California residents who are 62 years of age and older, and to blind or disabled residents regardless of age. Each claimant must own and occupy a residential dwelling in which annual household income does not exceed $13,200. The percentage of assistance is inversely proportional to household income and is provided through a system of direct reimbursements for property taxes paid. The level of assistance ranges from 4 to 96 percent of property taxes paid on the full value of the residential dwelling up to $34,000. Chapter 1087, Statutes of 1989, provided for a one-time increase in the level of subventions under this program on a prorated basis.

In 1989-90, there were approximately 224,000 claimants in this program and the Senior Citizen Renters' Tax Assistance Program. For the budget year, an estimated 183,000 individuals will participate in these programs. The average amount of assistance per participant will be approximately $94. These programs are administered by the Franchise Tax Board.

20 SENIOR CITIZENS' PROPERTY TAX DEFERRAL PROGRAM

Program Objectives Statement

The Senior Citizens' Property Tax Deferral Program, established in 1977, allows eligible homeowners to defer the payment of residential property taxes. The state pays the deferred taxes to local governments on behalf of the participants, and places a lien on their property to assure repayment when the property is sold or transferred. A variable interest rate tied to the Pooled Money Investment Account is applied upon repayment to the state. Eligibility is limited to California residents 62 years of age or older, and to disabled residents regardless of age, who own and occupy their home or mobilehome, whose principal residence is located on real property for which the person holds a possessory interest for a term of 45 years or more, or whose principal residence is a unit of a cooperative housing corporation of which the person is a tenant-stockholder. The maximum qualifying level of income for this program is $34,000 for those who filed in 1983 and $24,000 for those who filed after 1983. Approximately 13,500 senior or disabled homeowners participated in this program in 1989-90.

30 SENIOR CITIZEN RENTERS' TAX ASSISTANCE

Program Objectives Statement

The Senior Citizen Renters' Tax Assistance Program, established in 1976, provides financial assistance to low-income renters who are 62 years of age or older, and to disabled renters regardless of age. The percentage of assistance is inversely proportional to income and ranges from 4 to 96 percent of an assumed $250 property tax equivalent. The maximum qualifying level of annual income for this program is $13,200. Assistance payments are prorated for claimants renting less than a full year. If a claimant owns a home for part of a year and also rents for part of the same year, a claim may be filed for either the Senior Citizens' Property Tax Assistance Program or the Senior Citizen Renters' Tax Assistance Program, but not both. This program is administered by the Franchise Tax Board.

50 HOMEOWNERS' PROPERTY TAX RELIEF

Program Objectives Statement

In order to reduce the property tax burden, the California Constitution exempts homeowners from paying property taxes on the first $7,000 market value of their principal place of residence. The Constitution requires the state to reimburse local governments for revenues lost due to the homeowners' exemption. Over 5 million homeowners participate in this program.

60 SUBVENTIONS FOR OPEN SPACE

Program Objectives Statement

The Williamson Act of 1965 permits cities and counties to enter into contracts with landowners to limit the use of land to agricultural, scenic, and open-space purposes. Article XIII, Section 8, of the California Constitution permits land under such restrictions to be assessed at other than market value based on its limited use. The state provides reimbursements to cities, counties and school districts to partially defray the loss of property tax revenues. The subvention amount is determined by the type of land under contract: urban prime, other prime and nonprime.

This program reflects payments to cities and counties only. School district subventions are funded by Chapter 292, Statutes of 1978, and Chapter 282, Statutes of 1979, and are included in apportionments for education.

Chapter 1075, Statutes of 1979, provided that land under open space contracts may be assessed under the provisions of Article XIII A of the State Constitution (Proposition 13) if the value is less than the capitalization-of-income method of valuation. State payments will only be made on parcels where the value is based on capitalization of income.

Chapter 1087, Statutes of 1989, appropriated $5 million to counties and cities in proportion to existing subventions during 1989-90.

80 RENTERS' TAX RELIEF

Program Objectives Statement

Chapter 1406, Statutes of 1972, established this program to provide tax relief to qualified renters. For taxable years beginning January 1, 1973, renters received an amount ranging from $25 to $45 depending on their adjusted gross income, with maximum relief at incomes of $8,000 or more. For taxable years beginning January 1, 1976, the amount was changed to a flat $37 regardless of the amount of a renter's adjusted gross income. Chapter 569, Statutes of 1978, expanded this program to include welfare recipients.

Chapter 1207, Statutes of 1979, increased the renters' credit from $37 per qualified renter to $137 for married couples, heads of household and surviving spouses, to $99 for joint-custody heads of household, and to $60 for all other renters. Chapter 464, Statutes of 1990, reduced the maximum credit from $137 to $120.

To more closely align the benefit of the Renters' Tax Credit with that of the Homeowners' Property Tax Exemption, this budget proposes to reduce the credit from $120 to $70 for married couples, head of household and surviving spouses, and from $60 to $35 for singles. In addition to better equalizing benefits between homeowners and renters, this proposal would provide significant savings to the General Fund (approximately $210 million) at a time when financial resources are unable to keep pace with increasing demands. This proposal would, however, continue to provide a considerable tax credit to California renters.

This program is administered through the Personal Income Tax Program, with the Renters' Credit claimed as a refundable tax credit. The Personal Income Tax Account is reimbursed for revenue losses due to the Renters' Tax Relief Program.

It is estimated that 5,900,000 renters will participate in this program in 1990-91 and 6,100,000 in the budget year.

90 SUBSTANDARD HOUSING

Program Objectives Statement

Chapter 238, Statutes of 1974, provided that if a taxpayer derived rental income from substandard housing, no deduction for interest, taxes, depreciation or amortization paid in conjunction with such substandard housing would be allowed under the Personal Income Tax or Bank and Corporation Tax Law. The state retained the revenue derived from this provision.

Chapter 1286, Statutes of 1978, provided that revenue derived from this provision shall be allocated to the cities and counties where the substandard housing is located for the enforcement of housing codes and rehabilitation of housing.

9210 LOCAL GOVERNMENT FINANCING

Local governments receive a variety of subventions from the State for designated purposes such as health, welfare, and judicial programs. The State also reimburses local governments for revenue lost due to the creation of tax exemptions. These local assistance expenditures are reflected in the individual budget areas for each specific program. In addition, several programs have been established to provide general purpose revenue to counties, cities, and special districts when special circumstances have occurred. The Local Government Financing program includes those payments to local government where the funds may be used for any general government purpose as well as funds for one-time, designated purposes.

Until June 30, 1984, the State provided subventions to various local entities for revenue lost by them as a result of the exemption of certain kinds of personal property from property taxation. Chapter 447, Statutes of 1984, eliminated this program and established a program of special supplemental subventions to cities, redevelopment agencies (RDAs) and multi-county special districts when these entities experience a loss due to the repeal of the personal property tax subvention. Special supplemental subventions to cities were discontinued in 1989-90. Chapter 449, Statutes of 1990, substantially modified the special supplemental subvention program by: (1) reducing the number of payments each year from three to two (December 31 and July 1) and (2) providing for the December 31, 1990 payment to be approximately 25 percent of the normal annual subvention. Chapter 1350, Statutes of 1990, specifically exempted redevelopment agencies in three cities from the reduction in the December 31, 1990 payment. In 1991-92, it is proposed that $9.6 million be appropriated in the Budget Act for the Special Supplemental Subvention program in lieu of subventions required by the Government Code. Because special supplemental subventions have historically represented only a small fraction of RDA revenues (2.5 percent in 1988-89), the reduced subvention level is expected to have a minimal effect on statewide RDA operations. The $9.6 million is proposed to be allocated to those relatively few RDAs that have disproportionately relied on this subvention program for revenue to support bond debt, and to those RDAs in which special supplemental subventions historically have provided more than 10 percent of their total revenues. This amount will be apportioned to such RDAs with the intent of minimizing fiscal dislocation as this program is eventually phased out completely.

Chapters 16 and 1110, Statutes of 1986, appropriated $115 million to assist in repairing damages sustained in the storms of February 1986. Of this amount, $10 million was appropriated to the Department of Social Services. An additional $5 million dollars made available for levee repair was allocated by the Office of Emergency Services. The remaining $100 million has been shown in this program beginning with the 1985-86 fiscal year and continuing in the 1986-87 and 1987-88 fiscal years. Chapter 469, Statutes of 1988, extended the availability of $940,000 for flood-stricken counties. Flood relief expenditures include amounts expended to match Federal aid to school districts and other local governmental entities as well as wholly State-funded assistance provided to local governments in California. Chapters 16 and 1110 assigned counties the responsibility of submitting claims for the State assistance program.

Chapter 1286, Statutes of 1987, established a revenue stabilization program for counties. This program stabilizes the percentage of county general purpose revenues which are expended under match requirements in State programs. Payments to counties are based upon the difference between general purpose revenue growth and the growth in specified State-match requirements and are limited to amounts specifically appropriated for that purpose.

Chapter 1258, Statutes of 1990, appropriated up to $700,000 to Butte County in recognition of its special financial needs. Based on the formulas related to the county revenue stabilization program and contained in Chapter 1258, the county will be allocated $615,071 of the appropriated amount.

In November 1987, the Governor called a special session of the Legislature to address the needs for disaster relief as a result of the fires which afflicted California during 1987 and the earthquake in October 1987. Several disaster relief programs were authorized at the special session, including $2 million made available by Chapter 6, Statutes of 1987, First Extraordinary Session, to replace property tax revenues lost by local governments as a result of the 1987 fires and earthquake.

In June 1988, the voters passed Proposition 70, which enacted the California Wildlife, Coastal, and Park Land Conservation Act. Authority was given to the State of California to issue up to $776,000,000 in general obligation bonds to fund various projects through a number of local and State agencies. Proposition 70 also makes $25,000,000 available to Monterey County for projects to preserve viewshed in the Big Sur area. These funds are expected to be transferred subject to the ability of Monterey County to assure that the tax-exempt general obligation bond proceeds can be applied to project costs in conformity with the arbitrage limitation provisions of the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986. These transfers are not restricted to those fiscal years displayed.

Twenty-four percent of the rent collected on leases of land held for State highway purposes is paid to each county based on its pro rata share of total rental receipts. The Board of Supervisors determines the amount each taxing agency shall receive. However, if the rental property is located in a city, the city receives one-half of the allocation for that property. APPORTIONMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAX FOR COUNTY ROADS
An amount equal to the revenue derived from 2.035 cents per gallon tax under the Motor Vehicle Fuel License Tax Law and 1.8 cents per gallon tax under the Use Fuel Tax Law is apportioned monthly among counties for maintenance of county roads. Payments are made for engineering costs, administrative expenses, snow removal, and heavy rainfall and storm damage. The majority of the money is apportioned based on the number of registered vehicles and miles of maintained county roads. (Section 2104 of the Streets and Highways Code.)
To counties (expenditures) (9480)	$292,662	$283,872	$292,766

APPORTIONMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAX FOR CITY STREETS
An amount equal to the revenue derived from 1.315 cents per gallon tax under the Motor Vehicle Fuel License Tax Law and 2.59 cents per gallon tax under the Use Fuel Tax Law is apportioned monthly to cities for maintenance of city streets. Payments are made for engineering costs, administrative expenses, and snow removal. Most of the revenue is distributed to cities based on population. The balance of the revenue is apportioned based on registered vehicles in each county. The county receives the percentage of the revenue equal to the share of assessed value in the unincorporated area of the county. Cities in the county are apportioned the remainder based on population. (Section 2106 of the Streets and Highways Code.)

APPORTIONMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSE FEES
A license fee is imposed annually on vehicles at a sum equal to two percent of the market value based on a depreciation schedule. The revenues are paid monthly. Changes are proposed to the depreciation schedule which will increase revenues to counties beginning in 1991-92. It is anticipated that the increased revenues will be used to address the cost of a proposed intergovernmental realignment of funding responsibility for specified public health and mental health programs. The Governor's Budget Summary contains further information on this realignment. The Department of Motor Vehicles maintains responsibility for the collection of trailer coach fees for trailer coaches other than mobilehomes. Chapter 1211, Statutes of 1987, ended the allocation to these cities, beginning in fiscal year 1988–89. Chapter 944, Statutes of 1988 (AB 1197), restored the allocation of revenue to the "no property tax cities". Amounts received are reduced by the amount of property tax revenues received as a result of the implementation of the Brown-Presley Trial Court Funding Act of 1988 (Chapter 945, Statutes of 1988). <sup>1</sup> This fund contains tax proceeds subject to the State Appropriations Limit, Article XIII B of the Constitution. In addition to the amounts reflected as expenditures in this statement, appropriations subject to the limit are adjusted for increases or decreases in the fund's Reserve for Economic Uncertainties and do not include any amounts expended for debt service, subventions to local government, compliance with federal or court mandates and from appropriations made in previous years (carryovers). Additional information on the State Appropriations Limit is provided in the Governor's Budget Summary.

<sup>2</sup> A late adjustment to Cigarette Tax Fund revenues could not be reflected in proposed apportionments for the 1991-92 fiscal year because of printing deadlines. Therefore, the Administration intends to revise the apportionment amounts to reflect additional revenues in the May revision.

9590 PAYMENT OF INTEREST ON POOLED MONEY INVESTMENT ACCOUNT LOANS

During 1986 the Federal Government revised its rules on bond arbitrage earnings for states and local governments in conjunction with other tax rule changes resulting from the 1986 Federal Tax Law. As a result, the State of California did not sell any General Obligation (G.O.) bonds during the 1986-87 fiscal year. In simple terms arbitrage is the income earned on the rate difference between what an entity pays to borrow money and what it earns by reinvesting the borrowed money prior to its actual expenditure. The 1986 arbitrage provisions of the Federal Government required states and local governments to spend one hundred percent (100%) of the cash proceeds of a bond sale on the bond project within six months of the bond sale. In 1989 the Federal Government made changes to the 1986 Tax Reform Act that now allows states and local governments up to two years to spend one hundred percent (100%) of the cash proceeds of a bond sale. In addition, there are expenditure milestones that must also be met before the end of the two years. The cash proceeds of the bond sale must be expended as follows: 10% within six months, 45% within one year and 75% within eighteen months. If the entity fails to meet these requirements, the Federal government will impose a penalty.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

9590 PAYMENT OF INTEREST ON POOLED MONEY INVESTMENT ACCOUNT LOANS—Continued

In response to the 1986–87 moratorium on bond sales AB 55 (Chapter 6, Statutes of 1987) authorized the Pooled Money Investment Board (PMIB) to make loans from the Pooled Money Investment Account (PMIA) to bond funds for cash flow purposes pending the sale of bonds. By borrowing the money from the PMIA and building the project prior to bond sales the State can ensure compliance with the new Federal Tax laws and also protect the tax exempt status of the bonds. Since the dollar amount of the loan is dependent on the amount of voter approved debt, the loan is considered a debt service cost for purposes of calculating appropriations subject to the appropriations limit specified in Article XIII B of the California Constitution.

SB 2172 (Chapter 984, Statutes of 1988), amended Section 16312 of the Government Code. This section now specifies that the interest cost on Pooled Money Investment Account loans will be paid from the proceeds of a bond sale. Only on specified (exempted) nonself-liquidating bonds will the General Fund continue to pay the associated interest cost. This reduced the General Fund interest cost for PMIA loans starting in the second fiscal quarter of 1988.

With the 1989 Federal Tax law changes to the 1986 Tax Reform Act, and the extension of the time period to spend the proceeds, more bonds will be sold without first going through the Pooled Loan process. This will reduce both the General Fund and Bond Fund expenditures for PMIA loans.

The columns below display estimated PMIA loans interest cost by quarter in the aggregate for exempt non-self liquidating G.O. Bonds.

9610 LEASE-REVENUE NOTES AND BONDS

The use of non-traditional debt (i.e., long-term lease-purchase or lease-revenue arrangements) by agencies of the State of California has increased significantly over the past few years. This budget is an informational budget only. It is limited to those long term lease arrangements for which a bond or note has been issued as the underlying source of funds. The appropriations needed for the lease payments shown here are contained in the support budgets of the affected departments or agencies. It is hoped that this budget will meet the needs of the financial community for summary information relating to the non-traditional debt. The proposed sales detailed below are as anticipated by the Department of Finance and the State Treasurer's Office.

9620 PAYMENT OF INTEREST ON GENERAL FUND LOANS

Program Objectives Statement

Chapter 312, Statutes of 1907, authorized transfers to the General Fund from other funds in the State Treasury whenever the General Fund was exhausted and thereby enabled the General Fund to overcome normal cashflow imbalances. All money so transferred had to be returned as soon as possible, and such transfers were not to interfere with the day-to-day needs of the loaning funds. These provisions have been modified slightly over the years and are now contained in Section 16310 of the Government Code. The interfund transfers authorized by these provisions constitute all of the State's internal sources of borrowable resources.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

9620 PAYMENT OF INTEREST ON GENERAL FUND LOANS—Continued

The internal borrowing provisions authorized by Section 16310 of the Government Code have been used from time-to-time to meet the State's short-term, cashflow borrowing needs. Although monthly imbalances between receipts and disbursements typically occur within each year, the internal borrowing authorization has only been used in those years in which the beginning reserve (or surplus) was insufficient to cover the imbalance. This type of borrowing does not indicate fiscal weakness and, in fact, may be preferable to carrying too large a reserve.

In addition to the short-term, internal borrowing described above, temporary external borrowing has been validated by the courts if it meets what has become known as the "appropriation doctrine." Under this rule, an obligation is not considered a debt or liability within the State Constitutional limitation on indebtedness (Section 1 of Article XVI) if an appropriation is made from existing funds, or reasonably anticipated funds subject to appropriation. This doctrine was invoked in 1933 and 1936 to uphold the use of registered warrants during the Great Depression and again in 1971 to validate the State of California Notes provisions of Chapter 223, Statutes of 1971. These latter provisions were invoked in 1971-72 in lieu of the more costly registered warrant authority used during the Depression and, like registered warrants, required the exhaustion of all internal sources of funds before being implemented. The State of California Notes provisions were re-enacted by Chapter 10X, Statutes of 1983 (AB 28X), and employed in both 1982-83 and 1983-84.

Until the 1984-85 fiscal year, use of either of the two external borrowing authorities signaled a fiscal crisis since all internal sources of funds had to be exhausted first. During the most recent fiscal crisis, both of these external borrowing authorities were invoked. The $400 million of Revenue Anticipation Warrants sold in November 1982 were issued under the registered warrant authority. While the $850 million of Revenue Anticipation Notes sold in March 1983, the $1 billion of Bridge Series Notes sold in July 1983, and the $1.2 billion of Revenue Anticipation Notes sold in August 1983 were all issued under the newly re-enacted State of California Notes provisions.

For 1984-85, the State implemented a new cash management program. Chapter 268, Statutes of 1984 (the 1984 Trailer Bill), modified the State of California Notes provisions by eliminating the requirement that all internal sources of funds must be exhausted before issuing notes. Whereas in the past the State relied on internal sources of funds to meet its normal cashflow borrowing needs, it will not be relying on external funds for this purpose. Under this new program, the use of external funds will result in a savings to the General Fund, as well as increased revenue to the various special funds which the General Fund would otherwise have borrowed interest free per Section 16310 of the Government Code. The $1.4 billion of Revenue Anticipation Notes sold in August 1984 were issued under the newly amended Note provisions. This sale was the first time that the State utilized short-term external borrowing sources without exhausting internal sources of funds.

For 1985-86, the State expanded the new cash management program which was established in the prior fiscal year. Chapter 139, Statutes of 1985 (SB 1465), changed the Contingency Reserve for Economic Uncertainties from a General Fund special account to a special fund. Since monies in special funds are not considered a General Fund resource for purposes of determining the State's cash flow borrowing needs, the effect of this change was to expand the General Fund's external, cash flow borrowing abilities by the amount of money in the new Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties. The $2.3 billion and $2.6 billion of Revenue Anticipation Notes sold in August 1985 and August 1986, respectively, were issued under these newly expanded external cash flow borrowing provisions. Recently enacted federal legislation (The Tax Reform Act of 1986) is expected to limit the State's future external borrowing abilities to pre-Chapter 139 levels.

In 1987-88 the State of California sold $2.1 billion of Revenue Anticipation Notes. This increased to $3.2 billion in 1988-89, $3.0 billion in 1989-90 and $4.1 billion in 1990-91. It is estimated that the State of California will sell $4.1 billion of Revenue Anticipation Notes in 1991-92 to meet its cash flow needs.

Included in this presentation are statements of cashflow, and accounts payable and receivable for the past, current, and budget years. Neither cash receipts nor cash disbursements match revenues and expenditures presented elsewhere in this Budget. In order to reflect cashflow, Budget data is adjusted for cash collected by an agency but not yet transmitted to the State Treasurer for deposit and for accrued expenditures. Receipt and disbursement projections are adjusted to reflect various changes in statutes, anticipated legislative action, and administrative action. The estimated 1990-91 and 1991-92 cash flows incorporate revenue and expenditure measures reflected in this Budget, as of January 10, 1991.

9650 HEALTH BENEFITS FOR ANNUITANTS

This program provides health protection and dental care for retired employees. It began on January 1, 1962, with an employer contribution of $5.00 per month toward the cost of a basic health plan. Since then, major medical plans, Medicare, and plans supplementing Medicare have been developed. Dental care was added July 1, 1981, and became effective on January 1, 1982, after open enrollment was completed.

An increase in the 1990-91 employer contribution for health premiums was required in order to maintain the average 100/90 percent contribution formula established in Government Code Section 22825.1. Monthly contribution maximums were changed to $157 for a single enrollee, $292 for an enrollee and one dependent, and $367 for an enrollee and two or more dependents by the Budget Act of 1990. Dental care premiums vary by plan and number of dependents.

The 1991-92 budget proposes an increase of $49.1 million General Fund to fund increases attributable to both premium rate changes of 18 percent for health benefits and 13.4 percent for dental (on policy anniversaries) and growth in the number of health and dental benefit enrollees by 4 percent. The elements of those changes are:

Equity Claims of Board of Control and Settlements and Judgements of the Department of Justice

This budget reflects statewide expenditures for all Equity claims against the State approved for payment by the Board of Control and all Settlements and Judgments against the state sponsored by the Attorney General's Office. Payment of these claims is provided to claimants through the passage of special legislation. ## 10 EQUITY CLAIMS

Program Objectives Statement

Otherwise known as the "omnibus claims bill," this program includes all claims approved by the three-member Board of Control and referred to the Legislature for payment. The program provides an equitable procedure for the payment of the following categories of claims:

(a) For which no appropriation has been made or for which no fund is available but the settlement of which has been provided for by statute or constitutional provision.

(b) For which the appropriation made or fund designated is exhausted.

(c) For which settlement is not otherwise provided for by statute or constitutional provision.

The provision which directed the State Board of Control to submit special appropriation measures on a quarterly basis (Chapter 622, Statutes of 1974) was amended by Chapter 182, Statutes of 1976 to require such measures to be submitted at least twice during each calendar year.

Current year expenditures for the payment of 1990-91 equity claims include funds appropriated through the enactment of Chapters 1405 and 1446, Statutes of 1990.

30 ADMINISTRATION AND PAYMENT OF TORT LIABILITY CLAIMS

Program Objectives Statement

Chapter 1681, Statutes of 1963, established the liability and nonliability of the State for tort actions of its officers and employees. In the past, the State assumed liability for all losses up to $5 million and purchased insurance covering losses from $5 million to $50 million. The State's general insurance policy was discontinued in 1977-78 based on a cost/benefit study made by the Department of Finance. A small number of agencies with unique liability problems are covered under special insurance policies. The amounts of settlements and awards vary, sometimes significantly, from year to year depending upon the cases in litigation and the amounts estimated to be awarded in each instance.

Government Code Section 948 provides that the head of any State agency, upon recommendation of the Attorney General, may settle, adjust or compromise any pending action with approval of the Director of Finance. Current administrative policy delegates Finance's approval authority to the Attorney General for actions not exceeding $35,000. General Fund and special fund claims with principal amounts of up to $70,000, approved by the Director of Finance, may be paid from the appropriation in the Budget Act. Claims that exceed $70,000 in principal amount must be paid through special appropriation legislation. It is the policy of the Administration that to the extent possible affected agencies or departments are to make payment of claims from within existing budgeted resources before seeking payment from this Budget Act item.

In order to provide a comprehensive statement of statewide costs for the tort program, the format below includes a statewide display of tort-related expenditures. Special fund program expenditures are reflected in the department or agency budgets in which the costs are incurred unless paid through special appropriation legislation.

9673 SAN FRANCISCO-OAKLAND BAY BRIDGE AND I-880
CYPRESS STRUCTURE DISASTER FUND

Program Objectives Statement

Chapters 21 and 22, First Extraordinary Session of 1989, established the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge and I-880 Cypress Structure Disaster Fund. The purpose of this fund is to allow prompt compensation and settlement to victims and their families for personal injury, death or personal property loss arising from the collapse of the Bay Bridge and the I-880 Cypress structure caused by the October 17, 1989 earthquake without regard to legal liability, fault, or the necessity of litigation.

Provisions are included to provide a procedure for making emergency payments and settling claims against the State arising from the collapse of the specified state-owned structure and bridge. A two phase procedure for handling claim applications is established. Phase I provides for immediate payments, as specified, to an individual who was injured, or to beneficiaries if an individual was killed, to a maximum of $200,000 per family. Phase II provides for Board of Control review and settlement offer within six months after filing a claim. If a claimant rejects the offer, the claimant may pursue remedy through the courts.

Chapter 22 transfers $30 million from the General Fund for purposes of this program.

9800 AUGMENTATION FOR EMPLOYEE COMPENSATION

Program Objectives Statement

This program reflects proposed augmentation amounts for Civil Service and related employee compensation. Actual salary and benefit increases within these amounts are subject to bargaining agreements for specified civil service represented employees. The base salary and benefit levels are included in individual agency budgets.

Appropriations for this budget item are allocated to the individual State agencies based on their budget needs following the approval of Memoranda of Understanding (MOU) for represented employees and the announcement of salary and benefit levels by the Department of Personnel Administration or other authorized employer for non-represented employees. For those represented employees without approved MOUs and for non-represented employees, agencies were instructed to include pay and benefit adjustments in their baseline budgets similar to the typical settlements already approved; subsequent adjustments in agencies' spending authority will be made as those final agreements are approved. Therefore allocation and expenditure levels displayed below for this budget item could change as a result of any such adjustments.

In recognition of these severe fiscal constraints, the proposed 1991-92 State Civil Service Employee Compensation Program does not include funding for employee salary increases. However, the proposed budget does provide over $108 million for continued funding of all employee benefit program premium increases. The Department of Personnel Administration, which represents the Governor in all employer-employee matters, will be exploring ways to improve the cost effectiveness of the health, as well as all benefit programs in the forthcoming negotiation process. Jointly, we believe management and labor can develop an employee compensation program that provides for an equitable and cost effective program.

The Employee Compensation Programs for the University of California, Hastings College of the Law and California State University are shown in this section for information only. Funds for higher education employee compensation increases are proposed under the respective budgets of each higher education segment.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

9810 PAYMENT OF SPECIFIED ATTORNEY FEES

This budget contains funding for payment of attorney fees awarded for actions arising in State courts under the provisions of Code of Civil Procedure (CCP) Section 1021.5, the "private attorney general" doctrine, or the "substantial benefit" doctrine. CCP Section 1021.5 provides for the payment of attorney fees in cases resulting in the enforcement of an important right affecting the public interest. The budget for payment of specified attorney fees includes $1,975,000 for State court awards. Control provisions preclude payment of State court awards made pursuant to CCP Section 1021.5 from support items, unless specifically set forth in budget act language, and limits State court awards to a maximum hourly attorney fee rate of $125.

9818 FEDERAL LEVY OF STATE FUNDS

The Federal Levy of State Funds expenditure program is based upon the authority of the Federal courts, under certain circumstances, to issue a judgment or "writ of execution" against the State of California. In such cases, funds are attached from accounts maintained by the State Treasurer's Office at State depository banks. Since no specific appropriations for these judgments have been made, the Office of the State Controller currently charges these claims against the unappropriated surplus of the General Fund. For the 1991-92 Fiscal Year, it is proposed that a change be made to the current funding process. The 1991-92 Budget Bill will include a Control Section which will authorize the Department of Finance to identify specific appropriations or funds to be charged.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

9840 RESERVE FOR CONTINGENCIES OR EMERGENCIES

The Budget Act annually provides appropriations for unforeseen contingencies or emergencies for which no appropriation or an insufficient appropriation has been made. Amounts as required are allocated to the various agencies by the Department of Finance based upon the determination of need. These appropriation items specifically prohibit the use of the authority in Section 11006 of the Government Code to fund deficiencies. Because the amounts provided in the Budget Act are token amounts and typically cannot meet total deficiency funding needs, the Department of Finance annually sponsors a deficiency bill to provide additional funding. General Fund loans are authorized to meet the needs of programs which would be curtailed due to delayed receipt of reimbursements, revenues or other financing.

In the 1989–90 fiscal year, deficiency appropriations were approved in the amount of $299,158,000 for the General Fund, $15,708,000 for the special fund and $12,068,000 for nongovernmental cost funds. A deficiency appropriation of $361,658,000 for the General Fund, $20,450,000 for special funds and $10,981,000 for the nongovernmental cost funds will be submitted to finance required allocations in the 1990–91 fiscal year. This budget reflects $1,500,000 (General Fund), $1,500,000 (special funds) and $1,500,000 (nongovernmental cost funds) as expenditures in the 1990–91 fiscal year in this section of the budget. It is proposed that $1,500,000 be appropriated for the 1991–92 fiscal year for each of the funding sources. The authorization to make temporary loans from the General Fund is proposed to be continued at $2,500,000 for the 1991–92 fiscal year.

The detail below includes allocations for emergencies or contingencies from the General Fund, special funds, and nongovernmental cost funds and loans from the General Fund. All of these allocations are shown as available funds in each applicable agency budget.

9860 UNALLOCATED CAPITAL OUTLAY

PROJECT PLANNING

Appropriations for project planning provide for allocations to agencies for the purpose of securing sound cost estimates for future projects. These allocations are included in this budget as expenditures.

INCREASED COST OF CONSTRUCTION

Existing law provides specific appropriations for the Director of Finance to augment capital outlay projects upon approval of the State Public Works Board. These augmentations are made when a capital outlay project cannot be undertaken or completed because the estimate exceeds the amount available, bids received are in excess of the estimate, or acquisition costs for real property are in excess of the appropriation. Savings from completed projects are transferred to these appropriations and are available by law for reallocation.

This Unallocated Capital Outlay Budget provides the summary presentation of the allocations made from Section 16409 of the Government Code, General Fund. The expenditures from allocations are included in individual agency budgets. That part which has not been allocated but which is estimated to be needed for further allocations is included here as an expenditure.

For those allocations which are made from fund surpluses pursuant to Government Code Section 16352, rather than the specific appropriations cited above, the allocations are reflected only in the individual agency budgets.

For the list of standard (lettered) footnotes, see the end of the Governor's Budget.

* Dollars in thousands, excluding salary range.

MATCHING FUNDS

9885 RESERVE FOR LIQUIDATION OF ENCUMBRANCES

Chapter 1286, Statutes of 1984 (AB 3372), requires the state to conform its financial management system to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). GAAP provides for uniform standards and guidelines for financial accounting and reporting. For several years, the Department of Finance, the Auditor General, the State Controller and state agencies have been implementing conversion of their accounting processes and financial statements in a manner consistent with the application of GAAP.

Beginning with the 1989-90 Governor's Budget, an additional step was taken towards conformance with GAAP. Encumbrances (obligations for which goods and services have not been received by the State), have been presented as a reserve against the General Fund balance rather than being included in expenditure totals. This procedure for treatment of encumbrances was added to the statutes (Government Code Section 13307) by enactment of Chapter 1238, Statutes of 1990. This budget reflects the state-wide adjustment to expenditures for encumbrances for the 1989-90, 1990-91 and 1991-92 fiscal years.

COMPUTATION OF ENCUMBRANCE ADJUSTMENT

The State Controller has accumulated a General Fund encumbrance total of $350 million from 1989-90 year-end financial statements submitted by state agencies.

For budgeting purposes, encumbrances are estimated to be at the same level for 1990-91 and 1991-92 and assumed to be liquidated within one year. The following table summarizes this methodology and the calculation for the encumbrance adjustment.

9890 SPECIAL FUND FOR ECONOMIC UNCERTAINTIES

Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties

Section 12.30 of the Budget Act of 1980 established the Reserve for Economic Uncertainties within the General Fund. Monies are appropriated to this reserve to ensure the ability of the State to meet General Fund obligations in the event of declining revenues or unanticipated expenditures. This reserve is consistent with the provisions of Article XIII B of the State Constitution. Section 12.30 of the annual Budget Act specifies general control provisions relating to the reserve. Transfers back to the General Fund from the Reserve are based upon the State Controller's Preliminary Annual Report as of June 30 of the year of the Budget Act. Chapter 139, Statutes of 1985, changed the Contingency Reserve for Economic Uncertainties (RFEU) from a General Fund special account to a special fund entitled Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties.

Disaster Response-Emergency Operations Account

Chapter 1562, Statutes of 1985, as amended by Chapters 16 and 1110, Statutes of 1986, and Chapters 1X and 2X of the First Extraordinary Session of 1989 established the Disaster Response-Emergency Operations Account within the Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties. This account is used for allocations to State and local agencies for reimbursement of emergency and disaster response costs as a result of a state of emergency proclamation by the Governor. Allocations are made by the Director of Finance. Transfers to this account and allocations therefrom which are related to the Loma Prieta earthquake are not included in this presentation. These transactions are included in the budget 0695, Natural Disaster Assistance as allocations per Government Code Section 8690.4(a).

9895 PETROLEUM VIOLATION ESCROW ACCOUNT PROGRAM

Program Objectives and Description

The Petroleum Violation Escrow Account (PVEA) is derived from negotiated settlements and judgments against U.S. oil companies stemming from legal actions by the Federal Government to recover oil company overcharges during the period of price regulations, from August 1973 to January 1981. Monies collected and not yet disbursed are held in a Federal Department of Energy (DOE) escrow account. Disbursement of the funds to the States is generally determined by the DOE's Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA), but may be specified by the courts. One allocation, made in the 1983 Federal budget, was the result of Congressional action.

The Budget Act of 1990 and other legislation signed by the Governor in 1990-91 appropriated $25.9 million in PVEA funds. These funds were a combination of additional interest generated by PVEA monies and additional receipts. Consistent with an agreement between the Governor and the Legislature to provide half of the new receipts, up to $100 million, for the Schoolbus Demonstration Program administered by the California Energy Commission, $8.4 million was transferred to the Katz Schoolbus Fund. In addition, $2 million was appropriated for the Weatherization Program administered by the Department of Economic Opportunity. Other significant appropriations included $7.5 million for transportation related purposes, and $5 million for various programs including demonstration of compressed natural gas and electric vehicles, cofunding of methanol flexible fuel vehicle purchases by public and private fleets, and the development of energy shortage contingency planning.

The 1991-92 Governor's Budget proposes $3.3 million for the Home Energy Assistance Program administered by the Department of Economic Opportunity, and $10.09 million for various programs administered by the California Energy Commission including $1 million for the Farm Energy Assistance Program, $3.066 million to establish a special district technical assistance program, $2.376 million to fund demonstration projects for compressed natural gas, electric and fuel flexible vehicles, and to support a methanol refueling network. The amount proposed for the California Energy Commission also includes $511,000 for administrative expenses incurred as a result of previously funded programs.

The Administration has initiated discussions with the University of California about the development of an Institute on the Environment to serve as the focal point for research on critical environmental issues facing California. In recognition of the significant effect the use of energy resources has on the environment, $2.5 million has been reserved in Petroleum Violation Escrow Account funds for additional energy conservation research. A specific proposal will be forthcoming in the spring.

9896 OUTER CONTINENTAL SHELF LAND ACT SECTION 8(g) REVENUE FUND

HR 3128, the Federal Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986, established a repayment procedure by which states would receive funds pursuant to a settlement regarding Section 8(g) of the Outer Continental Shelf Land Act. Under HR 3128, California received an initial disbursement of $338 million in 1985-86 plus, on an ongoing basis, 27 percent of the royalties from oil pumped from specified federal submerged lands adjacent to California.

HR 3128 also provided that, commencing in 1986-87, along with the monthly royalty disbursements, California would begin receiving distributions, called "recoupment payments", totaling $289 million over a 15-year period. The payments would be 3 percent of $289 million (or $8.67 million) per year for the first five years; 7 percent (or $20.23 million) per year for the second five years; and 10 percent ($28.9 million) per year for the last five years. Recoupment payments are to be made on or about April 15 of each of the 15 fiscal years. The 1991-92 fiscal year is the first year the state will receive 7 percent ($20.23 million).

Government Code Sections 11270-11275 and 22828.5 provide for recovery of General Fund costs for statewide general administrative expenditures (Pro Rata) from special funds.

The various departmental budgets normally include funds to pay for the Pro Rata charges. In order to ensure that funding is provided to pay for Pro Rata charges, Government Code Section 13332.03 allows for transfers from Special Funds to the General Fund in those cases where appropriate funding was not provided in items.

Budgetary Process

The Governor's Budget is the result of a process which begins more than one year before the budget becomes law. When presented to the Legislature on January 10 of each year, the Governor's Budget incorporates revenue and expenditure estimates based upon the most current information available through late December. In the event that the Governor wants to change the budget presented to the Legislature, including adjustments resulting from changes in population, caseload or enrollment estimates, the Department of Finance proposes adjustments to the Legislature during budget hearings through Finance Letters. During late spring, usually May and June, the Department of Finance submits revised expenditure and revenue estimates for both the current and budget years to the Legislature. This update process is referred to as the May Revision. The Department of Finance provides a further update on revenues and expenditures to the Legislature during August. Listed below are the key documents used in the budget process.

Glossary of Budget Terms

The following budgetary terms are used frequently throughout the Governor's Budget, the Governor's Budget Summary and the annual Budget (Appropriations) Bill. Definitions are provided for terminology which is common to all activities. For definitions of terms peculiar to a specific program area, please refer to the individual budget presentation of interest.

The definitions of other budget-related terms may be found in the State Administrative Manual and in the annual Budget Bill.

Administration Program:

An accounting for departmental central management costs. These include such costs as the Director's Office, Legal Office, Personnel Office, Accounting and Business Services functions that generally serve the whole department.

"Administration-distributed" represents those costs which are more properly distributed to the program activities of a department as indirect costs.

Allocation:

A distribution of funds, or an expenditure limit established for an organization unit.

Allotment:

A part of an appropriation, to be expended for a particular purpose during a specified time period. An allotment is generally authorized on a line-item expenditure basis.

Appropriation:

An authorization from a specific fund to a specific agency to make expenditures/incur obligations for a specified purpose and period of time. The Budget Act contains many appropriations, or items. These appropriation items are limited to one year, unless otherwise specified. Appropriations are made by the Legislature in the annual Budget Act and in other legislation. Legislation can provide for continuing appropriations (which require no subsequent legislative action) and are also provided by the California Constitution.

Appropriations Limit:

As defined in Section 8 of Article XIIIB of the California Constitution, enacted by the passage of Proposition 4 at the November 6, 1979 general election, the growth in the level of certain appropriations from tax proceeds are generally limited to the level of the prior year's appropriation limit as adjusted for changes in cost of living and population. Other adjustments may be made for such reasons as the transfer of services from one government entity to another.

Augmentation:

An increase in an allotment. A control section of the Budget Act authorizes the increase in expenditures for a program, category, or project by transfer from any other program, category, or project within the same schedule. A separate section of the Budget Act authorizes the augmentation of scheduled amounts from other departments, and from the federal government to the extent such funds have not been taken into consideration in the appropriation schedules. Both control sections require the reporting of specified augmentations to the chairperson of the committee in each house which considers appropriations and to the Chairperson of the Joint Legislative Budget Committee.

Authorized Positions:

Those ongoing positions approved in the final budget of the preceding year less positions abolished because of continued, extended vacancy. The detail of authorized positions by classification is published in the Salaries and Wages Supplement for each agency. Changes in authorized positions are listed following each department's budget presentation in the Governor's Budget. (See Proposed New Positions.)

Balance Available:

Amount available for appropriation or encumbrance. It is the excess of cash and near-cash assets of a fund over its liabilities and reserves; or commonly called surplus available for appropriation. It is also the unobligated balance of an appropriation which may be encumbered for the purposes of the specific appropriation.

Baseline Budget:

A baseline budget reflects the anticipated costs of carrying out the current level of service or activities as authorized by the Legislature. It includes an adjustment for cost increases, but does not include changes in level of service over that authorized by the Legislature.

Budget, Program/Traditional:

A plan of operation for a specific period of time expressed in financial terms. A program budget expresses the operating plan in terms of the costs of activities to be undertaken to achieve specific goals and objectives. A traditional budget expresses the plan in terms of the costs of the goods or services to be used to perform specific functions.

The Governor's Budget is primarily a program budget. However, a summary of proposed expenditures for goods and services (Summary by Object) is included for State Operations, Local Assistance and Capital Outlay for each department, as well.

Budget Bill/Act:

The Budget Bill is prepared by the Department of Finance and is submitted to the Legislature in January accompanying the Governor's Budget. The Budget Bill is the Governor's proposal for spending authorization for the subsequent fiscal year for on-going programs authorized by the Legislature. The Constitution requires the Legislature to pass the Budget Bill and send it by June 15 each year to the Governor for signature. After signature by the Governor, the Budget Bill becomes the Budget Act.

Budget Change Proposal (BCP):

A proposal to change the level of service or funding sources for activities authorized by the Legislature, or to propose new program activities not currently authorized.

Budget Year (BY):

The next fiscal year beginning July 1 and ending June 30 for which the Governor's Budget is submitted. The year following the current fiscal year.

Capital Outlay:

Expenditures which result in the acquisition of or addition to major fixed assets (e.g., land, buildings and equipment related to construction).

Carryover Appropriations:

Appropriations with balances available for expenditure in years subsequent to the year of enactment.

Category:

A grouping of related objects of expenditure (goods or services). Such groupings are primarily Personal Services, Operating Expenses and Equipment, and Special Items of Expense.

Category Transfer:

A control section of the Budget Act provides that the Department of Finance is authorized to augment any category by transfer from any other category within the same appropriation item schedule.

Augmentations of personal services and operating expenses and equipment categories generally cannot exceed, in the aggregate, 20 percent of the amount scheduled. Lower limits exist for support appropriations which exceed $2,000,000. (See Category.)

Changes in Authorized Positions:

A schedule included in each budget presentation in the Governor's Budget which reflects personnel staffing changes made subsequent to the adoption of the current year budget (transfers, positions established and reclassifications). It also includes proposed new positions for the budget year.

Character of Expenditure:

A classification of expenditures. (See State Operations, Local Assistance or Capital Outlay.)

Codes, Uniform:

A set of codes, used in all major fiscal systems of California State government, which has been established to identify organizations, programs, funds, appropriation structures, receipts and line-item objects of expenditure. The Uniform Codes Manual, published by the Department of Finance, lists all such uniform codes. (See Section 1.50 of the Budget Act for an explanation of the codes used for Budget Act appropriation items.)

Continuing Appropriation:

Amount, actual or estimated, available each year under a permanent constitutional or statutory expenditure authorization which is automatically renewed each year without further legislative action. The amount available may be a specific, recurring sum each year; all or a specified portion of the proceeds of specified revenues which have been dedicated permanently to a certain purpose; or it may be whatever amount is required for the purpose as determined by formula—such as school apportionments.

Control Sections, Budget Act:

The Budget Act is divided into sections. Section 1.00 establishes a citation for the legislation. Section 1.50 provides a description of the format of the act. Section 2.00 contains the itemized appropriations for support of the State of California. Sections 4.00 through 36.00 are general sections, also referred to as control sections, which place additional restrictions on one or more of the itemized appropriations contained in Section 2.00.

Cost-of-Living Adjustments (COLAs). Statutory/Discretionary:

Increases provided in state-funded programs which include periodic adjustments predetermined in state law (statutory), e.g., K-12 education apportionments; and adjustments which may be established at optional levels (discretionary) by the Legislature each year, e.g., Urban Impact Aid.

Current Year (CY):

The fiscal year beginning July 1 and ending June 30. The time period we are in now.

Encumbrance:

A limitation or reserve placed on an appropriation to pay for goods or services which have been ordered by means of contracts, salary commitments, etc., but not yet received.

Expenditure:

Generally, this term designates the amount of an appropriation used for goods and services ordered and received whether paid or unpaid, including expenses, provisions for debt retirement not reported as a liability of the fund from which retired, and capital outlays where the accounts are kept on an accrual basis or a modified accrual basis. Where the accounts are kept on a cash basis, the term designates only actual cash disbursements.

Federal Funds:

In state budget usage, this term describes all funds received directly from an agency of the federal government but not those received through another state department. State departments must initially deposit such federal funds in the Federal Trust Fund, a fund in the State Treasury.

Final Budget:

The final budget is the Governor's Budget as amended by action taken on the Budget Bill. A Final Change Book is published by the Department of Finance after enactment of the Budget Act to reflect the changes made by the Legislature in their review of the Budget Bill and by the Governor by power of item veto. It includes a detailed list of changes by item number.

Finance Letters:

Proposals made by the Director of Finance to the chairpersons of the committees in each house which consider appropriations to amend the Budget Bill and Governor's Budget from that submitted January 10 to reflect a revised plan of expenditure for the Budget Year.

Fiscal Year (FY):

A 12-month state accounting period which varies from the calendar year and the federal fiscal year. In California State government, the fiscal year runs from July 1 through the following June 30. It is the period during which obligations are incurred, encumbrances are made and appropriations are expended. The Governor's Budget presents three years of detailed fiscal data for the past, current and budget years.

The state fiscal year is often referenced by the first calendar year of the fiscal year, e.g., "90" or "1990" means the 1990-91 fiscal year. By contrast, the federal 1990-91 fiscal year is often referenced as "91" or "1991," and lasts from October 1 through September 30.

Fund Balance:

Excess of the assets of a fund over its liabilities and reserves. (See Balance Available, Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties and Surplus.)

Fund Condition Statement:

A statement included in the Governor's Budget for each special fund, special accounts in the General Fund, selected bond funds and Governmental Cost funds to disclose the fund assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus.

Funds:

A legal entity that provides for the segregation of moneys or other resources in the State Treasury for specific activities or obligations in accordance with specific restrictions or limitations. A separate set of accounts must be maintained for each fund to show its assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus (fund balance), as well as its income and expenditures. The assets of a fund may also be placed into separate accounts to provide for limitations on specified fund income or expenditures. (See "Description of Fund Classifications in State Treasury.")

General Fund:

The General Fund is the predominant fund for financing State operations. It is used to account for revenues which are not specifically designated to be accounted for by any other fund. The primary sources of revenue for the General Fund are the personal income tax, sales tax and bank and corporation taxes. A complete itemization of the revenue sources are listed in Schedule 8. The General Fund is used as the major funding source for education (K-12 and higher education), health and welfare programs, youth and adult correctional programs and tax relief. Schedule 9 provides a listing of expenditures for the General Fund.

Item:

(See Appropriation.)

Governmental Cost Funds:

(See Special Funds.)

Limited-Term Positions:

A limited-term position is any position which has been authorized for a specific length of time with a set termination date. Limited-term positions may be authorized during the budget enactment process or in transactions approved by the Department of Finance.

Line Item:

Local Assistance:

Expenditures made for the support of local government activities.

Local Mandates:

(See State-Mandated Local Program.)

Merit Salary Adjustment:

A cost factor resulting from the periodic increase in salaries paid to personnel occupying authorized positions. Personnel generally receive a salary adjustment of 5 percent per year to recognize proficiency in the work performed up to the upper salary limit of the work classification.

Minor Capital Outlay:

Minor Capital Outlay consists of construction projects or equipment acquired to complete a construction project estimated to cost less than $250,000.

Objects (line items):

A subclassification of expenditures based on type of goods or services. For example, the Personal Services category includes the objects of Salaries and Wages and Staff Benefits. These may be further subdivided into line items as State Employees' Retirement, Workers' Compensation, etc. Objects do not reflect a function or purpose to be served by the expenditure. A Summary by Object is provided for each department's budget in the Governor's Budget for State Operations, Local Assistance and Capital Outlay expenditures. The Department of Finance publishes a Uniform Codes Manual which reflects the standard line-item objects of expenditure.

Past Year (PY):

The fiscal year just completed. (See Fiscal Year.)

Personnel Years:

The actual or estimated portion of a position expended for the performance of work. For example, a full-time position which was filled by an employee for half of a year would result in an expenditure of 0.5 personnel years.

Positions:

(See Authorized Positions.)

Programs:

The activities of an organization grouped on the basis of common objectives. Programs are comprised of elements, which can be further divided into components and tasks (the lowest defined program activity).

Proposed New Positions:

A request for an authorization to expend funds for the employment of additional people for the performance of work. Proposed new positions may be for limited-time periods (limited term) and for full or less than full-time. Proposed new positions may be for an authorization sufficient to employ one person, or for a sum of funds (blanket) from which several people may be employed.

Reappropriation:

Reconciliation With Appropriations:

Statements are presented by fund for each character of expenditure, i.e., State Operations, Local Assistance and Capital Outlay.

Reimbursements:

Amount received as a repayment of the cost of work, or service performed, or of other expenditures made for or on behalf of another governmental unit or department. Reimbursements represent the recovery of an expenditure. Reimbursements are available for expenditure in accordance with the budgeted amount (scheduled in an appropriation).

Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties:

Statutes and the control sections of the Budget Act provide for the establishment of a Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties and a reserve in each special fund to provide for emergency situations. The appropriation of such funds from the reserves are not subject to the appropriation limits imposed on other appropriations. (See Appropriations Limit.)

Reserve:

An amount set aside in a fund to provide for expenditures from the unencumbered balances of continuing appropriations, economic uncertainties, future appropriations, for pending salary or price increase appropriations and appropriation for capital outlay projects.

Revenue:

The addition to cash or other current assets of governmental funds (receipts) which do not increase any liability or reserve and do not represent the recovery of an expenditure, i.e., reimbursements. Generally, revenue is derived from taxes, licenses and fees or investment earnings.

Reversion:

The return of the unused portion of an appropriation to the fund from which the appropriation was made. The undisbursed portion of an appropriation reverts two years after the last day of availability for encumbrance. The Budget Act often provides for the reversion of unused portions of appropriations when such reversion is to be made prior to the statutory limit.

Salary Savings:

Salary savings reflects personnel cost savings resulting from vacancies and downward reclassifications as a result of turnover of employees. The amount of budgeted salary savings is an estimate generally based on past year experience.

Special Funds:

Special funds is a generic term used for "governmental cost funds" other than the General Fund. Governmental cost funds generally are commonly defined as those funds used to account for revenues from taxes, licenses and fees where the use of such revenues is restricted by law for particular functions or activities of government. Examples of special funds are the transportation funds, fish and game funds and the professions and vocations funds. Revenues and expenditures of special funds are summarized in Schedules 8, 9 and 10.

Staff Benefits:

The staff benefits object represents the state costs of contributions for employees' retirement, OASDI, health and welfare benefits, workers' compensation, unemployment insurance, industrial disability leave benefits and nonindustrial disability leave benefits.

State-Mandated Local Program:

State reimbursements to local governments for the cost of activities required by legislative and executive acts. This requirement was established by Chapter 1406, Statutes of 1972 (SB 90) and further ratified by the adoption of Proposition 4 (a constitutional amendment) at the November 6, 1979 general election. (See Governor's Budget: 8885 Commission on State Mandates.)

State Operations:

Expenditures for the support of State government, exclusive of capital investments and expenditures for local government activities.

Summary by Object:

A summary of actual past year and estimated current and budget year expenditures for goods and services for each organization presented for State Operations, Capital Outlay and Local Assistance expenditures.

Summary of Program Requirements:

At the front of each departmental budget is a Summary of Program Requirements. It presents the various departmental programs by title, dollar totals and source of funds for the past, current and budget years.

Summary Schedules:

The Governor's Budget includes schedules which summarize state revenues, expenditures and other fiscal and personnel data for the past, current and budget years. (See Schedules 1-13.)

Tax Expenditures:

Subsidies provided through the taxation systems.

Transfers:

As reflected in fund condition statements, transfers reflect the movement of resources from one fund to another based on statutory authorization or specific legislative transfer appropriation authority.

Description of Fund Classifications in the State Treasury

Revenues and expenditures in the program budget and the summary schedules reflect the activities of many separate funds. Schedules 10 and 11 provide a complete list of these funds. The Index lists those funds for which Fund Conditions are included in the budget and references the page number. General Fund and Special Fund expenditures represent the cost of government and are included in budget totals, and along with selected Bond Funds, are included in the overall expenditure totals. In 1981-82 the State of California began to change classification of funds in the state treasury to conform to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles as set forth by the National Council on Governmental Accounting. Schedule 3 includes a description of these changes and shows their effect on the 1990-91 budget totals.

General Fund. Used to account for all revenues and activities financed therefrom which are not required by law to be accounted by any other fund. Most state expenditures are financed from the General Fund. Normally, the only difference between the General Fund and the other governmental costs funds is the restriction placed on the use of the other governmental cost funds.

Special Funds. Consists of governmental cost funds used to account for taxes and revenues which are restricted by law for particular functions or activities of government. The funds included in these classifications are primarily for the regulation of businesses, professions and vocations; transportation; law enforcement; and capital outlay.

General Fund Special Accounts. Legislatively created accounts or dedicated revenues within the General Fund. Moneys credited to such accounts may be used only for the purposes specified in the legislation. As a result of Chapter 942, Statutes of 1977, these special accounts are treated as special funds and revenues and expenditures are included in the special funds totals in the summary schedules of the budget. They are therefore excluded from the General Fund unrestricted revenues, expenditures and reserves.

Other Funds. See Schedule 11 for a list of funds which do not represent a cost of government. Expenditures from these funds are not included in the budget totals. They consist of moneys which were derived from sources other than general or special taxes, licenses, fees or other state revenues. Included are receipts from the Federal Government, funds created for accounting purposes, receipts from sale of lands, or moneys held in trust. These funds are segregated into the following classifications:

Working Capital and Revolving Funds. Funds created to finance internal service activities rendered by a state agency to other state agencies or to local governments for which charges are made at cost. The charges are reflected as expenditures in the budget of the agency receiving the commodity or service.

Public Service Enterprise Funds. Self supporting activities operated by the State for the benefit of the public. Funds are derived from charges to those who use the service and no support is derived from taxes, licenses or other state revenues.

Bond Funds. Used to account for the receipt and disbursement of proceeds from the sale of bonds and to finance projects for which the bonds were authorized. Expenditures are considered a cost of government at the time interest payments are made and as the bonds are redeemed.

Retirement Funds. Moneys held in trust by the State for retirement benefit payments.

Trust and Agency Funds. Funds holding moneys in trust pending disbursements to trustors, moneys received from the Federal Government to be expended for specific purposes, and other funds which do not derive their sources from taxes or other state revenues, or are in the nature of transitory funds created for the convenience of accounting receipts or disbursements which are not necessarily revenues or expenditures.

Selected Bond Funds

Selected bond funds are General Obligation Bond funds which are non-self liquidating. Included in the overall expenditures totals of Schedules 1 and 9 for budget purposes are expenditures from the selected bond funds, the following page provides a complete listing of all selected bond funds.

<sup>a</sup> The General Budget Summary includes the revenues and expenditures of all state funds that reflect the cost of State government and selected bond fund expenditures. The transactions involving other nongovernmental cost funds are excluded. The amounts included in this schedule for expenditures and revenues may not agree with those shown in Schedules 8, 9 and 10 due to rounding.

<sup>b</sup> Due to lack of time for complete reconciliation to the State Controller's preliminary fiscal data for their annual report, the amounts reflected in the 1989-90 fiscal year do not agree with the data which will be included in the State Controller's Annual Report. See Schedule 7 which follows for a reconciliation of the Fund Balance as of June 30, 1990 between the State Controller's Preliminary Annual Report and the amount reported in this Schedule.

<sup>c</sup> The Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties and the Reserves for Economic Uncertainties provide sources of funds to meet State General Fund and Special Funds obligations in the event of a decline in revenues or an unanticipated increase in expenditures.

<sup>d</sup> The Reserve for Education (K-14) represents a contingency amount included in expenditures to meet the State's obligation to conform to Article XVI, Section 8 of the State Constitution (Proposition 98) passed by the electorate in November 1988.

<sup>e</sup> The Reserve for Proposition 98 (Unspent Appropriations) represents the amounts which were not spent from appropriations available during the 1988-89 fiscal year to meet the State's obligation to conform to Proposition 98.

<sup>f</sup> The Reserve for Liquidation of Encumbrances represents an amount which will be expended in the future for state obligations for which goods and services have not been received. This Reserve treatment is consistent with accounting methodology recommended by Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) and Chapter 1286, Statutes of 1984 (AB 3372) which requires the State to conform its fiscal management system to GAAP.

<sup>g</sup> The Fund Balance for the General Fund includes amounts for unencumbered balances of continuing appropriations at the end of the 1989-90, 1990-91 and 1991-92 fiscal years of $153,326, $10,688 and $9,172 (in thousands) respectively.

Schedule 2 TOTAL STATE SPENDING PLAN

This Schedule is included for informational purposes to show in one place the expenditures of all funds which are accounted for by the State.

A basic premise in a consolidation such as this is that the State is the financial unit and individual funds are subsidiary units to the State. This is similar to financial units in the private sector in which diversified commercial corporations with several subsidiaries report their operation on a consolidated basis—but is a contrast to traditional governmental accounting, which has held that the individual funds are the financial units and should not be consolidated with other funds or types of funds. A total consolidation presents both theoretical and practical problems because of the individual nature of each fund. In essence, each fund is a separate fiscal and legal entity that operates under the specific legal provisions that created it. Examples of problems which may arise from an unqualified consolidation are (1) funds are accounted for in a different manner, (2) duplication of expenditures result, (3) expenditures from non-state funds are included, and (4) expenditures are included for quasi-state operations such as Workers' Compensation and for payment of retirement benefits for other governmental units.

In order to minimize misinterpretations, this Schedule is displayed in two parts. Part A summarizes those expenditures from funds traditionally included in budget totals; Part B summarizes expenditures from the other funds which are collectively identified as nongovernmental cost funds. Schedule 2, in either part, does not include reimbursements received from the public or other levels of government, as these are deducted from State expenditures.

Total State Spending Plan—Part A Governmental Cost, Selected Bond Funds and Federal Funds

As stated above, Part A summarizes expenditures from funds which are traditionally included as part of State expenditure summaries in the Governor's Budget and other State financial reports. The major portion of the expenditures shown in Part A is for the General Fund and the various special funds which are commonly referred to as "governmental cost funds." This term is used because these funds are used to account for moneys which are derived from general and special taxes, licenses, fees or other revenue sources to provide financing for State activities which are for the general purposes of State government.

The selected bond funds are included in Part A because of the historical legislative interest in showing these expenditures in budget totals. It should be noted that there is a duplication in showing these expenditure amounts from bond proceeds because the expenditures are included both when bond proceeds are spent and when debt service is paid.

The Federal funds have also been included in Part A because of increasing interest in the level of the State's expenditure of Federal funds. The detail of expenditures by department for the General Fund, special funds, selected bond funds and Federal funds is shown in Schedule 9.

Total State Spending Plan—Part B Nongovernmental Cost Funds

Nongovernmental cost funds are used to account for moneys which are derived from sources other than general or special taxes, licenses, fees or other state revenues. Although Federal funds and bond funds are classified as nongovernmental costs funds, they are included in Part A for reasons cited therein. The nongovernmental cost funds shown in Part B are segregated into the following classifications.

PUBLIC SERVICE ENTERPRISE FUNDS

Public Service Enterprise Funds are used to account for the transactions of self-supporting enterprises which render services for a charge primarily to the general public.

Activities which are accounted through Public Service Enterprise Funds include toll bridges, harbor facilities, disability insurance, college housing, and veterans farm and home loan financing. Bond funds and sinking funds related to a public service enterprise are included in this classification.

Public Service Enterprise Funds differ from Working Capital and Revolving Funds in that, in the latter, fees for services rendered are largely from other State agencies or local governments.

It should be noted that expenditures shown below from the Compensation Insurance Fund do not include benefit payments to State employees because the State is self-funded. The expenditures shown are benefits paid from funding provided through insurance premiums and therefore are not true State costs.

WORKING CAPITAL AND REVOLVING FUNDS

Working Capital and Revolving Funds are used to account for the internal service activities rendered by a State agency to other State agencies or to local governments. Activities which are accounted through Working Capital and Revolving Funds include centralized purchasing for stores, consolidated data center services, printing, architectural services, manufacturing, surplus money investment, payroll disbursement, automotive management, and building operations.

Working Capital and Revolving Funds differ from the Public Service Enterprise Funds, which render services primarily to the general public. To the extent that services are provided to other State agencies, expenditures shown in Working Capital and Revolving Funds are duplicative of expenditures shown in the agencies.

BOND FUNDS

Bond Funds are used to account for the receipt and disbursement of bond proceeds. They do not account for bond retirement since the liability created by the sale of bonds is not a liability of these funds. Bonds are retired and the interest obligations thereon are paid through the provisions specified in the bond act.

Bond Funds related to a public service enterprise are included in the Public Service Enterprise Fund classification.

RETIREMENT FUNDS

Retirement Funds are used to account for employer and member contributions received by various retirement systems, the investment of these moneys, annuity payments, refunds to members, and other receipts and disbursements. The amounts shown below reflect both administrative costs and benefits paid to annuitants. For the Public Employees' Retirement Fund and the Teachers' Retirement Fund, funding includes non-state sources and expenditures therefrom are not true State costs. Also, costs funded from amounts transferred into these funds from other State agencies are duplicative of expenditures shown in the agencies.

OTHER NONGOVERNMENTAL COST FUNDS

For selected programs, the State budget has traditionally included funding provided by county funds and university funds for informational purposes. Because of inclusion in the budget, these expenditures are shown in Schedule 2. The balance of funds shown in this classification are for Trust and Agency Funds which are used to account for moneys and properties that are received from other than Federal sources and which are held and disbursed from the State Treasury by the State as trustee or custodian.

The following provides detail for the significant funds and amounts which comprise the various categories of Nongovernmental Cost Funds:

IMPLEMENTATION OF GENERALLY ACCEPTED ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES

Implementation of Chapter 1286, Statutes of 1984, requires the state to conform its financial management system to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) to the extent that the Department of Finance deems it to be in the best interest of the State.

GAAP represents uniform minimum standards and guidelines for financial accounting and reporting. The goal of GAAP is to standardize the accounting and financial reporting of organizations regardless of jurisdictional legal provisions and customs. The purpose of "Governmental GAAP" is to provide a uniform set of rules so the presentation of governmental financial reports for taxpayers, bond rating companies, legislators and other readers are consistent from year to year, as well as comparable between governmental entities.

The Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) establishes accounting and financial reporting standards for activities and transactions of state and local governmental entities. The State of California currently is a dues-paying member of the GASB organization and provides input for the various issues being studied by GASB.

An effort is currently underway within the Department of Finance to ensure that the budget and financial statements of the state are more understandable and are presented in a fair and consistent manner through the application of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles.

The Department of Finance has taken the following actions to implement GAAP:

1. A work group was established to review the changes required by GAAP and to establish priorities and task assignments.
2. In 1986-87, the Governor's Budget and Budget Act changed the classification of student fees in the California State University System to revenue rather than reimbursements.
3. In 1986-87, the Governor's Budget and Budget Act changed the classification of State Hospital Medical Care receipts to reimbursements rather than revenue.
4. In 1987-88, the Governor's Budget displayed the interest and redemption costs of general obligation bonds in the relevant program area for each bond.
5. The Financial and Performance Audits Unit (FPA) of the Department of Finance has done work on rewriting the sections of the State Administrative Manual covering proprietary funds to bring them into conformance with GAAP.
6. The "Fund Manual" for California has been rewritten to bring it into conformance with GAAP.
7. The 1989-90 Governor's Budget provided for the treatment of General Fund encumbrances as a reservation of fund balance rather than expenditures. This treatment is consistent with the GAAP standard that encumbrances are obligations for which goods and services have not been received and which therefor should not be shown as expenditures.

The State's fiscal system is highly complex with many interrelationships between budgeting and accounting. Consequently, some of the changes in accounting that are necessary to conform to GAAP impact the budget system and/or the Governor's Budget presentations. These interrelationships will result in the GAAP changes being accomplished over a number of years.

The following two charts illustrate the effect of conversion to GAAP fund classifications:

Schedule 3A shows the "Total State Spending Plan" data shown in Schedule 2 rearranged into the GAAP classifications.

Schedule 3B uses 1991-92 budget totals to show California's current fund structure compared to recommended GAAP classifications.
